1989-The Year the Tigers Left Their Mark

As you look through this yearbook, keep in mind what an incredible year 1989 has been. To start the school year off with a bang, Shelley Lytten was crowned Miss River Days. Glenwood has not had that title since 1977.

After a victorious season, our volleyball team brought home its first S.O.C title and reigned as Sectional Champs. Our soccer team also pulled through with their third consecutive S.O.C. title. The school year had just begun and already the Tigers were leaving their mark on Scioto County.

At the start of the season, who would have thought our winter sports teams could go so far?! The boys' basketball team finished second in the S.O.C. while the Lady Tigers gained their first Sectional and District titles. By this time the Glenwood Tigers had expanded their territory and left their mark as far north as Byesville, Ohio.

But let's not stop with just Ohio. The Tigers stretched their paws all across the tri-state when "PM Magazine" put Glenwood High School on television. Anyone that viewed the show could easily detect our school spirit during the annual competition pep rally.

Even more school spirit was expressed at the first Pizza Hut Tiger Feud. Our sophomore girls showed their creativity in organizing the event and left their mark on our memories.

Glenwood was evaluated by the North Central Committee in March. We passed the test with flying colors and made a great impression on a lot of people.

So don't be surprised when those you meet have heard of the Glenwood Tigers for we have left our mark in many places.

Put Another Nickel In!

Learning to dance can be difficult for some people. Learning to sing can be equally hard. On May 8th, the chorus proved they were able to do both — at the same time!

During their spring performance of NICKELODEON, the chorus took us back to the Roarin' 20's, the Golden Age of Hollywood, and the Dixieland Days of New Orleans.

Richie Lewis portrayed an old timer, reminiscing his college days; Tracey Killian sang an uplifting solo and Katie Porter, Matt Taylor, Shelley Lytten, and Steve Hamilton danced to the jitterbug music of the 40's.

After several months of practice, practice, practice, the chorus' hard work paid off with a memorable performance.

GLENWOOD LIBRARY GETS FACE-LIFT!

"Books for sale! All of our old books on sale for a nickel." No, we are not doing away with the library — just giving it a face-lift.

Glenwood's new librarian, Mrs. Allen, has come in, rolled up her sleeves, and renovated the place. If a book had not been checked out in ten years or more, out it went. The shelves looked a little bare, but not for long.

New books were coming in almost everyday and getting a computer license was the latest trend. Mrs. Allen provided the study hall with an Apple computer and plenty of software. This allowed the students to familiarize themselves with the keyboard and play games during their study hall.

This face-lift has done wonders for the library; Mrs. Allen has really made her mark at Glenwood.

Probably none of us have been away from home, by ourselves, for more than a few weeks. Could you imagine being gone for a year? In another country — at that!

This year Caroline Jansen and Javier Bolado took on such a challenge. These two foreign exchange students came from the Netherlands and Spain to experience American culture at its finest — right here in New Boston.

Caroline managed the volleyball team, played tennis for the Tigers and was involved with the pep band. She had the opportunity to do some traveling to Florida, California, Myrtle Beach and to Washington, D.C., but she said that the most memorable thing about her year was the Grand March at the prom. She said that "I had never thought I would wear a dress like that and (see) everybody else in such pretty dresses and tuxedos. When I walked there during the Grand March, I really noticed how lucky I was to have this year here in America."

Javier was active in soccer, basketball, and tennis. He said that in Spain, sports are found only in private clubs (which require a membership) and not in schools. He found that sports in the school are more competitive and much more fun.

After spending a year in the United States, our exchange students will return home with fond memories of Glenwood High School. Likewise, the students at Glenwood will remember their chance to learn a little about life in another country.

May I Take Your Order?

Many students at Glenwood have sought employment for various reasons. Some are saving to buy a car while others put their earnings in the bank for college. Then there are those who like to spend, spend, spend and Mom and Dad refuse to support their "wants." Bumming money from parents can get aggravating after a while for both the teenager and the parents, so a job is the only way out.

A job in fast food, an office, or the all-time standby, babysitting, is the perfect way to prepare any teenager for the future. One can never get enough experience with responsibility and taking orders.

It's often said that having one's own job and one's own money, one is more apt to think before one spends. But working or spending, it goes to show that the Tigers are leaving their mark on the business world.

LUNCH

Everyone complains about the food, but only a few people do anything about it. I am talking about the brown baggers. Brown baggers range from students to teachers.

On the outside a brown bag may look plain or even dressed up with Garfield, Snoopy, or "I hate Monday" signs, but it's what's on the inside that counts.

Most people have lunch meats and cheese on whole wheat or the traditional peanut butter and jelly. Any flavor of potato chips, cold pizza, and yogurt covered raisins are hot items, too.

Packing a lunch can almost be considered an art; trying to stuff everything you have an appetite for into one little bag can become quite a challenge.

When Matt Taylor left his house, heading for South Webster to attend the volleyball game that clenched the S.O.C. title, he never dreamed he would have his first encounter with the law.

Beneath the railroad tracks in Sciotoville, Matt was charged with speeding — 82 miles per hour in a 50 mile per hour zone!! When the "verdict" came in, the punishment was as high as the speed — no driving privileges for thirty days and HUGE court fees.

We are sure that Matt will agree, though, that trouble with a police officer is not half as bad as the trouble he faced at home!!!

MOVE OVER RICHARD DAWSON

What started out as a tongue-in-cheek suggestion turned into reality as our sophomore girls' health class staged the "Pizza Hut Tiger Feud." Pizza Hut of New Boston sponsored the event.

With the S.O.C. titles in soccer and volleyball, and the girls' basketball team reaching the district finals, G.H.S. was having nothing short of a terrific year. The purpose of the "Feud" was to promote more school spirit.

Chad Hickman served as master of ceremonies and each class was represented with a "family" of six. When the seniors won the event, the entire class received lunch from Pizza Hut.

What was the most important thing that happened? Everyone had a GREAT time.

TO BE RETIRED?

There has been a member of the class of '89 who has gone unnoticed for six years. Yes, he has sat quietly on the floor during every class without so much as a "hello" from anyone. What he has done the most of is take abuse from Lee Spears.

Lee has been carrying the same green backpack since the seventh grade. With each passing year, his long-time companion loses a few more stitches and gains another rip or tear.

Like a faithful puppy, Lee's backpack has been a loyal "friend" and a big part of his life at Glenwood High School.

One question, Lee. Will the pack be retired after May 26?

GLENWOOD HIGH PASSES THE TEST

For 2 days in late March, strangers invaded GHS. Observing, writing and questioning everyone from superintendant to student, the North Central Committee was here to determine if our school system could once again "pass the test" for accreditation.

Was there ever a doubt? No! We knew that this was the year that the GHS Tigers would earn their mark — an A+!!!

GRADUATION

Since late August, the excitement of graduation has been accumulating in the hearts and minds of every Senior. Every Senior knew that on May 26, 1989, at 7:00 p.m. their lives would never be the same. They were now ready to enter the "real world."

Reverend Wayne Beard asked the graduating class, "What will you do with your gift?" He reminded them that whatever they did they had to do it for themselves and be happy with their decisions, because now they were going to be on their own. The Glenwood High School Chorus reiterated this idea through the song "Follow Your Star."

The class valedictorians, Lanita Lytten and Shelley Lytten, and the class salutatorian, Dorlese Dicks, all recounted their own memories of high school and wished their classmates the best for the future. Each young lady did so in her own unique way, which gave the graduation ceremony a broader range of emotions, from complete exhilaration to complete melancholy.

Next, Thomas Pauley, Jr., a Glenwood graduate, delivered a speech entitled "Hand in Hand." This speech was very appropriate for the senior class motto is: "The road won't be so lonely if we can say at the end; we walked the way together, hand in hand with a friend."

Lastly, Superintendent Lowell Howard and Principal Jerry Bentley presented the diplomas to the Class of 1989. Then the caps flew. The Seniors became alumni.

Valedictorian, Lanita Lytten, delivers a teary-eyed address.

Valedictorian, Shelley Lytten, relives her special high school memories.

Dorlese Dicks, salutatorian, addresses the audience with memories which include her fifth-grade year.

Graduation Day

May 26, 1989, could not have started out worse. First of all, the awards for the assembly that was to be held that morning didn't arrive so the assembly was postponed. It wasn't that we (the seniors) were upset because we were not going to get our individual awards. It was just the thought of breaking the long-held tradition of having the assembly the morning of graduation day that upset us.

Secondly, when we arrived at the school for graduation practice, the weather was dreadful. It was absolutely pouring the rain, and it showed no signs of stopping. Or course, this led us all to believe that the graduation ceremony was doomed to be held in the auditorium. Nothing against our school's auditorium, but it's too small, too dark, and too stuffy for a graduation ceremony.

All of this uproar over a simple cancelled assembly and the inevitable weather may seem silly to the underclassmen. To us, though, it just added to our already tense moods. However, no matter how displeased we were with our "nothing could be worse" situation, we had to practice for the inside ceremony. For about an hour we grumbled through walking down aisles, sitting down, and taking off our hats. Then we noticed the rays of the sun seeping in the windows of the front doors. From that point on nothing could go wrong for the Class of 1989.

I, DeAnna Cummins, being of sound mind and body, leave to Amy Perkins my singing ability. With it, you are sure to get a solo next year.

I, Caroline Jansen, being of foreign sound mind and body, leave my Dutch language to Demeen Fannin so that she can laugh about her own Dutch phone calls.

I, Lowell Thomas Smittle, being of sound mind and body, leave to Matt Adkins my legacy of back of the room chats.

I, Russell Kimbler, of sound mind and body, will out my Freddy Kruegar collections to Doug Hudson. May he have sweet nightmares.

I, Marc Wyatt, being of sound mind and immensely beautiful body, bequeath my burned-out brain cells to anyone who needs them (like Hooty)!

We, Amy Brown, Shelley Lytten, and Matt Taylor, being of semi-sound minds and bodies, leave our not-so-sly escaping abilities to three juniors who are in desperate need of them, namely Shelly Hickman, Demeen Fannin, and of course, Joey Keeney (Henretta) — use them well!!!

I, Jeff Linne, being of sound mind and body leave my minute basketball abilities to Chad Riggs. May you get to play in more games.

I, Lanita Lytten, being of fairly sound mind and body, leave my cure for dyslexia to Paul Foit. He definately needs it!

I, Jeff Stephenson, being of sound mind and body do hereby leave my shorthand book and pen to Cassie Stallard.

I, Dorlese Dicks, being of aggravated mind and body, hereby bequeath my film supply to whomever now owns my camera.

I, Steve Hamilton, would like to leave my basketball skills to Chad Riggs who will then give them to Todd Loper. (You're welcome, Mr. Bowman)

I, Gene Collins, of genius mind and muscle-bound body, leave to Joey Keeney my tremendous study habits in physics. May you use them as well as I did.

I, Alberta Cook, being of sound mind and body, do hereby leave my ability to pester Miss Harness to Sharon Cummings.

I, Crystal Slusher, being of sound mind and body, do hereby leave my ability to write 70 words-a-minute in shorthand to Cassie Stallard.

LIFE IN THE TIGER DEN

1988 Miss River Days

The pageant is over. Congratulations!!!

Shelley receives congratulations from her friends.

On the morning of September 3, 1988, Shelley woke up to find clouds, drizzle, and a cool 50 degrees outside. As she prepared for the parade, the clouds darkened and the drizzle turned into pounding rain. At 4 p.m., parade time, Shelley seemed to be the sunshine of an otherwise dreary day as wearing a bathing suit and looking pretty as always, she climbed into her sleek red and silver speedboat. With a huge smile of confidence she waved to all of her family and friends — but inside, the butterflies had already taken flight.

That evening the activity center at Shawnee State University was filled to capacity. Each contestant had her own cheering section and as the clock's hands neared 8 p.m., the tension in the building grew stronger. The fans were stamping their feet, clapping their hands, and chanting their favorite contestant's name. Despite such a large crowd, Shelley said she knew "that (her) family and friends were there, but (she) somehow felt alone."

As the contestants made their first appearance on stage, the people in the audience made their preliminary decision. Would the winner be Clay's candidate, Wheelersburg's candidate, or our very own Shelley Lytten? Or course, New Boston students were with Shelley all the way. As the pageant wore on, the New Boston supporters' nerves became Each time Shelly appeared, she seemed to look prettier. The last time she was on stage, she wore a beautiful red gown and as she strolled across the stage, she seemed to have all the confidence in the world.

As happens in all pageants, the announcer said, "Now we will announce the 1988 Miss River Days . . . but first I want to thank all our sponsors, the judges, the people who support River Days . . ." It seemed like hours passed as he extended his "thank yous." Shelley's supporters were on the edge of their seats and biting what nails they had left. The announcer finally continued, ". . . the 1988 Miss River Days is contestant number 2, Mary Michelle Lytten from Glenwood High School." Shelley said that she was "nervous, relieved, and excited but most of all happy" and we were happy for her. With congratulations, her fans rushed to the stage like a tiger attacking its prey. The tears of happiness were flowing.

At the Lytten household, a party that was to last until 12:30 a.m. began. Those who had supported Shelley that night went to her home for pizza, potato chips, and pop. It was a memorable evening for everyone involved.

From this experience Shelley has "gained confidence (She) learned to be bold enough to try new things and to be (her) best." To next year's candidate Shelley advises, "be yourself, do your best, and try not to be too nervous. Best wishes always."

Competition Pep Rally

The sophomores tug for a victory.

Brian Hickman's mom forgot to teach him how to put his shoes.

Lee Spears takes the anchor for the senior team.

Seniors Win!

For the fifth year straight the Class of 1989 claimed the title of Competition Pep Rally Champions. The seniors swept just about every category including the Beauty Contest in which L. T. Smittle was crowned "Miss" Glenwood 1988-89.

This year's Competition Pep Rally was made extra special because it appeared on the television show "PM Magazine." Some students felt the fun was taken out of the pep rally by the crew who filmed the show, since at times they needed total silence. However, after seeing the show on television, most students thought the hassle may have been worth it.

Vickie Newman, eighth grader, blows away the competition.

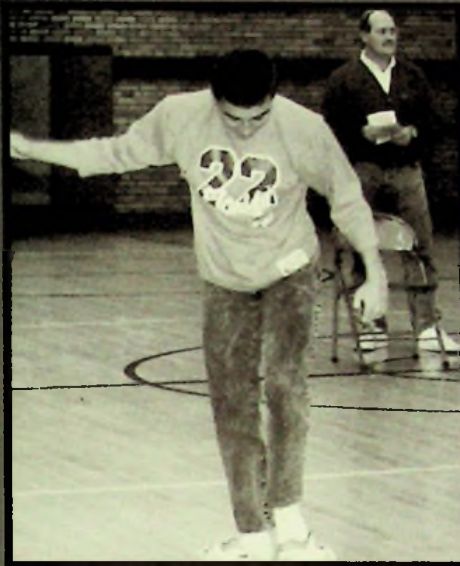

Chad Riggs models his new hairdo.

Tammie Carr and Ryan Morrow form a human wheelbarrow.

Todd Loper cannot seem to figure out which shoe goes on which foot.

Why can't Kevin look Mr. Chamberlin in the face?

Untie those shoes first!

Wearing his evening gown, Scott Warren parades for the crowd.

One Moment in Time

January 11, 1989 was "One Moment in Time" for GHS homecoming queen Shelley Lytten and her court. A color theme of rose, blue and silver was used throughout the evening.

During the half-time ceremony, Shelley was escorted by seniors Rich Lewis and Steve Hamilton and crowned by 1988 queen Shellie Goddard. Her court included: senior DeAnna Cummins escorted by Jeff Linne; junior Demeen Fannin escorted by Chad Riggs; sophomore Dana Raike escorted by Todd Loper; and freshman Michelle Conn escorted by Shawn Dillow.

Despite a super effort by the varsity Tigers, the team met with defeat. However, later at the dance in the Community Center, the Tigers seemed to forget the loss and enjoy a very special homecoming evening.

TIMES ROLL!!!

Students wait at the end of the day for the costume judging — all hoping to be the “best.”

Come on down for the competition — the judges are waiting.

Crystal McCleese, the clown, takes a rest while Betsey Cornwell works concessions.

Everyone gathers 'round to enter the competition for the funniest, ugliest, and best-all-around costumes at the Halloween dance.

TRADITION RULES

On Friday, October 28, the Student Council decorated the Community Center for the annual Halloween dance to be held that night. After the judging of costumes at the stadium and the parade through New Boston to the Community Center where all the little “beggars” were given treats, the dance began. The ghouls and goblins — and all sorts of other apparitions — danced the night away from 8 until 10 to music played by Phil Malone.

The following Monday, the day began at the high school when “strangers” began showing up for class. As tradition dictated, the day ended with the judging of costumes.

October 28, 1988

New members were escorted to the front of the auditorium where they participated in the candle-lighting ceremony and then joined the other members on stage.

After the ceremony, a tea was given in the honor of the new members. Parents, faculty and students from other school's honor societies joined together in congratulating the inductees.

HONOR SOCIETY

Peggy Conkel lights her candle and becomes a member of the Glenwood Hon Society.

Fall 1988, found Miss Bentley checking the list for potential honor society members. What was she looking for? The grade — 3.3 or higher — evidence of a hard-working student.

She found eight that met the requirements, and so the Honor Society members began their preparations for the induction. They decided when — October 28. They knew where — the Glenwood auditorium. Now they needed a speaker. They chose Mrs. Sharon Cornwell, a Glenwood graduate.

Parents were invited, robes were ironed, roles were well-rehearsed, and food was purchased for the tea. (Remember how Miss Bentley sacrificed her car just to get the cake?)

After the students were seated, Rich Lewis lit the candles as the final preparation for the induction.

Senior Lee Spears is assisted in the candle-lighting ceremony by Rich Lewis. Amy Brown announces the names of the new members.

INDUCTION

Michelle Maddix, a freshman, is welcomed into the society by senior Dorlese Dicks.

Mrs. Cornwell gave an impressive speech in which she stressed the need for each student to prepare for the future. She spoke about how important it is to have a good attitude and the importance of learning to work together. She then shared a favorite Ann Landers column entitled "The Ten Commandments of How to Get Along with People."

Mrs. Cornwell encouraged everyone to work hard, set goals, and believe in their ability to do well. She stressed the need for believing in one's self in order to become a winner in life. Finally, she gave us examples of the difference between winners and losers and encouraged us all to become winners in life.

CAMPAIGN '88

Since 1988 was an presidential election year, Mr. Robinson's government class held a debate. The Republican candidate, George Bush (L. T. Smittle) defeated the Democrat candidate Michael Dukakis (Matt Taylor) after answering questions asked them by the press (four faculty members).

The entire senior class helped each candidate in his research on topics relevant to the election. This gave each student practice in the kind of research an informed voter needs to do before voting.

At the conclusion of the debate, the candidates were judged by the junior high students on their answers to the questions and how well they handled themselves.

This debate proved to be a learning experience not only to the seniors but for the faculty and junior high students who were involved as well.

STATE-vs-LUSK

In our law class, we started the semester off by learning how our legal system developed and how laws are made today. Then we studied how our court system works — from arrest to sentencing. We visited the Portsmouth Municipal court one day to see law in action for ourselves.

Then we decided to put our knowledge to use as we held our own trial.

During the trial, the state tried to prove that the defendant, of legal age, should be held accountable for the death of a minor who had frozen to death after attending a party at the defendant's house and leaving highly inebriated.

Was the fact that an adult served a minor alcoholic beverages enough to send him to prison? The state's lawyers (Katie Porter, Joey Keeney, and Shawn Atkins) said "yes." The defense (Sharon Cummings, Missy Newman, and Gene Collins) worked hard to prove that it was not and to set the defendant, Keith Lusk, free.

During this experience, we all learned the consequences of drinking and giving alcohol to others.

SENIORS AT THE CAPITOL

On September 21, 1988, the seniors loaded up the bus early in the morning to travel to Columbus for a day of fun and education

After a complete tour of the Capitol, the seniors crossed the street by way of an underground tunnel to the State Tower. This 40 story building allows anyone to view all of surrounding Columbus from its top floor.

Lunch was held right next door in the McDonalds downstairs dining room. Here the seniors were able to be part of the big city lunch hour.

Upon filling their stomachs, the Class of '89 again boarded the bus and journeyed home with many memories of Columbus, Ohio.

GO HAWAIIAN!

Glenwood decided to go Hawaiian for the last dance of the year. Each person attending was given a lei at the door. At the refreshment hut, punch complete with an umbrella was served. To add to the fun, a limbo competition was held. Just how low can you go?

Someone actually LIVES here?

WOMEN!?

"Gol darn thing smarts a bit!"

The play cast shows off their feet.

If one should have happened to unknowingly enter the auditorium on March 10, he would have been very surprised. The cast was barefooted and dressed in rags and tatters. The story concerned Cornelia Wellington Heister portrayed by Shelley Lytten and her sister Dorthia played by Shelly Hickman. They were wealthy orphans whose only living relatives were a hillbilly family who owned a general store in Lone Mule, Tennessee. Their father's will directed that the girls spend their summers in Lone Mule or forfeit their share of the fortune. Being a bit spoiled and accustomed to luxuries, Cornelia hated the arrangement. Dot thought it could be fun.

Cyrus Godus, their uncle and our Matt Taylor, saw a chance to try to chase the girls away and thus inherit the fortune himself. He showed the girls the worst of hillbilly living. They didn't discourage easily, however, and widower Cyrus was otherwise engaged in running from two spinsters and the Widow Squiggins who were all looking for a date to the hoedown.

Finally Cornelia realized that mountaineers are human beings too and perhaps her own way of life wasn't so superior after all. She also discovered Cy's plot to get her money. She decided that two could play that game so the two sisters pretended to go all out for hillbilly life and even ended up showing Cy a thing or two. a Greth

The drama club spent many long nights and Saturdays to perfect the play. The cast consisted of 22 hard-working students. No matter how small or large, each part was important. Each and every one of the students enjoyed being barefoot and dirty as they performed for the audience. Some audience members said this play was one of the best ever performances by the Glenwood Drama Club.

Hold on to the Night

Pink taffeta, red sequins, purple lame' and blue silk were the hot items for the girls' dresses, while the guys wore black, gray, and white tuxedos trimmed with a rainbow of colors. The decorations were silver and purple, and they shimmered when hit by the dance lights. Everyone looked great! The decorations were beautiful! The night was very special!

Actually, the excitement began about noon on April 28, 1989. Most of the juniors and seniors got early dismissals so they could pick up their dresses, tuxes, and/or flowers, wash their cars, and get their hair done. By 7:00 p.m., everyone was ready to begin the Grand March. As soon as the couples were presented and parents and friends left, the night was theirs — a night for the juniors to say farewell to the seniors. Thanks, juniors, the night was unforgettable.

VARSITY VOLLEYBALL

Outstanding! Excellent! Exciting! Great! Marvelous! Memorable! Wonderful!

All of the above words and more have been used to describe this year's varsity team. The varsity completed their regular season with an unbelievable record of 13-1.

This varsity team wrote the history books for New Boston. They were the first NB volleyball team to win the S.O.C. league championship and the first to win a sectional title. The team also stirred excitement in the school and community — which is a first for any girls' sport.

The team was led by six seniors, which Coach Gulley said were the key to its success. The seniors have worked hard for the past four years to achieve this great success. Senior Katie Porter said, "We have waited a long time for this. I feel we really deserved it." Junior Demeen Fannin said about the seniors, "I will definitely miss them next year."

Junior Shelly Hickman spikes the ball over the net.

Lanita Lytten and Amy Brown were named to the District All-Star team and 1st team all-conference. Amy — All-District Honorable Mention. Lanita — All-District 3rd team.

RESERVE VOLLEYBALL

This year's reserve volleyball team was not about to be overshadowed by the varsity. The reserve team finished their season with a record of 12-2. Coach Gulley credited the team with hustle and hard work throughout the season. She also said that the team shows promise for the future of the New Boston volleyball program.

Get your hand out of the net, Michelle!

Sophomore Betsey Cornwell passes the ball to a teammate.

What's up Josh?

Could Todd and Gene be doing the two-step?
Roger looks exhausted after an extremely hard practice.

For the varsity boys this was a very promising year as they had a lot of talent ready to erupt.

The boys exploded to a 8-2 season record by the halfway point and that was only the beginning. They ended the regular season with a 15-5 record and geared up for tournament action.

All team members worked hard to make the season the best possible, and although five players will graduate this year, the team in the coming years should prove to be very action packed.

Proof that the cheerleaders look just as good in basketball uniforms as they do in skirts.

Would some REAL cheerleaders please come forward?

Are we fired up? YES!!!

There is more to cheerleading than a short skirt — actually it is a full time job. For the cheerleaders, the season began in July and lasted until February.

In July, they boarded the bus for Morehead with everything from a teddy bear to a jam box to a boyfriend's picture. After four days of the most exciting, memory-making times of their lives, they headed back home. Not only did they have what they came with but with superior ribbons, outstanding ribbons, and a spirit stick.

After many hours of practice, they made their first appearance at "Meet the Team Night." The actual season began on November 22 with a home win against Western.

Along with many other spirit builders, one of the most successful was "Tie Up the Tartans Week." The cheerleaders brought in old, out-of-style ties. Students wore them all week and to the big East game. Another favorite was the Friday the students filled the gym to find the cheerleaders doing warm-ups dressed in the boys' basketball uniforms. As you can guess, the boys then came out in cheerleading uniforms, complete with tights. Sophomore, Josh Howard was a little more excited than some of the others. "I finally know what it's like to be a cheerleader," he said. "Although I will stick to basketball, I still think I looked good in that skirt!"

The cheerleaders had a very special addition to their squad this year. At games he was known as Victor E. Tiger — any other time he is Chad Hickman. Chad is a very spirited member of the sophomore class and will do almost anything while in that costume. The Pee Wee Herman dance was a home game favorite and at Superbowl time he did his version of the "Lucky Shuffle" — the "Hickie Shuffle." The cheerleaders would like to thank Chad for a job well done — may his spirit continue the rest of his high school days.

Junior Varsity

By the expression on the players' faces, things aren't going too well.

A new name was added to our junior varsity program this year. The name was preceded by the word "coach." The name? Jerry Copley, Jr. Mr. Copley is a first-year chemistry/math teacher, but more important a first-year coach.

Coach Copley seems easy-going to most, but when practice started, the smiles were washed off the players faces with sweat. Good old-fashioned sweat caused by numerous ball handling and defensive drills. With only 8 players, practicing was difficult unless 2 more players could be recruited, but the boys worked hard and learned not only basketball, but also teamwork, discipline, and determination. With such a small, young team, teamwork was the main key this year.

The team did not have one stand-out player but 8 equally gifted team members. Perhaps Jason Truitt was the team leader since he was the only sophomore, but Shawn Dillow, Jon Gose, and Tim Porter followed closely behind. The team ended the year with a record of 11 and 9 — not at all bad for such a young team.

Of the experience, Tim Porter commented that he "liked the coach and had fun even though practice was serious." Jason Truitt said that he "felt like it was one of the best JV teams ever. Coach Copley did a good job. It was more of a team effort, not individuals." Coach Copley was a little skeptical at first. His "team was struggling." He says he "learned a lot from the experience. (He) got close to the boys and enjoyed that." Although the coach left his home in Peebles at 6:30 a.m. and often didn't get home until 11 p.m., he says "It was worth every minute of it."

C'mon boys, get your head in the game!!!

"Perfect" form as displayed by Jon Gose.

T h r e e   i n   a R o w !

With the loss of seven seniors in 1988, they thought 1989 would be spent simply rebuilding the TIGER team; but the TIGERS simply re-loaded!

Conditioning began early in August. Practicing twice a day, often in 100-plus degree weather, the TIGERS were well prepared when the season began.

Led by a group of hard-working seniors and boosted with outstanding play from some underclassmen, the TIGERS finished the season undefeated for the second consecutive year. They also netted their third consecutive S.O.C. title.

Heading into tournament play, things looked good for the team to repeat as sectional champs; and after the first game, New Boston was heavily favored to take the sectional crown when they blanked Minford 8-0.

The team met with its only loss when they were edged out in the sectional semifinal game by a Wheelersburg team that they had beaten twice during the regular season.

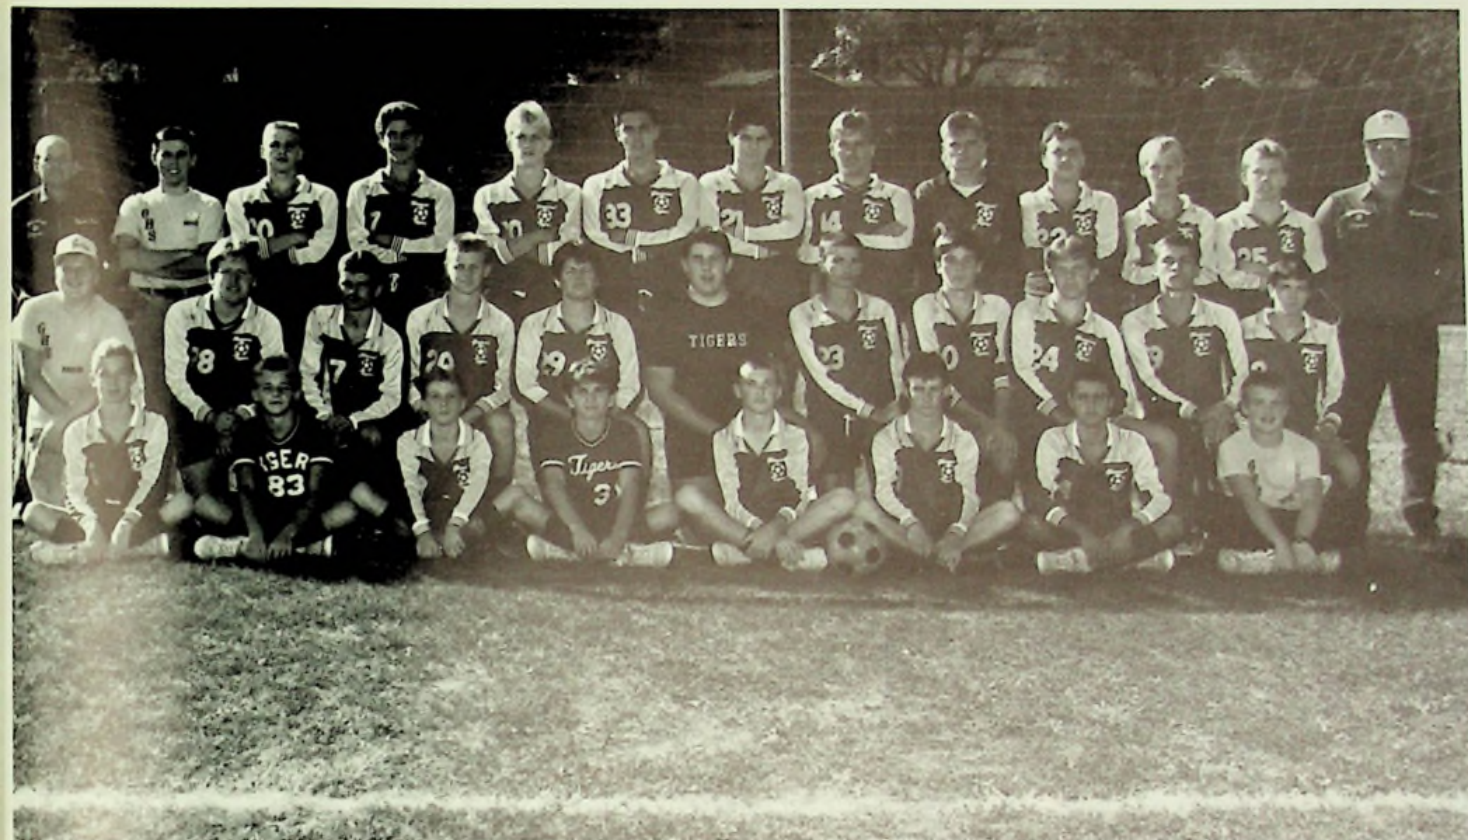

Although the team did not make it to district play, they LEFT THEIR MARK when they won an unprecedented third consecutive S.O.C. title.

Senior Rich Lewis proved to be a valuable asset to the 1989-90 Tiger team.

LADY TIGER BASKETBALL

Boys. Clothes. Socializing. Make-up. Hair. That's all girls think about, right? WRONG! At least not us, the Lady Tiger Basketball team. Of course, those things do play as much of a role in our lives as in any other teenage girls'. However, once the basketball starting date in October arrives, our lives begin to revolve around that orange sphere. We condition and practice every day (except Sunday) for at least two hours to prepare for our season.

And practice is not just shooting around. We run, scrimmage, and do drill after drill. Usually we do complain somewhat because we have little time left for boys, clothes, socializing, makeup and hair, but everyone knows girls like to gripe, right? Actually this year was different from all other years in girls' basketball. I mean, we still complained, yet our hard work paid off better than ever before.

This year we broke records right and left. First of all, we recorded the first winning season (18-6) ever for a Lady Tiger Basketball team. In addition, we captured the Sectional and District championships in our division. Wait, that's not all! We were even in the top 16 teams of our division in the whole state.

This season will be remembered for a long time by us and our fans, for this is the year that we got our "R-E-S-P-E-C-T." Hopefully our newly set records will not last too long though. What better goals to aim for next year? — Lanita Lytten

TAKE ME OUT TO THE BALLGAME!

The 1989 New Boston baseball season started off at a standstill. Four of the first five games were rained out, but this didn't seem to bother the 14 guys on the team.

When the rain finally stopped and the season got underway, the players found out that they all enjoyed winning.

By mid-season these guys had posted a .500 record and were really fired up and ready for the second half of the year.

The team finished the regular season with a 7-6 record, which placed them near the top of the S.O.C. standings.

Then came the tournament games — they won the first game and were anxiously awaiting the second, but down the rain came again. The second game, when played, ended in a loss, and the team ended the season with a total of eight wins.

SOFTBALL

With only nine girls on the 1989 softball team, there were days when it was impossible to even field a team! Player shortage combined with rainy day after rainy day did little to boost the winning record.

The girls had little success during the regular season, but did pull out a win against Paint Valley in sectional play.

TIGERS AT THE NET

It's amazing what can be accomplished when 10 people put their minds and bodies into a task. At the beginning of the season, the team had only one seasoned player, Rodney Fetty, a sophomore. Two seniors, foreign exchange students Caroline Jansen and Javier Bolado, one sophomore and six freshmen made up the rest of the team.

Even with all the inexperience, the team still won two matches, and the individual players won a total of 22 individual matches. Coach Clever said that each player showed great improvement during the season. The Tigers, although young in years and experience, did indeed leave their mark in tennis.

Team Members: Front — Caroline Jansen, Ryan Taylor, Michelle Maddix, Tia Pauley, Darren Harr; Back — Michelle Conn, Ronnie Foit, Javier Bolado, Rodney Fetty, Angie Henson

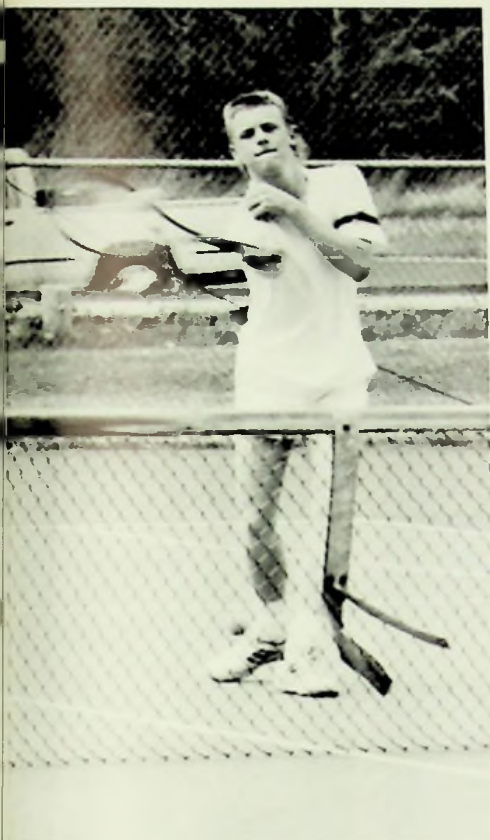

Ryan Taylor shows great improvement this year as he plays the net.

Ronnie Foit won two matches this year.

Javier Bolado lead the team with 5 wins.

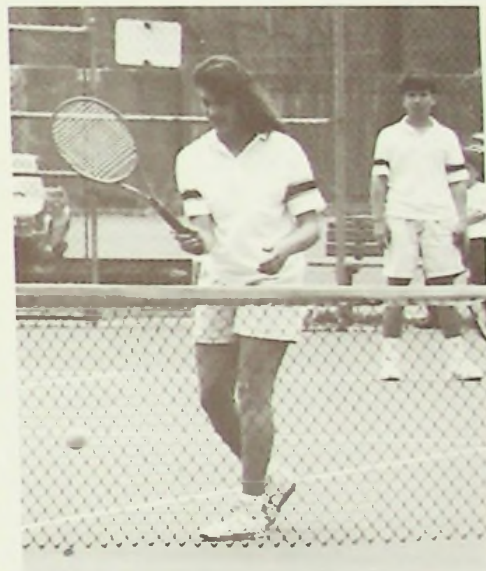

Rodney Fetty, sophomore, won two matches.

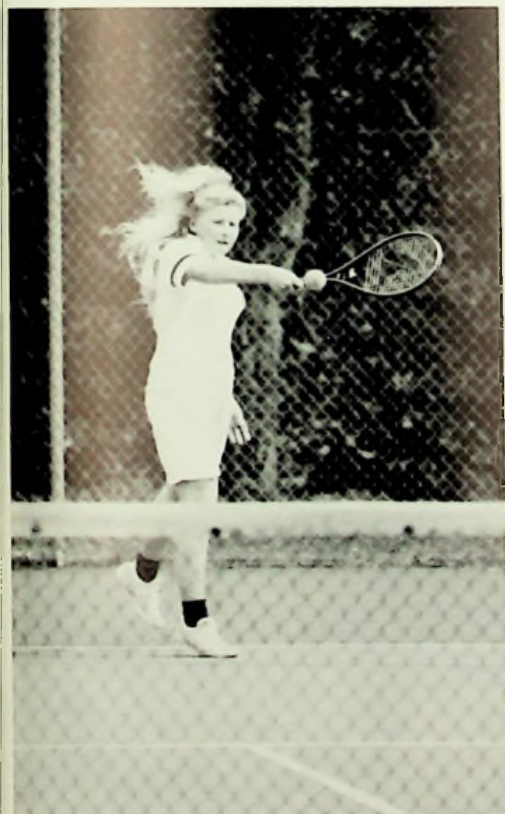

Caroline Jansen ended the year with a 3-3 record.

Tia Pauley won 2 matches for the Tigers.

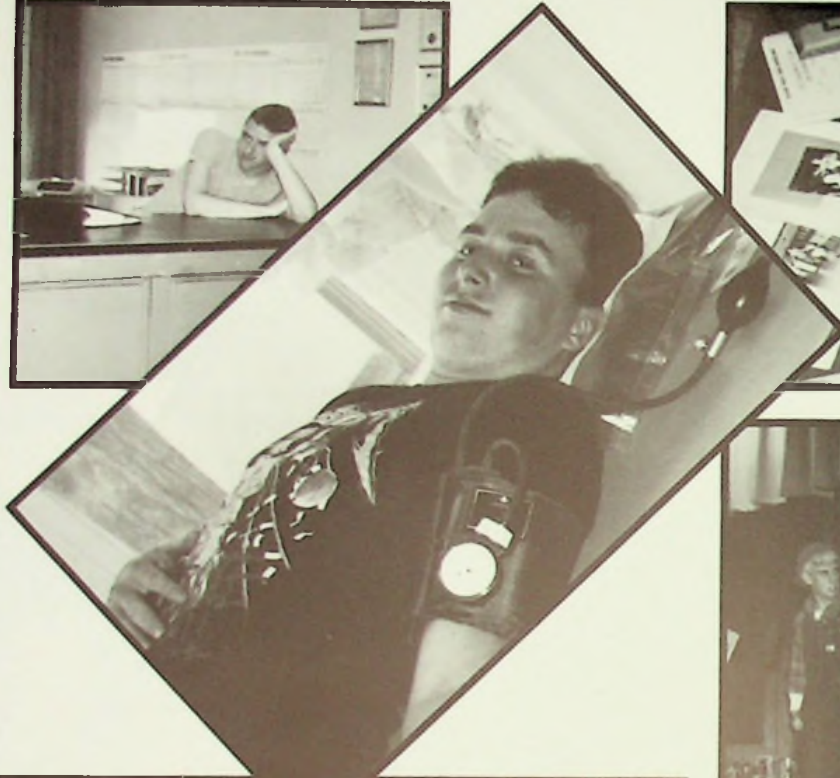

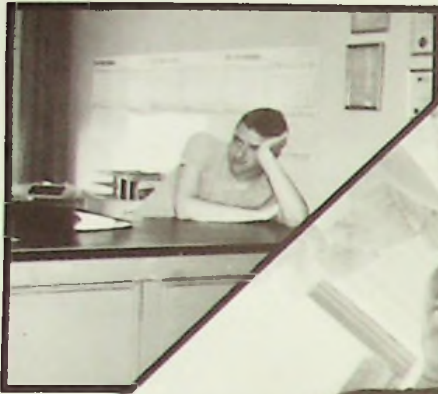

Angie Henson — victorious 2 times; Darren Harr — 3.

Michelle Maddix posted a 3-4 record.

Things look promising for Michelle Conn next year.

TIGER PACKS

Work, work, work! Throughout the 1988-89 school year, the Tiger band was very busy. Hard work began early for the band members and Miss Clever. Everyone worked very hard to make their first performance at the Scioto County Fair a success. Next on the agenda was the River Days Parade, but the Tiger band didn't get to show off its talent due to rainy weather.

At school, the band entertained the faculty and students by performing in the Christmas concert, the spring concert, and the pop concert. To take a break from all the hard work, the Tigers put together a carnival for the public and sponsored a rock group, Sunshine Express, for the student body.

PEP US UP!

Soccer games, basketball games, and pep rallies were all a part of the pep band's hectic schedule. Entertaining the fans at ballgames was the biggest job of all, and even though the pep band was small, they always succeeded in sounding mighty.

What's a Yearbookie?

Pictures to be taken, layouts to be designed, deadlines to be met and lots of work are all part of the yearbookies world. Members say it takes time and patience to be on the yearbook staff.

The advisor, Mrs. McCain, determined just who the right people for the staff were late last year. How? All students interested in being a part of the book were asked to create a layout and write a story about a unique person in our school.

The people chosen were told that they have to be willing to work hard and give up lots of their time. Throughout the year, there's always a lot to be done and usually a short time to do it all in.

The 1989 staff added five new members in addition to the four students returning from previous years. The five rookies soon discovered that there was a lot to be learned, but luckily for Mrs. McCain, they quickly understood what was to be done and got right to work.

Several new things have happened to the 1989 Tiger. We've added more color to various pages, used a unique design for our cover, and expanded the page size.

The purpose of all this hard work and dedication is to give you, the student body, a good yearbook. The Tiger staff hopes you enjoy YOUR yearbook.
