PREFACE.

That both the general public and the merchants, trades, and professions of the City of Portsmouth have for some years past felt the want of an approachably correct Directory to its inhabitants can not be doubted.

Therefore, in presenting this Directory to our patrons and the Portsmouth public, we trust that we have in good degree supplied this disideratum, though, possibly, our efforts have not been as fully crowned with success as could be wished. But be the defects of our work what they may, we can conscientiously say we have spared neither pains nor expense in gathering the material essential to our publication and its completeness, and that what we now offer, we feel will reasonably meet public expectation and approval.

Our canvass of Portsmouth has been systematic and far more thorough than any that has preceded it in the way of Directory publication. This, the number of its names, far in excess of any predecessor, will amply show.

To attain these names correctly, we adopted the expedient of taking the names on our lists, so far as they tallied, and comparing them with and revising them by their publication in previous Directories, being guided in the spelling of all names we present, not appearing in previous Directories, by the best light before us. We are persuaded we have not materially erred in results.

Costing the exertion, watchfulness, and perplexity of mind, that all creditably prepared Directories do, we can broadly say of them, that a more arduous and intricate class of publications does not exist. That in proportion to their completeness and accuracy an obligation is ever due from compiler and publisher to the appreciation and courtesy of the public from whom the information with which they are invariably garnished is necessarily sought and obtained. Tendering, therefore, our acknowledgments to the people of Portsmouth for their marked urbanity toward, and great readiness in furnishing information to, our canvassers, we herein pledge ourselves to rectify in our future editions all defects that may possibly be detected in this.

We caution the public that in looking for a name with the spelling of which the examiner is not familiar, before concluding it has been omitted, the various ways in which it may be spelled, should be considered, and search in the Directory accordingly made. If so done, we opine there will be but little ground left for complaint.

To say our Directory is a guide to all public places, business locations, and the private residences of the inhabitants, of the City of Portsmouth, is but a hackneyed observation indulged by Directory compilers and publishers in reference to the particular city or place of which they present a tabulated compendium—yet the declaration is an absolute verity and is here presented pro forma as to Portsmouth.

The business of the country at large in which the City of Portsmouth commensurably shares having since its last Directory was published, materially increased with most flattering prospects of a still greater and permanently lengthened activity prevailing therein through the land, we are persuaded that the time has now arrived for a regular and stated issue of the Portsmouth Directory, and accordingly we announce it as our purpose to occupy the field and keep regularly up with the necessities of the city in this regard.

Returning our thanks to the merchants and business men of Portsmouth for the patronage they have extended us and to the press of the city for the timely and favorable notices given us as publishers, we now and here make solemn promise to faithfully endeavor the improvement of each succeeding issue of our Directory that the same may become still more worthy of public commendation and support.

PORTSMOUTH.

ITS DESCRIPTION WITH A FULL AND ACCURATE STATEMENT OF ITS BUSINESS, ITS RESOURCES, ITS RAILWAY CONNECTIONS, ETC.

PREPARED BY A COMMITTEE OF THE BOARD OF TRADE.

ALL persons of sound judgment and proper caution in selecting their location for business—and we desire none others—will naturally inquire why, if this place has all the advantages set forth below, with no serious drawbacks, have not manufacturers sought it? Why does not the place contain as many thousands of people as it now does hundreds, and send out forty instead of four millions' worth of manufactures? We believe the answers to the questions are very clear and sufficient to those who know the facts. The people of the city have made no effort to secure such, or do any thing for the city outside of their own immediate business. There has not been a railroad connection between the city and outer world except a small branch of the Marietta and Cincinnati until within the last three years. There are parallel cases. Cleveland, the prettiest city in the West, dragged slowly until she had her many railroad connections; so did Columbus—now two of the most prosperous manufacturing cities in the State. Cincinnati is 100 miles farther from the Eastern cities than Portsmouth, yet two years ago the fare from those cities to Cincinnati was $2 less than to Portsmouth. Now the fare to Portsmouth is $2 less than to Cincinnati. Freight has been changed in the same degree, owing to the completion of our railroads.

We now proceed to present our advantages for manufacturing purposes:

LOCATION OF THE CITY.

Portsmouth is situated on the north shore of the Ohio River, 367 miles from Pittsburgh, Pa., and 500 miles from its mouth, where it empties into the Mississippi. This river receives in its course several navigable streams—the Muskingum, Great and Little Kanawha, Big Sandy, Tennessee, Cumberland, and Wabash—reaching a large, and in some instances, populous country. The extent of country reached by steamers at all seasons, through the Mississippi and its branches, is almost beyond computation. That the Gulf Islands and Central and South America are open to us at small cost of freight, is shown by the fact that every year more or less steam engines and other iron work made in Portsmouth are shipped to those places. Boats from the lower Mississippi can always run to Portsmouth when they run to Cincinnati; but every season of low water proves that the same boats can not always go to points above here. The Scioto River, rising in the northern part of the State, running through one of the most fertile of its valleys, empties into the Ohio on the west line of the city, and the Ohio Canal passing across the State from the lake at Cleveland to this point, has its southern terminus in the Ohio in common with the Scioto River.

Our railroad connections are as follows: The Scioto Valley from here to Columbus—100 miles—connects with and is a part of the Pennsylvania Central, and all the northern lines to Philadelphia, New York, and Boston; it also connects with the direct lines to the Northwest and West. This road has been completed less than three years. The Portsmouth Branch of the Marietta and Cincinnati has the same Eastern connections through Baltimore, which are not much inferior to the North and West through the Cincinnati and other roads. The Chesapeake and Ohio, through Virginia and West Virginia, to its connections, makes a south line from Portsmouth to Richmond, Va., and connections North, and offers the shortest route to the Southeast. Portsmouth has thus become a railroad center which can send freight to or receive it from the whole East as cheaply as any other point possibly can. This is an important item to all manufacturers. There are surveyors put on by capitalists for an independent road from Baltimore to Cincinnati, through Portsmouth, and we attach some importance to its construction as an early probability. The Cincinnati and Eastern Narrow Gauge, designed to pass through here to the coal and iron-fields, has sixty-three miles running successfully, and less than forty to construct. This will be beneficial to manufacturing by opening a shorter and speedier connection with the Cincinnati market. There are good free turnpikes extending in all directions from the city on the north side of the river for a distance of twenty to forty miles simulating the spokes of a half wagon-wheel.

On the west side of the Scioto River, and coming within two miles of the city, is the deposit called by our geologists the Waverly Stone. It is of a beautiful light brown color dressing easily and handsomely. It extends some twenty miles down the Ohio, and is worked at several points there, as well as up the canal north. It is of large extent and inexhaustible, and is brought to this city by wagons, and extensively sawed and dressed by two establishments, both for our own and other markets. It is extensively quarried and dressed at other points near here, and finds market in Cincinnati, Chicago, Columbus, Cleveland, and even in New York, at which places the fronts of the best houses are built of it—a thing of beauty. The working of this stone could be largely increased.

LUMBER.

The surface of twenty miles square, or 256,000 acres, is not so fortunate as to become worked very much. Like all land bordering on the Ohio it is hilly and was in the Virginia military grant. The original surveys were imperfect, therefore the titles uncertain, and it became settled by those who regarded large tracts of uncultivated land as more desirable than small farms and comfortable homes. Thus most of the valleys have been scratched over for corn, most of the hills still remain in their native forests, and are covered with trees of black and white walnut, ash, chesnut, poplar, yellow pine, hickory, oak, and all the varieties of timber in use except white pine, which is not a growth of this climate. It is true that some of the inhabitants have become so aroused as to get out and bring in large amounts of staves and hoop-poles, and locust-posts, which are partly consumed here, but mostly shipped north—to Columbus, Pittsburgh, and Cleveland—which expense might be saved by manufacturing here. Through the center of this field the C. & E. Railroad will be made this season.

But this is but a small source of our supply of lumber of all the kinds above named. Within an average distance of 60 miles above here, the Great Kanawha, Guyandotte, Twelvepole, Big Sandy, and other smaller streams, heading in the heart of West Virginia and Eastern Kentucky, which, from the causes we have above named, still bear most of their perennial forests, with every rise bring down hundreds of rafts of all kinds of lumber, which is floated to Portsmouth at no expense, and the city thus becomes a great lumber center, where the supply, at the cheapest possible rates, for all classes of manufactures of wood, will only be controlled by the demand.

IRON AND COAL.

In the eastern part of Scioto County and immediately adjoining, cropping out within 13 miles of the city, are inexhaustible supplies of coal, iron, and limestone. The full seven veins of coal are found everywhere in that direction, and iron ore of the best quality, including the black band, and this has been so far developed that within an average of 30 miles east of Portsmouth, and largely dependent upon it for trade, are 57 furnaces, capable of manufacturing each 2,500 tons annually, or an aggregate of 142,500 tons of the best pig-iron—known as the Hanging Rock Iron and celebrated throughout the country. It is remarkable for its body and strength. From this, two large establishments in this city are making the finest steel for all purposes, which goes to all parts of the country, the supply being vastly unequal to the demand.

It is therefore manifest that so far as the manufacture of any thing in which wood, iron, and steel are prominent ingredients, all other things being equal, there is no place in this country where they can be so cheaply made as in Portsmouth, or have a larger market or cheaper access thereto, whether by river or rail.

Fuel is the next important item. In our remarks on lumber we, of course, have shown that where wood is required for manufacture, it can be had here cheaper than at any other important point; but that is unimportant as compared with coal. Our supplies of coal from along the river have been so abundant and cheap that the nearest and best supplies and the means of obtaining them have been neglected. We are now paying for family use, delivered, from $1.76 to $2.80 per ton, as in quality, for bituminous coal. Manufacturers get it about 20 per cent. cheaper, where well situated for delivery. The construction of a narrow-gauge railroad directly eastward 20 miles over a good route would give almost any variety of coal at from $1.30 to $1.80 per ton delivered to families, with a like discount to manufacturers, leaving a handsome profit to the dealer.

Professor Briggs (sustained by Professor Mather, former State Geologist,) Commissioner of Mining and present Engineer, says this belt of coal, of 250 square miles, will yield nine millions of tons per square mile, or two thousand two hundred and fifty million tons. The portion of this coal nearest Portsmouth lies unused, except by a few furnaces and families in the vicinity. The State Superintendent of Mining, Mr. Roy, after a personal examination, confirms the opinion of Professor Briggs. There are works for the manufacture of fire-brick and tile in this vicinity, and principally owned in this city, producing nine millions of the best brick and tile per year, and sold throughout the whole West, and the supply of clay is practically inexhaustible, as is also a coarse-grained sandstone now supplied largely to Tennessee and Missouri for fire-beds and furnaces. Limestone also exists in great abundance.

HOME FACILITIES.

Portsmouth is situated above high water, on a plateau extending from a half mile to a mile back to the hills, with just grade enough for good drainage. For a distance of a mile or more within the corporation limits there are many unoccupied lots on the river front adapted to heavy manufactures which can be had very cheap, and for some five miles beyond the limits there are advantageous locations, while there are within the city many lots that can be had cheap, for the smaller manufactures. The price of property is also important, as the cost of it enters into the cost of manufacture. Owing to the facts we have named, land in this region is cheap, and city property naturally partakes the same feature. Our observation of this and other cities of equal size in the State, having less advantages, leads us to assert that property is twenty per cent. lower here than the average in the cities adverted to.

Portsmouth is regularly laid out, with streets of fair width running at right angles, a large part of which are shaded by rows of large and handsome trees, yielding cool shade and home-like beauty. The streets and crossings have been neatly made, and are so kept. It has one park, well laid out and attractive.

Portsmouth is also alluring for the beauty as well as the utility of its surroundings. The Scioto Valley extending north for miles—a broad level of great magnificence—with the river winding its way through it, reflecting the golden sun or silver moon, is very enchanting, but when covered with waving corn, is perfectly lovely. The Kentucky hills opposite are high and bluff, and from one point a clear view of more than twelve miles each way, is had. This point was called by the Indians "Uckkulwahbewein." There are also other points of grandeur. The relics of large cities occupied by those ancients known as the mound-builders, are observed in every direction, showing that they considered this locality a "good place to stay." Good gas and water works, with pipes extending to every part of the city, with telephones and telegraphs, are among the conveniences.

Living.—While persons owning and running any factory, and having their customers of long standing, are not affected by the price of living to such an extent as to make it profitable for them to sacrifice on property or business, it is undoubtedly a matter of serious consideration to any one seeking a business location. It is not only himself and family who are affected by it, but every one he employs. With cheap living men work cheaper, or are better satisfied with the same wages, and therefore work to better advantage to their employers. A laborer who pays $100 per year for a comfortable home for his family is better off at the same wages than he who pays $150 for an equal house. Cost of food has the same effect. Ohio produces vastly more food than she consumes. She sends to the East vast quantities of flour, corn, pork, beef, butter, cheese, poultry, eggs, fruit, and every product of the soil which will bear transportation. The laborer of the East must pay not only the cost of the food he consumes but of the packing and transportation as well. Here the laborer buys in market of the producer at first hands; there, of the third or fourth party, each of whom must have his profits. Sugar and coffee come directly to us by river per steamer from the producers. Clothing and all cloths are much lighter in proportion in cost of transportation than any of these, and one per cent. would be a heavy charge for freight on them.

If material and labor are cheap, while abundant markets are accessible, manufactories well conducted must be profitable.

But no good man will voluntarily go and take his family among an ignorant and immoral people, or where there are not abundant means of education and religious instruction. Your inquiry will naturally be, how is Portsmouth in this respect? Ohio was first settled by immigrants from New England 92 years ago, under the ordinance of 1787, pronounced by the best statesmen a most perfect specimen of primary legislation, providing for perfect freedom and equal rights, free education and religious teaching. Under this, Ohio has, in her short existence, grown from a wilderness to over three millions of inhabitants, equally intelligent and moral with any people in the world. Her school houses have kept pace with her improvements, until they are among the finest and best in the Union. Portsmouth has fully maintained her standing with other parts of the State in this regard. She has 47 graded schools, from the lowest primaries to the high school, where all who choose can graduate, prepared for college or business. The city feels great pride in her schools. They are managed by a Board of Trustees of competent men who give to the selection and management of teachers much time and care.

There are twenty-three churches in the city, of nearly all denominations and of average quality; also a Free Public Library—large, rapidly growing, and very popular.

As affecting a large class of manufacturers we present the fact that our general sales of merchandise extend two hundred miles to the East and South, and from forty to fifty to the North and West.

We have omitted carpenters and builders, brick and stone masons, and painters, as varying too much in hands and product. Steamboats and barges built here amount to about $25,000 a year—a business that might be largely increased with great profit—the lumber being cheap and engines made here. Six regular steamers arrive and depart daily.

We have thus given you (non-resident capitalists seeking manufacturing investments) the most full and accurate description of Portsmouth that can be given. If you think it worthy of being your future home, our people will cordially and hospitably receive you and give you all the aid and comfort in their power. Should you desire information on any point we have not noticed, we will cheerfully give it. We regard this as better than any other point, especially for the manufacture of railroad cars, locomotives, steamboats, engines, general machinery, agricultural implements, carts and wagons, barrels and kegs, boots and shoes, furniture of all kinds, scythes, axes, and many other articles.

The key will be held fast in the box. Do not pull in an alarm if you find the box working. Never give an alarm except from the box nearest the fire. Keys will be found on the premises to which the boxes are attached, and also with the Police and City Officers. If an alarm of fire comes from box 4, it will strike 4—4—4—4, on the bells and gongs. If from box 5, it will strike 5—5—5—5 on the bells and gongs, and so on, each box repeating its own number four times. If the Department do not promptly respond to the first alarm, a second alarm should be turned in, in the same manner as the first.

Howell's Patent Rain Water Cut-Off FOR CISTERNS.

Permit us to call your attention to the new Patent Cut-Off (as represented by cut), for turning water into or off from the cistern. The cut shows all the pipes as being round, it having a portion of the shell removed, in order to show plainly the working of the bucket or valve. The handle, which is an iron weight, insures the bucket remaining where placed, and entirely prevents its being turned by the downflow of water. It is shown in the cut as being on the left side, therefore, throwing water down the left branch. By merely turning the handle to the right side the flow of water is changed in that direction. The bucket or valve passes behind the rim at the top and overlaps it the bottom, thus securing perfect water joints at both connections. The down spout of the building enters the top rim of the Cut-off, one of the lower branches leads to cistern, whilst the other can be arranged to convey the water into the waste pipe or gutter, as desired. By this simple contrivance you are relieved of the annoyance of slip joints, loose elbows, getting wet, &c., &c. It will readily be seen that a child can manage it, and that there is no chance for it to get out of order. Besides, it is the cheapest, and we boldly say, the very best article for the purpose ever offered to the public.

These Cut-offs are packed in cases of one dozen each size, separate, 3 and 4 inch; but a sample one will be sent dealers, if desired, upon receipt of amount, as per prices below.

NELSON'S BUSINESS COLLEGE

S. E. Cor. 4th & Vine Sts., Cincinnati, O.

A Metropolitan College with a National reputation. Its text books are familiar to accountants and used by Literary and Commercial Colleges and High Schools, and its patrons are found in nearly every State of the Union.

The college is situated in the center of business of one of the most healthy, enterprising and wealthy cities of America.

It is a regular professional school for educating young men for business pursuits, as the law and medical schools educate young men for the professions of law and medicine. It thus differs materially from the numerous schools whose main object is to teach a single branch, viz: book-keeping. In it originated the method of teaching through the medium of an organized business community, which is here alone faithfully carried out.

This College is always in session, as are its branches; hence teachers of the common and other schools have the privilege of studying during the summer months when their own schools are closed.

SPRINGFIELD BRANCH

—OF—

NELSON'S BUSINESS COLLEGE

931, 95 and 97 West Main Street,

SPRINGFIELD, O.

This College was opened for the accommodation of the citizens of that rapidly growing city of large manufacturing establishments, and the residents of neighboring cities and counties.

This College is conducted in the interest of ladies as well as gentlemen, and on the same plan as the main College, with which students are in correspondence, as merchants, bankers, etc.

Scholarships of this College are good in the MAIN COLLEGE, Cincinnati.
