Valley Annual Celebrates Fifty Years!

Valley published its first yearbook exactly fifty years ago. This is a special occasion as we found out all the work put into the first book and that it was one of the book was put together completely by hand by members of the Class of 1937. Each page in the book was hand-typed and then mimeographed. The individual pictures were pasted in each book by the annual members and the cardboard covers and the mimeographed pages were hand-assembled. The book titled Valley Echo was sold for five dollars. It was not until 1942 that the next yearbook titled The Spirit of '42 was published. Then the yearbook was not published again until 1948 under the name of Indian. The reason that the annual was not published during the 1940's was due to the lack of money, lack of supplies, and the war. The book's name would change many more times before acquiring the present name, Smoke Signals.

white stars. Also, in 1976, the yearbook had another first, it was the first to use full color photos.

As the styles in yearbooks came and first for the county schools. Valley's first went, so did the yearbook staff members, advisors, and editors. In 1937, the editor was Harold Benner and the advisor was Mr. Smith. In 1950, the advisors were Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Wagner, and Mrs. Sloan. The staff was made up of about eighteen members. Tom Moulton and Barbara York shared the title of co-editors. From 1951 to 1955, the staff was made up of Juniors and Seniors. Mrs. Fannin served as the advisor. In 1960, the annual staff had its greatest amount of people with thirty-two. The advisor was Mrs. Fisher. In 1962, some of the Junior members of staff participated in a journalism workshop at Ohio University. They were under supervision of Mr. Cook. In 1976, Mr. "Benny" Bender took over as advisor and until 1983 supervised the yearbook. Changes in the book over the years is He had two editors each year up until

Then from 1956 to 1959, they used a cream book cover with pictures in shades of red or blue. After 1960, they stayed with a hard cover book. In 1967, they switched back to the padded cover, but once again switched back to the standard covers in 1970. Purdy Lumber

In 1937, Purdy Lumber helped sponsor the first annual by purchasing an advertisement. E.W. Purdy was the president and owner of the company. Then in 1947, Clifford Purdy started the Clifford Purdy Lumber Company. The first Purdy Lumber went out of business in 1948 because of lack of supplies during the war. In 1958, Clifford Purdy Lumber Company's name was changed to simply Purdy Lumber. They have over the years served parts of West Virginia, Kentucky, and Ohio.

Purdy Lumber is currently owned by Mary Topsy Purdy. Mrs. Purdy is a graduate of Greenup County, Kentucky. She moved to Lucasville in 1917. From 1917 to 1924, she worked at Brant's Store. Then in 1924, she married Clifford Purdy. Clifford was owner of the Clifford Purdy Company from the beginning of the company until his death. In 1925, their son, Bill, was born and now serves as president. Mrs. Purdy had two great-grand-daughters graduating in the class of 1987. They are Susan Jane and Amy Elizabeth Steele — Juli Phillips

Brant-Appel & Hancock

In 1903, the Brant-Appel Company started their business with a small group of shareholders. One of the former shareholders was Loraine Brant Swiger, who graduated from Valley in the class of 1915. The general manager at that time was Frank Brant. Frank Brant served as general manager until 1940. After 1940. Clarence McNamer took over. He served as manager for seven years. Arlyn Violet took over and served for seven years also. In 1954, Robert Hancock took over as general manager and presently serves that position. Until 1968, the store served as a general merchandise store. In 1903, when the business began, items for sale were hardware, lumber, tobacco, and candy. In 1968, when Jean and Robert Hancock became the controlling shareholders of the Brant-Appel Company, they changed from a general merchandising store to a kitchen and cabinetry store. In 1983, the name was changed from Brant-Appel Company to Brant-Appel & Hancock.

Both Jean and Robert Hancock attended Valley schools. Jean is a graduate of Valley High School in the class of 1947. They have four children all of which have graduated from Valley. Their daughter, Janet Hancock Spears, is presently the choral instuctor for grades 5-12. — Juli Phillips

Elephant Alive!

You enter Valley High School, a small rural school in Lucasville, and you expect to see nothing unusual. Instead, you see a girl sitting in the display case surrounded by many old yearbooks. You shrug it off. Every high school has its flakes.

You continue down the hall and are witness to a hit and run by a reckless computer cart operator. Two girls were walking aimlessly down the hall, when a maniacal girl, doing a pitiful imitation of a car horn comes rushing down the hall and scatters the two girls like bowling pins. Okay, so there are a few more flakes, this is a school for "country cautiously thinking, "What else could possibly happen?" You reassure yourself, "Nothing else could possibly happen." Wrong! The next thing you do is look into one of the rooms. There you see someone juggling pop bottles. You then see someone hiding Jane Greenhill, (right), waves at the camera in a warning. Jane also writes some of the articles. Juli Phillips, (middle), copy writer fights off some unknown assailant. Jennifer Plante, (far right), editor, works on a layout. Jennifer also wrote some of the articles. Mike underneath a white coat making elephantine noises. (The person is using the arm of the coat as an elephant trunk.) Alright, so maybe the circus is visiting the high school and the boy is the feature juggler and the mysterious coated person is practicing for the elephant act.

You walk up to the closet door and see a picture hanging on the inside of the door. It is apparently of an attempted murder. In the picture, two teenagers are battling. A girl has what appears to be a sharp object pointed at the throat of a boy. You realize it was an attempted murder because you have just seen the boy, so maybe the girl is a psychotic murderess.

After wondering why you are in this place, you decide to ask for the advisor. She walks out of the closet at this point. Could that be purple hair? "Why?" You ask yourself, "Are you only mildly surprised?"

Now Seriously . . .

The previous article could be the scenario witnessed by students and visitors alike when entering Valley High School every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. Occurrences like the ones just described though very seldom happen, until deadline for the yearbook has to be met. Then from the time school ends until 9:00 or 10:00 in the evening with the only breaks allowing time to eat and stretch, the annual staff works. The yearbook staff is a real group of dedicated people who spend at least six hours a week at regular work sessions, and fifteen hours a week around deadline time.

At those work sessions, there is usually plenty of commotion, laughing, and serious debating about how a certain thing should be done, until a compromise is usually reached. With the help of other annual staff members everyone learns how to do each aspect of the yearbook. Involved in that process is the most agonizing subject of yearbook, layouts and triplicates. At the yearbook meetings when triplicates and layouts are mentioned everyone immediately finds something else to do. Another important part of the yearbook is the articles that are written. There were many times when begging and pleading were just not enough. Bribery was even attempted in hope of the getting articles done. Anyone could see deals being made, the people who detested doing articles making deals with the people who detested doing layouts. Someone would agree to do both sets of layouts and the other would do both sets of articles. Even though there was a lot of protesting about the work involved, each person did their own job in getting the work done.

With a staff both young in experience and small in number, spending all that time together, it is bound to bring about a lot of new and very special friendships. Deadline time brought out the specialness in everybody, especially after spending all those evenings together. What everyone thought about one another is then either confirmed or completely changed. Through this personality revealing, each person draws closer within the staff. As the year progressed, we found ourselves wondering what we had done to deserve such punishment with all the work required. The meetings got crazy and as we got to know the people we wondered why on earth we ever thought he or she was quiet. Although we grumbled about the long hours and about the incredible amount of work we had to do, while working our minds past their already frazzled point, believe it or not we found ourselves having fun, and loads of it at that! - Juli Phillips and Mike Voorheis

Most Seniors and Juniors will "Cherish the Moment" of the 1987 Prom. The Junior-Senior Prom was held May 8, 1987. The prom was sponsored by the Class of 1988. The place of excitement was Shawnee Lodge. The dinner began at 8:00 p.m. The dinner served consisted of a serve-yourself smorgasbord and beverage. The dance began at 9:30 p.m. and ended at 11:30 p.m. There were approximately seventy-five couples who attended the dance.

The dance was decorated with purple, white, and silver streamers and balloons. There was also an arch in front of which people could have their pictures made. Pictures were taken by Georgian's.

"Underwater Wonderland"

The changes in fashion can be seen in any annual. The changes are clearly seen in the pictures from the past proms. Valley held its first prom in 1954 and it has become a tradition. In 1956, the prom had its first theme "Underwater Wonderland." The class president spoke, the Lou Martin's Orchestra played, and there was a floor show for entertainment which included a group of young men in hula skirts. In 1961, the theme was "Wonderland By Night." A smorgasbord of food was there to serve the enthusiastic dancers. There was also a wishing well for the hopeful. In 1963, Lou Martin's Orchestra provided the music and the theme was "Celestial Dreams."

In 1964, the theme was "Under the Magnolias" and scenes from southern plantations were set up. In 1982, the prom was set up with the theme "Somewhere in the Night." In 1983, Valley had its first Prom King and Queen, Sheri Rayburn and Darren Crabtree. In 1985, the theme was "You're My Inspiration." The King and Queen were Paul Simon and Ellen Miller. Prom glasses and booklets from 1986 carried the theme "A Night to Remember."

The Beverly Hillbillies was presented to the parents and students on November 6, 1986. Mr. D. T. Adkins, Drama Club sponsor, directed the plays. Kristina Boynton, Kitty Metzger, and Jenny Alley acted as student directors.

The Beverly Hillbillies was also produced in 1975 by the Senior class. Mr. Bender was the director, and Ava Green, Senior, was the student director.

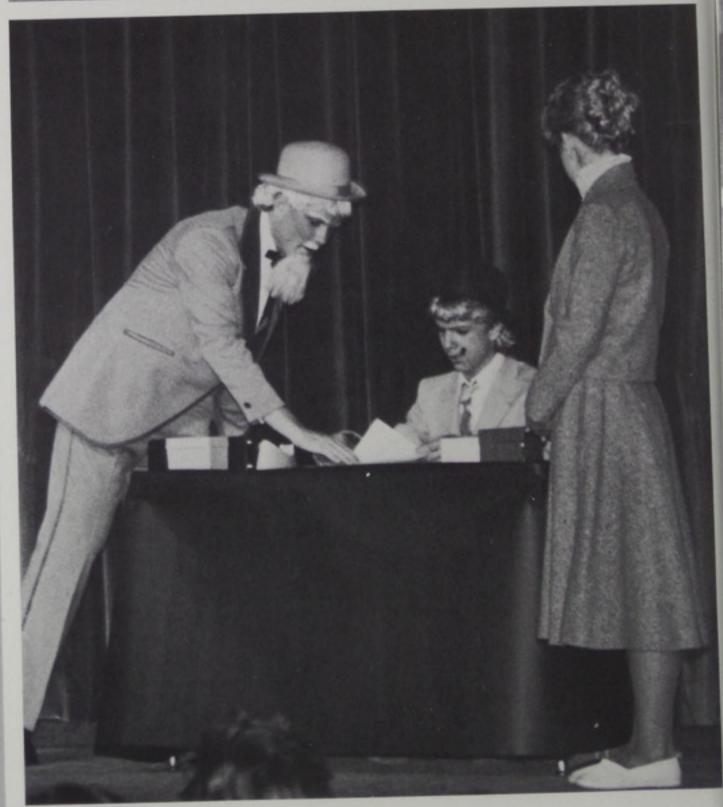

The Beverly Hillbillies is based on the television show of the same name. The television program was created by Paul Henning, and was adapted by D. D. Brooke.

Members of the 1975 cast were Granny-Debbie Musick, Jed-Joe Ward, Elly May-Sarah Mills, Pearl-Paula Snyder, Jethro-Henry Johnson, Mr. Turner-Jeff Bell, Mr. Drysdale-Steve Buckle, Mrs. Drysdale-Debbie Johnson, Miss Hathaway-Pam Murray. Other members of the cast were Debby Smith, Howard Harness, Debbie Gray, Larry Montgomery, Larry Linville, Steve Arnold, Vicky Allenbach, Brenda Fetters, Sheilah Boggs, Kim Patrick, Peggy Smith, Tom Greene, Randy Miller, and Mark Wills. — Jeni Phillips

First Appearances

In 1948, Drama production first appeared in Valley's yearbook. Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors all put on a play. They were titled Under Western Skies (Sophomores), Toby Helps (Juniors), and It's to be Young (Seniors). Three plays were performed in 1949. In 1950, the Senior and Junior classes performed two each and the Sophomore class combined with the Freshman class to perform one. In 1951, each class performed one play. In 1952, each class put on a one-act play and the Juniors put on a play called The Daffy Dills. In 1953, just the Junior and Senior classes performed plays.

Throughout all the years represented by yearbooks, the plays have all been along the same lines. Most use the teenagers in their original environment and just extend some of the everyday problems. Other play themes are parodies on fairy tales, TV shows, and just the plain, basic off-the-wall comedies. Whether it was in 1948, 1966, 1980, or 1986, each served the purpose of allowing the students to have fun. — Juli Phillips

"We are looking for a few wellunded people in the areas of scholarnip, leadership, service, and characr." Mrs. Darlene David describes the type of student considered a good andidate for the National Honor Sotety.

the meeting, they are given a profile

A Great Year for VHS Flags!

Valley High School Flags had an exceptional season. They were under the direction of Sandra Bane who previously directed the flags at Marshall University. The flags started working early in the summer with a week of band camp. Their hard work and dedication paid off. With the help of cocaptains Dana Rose and Bev Tackett, plus two other Seniors, they had a very rewarding year.

They were winning from the very start and won during the whole season. Their complicated field show won six consecutive first place trophies. They swept the trophies at the Green Invitational, the Wellston Ohio Marching Band Competition, the Jackson Apple Festival, and their last and final field competition, the Blue and White Competition. — Jennifer Plante and Juli Phillips

Melyssa expressed her doubt before her first practice, "At first I didn't want to join and was really nervous, but when I went to the practice, I enjoyed it and decided band was for me!"

She explains how she felt before her first competition, "I was very nervous and wasn't sure I wanted to go to the competition. I was afraid I would mess up."

Jeremy Taylor, who is interested in the saxophone, commented on his upcoming year, "I'm really looking forward to being in the high school (band). That way I can do more."

Kathi Gundlah Finds Music Relaxing.

"There is no truer truth obtainable by man than comes of music." (Robert Browning)

Kathi Gundlah, a Freshman at Valley, enjoys music. Kathi sings, plays piano, flute, xylophone and bells.

Kathi's musical talents began when her parents bought her a piano in 1980. She slowly started playing by ear. Next, Kathi started taking lessons from Mrs. Knost in 1980.

Kathi is now involved in the high school choir and band. She would like to play and sing throughout the rest of her high school years. Kathi is currently a member of Jubilation, band and choir. She also holds first chair flute.

Kathi enjoys all kinds of music. She feels that she likes the different kinds of music because the writer's feelings are exposed. Kathi especially likes the lyrics to some songs because they allow one to relax.

Kathi has not completely decided what she wants to do when she is older. However, she does plan to go on to college. Kathi would like to go to a college with a reputable music department and study to be a music educator. Kathi has also thought of being a music performer.

Great Show

The chorus grew this year as they were composed of over 100 members. They performed well at their annual Christmas concert, and they followed up with a great Spring concert. The chorus was rewarded with a trip to the Columbus Zoo and Wyandot Lake on May 30th. The chorus then performed at graduation on the 5th of June. — Mike Rafferty

It was intended to be a performance vehicle that would expand and develop their abilities as well as providing a small performance group for public relations for VHS music department" as quoted from Mrs. Janet Hancock-Spears the director. She also stated, "The members of Jubilation were selected on their music dedication and performance."

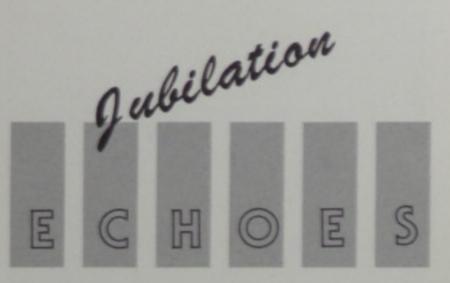

Jubilation sings tunes from all different types of music and then these tunes are choreographed.

Jubilation made over five hundred dollars in donations from performance audiences. Linda Hartley received the Favorite Jubilation member as voted upon by all other members.

Future plans are to go to Nashville, Tennessee, to participate in a competition for show choirs.

"In one TAP project, chapters might try setting up a Buddy System," suggests Tina. Older students to share feelings and work through problems together. Or, chapter members can think through problems during an open rap session without the adviser.

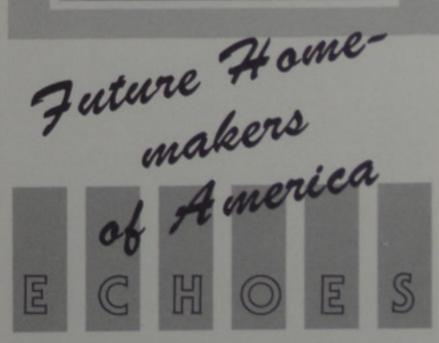

Another option is a school assembly program featuring two panels — one of well respected students, the other of mental health professionals. The student panel begins by discussing how they would react in a stressful situation. The professionals then talk about the topic and explain what was most helpful about the students' solutions.

"Such a program could help kids in the audience build self-confidence by seeing how their peers react and hearing from professionals that they're probably handling things okay," comments Tina.

Another part of the TAP program provides self-help tools for members. Included are tips for strengthening listening abilities, examining the qualities of their own friendships, helping peers with problems and developing a list-complete with phone numbers-of people who they could really talk to with their problems.

"Teenagers have really valuable assets, and we're trying to help our peers realize that," says Tina. "It's okay to reach out for help." "We knew we wanted to prevent teenage suicide, but we also realized that we were not professionals. The two stages leading to suicidal behavior, stress and depression, were where we could focus. We set the following overall goal: To help youth cope through responsible decision making." — Tina Hawk

FHA Involved in Many Activities

During FHA week, some of the activities were "dress-up-day" and red and white day. There was a He-Man and She-Ra competition. The FHA was in charge of the Valentine flower project. The money went to the Columbus Children's Hospital. The types of flowers available were real and silk carnations. The color of the flowers had a special meaning and a saying: Pink = "Wanna get to know you better," White = Friendship, and Red = "I love you." Each flower cost $1.50.

FHA went to a Family Living Seminar and workshops on leadership. They had a make-up modeling show by Martings. They had an introductory party. They went to Shawnee for workshops on leadership and the Family Award of Merit. The FHA had meetings to train positions. They taught how to prepare for FHA week. They also voted on dress-up day. They had Award of Merit activities throughout year. They taught how to be a successful and organized chapter, and involved others in FHA/Hero. The FHA had "Save A Sweetheart" day or SASH Day which dealt with not smoking. They gave parties for the L.D. class at the Elementary Building at Christmas. They also went to Rudd's Christmas Farm and participated in a state meeting and regional meeting in Tennessee. - Daniel Netzer

FHA Shows Quality

Through the years, Valley High School's Chapter of Future Homemakers of America has been well represented since it first began in 1966. Miss Jacobs was advisor of the club for the first two vears. Then in 1968, Mrs. Ratliff took over as advisor. Each year the Lucas Chapter of FHA has been recognized as an Award of Merit Chapter. In 1968, Patti Kent and Debbie Jordan were the first FHA members from Valley to receive State Degrees, an award of the highest achievement. From the time Valley started its own FHA Chapter, they have had eight state officers. Those eight are: Becky Blume, Debbie Blanton, Dayna Smith, Kathy Hawk, Deanna Arbaugh, Teresa Hancock, Holly Huff, and Tina Hawk. There were three vice-presidents and one president. The three vice-presidents were Becky Blume, Debbie Blanton and Holly Huff and the president was Tina Hawk. They have had two members serve on the Board of Directors. Those two are Dayna Smith and Tina Hawk. They have had one member run for the candidacy in a national FHA/Hero office, Deanna Arbaugh. Over the twenty-one years, Valley has had an FHA Chapter that has grown from about thirty members to over one hundred fifty members. -Juli Phillips

Bump, Set, Spike!

Valley's Volleyball Team from the beginning of the season, worked toward being the best they could.

The varsity lost to South Webster in the season opener. They won the second game but lost their third game to New Boston by a marginal score. The varsity still tried and they were determined to become number one. Although they lost more than they won, they never became discouraged. The varsity finished the regular season with a record of 4-9.

When tournaments began, the varsity was determined to win. They defeated South Webster, whom they had lost to earlier in the season. Then they advanced to the district tournament at Chillicothe, where they had a loss of which they could be proud. The varsity team was 5-10, they felt as if they had a very rewarding season. The reserve team had a record of 9-6.

The team's statistics that were collected showed exceptional results. Out of 844 serves, 84% were good. One hundred and seventy-eight were aces which made up 21%. Denise Bihl had the most serves with 101. Cherri Parsley led the team in aces with 28. The team had exceptional they were right on the mark 92% of the time. Laurel Patrick contributed the most sets with 116. Out of 533 spikes, 86% were good and 131 were kills. Cherri Parsley had the most spikes with 85, and Kelly Davis added an amazing 25 kills. Out of 479 serves, 83% were good, and 22% of all serves were aces. The people with the two highest percentages were Teresa Smith with 87% and Denise Bihl with 86%. The players with the highest percentages of aces were Cherri Parsley with 34% and Ann Harness with 27%. Laurel Patrick and Shelly Miller had the highest percentage of good sets with over 90 each. The two people with the best percentage of spikes were Laurel Patrick with 87% and Ann Harness with 86%.

Jenny Alley had this to say about the team, "I really enjoyed working with the other girls. I grew closer to them all and we had lots of fun!"

Ann Harness added, "We all improved throughout the year and had a really great time!"

The reserve team won their first three matches easily. The fourth match against Clay proved a challenge, as they lost only by a slight difference. They won the next three matches, but they had to use skill and strategy. Then they went into a slump and lost the next five games. They then won the next three games and lost the last game of the season against Waverly.

These statistics were collected. Out of 365 serves, 85% were good and 74 were aces making up 20% of all serves. Sandy Ramsey and Lisa Howard shared the highest percentage of good serves with 90%. Sandy Ramsey had the highest percentage of aces with 32% and Cheri Thoroughman had 21%. Like the varsity's setters the reserve's were exceptional. Out of 118 sets, 91% were est percentages of good sets were Cheri Thoroughman and Kristi Hickman with over 90%. The team had 207 spikes and 81% were good. Out of those 207 spikes, we had 57 kills to make up 28%. Lisa Howard had 91% accuracy in spiking and Cheri Thoroughman had 89%. They both had the highest percentages of kills. Thirty-nine percent of Cheri's spikes were kills and 31% of Lisa's were kills.

FLOSE EALLS

The Soccer team ended out the regular season at 2-11, but many of the games ended with a one or two point difference in the scores.

The team was led by the veteran coach, John Oppy. He has been Valley's coach for two and a half years. One of his assistant coaches was Randy Cunningham. Randy worked with the defense and was a great help to all of the players. The other assistant coach was Wayne Brown. Wayne was the man that "fired up" the team. He also gave advice to the players.

Most Improved was granted to Brian Hockenberry, and the Best Defensive Player was given to Lee Howe. The MVP was Brad Hall, Senior SCJVS student. The Coaches' Award was presented to Jon Chadwick, also a Senior SCJVS student.

Entering tournament play the team had high expectations because of the close scores of the two previous games and because they were playing an 0-13 team. The team was White Oak. Valley scored thirty seconds after the initial kickoff. Then just as quickly, White Oak scored. Twenty-two minutes elapsed before White Oak made a penalty shot. The score was then 2-1 in White Oak's favor. After about four minutes, Valley came back with a 15-yard goal; the score was then 2-2. After a long rally. White Oak made the final and decisive goal. The final score was 3-2 and the Indians' season was finished. - Danny Reed

Indians Finish with Five Hundred Season

The 1986 football season was a mixture of the good and the bad.

There were successes and disappointments

The season began with an emotional win over Northwest. Though Valley trailed 7-6 at halftime, the team kept their heads up and rallied to win, 20-7. The Indians traveled to Piketon for their next victory. The team cruised to a 41-14 win as everyone got into the act.

Zane Trace was the third opponent. The Indians treated the home crowd to a thrilling fourth quarter victory. After being down 20-0 at halftime, a determined offense and defense rallied back. Ted Hartley scored twice to cut the lead to 20-13. Fumble recoveries by Jon Will and Scott Morrow set up Jeff Crabtree's five yard touchdown run with just over a minute remaining in the game. This brought the score to within 20-19. Coach Miller elected not to play for the tie, he chose to run the extra points. It was "do or die" on one play. Coach Miller sent in a trap play and Morrow handed off to Crabtree. Crabtree crossed the goal line to give Valley the winning points. Then Zane Trace took to the air, hoping for a miracle. Crabtree picked off a pass and returned it 35 yards for a TD. Then when everyone thought nothing else could possibly happen, as time ran out, Morrow intercepted a pass and returned it 37 yards for yet another score. Jackie Hoover kicked his second PAT (point after touchdown) of the game, and it was finally over. When all the dust had settled, Valley had scored 27 points in the fourth quarter. Both Hartley and Crabtree had rushed for over 100 yards in the Unfortunate mistakes led to Valley's downfall over the next three games. Computer points were at stake when the Indians played undefeated West at their home field. Valley fell behind 14-0, and Morrow returned a punt for an apparent touchdown, but a controversial flag was thrown and the play was called back. This shifted momentum and Valley was defeated 27-0. The team's conference season opened the following week against East. The 14-7 loss dampened spirits and hurt the chances of winning or sharing the S.O.C. title. Still hurting from the loss to East. Valley was not prepared for Chesapeake. As a result, Valley was defeated, 19-6.

The Indians rebounded with a huge 46-16 win over Ironton St. Joe, and prepared for another classic battle with Notre Dame. With a win over N.D., Valley would share the S.O.C. title with East and N.D.

Notre Dame scored first to lead 7-0 after one quarter. But the Indians retaliated with an unbelievable 80 yard, 21 play scoring drive, which culminated with a goal line plunge by Crabtree. Valley opened the second half by going 67 yards in seven plays. Morrow capped the drive with a 22yard run. Notre Dame came back by scoring on a 63-yard run to tie the game 14-14. This sent the game into overtime. N.D. won the coin toss and decided to play defense. Valley started at the Notre Dame 20 yard line. On third down and forced to pass, the ball was intercepted and the Indians had to rely on defense. After three plays. Notre Dame had the ball on the four. Two plays later, they scored for a sudden death ending. It was still perhaps the best game of the year. Hartley and Crabtree again combined for more than 200 yards. In comparison, the last two games were anticlimactic.

The Indians easily defeated Green 37-3 to assure a .500 season. Then were beaten by Minford in the season final 15-6. — Mike Voorheis

Football

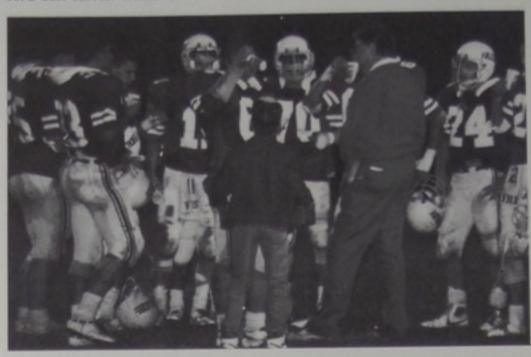

Lines For Linemen

The quarterback gets credit for completions, backs are credited for yards gained and touchdowns, and ends receive recognition for receptions. On defense, linemen are credited sacks, and backs are credited with tackles and interceptions. But what do the offensive linemen get? Usually a pat on the back or maybe a "nice job" from a teammate. The line works hard, but the backs get credit for "running five yards and falling down." The linemen sacrifice their bodies so that someone else can run without getting knocked down.

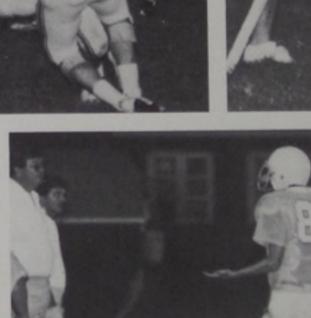

On a typical trap play, Bill Melvin meets face-to-face with a tough linebacker. James Burton or Jon Will butts heads with a noseguard that is forty to eighty pounds heavier than him. Jackie Hoover snaps the ball and heads downfield to lock up with a linebacker. Darrell Parsley takes a six-yard run and runs over a tackle and defensive end. Dennis Hamilton hits the tackle, seals him off and heads downfield to make yet another block. Adam Riehl or Joe Miller teams up with the tackle to block the defensive tackle. Then Scott Morrow gives the ball to Jeff Crabtree or Ted Hartley, who will run five yards into the endzone through a line provided hole in the defense.

Granted, the game could not be played without talented backs and receivers, but there is a lot more to scoring a touchdown than running the ball. There is always a total team effort, but occasionally the headlines might read: "Parsley's Block Sets Up Winning TD." - Mike Voorheis

"All right, do ten on the ground, ten on the hill ..."

Most people think that the 1986 football season began August 29 against Northwest. However, the football players will recall the early August practices and scrimmages. After five days of conditioning, the team finally got out the dummies. The Freshmen quickly found out who the hardest hitters were.

A common practice would begin with calisthenics and grass drills. Then the players would split up. The linemen would run through blocking drills and the backs would practice patterns. Next, the team might "crab" the hill or do more grass drills. Then everyone would run sprints.

Then just when you thought it might be over, Coach Miller yells, "All right do ten on the ground, ten on the hill, and come back and see me."

Then everyone would line up on the goal line and run some more wind sprints.

As the season neared, practices changed. The team would start with calisthenics and then work on special teams. Next the scout team, made up of Freshmen, would run the opponent's offense against Valley's defense for the remainder of the practice. The starting offensive team would practice plays against the defense. — Mike Voorheis

The team goes through a variety of stretches prior to each game to prevent injuries. One of the most common injuries that may occur is a hamstring pull.

Golf Team Wins SOC and District

Although crowds do not often flock to watch high school golf and they are represented in the newspaper by only a three or four sentence paragraph, Valley's golf team continues to win despite the lack of publicity. The 1986 Valley golf team won the S.O.C. Tournament and the District Championship. In the S.O.C. Tournament, Phil Mowery earned All-Conference honors by carding an 81. Hard Work

Lots of hard work and dedication is put in a good cheerleading squad. Angie Sexton comments on what it is like to be a Senior on the squad. "It's a lot different than any other year because the responsibility is put on you to make the squad the best it can be."

"A lot of work was spent on practice," Angie remarked about the Florida competition. "The competition was great and as a group we had so much fun. We all felt that we represented Valley High School really well." When asked about practice, Angie said that practice consisted of working on cheering routines. "The school song was always practiced." Winning Ways

The Valley Indians basketball team featured four Senior starters. Three men over six feet tall returned as Valley rolled over opponents with inside scoring and rebounding. A 1985-86 starter Chris Clark was unable to play because of a pre-season knee injury. Craig Gilliland and Keith Hickman worked for inside points and brought down rebounds. Alan Alley and Hickman bombed from the outside, while Scott Morrow drove the lane. Jeff Crabtree and Ted Godfrey shared the other starting spot.

Craig and Keith each accomplished a remarkable feat by scoring over 1,000 points in their varsity careers. They went into the history books just eight days apart.

Valley won their first five games before losing to Wheelwright in the Shawnee over Eastern gave the Indians a 7-1 record. A loss to East fired the team up for Wheelersburg. A bunny shot at the buzzer by Gilliland earned the win. Two victories were followed by two losses and Valley

After winning three in a row, Valley met Wheelersburg on their home floor in a crucial SOC game. This time, however, Wheelersburg finished on top. After beating South Webster, Valley traveled to Waverly. Valley lost the game, and with it, the SOC championship.

Successful History

Ever since the Valley Echoes book has been published, basketball has been in the book. In 1937, the team made a trip to the final four in tournament play. In 1947, the Indians were Scioto County Champs and were home team to the MVP of Scioto county. That player was Chester Williams. They were being coached by Gene Mckenzie, the math, chemistry and phys. ed. teacher.

Four years later the Valley Indians were coached by Charles Preston, the math and phys. ed teacher. Ted Newsome broke a county record in foul shooting with a score of 24 out of 25. In 1953, the Indians were once again county champs.

Two years later in 1955, the Indians' coach was Ralph Brown the phys. ed. teacher. In 1956, the new coach, Bill Damron, led the Indians to a season record of 14-10. Two years later Coach Damron had a successful year with a record of 17-5.

After nine years had passed, for the third time, Valley became Scioto County League Champs. They advanced and captured the class AA Sectional Championships. In 1966 Roger Lundy took over Coach Damron's position. In 1968 the reserve team were Scioto County League and Southern Ohio Conference Champs. Once again in 1969 the Indians captured the title of S.L.C. Champs.

In 1974 the result of hard work and effort was a berth in the Class A sectional finals.

In 1976 Valley hosted the Scioto County Player of the year, Harold Merritt. They also earned the title of Class A Regional Runners-up.

In 1980 the Indians captured four titles including: S.O.C. Division II Co-Champions District Runner-up. Coach of the Year, Mike Yeagle, and he earned his 110 victory with the Indians. — Juli Phillips

Regional Runners-up

Valley High School's basketball team reached the Regional Tournament for the second consecutive year in 1987. The Indians easily defeated New Boston for a Sectional win at Minford.

Valley, now 15-6, advanced to play Racine Southern in the first game at the Chillicothe District. The game was played evenly throughout and was forced into overtime. With the score tied and seven seconds left in overtime, Craig Gilliland bounced a pass to Jeff Crabtree, who banked it in for a dramatic win.

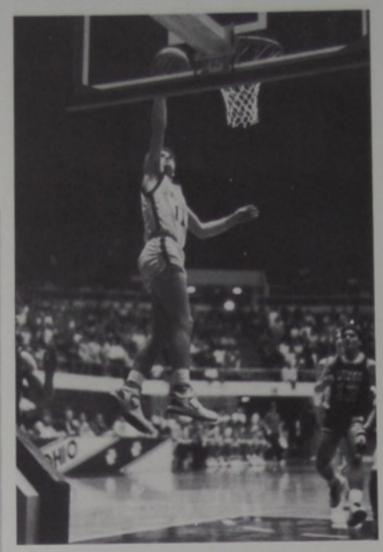

Valley played nearly perfect in the district championship against East. The team jelled like never before and jumped to a 14-2 lead, which they held onto for the remainder of the game. Four players scored in double figures as Valley won, 71-52.

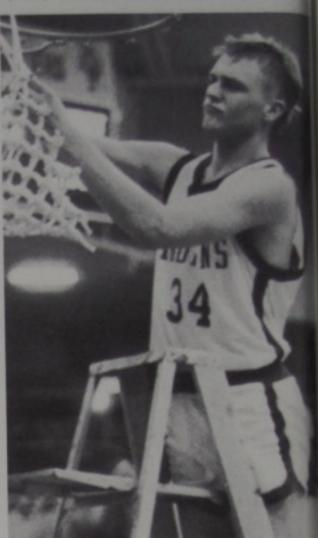

At the regionals, Mingo Junction was the next victim. Valley led 15-10 after one quarter. Scott Morrow ignited the team with a perfect six of six from the field in the second quarter. No members of the team missed a shot during that period, which increased Valley's lead to 18 points. The lead dwindled to six points, but the Indians recovered to win, 67-56.

In the regional final game, Valley played Old Washington Buckeye
Trail. Down one point with six seconds to go in the game, Scott Morrow tried a 10-foot jumper that kissed the rim. Valley finished in the top eight finalists and collected the runner-up Regional Trophy for 1987. — Mike Voorheis

Gaining Experience

The 1986-1987 Valley High School Junior Varsity basketball team ended up with a 6-12 record on the season. The team was dominated by nine first-year players with only five returning players. Their top scorers were Jeff Comer and Bill Melvin. They averaged over nine points per game each. The team was led in rebounding by Joe Miller. Many a time, the crowd and team would watch Joe as he would clear the boards on both the defensive and offensive sides of the court. Jeff Comer was also the "playmaker" of the team as he led in assists. He also played the important position of point guard. Roger Tipton filled in at the forward position until Scott Ridout returned from a late-season football injury. Roger then came off of the bench to give a much needed boost in very crucial situations. Alan Ruth filled in the final starting guard position as he teamed up with Joe Miller to pump in shots from the perimeter of the court. - Mike Raffety

Team Improves

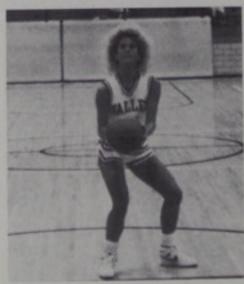

Several members of the 1986-87
Women's Basketball team had a chance to be a star. Six different members of the team scored in double figures during the course of the year. The season began with an easy win over Notre Dame followed by three losses. A win over Clay was followed by three consecutive losses, two of them to league opponents.

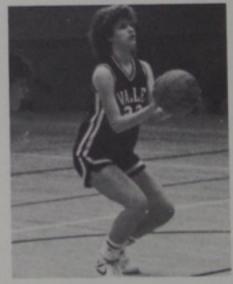

Losses had left the team mired at the bottom of the S.O.C. with an 0-3 record but then three Juniors took control and combined for 44 points in a win over Wheelersburg. Another win over Clay was followed by a win over Waverly. This preceded losses in four out of the next five games. Then they defeated two more opponents, including West, whom they had lost to earlier in the year. They lost to Waverly before Zane Trace defeated them in the sectional opener.

The team was led by Angela Gilliland. Kelly Davis, and Cherri Parsley. Cheri Thoroughman directed the game from her point guard position. The rest of the playing time was divided among Sophomores, Teresa Smith, Lisa Howard, and Senior, Robin Reed. — Mike Voorheis

The Valley High School softball team's strategy relied on speed and pitching. They finished 9-6 after losing the sectional championship to Clay.

The season started successfully with five consecutive wins. Then after falling to Minford, they defeated Northwest in a high-scoring contest, 24-21. In the next game, Valley's pitching and defense broke down in a twenty-five run loss to Waverly. However, the very next game, Jenny Alley helped the team rebound by throwing a no-hitter in a 17-0 win over New Boston. Still floating from their shutout win. Valley surprised the AA regional champion. West Senators, 10-6. This improved their record to 8-2. Unfortunately their last three regular season games were losses.

They moved on to the sectional tournament where they defeated Peebles, 8-4. They advanced to meet Clay, whom they had lost to during the regular season. Their season ended as they fell to Clay, 15-8.

Robin Reed was given an SOC first team All-Conference Award. She batted .595, knocked in 23 runs, and stole 27 bases. Laura Buckle won the Defensive Award. Julie McDermott and Angela Gilliland both won Offensive Awards. Julie hit .509 and Angela hit .500 with 25 RBI's. Jenny Alley won seven games while losing four. She disproved the myth that pitchers can't hit by batting .442. — Mike Voorheis

The Valley Indian's baseball team completed a remarkable season finishing 16-4. A season-opening loss to Coal Grove did not dampen the team's spirits. They reeled off nine consecutive victories before losing to Northwest. Unfortunately the next game was also a loss to Waverly. The Indians were not beaten again during the regular season.

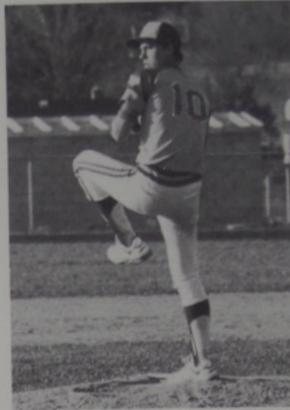

The tournament, called the "second season" by some, lasted only one game. Valley was defeated by New Boston in the first round.

Overall the season was successful. Several individuals accumulated impressive statistics. Jack Hoover led the team with four home runs and a .515 batting average. Scott Morrow made some spectacular diving catches in centerfield and stole twenty-two bases. Jon Will had two triples and twice went four for four. Larry Cunningham hit .439 and had an earned run average of 1.40. Allen Simon went 5-0 as a pitcher. Alan Alley, most valuable player, led the team with a .91 ERA and four saves. He played superbly behind the plate and hit .348 with two homers. Curt Buckler added three homers and a .392 average. Adam Riehl had the dubious distinction of being hit by four pitches in just thirty at bats. - Mike Voorheis

Scott Morrow played centerfield and received the Best Defense Award for his diving catches. Jackie Hoover, (below), drives in a run during a rally against Clay.

Alan Alley was a relief pitcher and earned four saves. Craig Gilliland, (right), hit a mammoth home run onto the football field at Piketon.

Coach Booth Leads Team to State Win in 1975

Baseball first appeared in the yearbook in 1952. The first team had a record of five wins and three losses. They were also Scioto County League Co-Champs. The Indians were coached by Charles Preston. The next year Coach Preston was helped by Ralph Brown. In 1955, Coach Brown took over the position as head coach and led the team to an undefeated season. The next year the new coach, Bill Damron, led the team to a 3-1 sea-

In 1961, the coaching of the team fell into the hands of Ronald Portidge. Two years later Valley was S.O.C. Co-Champs. They also had a major leaguer, Gene Tenace. In 1965, Gene Tenace led Valley to the State Tournament. The Indians lost to Versade but were welcomed home by a fifty car parade and took the title of State Tournament Runners-up.

The next year with only two returning starters and a new coach, Don Pfleger, no one expected anything good to happen. The Indians showed spirit and once again won the District Championships. After winning the Regionals, they advanced to the State Tournament and ended the season as Class A Runners-up.

All the hard work and dedication of the Indians payed off in 1975, when they won the title of Ohio Class A State Baseball Champions with Doug Booth as coach. In 1976 the Indians won the S.O.C. and the S.C.L. titles. In 1983, with Dean Schuler as coach they were Sectional Champions. They were also Sectional Champs 1984-1986 — Juli Phillips

In 1952, the baseball team was Scioto County League Co-Champs. First row: managers-D. Moulton, C. Benner. Second row: D. Green, B. Frasher, T. Newsome, D. McGlone, Coach Preston. Third row: C. Howie Fraley, a Junior, played the position of second singles during the tennis season. Howie has played tennis for three years. He moved up from third to second at the beginning of the season. Howie played doubles with Chris Thompson once they entered tournament play.

John Brewer, (above), played third singles on the team this year. John was the only Senior member on the tennis team and he received his third year trophy. John won his first match in District play, and was the only team member to advance. John also participated in S.O.C. play.

"Southpaw" Leads Team

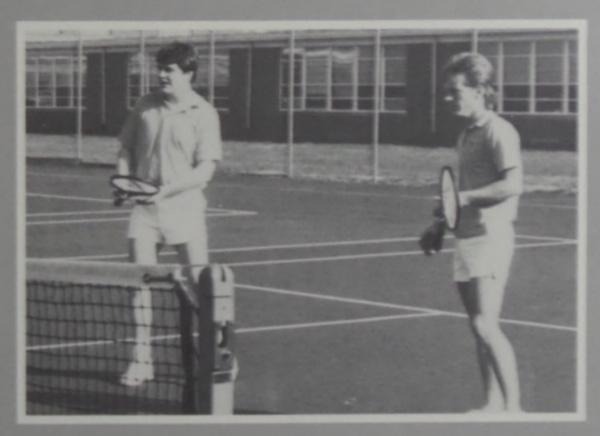

During Chris Thompson's
Freshman year, he earned the spot of first singles on the tennis team. As a Junior, he still holds the position. Chris had never picked up a racket before his high school years began. He took a few lessons from Lisa Mamas at the Racquet Club, but he didn't pick up his racquet again until a couple of months before tennis started. Chris likes tennis because it doesn't interfere with his schoolwork.

Chris's season was good. He has seen his tennis game improve over the past years. Chris said the most noticeable difference is that he now has more patience. Chris thinks he still needs to work on foot movements and easier shots.

Chris had a very successful season with a record of 10-3. Chris lost to Matt Jewitt of East, Andy Lee from Wheelersburg, and Aaron Ballner of Minford. — Danny Edwards

In just two years, the team achieved their goal and won the S.O.C. meet and the S.C.L. meet. In 1974, Valley's track team was runners-up in the County League and placed third in the S.O.C. In 1975, with Jerry McGinnis as track coach, the team went undefeated for thirty meets setting a school record. In 1979, Byron Arbaugh placed first in the 880 yard run at the State Meet. He also set the mile and 880 record in the S.O.C. and S.C.L. Graduation — The Final Day Graduation — the day when all the work for the past thirteen years finally pays off. Everybody looks forward to graduation, especially the high school Senior.

Theodore Godfrey expressed his feelings on graduation, "I'm happy because it's over. I feel that graduation is something I've waited for — for twelve years."

Seniors are expected by most people to set examples for the underclassmen.

Also Seniors have a greater amount of freedom and equal treatment as an adult.

Ted said that the thing he will miss the most is, "My friends, because after this year we will all be choosing our careers." The thing that he will not miss is the pressures of taking six week and semester tests.

When Theodore was asked what advice he would give a Freshman, he answered, "Enjoy these years as much as possible. They will be the best and the most memorable years of your life."

Graduation and Onward

A mother cries as her only child leaves the nest, and an unshed tear gleams in a father's eye as well. That same scenario will be repeated many times this year as the many graduates of the Class of '87 start onward to their musen studies and careers.

Desra Wortman may be facing this scenario if her hopes come true and she goes to Ohio Northern University. Deswoted "Wittiest" by her classmates, will be stepping into a new dimension as she enters college life.

Although Desra is anxiously awaiting her graduation, she feels that she will be missing high school life. Desra explains, "Something I regret is not working harder on my grades and soaking up all the knowledge that I should have. But something that I am proud of is the fact that during my years at VHS. I have obtained not only an education in books but also an education in people and feelings. Hopefully the upcoming graduation class will learn much more than I and appreciate all that VHS offers." - Juli Phillips

GOBOTICE AND ELECTRONICE AT

"Caution! Men working on an important scientific experiment!"

This is the sign you might find on the door of the Electronics Lab at SCJVS. Four men have undertaken the impossible task of building a real, working robot. John Comer, a Senior from Valley, was a vital part of this team. They worked feverishly on this project for two painstaking weeks.

John, along with Mike Crawford of West and Guy Lee from East, worked as a team to get the robot in operating order. David Liles, also from West, helped Mike Crawford put the robot to-

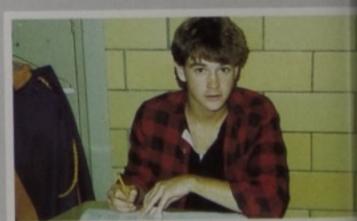

After the robot had been completed, John Comer and Guy Lee took over to run a series of tests on the robot which included voice, sound, light, and movement detection. Most of the boys thought that the experiment was very educational and they had a lot of fun doing it. The boys also thought that this was a major step in deciding a formidable career in robotics and electronics.

Joe Nelson, Senior, won the recent table tennis tournament. He defeated Mike Wiley in the semifinals and advanced to meet Cameron Spradlin in the finals. It was expected to be a close match, but Joe defeated his opponent in two consecutive games.

Joe, a National Honor Society member, uses a variety of spins to upset his opponents. He plays farther away from the table than most and likes to control the tempo of the game.

Although it may be on a very small scale, the table tennis tournament may be a prime example of why Joe was voted "Most Likely to Succeed" by his classmates.

"Hard Work Pays Off"

"I stay up late many nights studying for tests after practices and ballgames to try to keep my grades as good as possible and still enjoy high school."

Voted "Best All Around," Dana Rose stays very busy by being in many extra-curricular activities such as flag corps, 4-H, and dance corps. When asked which activity she enjoys most, she replied, "I like flag corps the best. It gave me a chance to be with my friends and meet people from other bands. It was also a great feeling to see our hard work pay off, when we won first place in competition this year."

Dana has kept a 4.0 average throughout her high school years. She has been rewarded for her grades by being accepted in NHS, Junior Honors and Senior Mentorship.

"I can't believe my Senior year is finally here. I will miss being together with all of my friends every day, but I am looking forward to the challenge of the future." — Jackie Singer

Flying Photography

Many people enjoy flying. Many people also enjoy photography. However, few people have the talent or the opportunity to be an aerial photographer.

Dan Srofe, a Senior Valley High School student, has been presented with very unique opportunity. In order to take aerial pictures, only a good 35 mm. camera with a zoom lens is needed. Wayne Coldiron, who died in a plane crash in February, was Dan's pilot. They would remove a door from a friend's plane, and Dan would use his own equipment to shoot houses, buildings, and landscapes. The film is then sent away to be processed.

Dan has enjoyed flying for years and is a member of the Civil Air Patrol. In his Junior year, he became interested in photography and decided to combine both interests. He plans to be a pilot and do aerial photography as a small business.

FLA STATE PRESIDENT FROM VALLEY

At the 1986 state convention, Tina Hawk was voted in as the President of the Ohio organization of FHA/HERO for the 1986-87 term. Tina in her work with FHA, has put together presentations that have been given at state and national levels. She has also published several articles in nationally distributed teen magazines.

"I enjoy FHA and the activities that they do. FHA stands for Future Homemakers of America and HERO stands for Home Economics Related Occupations. We really do a lot in FHA concerning the family and we emphasize setting goals for yourself as well as nutrition and teens handling drugs. FHA has camps and what we call skill events, which is where we demonstrate our skills and abilities to each other. FHA has state conventions each year. At this time, FHA/HERO has 4,000 members in Ohio." Being a leader is not new to Tina. During her Sophomore and Junior year, she held other state offices in FHA. — Adena Comer

Night-time Working

Imagine this — you are walking down the aisle at Gahm's Supermarket, or browsing around the clothes rack in Artley's and you will catch a glimpse of Jeff Lingrosso or Brett Holbrook.

"Wait," you think to yourself, "I just saw that person at school."

Well, you have. Both Jeff and Brett are Seniors, and are working after school. They agree that the thing they like least about working is that it cuts down on the time they can manage to spend with their friends especially on the weekends. They both started working to provide themselves with spending money and the things that they wanted. The two Seniors were treated kindly when they first started working and more responsibility was expected of them as they gained experience.

Brett had some definite things to say about working after school. When asked if he thought work was helping him to mature and take on responsibility as a person, he answered, "Yes, certain responsibilities and a large amount of trust has been put on me as a semiadult."

While Jeff doesn't like working because of the time he has to spend away from his friends, Brett likes it and says, "Work is more fun than high school." — Juli Phillips

ECHOES Junions

The following write-up written by Frederick McKinley introduced the Juniors in 1937 yearbook.

We entered the freshman class of 1936 probably as green as any other freshman class. After awhile we began to show some ability and broke into scholastic, athletic, and social accomplishments to our credit.

As sophomores we had several parties. We placed four boys on the basketball squad who helped to win the district tournament in 1936. Several of our number joined the girls' squad. At the end of the year some of us took the scholarship tests.

We have now reached our junior year and we realize that we are approaching the end of our high school career. Five of our members were on the squad this year. Again we won the district tournament.

At the end of this school term we leave our good will and best wishes to the sophomores who will step into our shoes and will carry on the work next year as juniors. We sincerely hope and believe that we can take the seniors' places and keep up the work they have started.

Hectic Schedules

The Junior year, the eve before becoming a Senior, the best year so some have said, but usually it is a hectic one. New classes, tougher science and math courses, advanced language courses and vocational career choices add to the sense of confusion. Many Juniors are actually beginning at a new school as about twenty-five percent of the class enrolled at Scioto County Joint Vocational School.

For those juniors who chose general studies or college prep courses, in the morning one will probably find them checking over homework or asking themselves if they've studied enough.

They are not yet Seniors and not lower classmen anymore, so where do they fit in? They are fortunate enough to drive but not fortunate enough to rule the school. They look up to the Seniors for guidance and don't worry about Freshmen or Sophomores as long as they mind their own business.

Their hectic schedule will most likely keep them up occasionally long hours in the night, especially around the due date for the two required term papers. The reason contributed to that is they want to become Seniors and get the last year of school completely out of the way.

The end of the day comes and once again most Juniors get in their own cars and go home. — Juli Phillips

Fad or Fashion

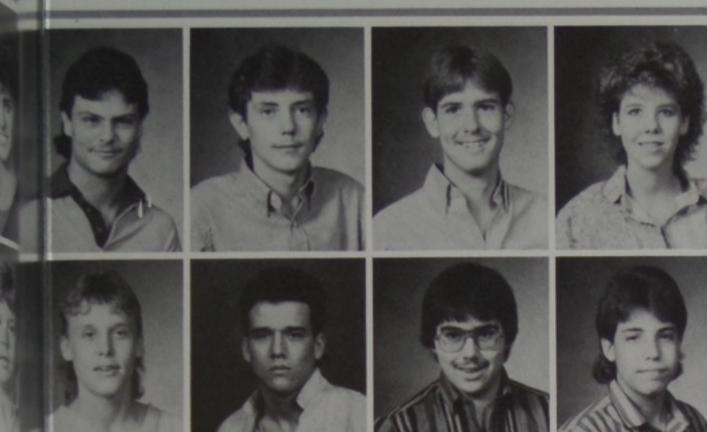

Mindy Appel has been interested in modeling for several years. Her formal training begin with a sixteen week course of modeling at the John Powers School of Modeling in 1984. The next year, she returned for another eight weeks to attend an advanced modeling course at the same school. She learned many important modeling techniques. Among them were how to walk properly, how to apply makeup correctly, how to fix hair, as well as how to choose the color that looks best. After high school graduation, she hopes to attend Bauder Fashion College in Georgia. She also plans to become either a fashion merchandiser or an interior designer and part-time model. Although none of her fashion photos have yet been published, she has had a lot of experience in fashion modeling for the camera. She currently has a modeling contract with She She Modeling Agency for work in the future. - Kevin Ashley comes most easily to her is Chemistry. "I like doing experiments and working with formulas. Solving problems in Chemistry offers a challenge, but it's a fun challenge. I have little trouble understanding, and if I do, Mr. McClay will take the time to explain it better."

Her favorite class and the one that

Although she likes being a Junior she is a little frightened about being a Senior. "It is scary to think that next year will be our last year of high school. Then we're on our own. We will finally be expected to be adults and this is our last year to be kids. The decisions we make our Senior year will very likely affect us the rest of our lives." — Juli Phillips

E C H O E S Sophomores

In 1937, Ora Mae Short, the writer of the following essay, was presented with the accomplishment medal for the best class history.

In the year 1927, sixty first grade pupils with Mrs. Smith as teacher, entered Valley Township School. Of that number seventeen are members of the present sophomore class of VHS. We can't exactly say where the other forty-three are, but we miss them from our ranks.

As a freshman class composed of seventy-nine members, we enjoyed weiner roasts and a few parties. Glen Lawson and Arnold Watts from our ranks represented us at the District Examinations in the spring of 1936.

We entered the sophomore year with fifty-four members. We have worked together and accomplished a few things until we are proud to be called members of this class. Several of our members have the honor of being outstanding pupils. Arnold Watts, Glen Lawson, and Donald Hawk ranked high in the Elimination tests in Ports. This enabled them to take part in the Dist. Scholarship Test at Athens. Glen and Arnold ranked third and fourth respectively in Plane Geometry. We have had class parties and weiner roasts to make our sophomore year thoroughly pleasant. Our class is organized and has capable officers: Theda Buckle - P, Joe Kirby - VP, and Betty Kent - Sec/Treas. We have an English Club and a History Club. These have helped to make our work more enjoyable and our classes more interesting.

In December, we gave a successful play entitled "The Old Home Place". Betty Jane Sisler, Avanelle Morgan, Ora Mae Short, Glen Lawson, Joe Kirby, Bruce Nourse, and Frank Snedaker each played his part well.

We were represented in basketball this year by Eileen Chestnut, Gerald McNamer, and William Harness. In the orchestra, we have Betty Kent, Juanita Morgan, Ola Wheeler, John Kuhn, Glen Lawson, and Joe Kirby.

We hope that we may go on through the junior and senior years as pleasantly as we have so far, and in the end it may be said of us that we have done a few things worth while.

Folding Triangles

Your Sophomore year has come, and you can now hold your head up high and proudly as you walk down the hall. You have survived a shaky first year and it is behind you. You anticipate taking Driver's Education as you pass that age marker of sixteen. You are a leader on the junior varsity teams and may have a chance to play varsity sports.

Your day may begin folding triangles with Miss Gregory in Geometry. Then you proceed up and other life forms in Biology with Mrs. Scarfpin. Computers with Mr. Bibbey are next. Then the morning ends with Shake-speare "to be or not to be" with Mrs. Williams.

Lunch is next with a few minutes to get together with friends. Afternoon classes may begin with Mr. Adkins for World History and possibly French II. This long day may be followed by study hall with a chance to catch up on homework or research. Finally, the day ends with Gym or Health.

As June approaches at the year's end, Sophomores are glad to be out of school. The year has gone more quickly than their Freshman year but still, they look forward to the next year, when they will return as upperclassmen with their driver's license firmly tucked in their pocket. — J. Three Wheeling Racing Tension mounts.

Engines roar.

It is the middle of April and Joe Keller has waited since September for this moment. The racing season begins today. He is faced with the challenge of head-to-head three-wheeling.

He has prepared for this by doing regular maintenance checks on his machine. He glances over at his cousins, who in turn yell encouragement. He finds his brother, Jason, who is also a member of "Team Keller" and a student at Valley Intermediate. Even though Joe can't hear him, his brother yells just the same. Joe fixes his eyes on the track. He concentrates on his racing strategy.

He adjusts his goggles and checks the rest of his equipment. It includes riding pants, shoulder pads, chest protector and a helmet.

The sign goes up, the starting band is released, and Joe hits the accelerator. He will race four laps, each covering an eighth of a mile.

The challenge of competition is exciting for Joe and he is often successful in three-wheeling. He also enjoys swimming and skiing. He would like to race until it is no longer physically possible.

The bell rings. HOORAY! Class is finally over. Now the true test of stamina and strength begins. The object of the race is to get from your English class to your locker to the science rooms in three minutes without killing someone or getting ran over.

You struggle for the door and you step out into the traffic, barely missing stepping on someone's foot. The current of people then sweeps you down the hall - in the completely opposite direction you were heading. You finally get turned around and you're on the right track. Everything is fine until you drop your all-purpose folder and everything spills out. Then someone laughs, "See, I told you, you should have gotten a Trapper-Keeper." You then grope along the hallway, picking up every last item you have, except the next class's homework. You have finally found it underneath the guy with the biggest feet in school. After you have politely excused yourself while retrieving the paper, you then run down the hall. You maneuver around the "death corner." No matter how slowly you go, you wipe out a person — three times as big as you are. Another sprint and you walk calmly into the door and take your seat. You give a huge sigh, "Ah, I made it just in time." - Juli Phillips

New Face in the Old Crowd

"Have you seen the new girl?" Whispering and rumors follow a new student. Everyone has heard something different.

That particular scenario was exactly what Kelley Linn was preparing herself for when she changed schools. She did not want to move. She even admits that she was a little scared when she came to Valley. Kelley was prepared to face, what she might consider, hostile strangers. Then when Kelley arrived she was surprised that everyone was so friendly.

Kelley had previously attended Greenup County and Northwest schools. She says that the Valley and the other schools are close in academic levels.

Kelley has been here since about the beginning of the year. She says that the people "treat me good and they will always be there when I need them." -Juli Phillips

Most students at Valley know who Kenny Evans is. He is the Sophomore vice-president, who is known popularly as "Mater." He is involved in football and track, but recently, he has distinguished himself as an honorable young man by achieving the Eagle Scout award.

Kenny has progressed through the ranks at a remarkable pace. It took him less than four years to reach the goal, with the help of scoutmaster, John Thompson.

He joins six other members of the troop as Eagle Scouts. Among those are Jeff Comer, son of principal and former Eagle Scout, Mr. Larry Comer, Chris Thompson, Lee Howe, Dennis Massey, and Jeff Taylor. ECHOES neshanen

In 1937 the Freshmen were introduced by a short article written by Freshman, Mary Ellen Moulton. Much of her article still applies today.

Although freshmen are usually thought of as being green, this freshmen class has proved to be energetic and has shown real enthusiasm in its undertakings. At the present time the class has an enrollment of 62, even tho' some have fallen by the wayside.

We are represented on the girls' and boys' varsity basketball teams by Dorothy Powell and Arthur Keaton. In the school orchestra we have Violet Wymer, Mary Moulton, and Charles Estep. In the class tournament, the freshmen girls went to the finals after beating the juniors and seniors.

When choosing a cheer-leader, it was found that Natalie Jacobs could really yell. As to scholastic ability, Mildred Johnson holds first honors amoung the girls, and it is neck and neck with Hal Kirby and Edgar Harness. The activities during the year were under the leadership of the following officers: Pres, Edgar Harness; VP, Hal Kirby; Sec, Frances Glaze; Treas, Mary Moulton.

Next year we plan to be sophomores striving again to be a popular class among the students and teachers.

The Freshmen Class Officers are: Alan Ruth - Vice President, Raymond Thayer - President, Juli Phillips - Treasurer, and Amy Adkins - Secretary.

Frosh Initiation

Initiation. The one word that will set a Freshmen running down the hall, and put fear and terror into their hearts. The Freshmen are prime targets for the pranks and jokes of upperclassmen. Probably the most commonly pulled trick is directing the Freshmen in the opposite direction of the class they are trying to find. Another commonly pulled trick is to detain the Freshmen, therefore making them late to the following class and causing them to be in danger of getting a detention.

A typical college prep Freshmen student may begin their day with French I, then go to choir, study hall, English, and Science for the first half of the day. The lunch period is a cherished time for Freshmen. Lunch is the only time that they can get together and discuss the various tests and homework assignments. The second half may consist of Algebra, followed by General Business, and finally, Health or Gym, where they have the ability to work out all aggressions that have built up during the day.

When asked about entering high school, most Freshmen will say it isn't that big of a deal. Then toward the end of the year you can hear them plotting the initiation of the eighth grade next year, and of course with some help from the Sophomores and Juniors. — Juli Phillips

FREED FREEDMAN

A new Freshman is in class. That was what all the Freshmen were saying on August twenty-eighth. Crystal Throckmorton arrived at Valley new to the high school and new to the Freshmen class. Crystal said that it was easier to come to school as a Freshman because she was just as lost as all the others.

Crystal came from Northwest.
When asked how the two schools compared she said, "I got a fresh start here."

Crystal said that she was accepted by most people. Now that she has been going here for a while and has joined Jubilation, she is beginning to like the school because she is getting to know people better than she did.

When Crystal was asked if she would leave she answered, "No, I'm staying! I've made some really terrific friends here and I think they would be totally impossible to replace." — Juli Phillips

Preparing for Life

Derek Hester enjoys basketball, swimming, bike riding and golf. He is a Freshman who has been on the honor roll each six weeks. When asked if he liked high school better than junior high, he said, "Yes, it is more fun than the eighth grade. There are more dances."

Derek's favorite class is English because he says that Mrs. Miller tells stories that keeps him interested. He says that his best subject is Algebra because it comes easily to him.

Derek says that he feels he is being prepared for college because the curriculum is educationally hard but fun. He says that more emphasis is put on responsibility in high school with semester and final exams that count toward the year and final average.

Derek thought the most important thing about school was, "Education — because without an education we wouldn't be able to succeed in life." — Juli Phillips

The Three Musketeers

The song "Stand By Me" has a new meaning when applied to Chris Baldridge, Jason Call, and Bud Ruth, who stand by each other, like the Three Musketeers.

Jason and Bud have been together since fourth grade in homeroom and Chris joined them in the sixth grade. They were friends from first sight with Chris, but Bud and Jason who met first did not like each other in the beginning because Bud was new. They now have moved into high school but the "one for all and all for one" motto goes with them.

They agree that they didn't fight over anything, except occasionally girls.

They are not together in school often because of their conflicting schedules. They spend time together out of school. They spend their time talking, skating and meeting girls.

When asked about the friendship Bud said, "I like it very much."

Chris replied, "I feel that it will last a long time."

Jason has much more to say, "It's a pretty good friendship even though we rumble on occasion. Bud will be moving soon and we will miss him but we'll still keep in touch."

The Three Musketeers are brought once again alive and the motto "One for all and all for one" lives. — Juli Phillips

Being a Freshman

The following thoughts were expressed by Freshman, Pam Penix. Pam was interviewed by Adena Comer of the Valley Yearbook Staff. Many of Pam's ideas are shared by other members of the Freshmen class.

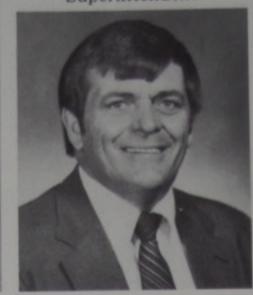

"Being a Freshman is exciting, it's fun, but sometimes it can be a drag. I like being a Freshman because I think that at times it can be interesting. In the first place school is pretty easy for me and it keeps me out of trouble at home. I met most of my friends when I came to Valley, which was in the fourth grade. And also because it's easy for me to make friends. I don't wish that I was in a higher grade than I am in now, because I like it being the way it is now and I wouldn't want it any other way. I think that being in a higher grade would be just about the same as being a Freshman. In my own opinion it will never change, as far as excitement goes."

Why I Love Teaching ...

Virginia Ratliff, Home Economics instructor and FHA advisor wrote the following statement for publication in a local newspaper. The topic of the article was "Why I love teaching . . ."

"There are many positive rewards in teaching. The reward I like best is being able to directly work with young adults. I feel that in my way, I am involved in shaping a person's values, goals, and preparing them for the future, therefore, our country's future. Hopefully, I am having a positive influence on my students by not only teaching a useful skill, but by setting a good example and being their friend.

After twenty some years of teaching, I have seen a lot of change in student ability. I must say the change has been for the better. They are more knowledgeable, sensitive to their needs and that of others. They are freer in expressing themselves. The students appreciate you as a teacher if you treat them as individuals. If you're fair, honest, and helpful. It also helps if you are a good listener. There is never a dull day and you won't get bored. You don't have the time. There is always something to do. You can be as creative as you want to be to motivate the students.

An added bonus to teaching is that working with young people has helped me as a parent to understand my own children. It helps me to be up-to-date and involved with current events. I have been very satisfied with my chosen profession and would recommend it to any young person.

The People That Make It Work.

The staff is a very important group of people who work behind the scenes at Valley. These people are the ones who take students to and from school, keep the building clean, fix the lunches and much more.

The bus drivers are a mighty team who get up quite early in the morning and take the kids to school then home again in the afternoon. They are also responsible for bussing students from Glendale over to the high school for lunch and gym. Besides the regular and substitute bus drivers, there are two very important people who work on the buses. The two mechanics who keep the buses running are Charles Steele and Richard Hawk.

The cooks who fix the lunches must follow and meet with standards set up by the state. In addition to following those standards, they must follow their budget. They work hard to prepare the meals without having repetitious lunches.

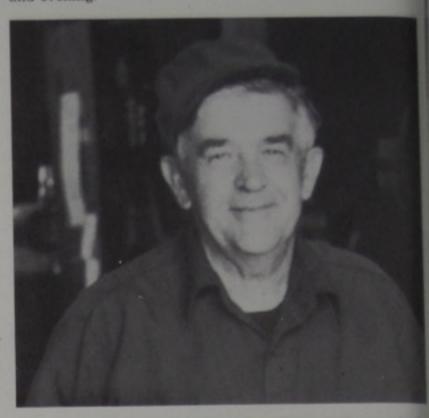

The custodians play an important role in keeping the school looking nice inside and outside. They keep the halls swept, the building warm, and the classrooms neat. — Olivia Greenhill

Charlie Steele, (below), the bus mechanic, has worked at Valley a little over ten years. Pat Collier, (right), wipes off the windows to the principal's office. She works in the afternoon and evening.

Ed Kelly, (far right), designs bus routes and designates the drivers for special trips made by the school. Judy Rouse, (left), smiles at the camera from the inside of her bus. She drives a rather large route.

"As a school district, Valley is the best!"

Pat Collier, the evening custodian was hired by Mr. James Young in 1978. Her job is the general cleaning, (mopping, dusting, washing windows, etc.)

During the nine years that she has worked here, the most major change has been in the students.

Her hours are from 2 p. m. to 10 p. m. Her favorite part of her job is meeting and talking with people. The work is hard sometimes.

Before coming to work at Valley, she graduated from Portsmouth East High School in the year 1966. She worked at the Daily Times in the circulation department for five years until 1977. She also worked at Scioto Memorial Hospital as a dietician.

In commenting about Valley, she said, "As a school district, Valley is the best." — Olivia Greenhill

Ron Harris, (above), the new custodian and grounds keeper keeps Valley's grounds looking neat and trim. The cooks, (left), work hard to keep their budget, while using a variety of culinary combinations with food. Mary Fyffe, Kathleen Cordle, Norene Blevis, and Madeline Hartley are the cooks.

Hard Work Pays Off in Money for College

Tina Hawk is a Senior at Valley High School with big things in store for her future. In 1987, she was the state FHA president for Ohio.

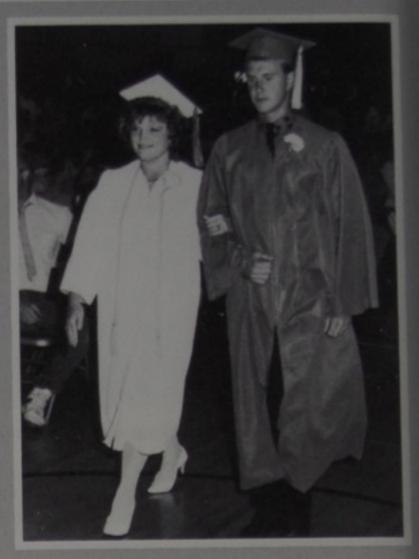

Through her involvement in FHA and community activities, Tina has received several scholarships.

She was awarded the Raye Virginia-Allen State President Scholarship. It is awarded to the fifty national FHA state presidents. Tina has also received a scholarship awarded to the most outstanding FHA state president in the nation. She also received a National Honor Society Scholarship. It is awarded to 450 out of 14,000 applicants. These scholarships were awarded for involvement in school activities, leadership, and community activities.

For most people $3,000 worth of scholarships for their Freshmen year of college will suffice, but Tina received $1100 worth of additional scholarships.

She received a $100 FHA/HERO scholarship which she did not expect, a $400 OSU FHA/HERO scholarship, and a $600 Delta Kappa Gamma Future Teachers Scholarship.

Tina plans to attend Ohio State University in the fall and major in Home Economics Education. She chose this field because she is experienced in FHA. She feels that it is necessary for both males and females to acquire the skills that are taught in Home Economics. — Mike Voorheis

Let Us Think Only of The Present

We know not what the future holds: but who holds the Future. Let us then think only of the present; the future is not yet ours. As the graduating class of 1987, we have many different dreams and goals that someday we hope to fulfill. Our lives today are filled with happiness for what we have achieved and sadness for what we are leaving behind. Tonight we are as one, out tomorrow we will go our separate ways. Wherever our different pahways may take us we will always be he graduating class of 1987 from Valey Local High School. Tonight we say arewell to old friends and good times we've known but we also look forward o setting new goals, dreaming new ireams, and trying our wings to see what lies beyond. To my fellow classnates I dedicate these words of Kenneth Holmes, Just For Today.

Just for today, I will try to live through this day only, and not tackle my whole life problem at once.

Just for today, I will be happy This assumes to be true what Abraham Lincoln said, "most folks are as happy as they make up their minds to be."

Just for today, I will try to strengthen my mind. I will learn something useful. I will read something that requires effort, thought, and concentration.

Just for today, I will adjust myself to what is and not try to adjust everything to my own desires.

Just for today, I will exercise my soul in three ways: I will do somebody a good turn, and not get found out. I will do at least two things I don't want to do just for exercise. I will not show anyone that my feelings are hurt, they may be hurt, but today I will not show it.

Just for today, I will be agreeable. I will look becomingly; act courteously, criticize not one bit, not find fault with anything and not try to improve or regulate anybody except myself.

Just for today, I will have a quiet half hour all by myself and relax. During this half hour, I will try to get a better perspective of my life.

Just for today, I will be unafraid. Especially I will not be afraid to enjoy what is beautiful, and to believe that as I give to the world, so the world will give to me. — Melanie Gahm

"You have a right to an attorney ...

There is a special group of high school students that plan to be attorneys, these students are now learning the parts and actions of courtroom behavior. The group works with something called the Ohio Mock Trial. Their trials are set up as teams who compete against other teams in the state. There are six people on a team. The team prepared both the prosecution's case and the defense's case of the trial. Each team also included witnesses. The details of the case are prepared by the Attorney General's Office, the Civil Liberties Union, and the Bar Association.

Though the trial was fake, the imaginary case had possible current interest as it dealt with a drug testing dispute for athletes in high school.

There were three awards given for each mock trial competition. These awards were Outstanding Attorney, Outstanding Witness, and Outstanding Prosecutor. Kristina Boynton received the award for Outstanding Attorney for her preparation and presentation of the defense's case. — Olivia Greenhill

A nickname is that name you are known by but is not on your birth certificate.
Why do people have them?
Each nickname is unique and they come from talents, characteristics, and certain incidents.

At Valley, some very original nicknames have developed. For example, Bill Kuhner was nicknamed "LA" since he usually wears a hat bearing that symbol. David Gullett earned the unlikely name "Speed" by being the last to turn in a test in the fifth grade. Jon Will's nickname, "Speedbuggy," was given to him by his peers since he often races go-carts. A pair of football playing brothers, Dennis Hamilton and Kenny Evans were tagged "Sugar Bear" and "Honey Bear," respectively.

If you happen to be strolling down the hall, and you hear someone yell "Hey, Beeper!" you know they are talking to Laurel Patrick.

Mark Williams is called "Rock" because of his involvement in rock n' roll music. James Westfall is called "Lenny" and Todd Adams is commonly called "Slice."

Some nicknames you outgrow but many stay with you for life. Whether a nickname is just between friends or well-known, it's your own and you're stuck with it. — Mike Voorheis

Special Projects

Special Projects, a new class started for academically inclined Freshmen who are willing to expand their knowledge, is designed to give students "an opportunity to do some activities that don't fit into other classes," comments teacher Mrs. Patricia Williams.

There are twenty students in the class. To be eligible for the class, students had to be in the ninetieth percentile or better in three out of five categories on the eighth grade achievement tests. Also if a student had high academic achievements, he or she could be placed in the class.

Several pupils were asked if they enjoyed the class and all students answered, "Yes."

Alisha York thinks that the class is aimed to "prepare us for college."

When asked why, she said, "Because we do research on colleges where we may want to go."

Mike Riggs feels that the class is a good experience because "(Special Projects) stimulates us intellectually." Carl Adkins agrees with Alisha and Mike. Carl says his research skills have improved along with his skills in public speaking.

The students enjoy being with other students whom they can compete with on high intellectual levels. The students enjoy having a class where they can participate without the strict classroom atmosphere.

Mr. Millar and Mrs. Williams explained that the class was started because students need the opportunity to take a meaningful and challenging course instead of a "filler course." The reason for starting the class was because there is a talented and high achieving group of students in the Freshmen class.

Many pupils in Special Projects agree that the class is to prepare them for college and life as an adult. It has certainly brought new challenges to Valley High School.

Mrs. Williams likes the class saying that it is a nice variation from her other classes. She says that her students have spent many hours on career exploration and have studied public speaking. Roaming the Halls

Do you know who those hall monitors are? They're the people who sit at the end of the hall and make sure you have a pass to be in the hall. Have you ever wondered why these people want to become hall monitors? When asked about the work hall monitors do, Tracey Arnett replied that mostly they run errands for

Mr. Comer or just sit and watch the people pass. — Joe Osborne

The "Captain"

Kenneth Michael Adams. better known as "Captain" Mike, received the big mouth award in 1975 during his Senior year from Mr. Comer for being the loudest fan at a basketball game. "Captain" said that he is most interested in basketball, but he also enjoys football and baseball. He has been called "Captain" for a long time, although he doesn't know for how long. "Captain" graduated from VHS on May 3, 1976. He didn't play sports himself, but he is now very enthusiastic about the sports at VHS. "Captain" said he never received any awards for being the "Captain", just handshakes. Asked if he would like to be a coach, his reply was, "I wouldn't mind, but my nerves couldn't take it that long." When asked, if Valley has a good cheering section from the student body, his answer was, "Yes, the student body cheers their hearts out!" Valley is very lucky to have such a loyal and special fan like the "Captain". — Olivia Greenhill

No Two Alike/ekilA owT oN

Have you ever walked down the hall at Valley High School and thought you were seeing double? Four sets of twins are enrolled at Valley. Two sets are identical twins and two sets are fraternal twins. The identical twins are Amy Elizabeth and Susan Jane Steele and Jennifer Lynn and Juli Dawn Phillips. The fraternal twins are Jennifer Leah and Jamie Lyn Rockwell and Ronald Lee and Donald

When interviewed separately each set of twins showed remarkable similarity. All agreed that it is fun being twins because you have someone that looks like you and you can have fun with all the time. They also agreed that what they dislike most is being compared with their twin and being called a "twin."

When asked if they think alike, Amy said, "Yes, the day Susan was having surgery, my ear hurt all day."

Susan said, "Yes, we think alike."

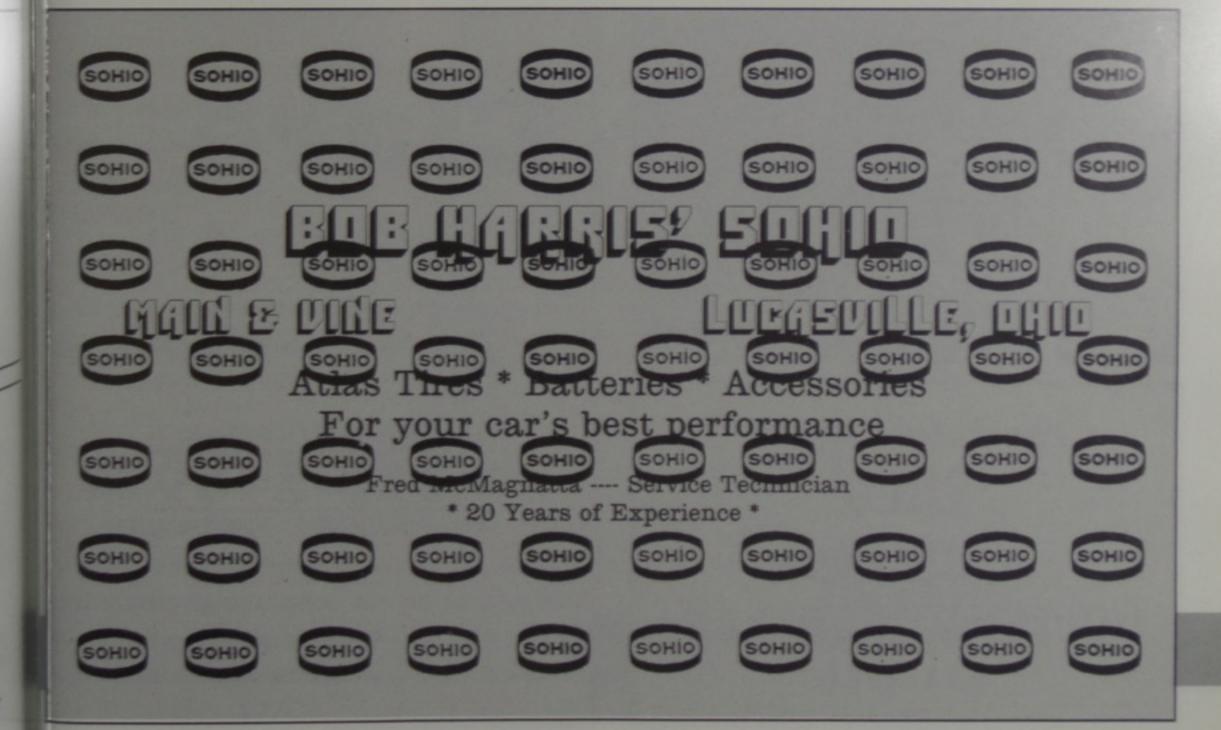

The Rockwells were asked if they enjoyed spending time together. Jenny's reply was, "Yes, I like to have fun and she is like me."

Jamie answered. "Yes, we have fun together. She is more than my sister, she is my friend."

The Phillips' twins were asked how they felt about being a twin. Jeni smiled and said, "It's a natural thing and I think I'll stay a twin."

Juli said, "It's fun most of the time, but it is kind of hard. I always feel like I have a good friend with me.'

Talking with the friends of twins was interesting and revealed a message. They said it was nest having two friends who looked almost exactly alike but had two different personalities. The twins all agreed with that. Although each twin enjoys being a twin , they all like to be treated as if they are two people who don't even know that the other exists. All twins feel they have something to be uniquely proud of and share a completely different relationship. - Juli Phillips

TO ALL WHITTLERS

Our mysterious poet who signs himself RUBE gives the following description of a WHITTLER.

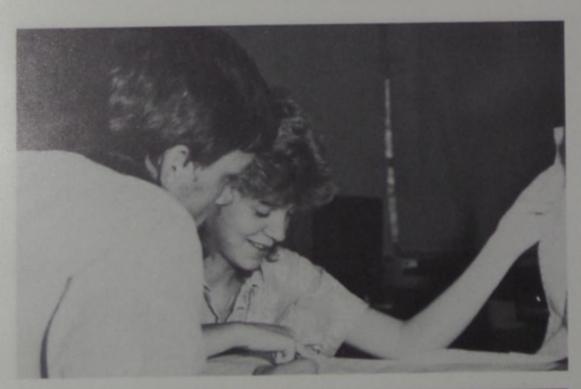

A WHITTLER is an idealist, whose constant striving for perfection in his work, (whether it be with knife, plow or pen) reflects the TRUE WHITTLER'S virtues - PATIENCE: TOLER-ANCE: COURAGE: PRUDENCE: SELF-RELI-ANCE and uncompromising HONESTY - characteristics whose influence for good upon the lives of others is inevitable.

RUBE'S slogan might well be adopted as an IDEAL of all HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS as well as WHITTLERS.

Schools is supposed to teach youth to THINK FER ITSELF - so as the psy-co-lo-gists won't get em. That's what these old Whittlers is a doin - THINKIN! A thinker don't swaller everything somebody tells em. Ben Franklin, Mark Twain, and Will Rogers was true old Whittlers.

The hairstyles of today are as varied as the weather. People may style their hair after a particular television or movie star, or they may fashion their hair after their favorite music performer.

Mrs. Miller, an English teacher commented on current hair styles. She stated,

"Girl's haircuts are nice. but I don't like the punky haircuts. Boy's shaved heads, I don't like, but tails are all right."

Hairstyles will continue to change as long as hair exists. - Olivia Greenhill ry of the United States Air Force, has essential emergency duties to perform for the Federal Government.

As a group, they help each other in an emergency as well as others. On Friday, May 1st of 1987, a missing plane was reported about four miles south of the Portsmouth Regional Airport. That night, a few of the Cadets and senior members arrived to set up ground teams. Saturday morning, they had squadrons 1002, 1005, 707, 1407, 1405, and some red berets in their jungle suits. Saturday evening they called off the search. They didn't find a trace of the plane anywhere as it was apparently a false report.

There are over 15 members in squadron 1407. Most of them are from Valley, but others are from Minford, Vernon, South Webster, East, and Northwest.

Some of the Cadets from Valley are Daniel Netzer, Scott Lute, Chris Jones, Mike Price, and Ron Henthorn. — Daniel Netzer

Dangerous Trends

In the past twenty years, we've seen trends come and we've seen trends go, but the most dangerous trend of all has to be the growing interest in drugs. I mean, so what, as long as it doesn't affect me, why should I have to worry about it? Right? Wrong!! Drugs are all around you and sooner or later you are going to face the problem of whether or not to get involved with drugs.

In a recent interview with Sheriff John Hull, he commented, "In the 60's, when I went to school, you hardly ever heard anything about drugs, but now, in the 80's, drugs have even managed to filter down to the grade schools."

He also went on to say that to his knowledge, about thirty arrests per year in Scioto County are related to drugs. Out of these, about sixty percent are for possession.

There's no way around it, drugs are everywhere, and we're right in the middle of it.

This year Valley hosted a health presentation about drugs. Three speakers who were once addicted to drugs spoke on a level the students could understand. They are a group of addicted teens and as part of their therapy, they explain their own testimonials to other teens. The students accepted the program with much enthusiasm. The health teachers have already made arrangements for the same presentation next year. - Joe Osborne & Juli Phillips

Over 23,000 people in the USA have AIDS.

AIDS was first diagnosed in nents. 1981. It is also known as Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome. It has been highly publicized recently by the news and magazines. Scientists have discovered that the virus HTLV-III causes AIDS and breaks down a person's immune system. More than 70% of all AIDS cases prove fatal within two years of diagnosis. Symptoms do not occur in every AIDS patient, but some develop symptoms which may include tiredness, fever, loss of appetite and weight, and diarrhea. Two rare diseases related to pneumonia and cancer affect 85% of all AIDS patients. AIDS is spread by sexual contact, needle sharing by drug users, and through blood or its components.

Many cases have been reported throughout the world. Approximately 36% of all AIDS cases in the U.S. come from New York State, and 23% come from California. AIDS cases have been reported from 46 states, the Dist. of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and more than 35 other countries. Presently in Ohio there are 242 cases, 147 of them have died. Four counties in Ohio have a high rate of AIDS cases: Cuyahoga, Franklin, Hamilton, and Montgomery.

The search for an AIDS cure is still on while patients are fighting a losing battle. — Jennifer Plante

Going Up In Smoke(less)

An increasing numer of deaths each year n the U.S. are due to he use of smokeless to-

The American Indians ere the first to use smokess tobacco. They used tobacin the form of pastes for eating diseases, burns, dog ites, and other various sicksses. By the late 1500's, toacco used by royalty became pular in Europe for its supsed healing powers.

The decline of the use of nokeless tobacco occurred in 882, when Robert Koch isoted the tuberculosis organm. It was discovered that tuberculosis organism and her harmful germs in the fied form could survive and e spread by air. Because of his fear of spread of disease.

11% each year since 1974, with an estimated 22 million users in the U.S. The continued popularity of smokeless tobacco in the 1980's is primarily due to the western "macho" image which has become stylish.

There are three basic forms of smokeless tobacco: snuff, chewing tobacco, and plug tobacco. Snuff is the most commonly used form. Snuff is made from dark, aircured, and fire-cured leaves. The next most common form is chewing tobacco. The third form of smokeless tobacco is the plug. A plug is tobacco that has been pressed into cakes and sweetened by adding maple syrup or sugar. All forms of smokeless tobacco are sold in many stores in the U.S.

A recent survey showed 40% of teenage boys have tried snuff or chewing tobacco, and 15% are estimated to be regular users. Typical use involves between two and eight pinches of tobacco a day. The active ingredients are readily absorbed into the body through the soft tissues of the mouth and gums. Advertisement of smokeless tobacco on radio and television has been prohibited since February 28, 1987. The smokeless tobacco ads and packages must now bear a warning about the product. Investigations and research are still going on as to the effects of smokeless tobacco on oral cancers and other related cancers and diseases that is on the increase in young male users. -Jennifer Plante

Looking Back To Beginnings

In September of 1975, we began the long journey that has led us to this milestone we have achieved to-night. I can still remember walking into the classroom and seeing the faces of my classmates for the first time. Although none of us realized it at that moment, these were the faces we would share many adventures with over the course of the next twelve years. The friends with whom we would make memories that each of us would cherish for the rest of our lives.

If you had asked our teachers and parents what they thought we would be doing now, they could have never imagined the many achievements we have accomplished. Aside from the traditional reading and writing, we have learned the value of friendship. Because of the many different personalities that make up the class, we might not have always seen eye to eye; but our personal differences were always put aside to support a classmate in a time of need.

Academically, we rank as one of the best classes that has graduated from Valley High School. This is supported by the numerous scholarships we have received, and the high percentage of honor students that make up the class.

Athletically, we have brought excitement and recognition to the Lucasville area over the past four years. School records have been equaled or new ones set in many sporting events.

Many members of the class have actively participated in programs offered by the music department.

They have received many awards for their dedication.

Tonight is an ending to a way of life we have known for the last twelve years. We will never again know the security of a daily routine surrounded by friends and encouraged by teachers. After tonight, we will scatter in different directions in pursuit of our own dreams and ambitions, but wherever life's road may lead us, we will always have the special memories of our days together. — Dana Rose end of our search for wisdom or the end of the persuance of our dreams. For throughout the past thirteen years of our lives, our families and teachers have offered us their wisdom and guidance. They have given us the strength to set goals and to make plans for our future.

Today symbolizes a reality. We have realized that it is in dreaming the greatest dreams . . . seeking the highest goals . . . that we build the brightest tomorrows.

As Seniors, we all have our own ambitions and our own desires to pursue, but there is no limit to the goals the Class of 1987 can attain or the success we can achieve. Our possibilities are as endless as our dreams for tomorrow.

Our commencement ceremonies represent a time for celebrating our futures. June 5, 1987 is a special day . . . a day for thinking back . . . a day for looking ahead . . . and somewhere between our old memories and our new hopes lies a special moment — a moment for being glad that we are members of Valley High School Class of 1987, and that we have the opportunity to celebrate our futures together.

Although no one is sure what the future holds for each of us, we all know that the future is promised to no one. Your tomorrows depend upon the plans you make today. Some of our plans will lead us down paths far from Lucasville. Our cherished memories of friends and fun will help guide us far into the future. These same memories will remain within our hearts and will keep us close to one another in thought.

Throughout our school careers, our class has radiated strength and success. Our families and friends are confident, because we have demonstrated determination, perserverance and the maturity needed for brighter tomorrows.

Our friendships have developed, and have been strengthened by promises of support. This support has helped us to plan the future. Today we begin living these plans.

But in living, we must face the reality. This will undoubtedly be the last time we will all be together. This thought cannot allow our dreams to die. For when dreams die, we die.

As 1987 graduates, I encourage you to keep dreaming of brighter tomorrows, to apply your memories to all of your future endeavors, and to remember:

You'll Never Walk Alone

When you walk through a storm hold your head up high,

And don't be afraid of the dark, At the end of the storm there's a golden sky,

And the sweet, silver song of a lark.

Walk on through the wind,

Walk on through the rain,

Though your dreams be tossed and blown,

Walk On. Walk on, with hope in your heart and you'll never walk alone,

You'll never walk alone.

May you walk with pride today, with hope tomorrow, and faith always. For we know not what the future holds-but who holds the future. — Tina Hawk As Editor of the 1987 Smoke Signals, our staff wishes the Seniors pictured in a full color photo on the following pages a fond farewell. Though we say, "Goodbye," to the class of '87, we say, "Hello," to the new citizens of our community.

I would like to give a special thanks to our Annual Staff, who put up with me during deadlines. I would also like to thank our advisor, Miss Boll, who made it through the year with us. The staff included thirteen members, from the Freshmen, Sophomores and Junior class. I would also like to thank all the Seniors who helped us with ad sales and helped to contribute to the events that happened throughout the year.

When the books close, and the last bell rings,
And carefree days are lost to mundane things —
When nostalgia strikes and your memory wanes,
And as you remember the faces but not the names —
Pick up your yearbook and leaf it through,
And remember the days so dear to you.

The printing of 220 copies of Smoke Signals was done by Walsworth Publishing Company, Marceline, MO. Farrel Hahn was the sales representative.

The cover is silver patina with two color silk screen application, using a standard cover design. The type on the front of the book was done in Cooper. The front endsheet is in red, the back endsheet is a four color photo of the senior class.

Throughout the book, the typeface used is Bookman. Headings and sub-headings were done in a variety of typefaces. Body copy was typed in 10 point and captions were done in 8 point. They were either done in Bookman or Clarendon.

We used cherry red for spot-color on eight pages, and eight pages of the seniors were done in four color.

The average book cost was $20. Names were an extra $2 and the plastic covers were an extra $1. We earned $4,500 from advertising, $4,500 from book sales, and we earned $600 from fundraisers. The actual cost of a book was $44 and the total publication cost for the book was $9,600. The 1987 yearbook won an award for Best Yearbook Photograpy in The United High School Press Association competition sponsored by the W. Page Pitt School of Journalism at Marshall University. Two members attend the yearbook workshop sponsored by Ohio University.
