CLASS POEM

We stand at the end of a journey,
Where the old road meets the new;
And there on the pathway, before us
Lies the land where dreams come true.

On we must travel forever
Toward the land of youth's fair dream;
We must labor and toil without ceasing,
Though the journey long may seem.

Bright is the path we've come over,
And bright may the new one be;
Though memory holds to the old,
The new we are eager to see.

Sometimes, in the past, to our vision
Hard were the trials we did meet;
But now, looking forward, we're eager
Adventures before us to greet.

Now as memories tenderly hold us
One memory lingers most clear;
And that is the days at Green High School
Which forever our hearts shall hold dear.

Jean Kuehne

CLASS HISTORY

Every class going out from this school should realize that before them is an era, the like of which no other class has yet entered upon. During this era they will be called upon to bear burdens and to perform duties heavier and more difficult than the burdens and difficulties of any previous class. Unknown pleasures, too, and greater possibilities lie before them. They have the advantage of the trials and conquests of the great number who have preceded them.

Realizing all this, the members of our Class of 1942 have the determination to fulfill every expectation, to win every battle in which they engage, and to perform many feats worthy of record. It is our duty tonight to speak of what our class has done, especially what it has done during the years spent in Green Township High School. Your historian approaches this task realizing the importance, at least to us, of the facts she is called upon to record. Surely no class has worked harder to reach its height of achievement nor endeavored more fully to perform its required duties than this class of 1942.

When we were freshmen, our group numbered forty-three members ready to start to master the relation of  $x$  to  $y$  and "amo" in all its changes. We elected as our class president Esther Cook. Her helpers were Esther Crowe, vice president, and Donald Hill, secretary and treasurer.

When we resumed our classes in the fall of 1939, we had lost two members, leaving us forty-one. How much better we felt since now we could be called sophomores instead of freshmen! This year was a little more interesting than our freshman year. We were given a few more privileges, one of which was a class play. It was a three-act comedy, "Johnny Grows Up". During our sophomore year we lost six members. Four of them, Kathleen Brooks, Jean Mosely, Loraine Church, and Parma Holbrook, were happily married. Edward Brown is now in the army. Basil Green is the other one who departed from our class. We chose as our leaders for the year 1940 Jean Kuehne, Berneice Bonzo, and Eva Mae Martin.

With the first half of our high school days so eventful and exciting, we entered our junior year with plenty of ambition. We started this year with thirty-five members. The class officers that were elected to guide us through the year were Esther Crowe, president, Eva Mae Martin, vice president, and Esther Cook, secretary and treasurer. Our class adviser was Miss Humphrey. We again gave a three-act comedy, "Dotty and Daffy".

The fall of 1941 brought together thirty members, still in search of more knowledge. This time they chose Rosemary Brown for their leader and Esther Crowe and Esther Cook as her helpers. Due to the demand of some members of our senior class, chemistry was introduced this year. The seniors who took this course enjoyed their work very much. With Mr. Crawford as their teacher, they have performed many interesting experiments. As their stage production, the class presented a three-act comedy "The Meddlesome Maid", sponsored by Mr. Besco.

Thus it has come to pass, that of the forty-three members who entered in 1938, only thirty will depart, for verily, verily, I say unto you, that broad is the gate and wide is the way that leadeth to the High School, and many there be that go thereat; but straight is the gate and narrow is the way that leadeth to graduation, and few there be that find it.

Four years hath the Class of 1942 sojourned in the land and gathered the fruits from the tree of knowledge. Now they depart, each to go his separate way, each to do the work for which he has here begun his preparation. We will endeavor to do that work so well that Green Township High School will always be proud of the Class of 1942.

--Esther Crowe

CLASS PROPHECY

One bright sunny day, as I am sitting in the study hall at Green Township High School, I find myself becoming very, very drowsy. After several vain attempts to awaken from the unconscious state into which I find myself drifting, my head falls gently down upon my opened literature book, and I cease to be aware of my real surroundings. As soon as I am fast asleep, I begin to dream. In my dream the Fairy Godmother of the Class of 1942 appears to me and tells me the destinies of the graduates whom we honor here this evening. At this time I shall reveal those secrets to the people who are most interested in knowing what they are.

Jack Craycraft I see boarding a ship which is to take him to Soviet Russia. He is going as the new ambassador from the United States.

In a large office building of the Wide-World Telegram Company is Esther Cook, pecking away on a typewriter, typing a letter for none other than David Burton, the yard bird of the United States marines. While his ship is in port at New York harbor, David plans to spend a few days visiting relatives and friends at Franklin Furnace.

I hear music. Harry Duty and his Green Township "Swingeroos," featuring Nora Valentine, the soprano "blues" singer, and Garmel Ratliff, the main trumpet player, are just completing a six weeks' engagement at the Capitol Theater at Franklin Furnace, Ohio.

Again I hear music, but this time the Fairy speaks the name of Raymond Lavender. He is on the stage of the Metropolitan Opera House, singing in his baritone voice, "My Blue Eyed Blondie."

The vision changes, and in the office of a Schaeffer Self-Serve store in Detroit, Michigan, is none other than Donald Hill, his feet propped high upon his desk as he dictates a letter to his secretary, Opal Waddell.

The next scene is at Ohio State University. In the chemistry laboratory is Drexel Hutchinson, Professor of Chemistry. In a room across the hall is Ruth Mootz, lecturing to a group of girls on "Kindergarten Rules." Rosa Gaspers is Dean of Girls at the University. Garnet Hyland is in the music hall directing the choir as it sings "The Long Day Closes."

Now the vision changes to a riot in the main street of New York City. Order is soon restored by Detectives Jimmy Smith, Louis Otworth, and Edwin Willis. The trouble had begun when Ruth Moore and Frances Dyer began to fight over a certain boy nicknamed "Moe."

The Fairy Godmother takes me into a luxurious living-room, where someone is rocking and singing a beautiful lullaby. It is Esther Crowe Wickline, with her fourteen-months-old baby boy, Lewis, Jr. Sitting beside Esther is Ruby Blanton, Junior's nursemaid.

Soon I find myself in a room where the fireplace is burning low and a queer scent is in the air. It is the scent of medicine. On the third floor of this hospital, is an "angel of mercy," Jean Kuehne. She is entering a room where lies James Otworth, who has just been seriously injured while playing baseball with the St. Louis Cardinals. Walking down the hall and coming to make James a visit is Mr. Leroy Royal, now manager of the Cardinals. He is accompanied by his beautiful wife, the former Miss Eva Mae Martin.

Now I hear much chatting and gossiping. Around a card table are Berneice Bonzo, Rosemary Browne, Laura Thompson, and Marguerite Fullerton. They are engaged in a game of Old Maid cards.

Last but not least is a scene from the Brown Derby Restaurant in Hollywood, California. Seated at the table is John Andrew Hyland. His is giving his order to the pretty waitress, Betty Walker. John Andrew is the manager of Warner Brothers Movie Films. His latest picture is "The Son of Frankenstein." John invites me to attend a preview of the picture. The scenes portrayed are the most ghostly and horrible that I have ever witnessed. Frankenstein's son seems to focus his fiendish eyes directly upon me. All at once he steps down from the screen, walks back through the aisle to the place where I am seated, and reaches out his giant hand as if to grab me. I am so frightened that I scream at the top of my voice. I awaken from my dream, and find myself once more in the study hall. The room is in an uproar of laughter and the eyes of all students are focused upon me. The expression on the face of the teacher becomes stern and severe. The laughter immediately ceases. I shall never forget the manner in which he uttered those three horrible words, "ONE WEEK'S DETENTION."

--Marilyn Staker

CLASS WILL

Be it known, that we, the class of nineteen hundred and forty-two, of the Green Township High School, County of Scioto, and State of Ohio, being of sound and disposing mind and memory, do make, publish and declare this to be our last will and testament, hereby revoking all former wills made by us.

First: We desire all our debts to be paid as soon as possible.

Second: We give our love for and appreciation of our teachers to all the students of the high school.

Third: We bequeath our room and its furnishings to the Juniors.

Fourth: We leave our detention period with Mr. Besco.

Fifth: We give to the separate members of the Junior Class and to our teachers the following properties.

I, Ruby Blanton, leave my easy blush to Sherlene Bruce.

To Vera Riepenhoff, I, Berniece Bonzo, give my skating ability.

I, Rosemary Browne, leave my flashing temper to Almeda Stephenson.

I, David Burton, bequeath my public-speaking ability to Edward Johnson.

To Miss Walls, I, Nora Valentine, give my dimples.

I, Rosa Gaspers, leave my civics book to Lillian Ratliff.

I, Garmel Ratliff, leave my ability as basketball manager to John Graff.

To Billy Deck, I, Drexel Hutchinson, leave my artistic tastes.

I, Garnet Hyland, bequeath my shorthand ability to Grace Mootz.

I, John Hyland, bequeath my basketball talent to Frank Allen.

To John Fullerton, I, Jean Kuehne, leave my record on the English scholarship tests.

I, Ruth Moore, bequeath my love for dancing to Marilyn Staker.

I, Ruth Mootz, leave my quiet disposition with Esther Kuhner.

I, Betty Walker, bequeath my late hours to Pauline Baldrige.

To Mr. Smart, I, Raymond Lavender, leave my skill in baseball.

I, Eva Mae Martin, give my sunny disposition to Myra Jane Rogers.

I, Opal Waddell, leave my red hair to Orville Richendollar.

To Mr. Crawford, I, James Otworth, will my big feet and my ability to knock home runs.

I, Louis Otworth, give my wavy hair to Mr. Besco.

To Sam Dyer, I, Donald Hill, leave all my girl friends.

I, James Smith, give my pessimistic nature to Alfred Waddell.

To Miss Jolly, I, Laura Thompson, leave my knitting ability.

I, Marguerite Fullerton, leave my willingness to work to James Wheeler.

I, Leroy Royal, will my catching duties and baseball shoes to John Graff.

And last, I, Edwin Willis, leave my bashfulness to Wilbur Holbrook.

We appoint Mr. J. L. Keller to be executor of this will.

Signed, sealed, and declared by the class of nineteen hundred and forty-two to be our last will and testament.

Signed: The Senior Class

THINGS HAPPEN AROUND OUR SCHOOL

- Sept. 2 School begins.
 15 Seniors elect officers.
 25 Individual pictures taken.
 30 One month of school gone. Goodie!
- Oct. 10 Seniors get rings for their fingers and bats in their belfrys.
 15 Seniors buy announcements. Such optimism.
 17 Some 450 new books purchased for library.
 17 Carnival holds sway. Earl Hacker chosen
 King and Wanda Richendollar, the Queen.
 18 We see Ohio State play football, and also see some nice cheerleaders. Yippee!
- Nov. 10 Girls organize Junior Red Cross to help
 the boys in camp.
 14 Senior assembly. Phew!
 17 Junior order for rings made.
 21 First pictureshow on our new sound motion picture machine.
 25 We skate. That is, some skate and some just sit.
- Dec. 8 Just another Monday when Betty misses school.
 21 Frank's leg and a motorcycle have a tussle.
 Frank's leg loses.
- Dec. 23 to Jan. 5. Vacation. Santa Claus. New Years.
- Jan. 13 George rides his bicycle home.
 16 Semester tests take their toll.
- Feb. 13 U.S. Zoo shows Seniors to monkeys--we mean, the monkeys to the Seniors
 19 Senior pictures taken
 19 Green loses to Valley by 31-30 score in County Tournament thriller
 25 Miss Walls gets a nice box of mice
 26 Juniors win Class Basket Ball Tournament
