We, the Seniors of Green Township High School, dedicate this yearbook to the graduates of this high school who are serving in the armed forces. As this book is opened and looked upon, we hope it will bring back pleasant memories of our days at Green High School.

To Mrs. Siembt, our class adviser, we would like to show our appreciation for all her time and work which she has given to our yearbook.

Our Freshman class consisted of a group of forty-two,
But now our ranks have smaller grown than what we used to view;

We've played the game, we've studied hard, we've tried to do our best;

And now we'll meet with confidence each gruelling trial and test.

Tonight our vessel outward sails upon the seas of life,
To bear us where we'll do our part to help a world in strife.

We trust that from our works may fall some beam of radiant light,

To make this earth a bit more fair, man's life a bit more bright.

Except through tests of bitter pain, no worthwhile goal is won;

Through sweat and blood and toil and tears earth's greatest deeds are done;

Our fathers in the days of old, their courage tried and true,

Held high the torch that now we'll bear as they would have us do.

Whate'er in life our work may be, Green High this pledge we give—

To strive for what is good and true; for things worthwhile to live.

To keep Old Glory floating high we'll sacrifice
our all;

We'll do the job and do it well; we'll go, where'er
the call.

We're proud to be Green High School's class of 1944;
We trust that we shall worthy prove of classes gone before.

The world's great need awaits our work; we'll give the best we can.

"Prepare Today; Achieve Tomorrow"—our hope, our aim, our plan.

CLASS HISTORY

In the year of nineteen hundred and forty, a large group of diligent boys and girls began a "Journey of Knowledge" to a territory through which they had never traveled. The first village to which they came was called the "Freshman Village," in Green Township. They had a population of forty-two and were governed with precise order by their honorable mayor, Mr. Kenneth P. Jones.

After the citizens had renewed their acquaintances, they became more absorbed in their work and in their duties. Mayor Jones then decided that he needed more officials. Jim McAdams and Bob Sagraves were appointed as assistants and Nadine Oakes was chosen to take care of the financial affairs.

During that year, four of the citizens, Betty Barnhart, Eudora Conley, Mary Justice, and Mildred Brown, found different interests and proceeded on to other destinations. The remaining group traveled bravely on, enjoying and accomplishing any task which was given them. The leisure time of the Freshman citizens was taken up at parties, wiener roasts, and basketball games. Much time was also spent in organizing a band and glee club. At Christmas they were well represented in an operetta, "The Christmas Carol."

The remaining months after the holiday season flew swiftly by and they proceeded on their way, leaving all their treasures and experiences to those who were to follow.

After a three months vacation they again resumed their journey and settled at the town called "Sophomore." During the vacation, four of the colony departed. They were Walter Chandler, Thomas Gaspers, Enid Kitchen, and Earl Burke. However, they had gained four new friends, Ruth Schmelzer, Ruby Jordan, Emma Nelson, and Eloise Clark, so that the loss was not so great as it might have been.

Later in the season, three new members were admitted. They were Genus Jones, George Royal, and Helen Howard. Not long afterward, four more citizens were called to other duties. They were Ruby Jordan, Emma Nelson, Genus Jones, and Billy Herndon.

Mayor Jones was elected for the second term. His new assistants were Harlan Miller, George Davisson, and Billie Hall. They performed their duties very well, helping wherever necessary. At the termination of the year, and to celebrate their achievements, they gave an afternoon picnic.

The next year their "Journey of Knowledge" was spent in the village of "Junior." This year Mr. H. A. Lewis was given the privilege of being Mayor of this group of thirty-six. At the same election, George Royal, Howard Miller, and Lola Holbrook took the oath of office and carried on their duties very efficiently.

At the beginning of the term they found that three of the members had departed. They were Ida Mae Herron, Helen Howard, and Harold Stewart. Those who took their place were Donna Lewis, Gerald Miller, and Jack Daniels. Later the same year, three colonists sought their pathways in different directions. Cupid pertinently pierced the heart of Opal Arthur and sent her sailing to the isle of matrimony. Leonard Sloas joined Uncle Sam's Army and George Royal became a member of America's great naval force.

The days passed hastily, some bringing gladness and some bringing sorrow. The boys and girls became more involved in the knowledge that they were gaining. Toward the end of the year, they decided to display, for the first time, their theatrical ability. They proved it to be amazing in a performance of a three-act mystery comedy, "Small Town Romeo," directed by Mr. H. A. Lewis.

The citizens of the Junior and Senior villages had many good times during the year. A "Kid" party was sponsored by the seniors at which everyone dressed as small children. Later in the year, in honor of the seniors, to repay them for their many kindnesses, and as a farewell tribute to them, the juniors held a banquet at the Wilmere Tea Room in Portsmouth. This ordeal was one to be remembered for many years as a joyous part of the "Journey of Knowledge."

In the fall of 1943, the little band again assembled at "Senior Village" to complete their "Journey of Knowledge." Mr. Galen Besco was chosen mayor and Mrs. Caryl Siembt, judge and chief advisor. Their three excellent helpers were George Davisson, Earl Conley, and Jimmie Mc-Adams.

The only absentee was Gerald Miller, who is now with the U. S. Navy.

With the world still facing a great war and some of the boys already in the armed forces, the villagers had matured and become more serious minded. They knew now the seriousness of the world they were preparing to enter and were determined that nothing would keep them from attaining the goal which they had set.

Between their regular activities, however, they still found time for amusements. To celebrate the beginning of a new conquest, they enjoyed a wiener roast. This was soon followed by a "Backwards" party in honor of the juniors and seniors. They were very elated to have a fine representation in an excellent basketball team that won many honors during the year. This, of course, was accomplished by their superb playing.

In October the seniors again demonstrated their outstanding theatrical talent in another three-act performance,

"Don't Be Bashful," which was directed by Mrs. Caryl Siembt, and Mr. Galen Besco.

A census was taken at the middle of the year and it was discovered that six members had left the "Senior Village" to seek their goal in another region. Three of these, Everett Mitchell, Jack Daniel, and Russell Goodwin, joined their comrades defending the flying colors. Betty Arthur became a member of cupid's mighty force. Ruby Hammond and John Gaspers found other interests.

To break the monotony of regular school routine, the seniors honored two former members of the colony with a party. These two were Russell Goodwin and Everett Mitchell, who were home on furlough from their basic training at a naval base.

On May 6 the seniors were entertained by the juniors at a festive banquet. This was the last affair in which the juniors and the seniors had the privilege to participate.

As they neared the end of their adventurous "Journey of Knowledge," they looked back into the past and found, among those four years of work as well as pleasure, that they had gained a great amount of education other than that obtained from their books. They learned that in order to be successful in life, they must have faith, courage, hope, self-reliance, patience, friendship; they must be cooperative, and they must have the will to achieve.

As their intellectual tour finally terminated, they realized that it was really the commencement of the purposeful life that would bring them success. As they marched bravely from the "Senior Village" they gave a dignified salute as they raised their blue and gold banner upon which was displayed their appropriate motto: "Prepare Today! Achieve Tomorrow!"

CLASS PROPHECY

I don't imagine you will believe your ears as you hear what I'm going to tell you, but I believe my eyes so I'll pass on to you some of the things that I can see in this small crystal ball before me. I'm going to tell you exactly what I see about the students of the 1944 Senior Class of Green Township High School.

First, I'll tell you the date. As I can easily see, it is in the 1960's and World War II has ended. Peace treaties are being signed and I'm now wandering around the Capitol Building in Washington, D. C. I think I'll see what is in the interior of the building. I wonder if Roosevelt is still there. I can see the President sitting at his desk. He is talking with some foreign correspondents. Say, that isn't Roosevelt, it's Earl Conley, that good basketball player from Green. And how did I recognize him? Well, if you'll recall that when Earl was in school he always had a pencil behind his ear. He still has the habit.

On I go through the building and my attention is halted at a door which is open. I see inside three naval officers with their heads together. I wonder who they might be. I move the little ball to get a good glimpse of them. Goodness! What a surprise. It's Everett Mitchell, Russell Goodwin, and Jack Daniels, the three boys who left school together to join the Navy.

After talking over old times, I move the little crystal ball farther around. What is this I see? Why a basketball squad, of course; a good one too. The coach is talking to the boys, saying, "Now boys, if you'll play as I did back at Green Township." He pauses; then finishes in a lower tone of voice, "You'll never win the District Championship." His voice sounds familiar. I wonder who he is. He's turning toward me. Oh! It's George Davisson, that snappy guard on the ex-Bobcat team.

Round and round the crystal ball goes and where it stops a very dignified lady stands speaking with great eloquence of the English language. Turning toward me, I find her to be none other than Nadine Oakes, the girl who won first place in English in '43. She tells me that she has been studying law since she left school.

This scene fades away and immediately another one follows. It is a huge theater in Chicago. John Powers is introducing his latest dance couple, which he believes to be the greatest ever shown. When they come on stage, I almost faint. They are Kathryn Hurst and Howard Miller. Gee! What graceful dancing. I gaze around in the theater a while. "This must be the socialistic class of Chicago," I say to myself. Wait a minute. Are my eyes all right? Well, if it isn't Lola Mae Holbrook, that cheerleader from Green Hi. After talking with her, I find she is married and has two stunning children. And who is the lucky hubby? None other than Albert Bonzo.

I move the crystal ball and the scene immediately turns toward beautiful Atlantic City. Here I shall visit the Annual Beauty Contest. I hear someone yelling, "Check that 'Miss Ohio'." I think I'll do just that. My! She looks like a girl I used to go to school with. Why, the winner of the contest is Billie Hall. What's Betty Grable got that Billie hasn't? Oh! The crystal ball is spinning around again. Maybe I shouldn't have asked that question.

On and on I journey. Mercy! Here I am on the West coast in the state of California. The scene seems to be in the La Concella room. The world's greatest badminton player is coming on stage. Heavens! Can you imagine this? It's Geneva Willis. Remember? She used to play a cornet in the Green Township High School Band. And speaking of bands, what is this music that I hear? The conductor is standing before me with a baton in his hand. He's motioning for his singers to come forward. And who is this famous band director? None other than Bill Wheeler. As the singers move toward the center of the stage I begin to think that Green Township has moved to the West coast. These girls sing somewhat like the Andrew Sisters of long ago. Of course, I am certain that I have seen them before. They are Lena Mae Porter, Betty Lavender, and Faye Ratliff. And that lovely piano music is coming from Eloise Clark. For a moment I thought it was Miss Zipperlin.

The picture changes, but still I'm seeing the lights of the big cities. On the front of one exquisite theater are these words, June Cheek and Paul Fannin, starring in "Best Bet Forward." Those two have really made a name for themselves.

Another change. I see they still have defense plants. I don't guess you will be surprised to hear that I see a cute girl in overalls. She is wearing a badge on which is written "Rosie, the Riveter." In case you are in suspense, it is Bettie Hall. I'm sorry boys, I didn't get her phone number.

Now here's a surprise if there ever was one. I always knew that Bill Ault liked to sleep when he was in school, but I didn't know that it affected him so much that he would some day be manager and proprietor of a "Rest-More" mattress manufacturing company. He's in his office dictating to two seemingly energetic stenographers. They appear to be Beulah Smith and Ivory Ison.

Where did this garage come from? Anyway it has appeared on the little crystal ball. The mechanic looks rather familiar too. Of course, it is Edwin Strehle and I wonder whose new Buick he is working on. I see Bob Sagraves under the steering wheel. Bob is the editor of the "New York Esquire" now. His favorite photographer, Donna Lewis, and he just got back from Europe where they have covered the reconstruction of the war. I hear too, that his most outstanding reporter is another one of Green's graduates, Ruth Schmelzer.

This crystal ball surely does change the scenes quickly. Here I am back in a Naval Recruiting office. The officer behind the desk seems to be in a bad emotional state. He is yelling to a recruit, "I told you back in '44 when you were in school that if you didn't stop eating so many carrots, your eyes would become too powerful." Yes, you've already guessed it, Jimmie McAdams is still trying to get into the Navy.

In the sunny state of Florida I shall visit the "Gra-Mil" circus. This looks interesting. The men of the flying trapeze are now assembling to do the greatest act ever dared by a human being. The star of this act is Joe Graff, that air-minded lad from Green High School. The circus manager, Harlan Miller, is now announcing a triple somersault in mid air without the aid of a net. It surely is breath taking. Now that it is all over, it was wonderful.

After an exciting event like this, I gladly turn the crystal ball to a more quiet state of affairs. Farther on, my wandering eyes catch a glimpse of a modern hospital. Oh yes, I see now. It's the operating room. The doctor seems to know his business. And why not? Just look at those two pretty nurses! Will miracles ever cease? Before me stand Catherine Hughes and Anna Valentine. I recall hearing them say that they would like to take up nurse's training some day.

As I near the end of my journey, the crystal ball becomes almost stationary. But wait! Here's one more scene coming up. It's another Green High graduate sitting in his cozy little home rocking one of his children. Oh, but he looks contented. Yes, it is Harold Duty.

Now the crystal ball is blank. It reveals no more to me. This little ball may sometimes be mistaken, but no matter what field of endeavor these seniors may enter in life, I say, "Good Luck."

“DON'T BE BASHFUL”

(A Three Act Comedy)

October 21, 1943

A quiet and retiring young woman decides to change her personality in an effort to capture the most popular man in college. Fireworks result! Nancy Adams, played by June Check, is secretly in love with Ken Hunt (Jim McAdams). Nancy is scholastically brilliant, but distressingly bashful. The Adams and Hunt families occupy adjoining cottages at Pine Lake for a summer vacation. Nancy daringly goes into action for the first time in her life. A new and very attractive Nancy emerges. In an effort to make Ken jealous, Nancy hires Larry Marshall (George Davisson), a total stranger, to pose as her lover. She even introduces Larry as a popular young artist from the East. Immediately matters take an alarming turn, particularly when Phyllis Burk (Donna Lewis), a newspaper reporter, attempts to interview the supposedly young artist. And when Mrs. Adams (Nadine Oakes) plans to display one of Larry's masterpieces, Nancy is thrown into complete panic. She desperately borrows a painting from the nearby gift shop, expecting to pass it off as Larry's work. From that moment, the Adams and Hunt families, as well as most of the other vacationists at Pine Lake, are thrown into confusion—thanks to Nancy.

Each character played an important role in this comedy. We saw Earl Conley as Walter Adams, Nancy's father. He and Sam Hunt (Bob Sagraves) supply numerous laughable situations. Sam is even rumored insane and this is apparently proved when he displays the carving knife before the eyes of Frances Terry (Billie Hall), the visiting secretary. We can't forget Russell Goodwin as Officer Pluck, the "leg" of the law.

When Miss Green (Kathryn Hurst), Chairman of the Women's Law and Order Association, is caught with the missing painting, and Sam Hunt is taken into custody as a dangerous character, and poor Larry is poisoned by Judy's (Lola Holbrook's) home-made candy, Nancy's affair comes to a final climax with Nancy "getting her man."

Washington And Green Twp To Pry Lid Off County Scholastic Basketball Schedule Friday

Washington and Green Township will lift the lid off the Scioto co basketball scene Friday night.

CHEERLEADERS

LOLA MAE HOLBROOK—ALMA CONLEY

BILL AULT—"Lefty"

Swift, sharpshooting forward, with an eagle eye for the basket. This southpaw forward rang up 254 points in the regular season for a 14 point average per game. He also collected 37 points in tournament play.

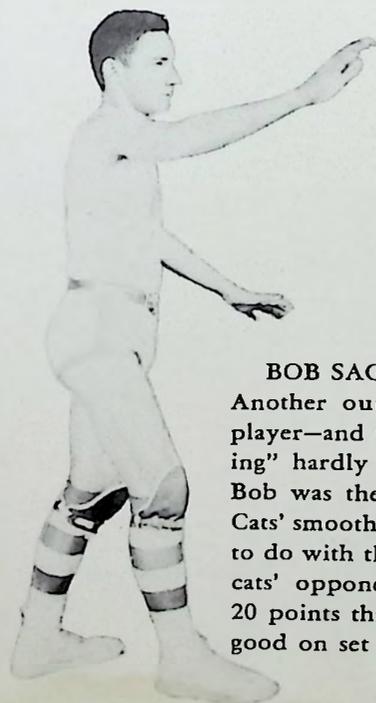

JOE GRAFF—"Roy-Boy"

He was the man many claimed the best defensive center in the county. He was always in the thick of the fight. Joe was also a very good passer and had a dead eye for the hoop.

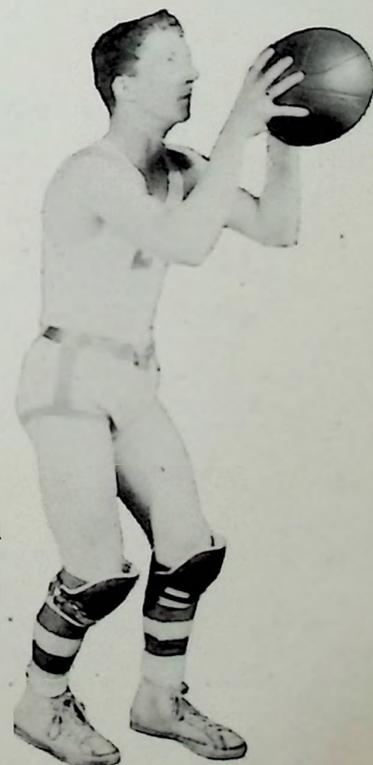

EARL CONLEY—"Ike"

The Cats' cagey and cunning running mate to Ault. "Ike" captained the team and was really a passing wizard. He also hit the hoop for more than 200 points this year and had a regular season average of $10\frac{3}{4}$ points per game.

BOB SAGRAVES—"Zeke"

Another outstanding defensive player—and the word "outstanding" hardly expresses the fact. Bob was the rear guard on the Cats' smooth team. He had much to do with the fact that the Bobcats' opponents averaged only 20 points this year. He was also good on set shots.

GEORGE DAVISSON—"Dave"

Dave was a guard and our set shot ace. He swished the nets for 214 points this year and had a regular season average of $10\frac{1}{2}$ points per game. Dave also had a dead eye from the foul stripe, making good on 52 tries and missing on 30.

Soaring to the top, with what many fans claimed the smoothest-working basketball team ever representing Green High, Coach Harry Bitzer's Bobcats compiled the best regular season record of any basketball team, large or small, in the district. Bitzer's boys rose to their peak just a few weeks before the tournament and were in a cooling off period just as the tournament time rolled around. Just before the tournament the smooth-working 'Cats ran up scores like 83-16, 75-13, 60-6, and 70-16. In this manner Bitzer's "Blitzers" rang up a regular season's record of 16 wins and 2 defeats. This year's record needs no flowery words to express its success. In those 18 games the Bobcats hit the hoop for a total of 822 points to their opponents' 367. That's an average of 45 2/3 points per game to a combined opponents' average of 20 1/2 points per contest. That's pretty hot basketball in any state and that defensive mark is just as great as the offensive.

As for the tournament it was just a story of too much Wheelersburg, and not enough of the Green squad that romped through the season. Green first knocked off McDermott, and then Webster in the county tourney. They then dropped the finals to Wheelersburg, after leading throughout the game until the last few minutes. In the District Tourney it was the same story. Green went into the last quarter leading, but the Pirates' size told the story. Green went into this last quarter determined not to let the county tournament repeat itself, but fouls hit the team hard, and slowly the Pirates forged ahead and Bitzer's boys had played their last game.

The Bobcat reserves also ended the season in a hot streak after losing their first 3 games. They hit their stride and won 8 out of the next 10 games. For most of the boys it was their first year in county competition. The boys who made up the reserve squad were: Harlan Miller, Phil Vinson, Paul Fannin, Russ Goodwin, Howard Miller, Jim McAdams, and Ballard Daniels. Everett Mitchell, sixth man on the varsity; Jack Daniel, varsity timekeeper; and Russ Goodwin, star guard on the reserves, left the team in the middle of the season to go into the Navy.

One thing that the boys on this year's squad have gained, if nothing more, is to have been able to play for a coach like Mr. Bitzer and to have been able to associate with a couple as fine as he and his wife. Calm and understanding, patient, and a great coach, Mr. Bitzer is above all a gentleman. He and his wife will always be remembered by the boys who played under him.

GREEN TOWNSHIP BAND

As another school year ends, we look back to see what the band has accomplished. This organization, under the direction of Miss Ruth Ann Zipperlin, consists of sixteen seniors, four juniors, seven sophomores, ten freshmen, four eighth graders, five seventh graders, and two sixth graders. We are expecting others to be added to the band at the beginning of the next school term.

Due to transportation difficulties, there was no band contest this year. However, we have been practicing the contest number, "The Calif of Bagdad," by A. Boieldieu. One of the few affairs in which the band participated was the concert. This event was a remarkable success.

Because of restrictions, the band has played only at the high school and at the Powellsville and Haverhill Farmers' Institutes on February 2 and February 18.

The band has also played for numerous school activities, the bond rally, sponsored by the senior class on February 14, pep meetings, and both class plays. For these, we played several marches by John Philip Sousa. Among them: King Cotton, U. S. Field Artillery, Semper Fidelis and many others.

We regret very much to lose, at the end of this school year, the sixteen senior band members. This is the largest number of band members that has ever graduated. As we look at the band, we miss the familiar face of Everett Mitchell, who played the alto saxophone. He is now serving Uncle Sam in the Navy.

Among the senior clarinet players are: Nadine Oakes, June Cheek, Lena Mae Porter, Bob Sagraves, Jimmie McAdams, and Joe Graff. Opposite the clarinets we see in the cornet section: Geneva Willis, Earl Conley, Billy Wheeler, and Paul Fannin. In the background we hear the bells played by Catherine Hughes. In the alto horn and trombone divisions we see two more seniors—Kathryn Hurst and Harlan Miller. The one instrument that adds the most color to the band is the bass drum played by George Davisson.

In addition to the regular players, we have three drum majorettes: Lola Mae Holbrook, Helen Arthur, and Darlene Arthur.

We, the senior members of the Green Township Band, wish much success to this group in their musical accomplishments during the coming school years.

GIRLS GLEE CLUB

The glee club under the direction of Miss Ruth Ann Zipperlin is made up of forty members. There are eight seniors, six juniors, four sophomores, twelve freshmen, and eleven eighth graders.

For the senior vocalists we have Kathryn Hurst, alto; June Cheek and Donna Lewis, second soprano; Betty Hall, Geneva Willis, Billie Hall, Betty Lavender, and Lola Mae Holbrook, soprano.

This group was a sensation at the concert which was given in the early spring to display the accomplishments of this high school group of feminine vocalists. The Glee Club also furnished the music for the Baccalaureate service.

A list of songs which were sung by the girls at the concert were: "The Florian Song," by Goddard-Daggett; "America, Thou Blessed Land," by Geoffrey O'Hara; "Serenade," by Toselli-Trehanne; "The Bells of St. Mary's," by Emmett Adams; "In A Monastery Garden," by Albert W. Ketelbey; "Rio Rita," by McCarthy-Tierney; "Pale Moon," by Frederic K. Logan; "Mayday Carol," from "The Air from Essex County"; "Bendemeers Stream," an old Irish melody, by John Hyatt Brewer.

The senior girls who have participated in this fine organization sincerely hope that others who will replace us will find it as pleasant as we have.

MIXED CHORUS

A new creation in the musical world of 1943-44 was the mixed chorus. The personnel was composed of boys and girls from the upper four grades.

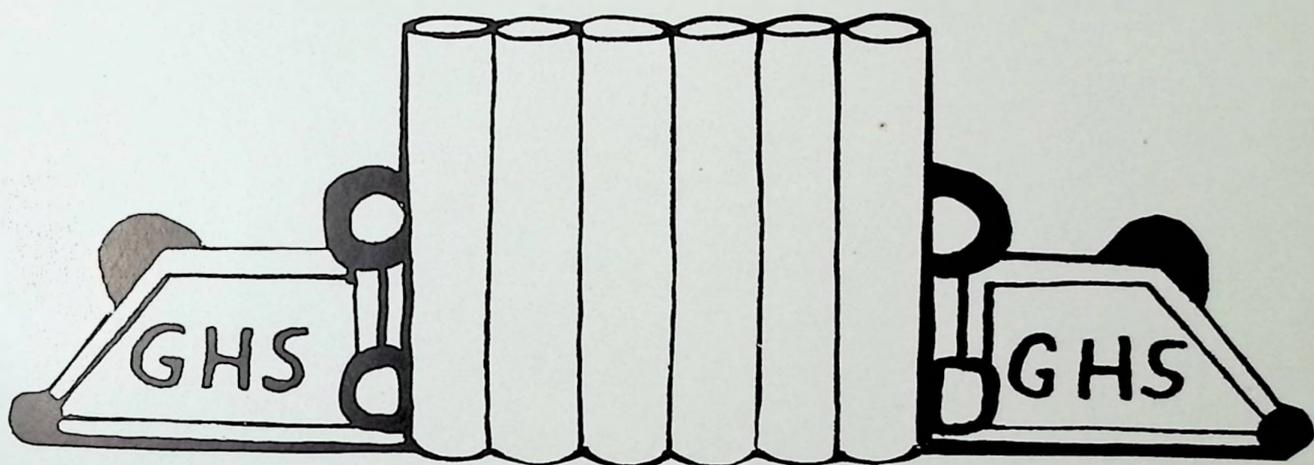

These boys and girls met once a week to join in the singing of old time songs, as well as popular songs of today.

To celebrate the birthday of Stephen Collins Foster, the group presented a minstrel dealing with the negro songs and jokes of the southern folk. The negro parts were acted by Jimmie McAdams, George Davisson, Earl Conley, and Bob Sgraves. Robert Howell was the announcer who kept things rolling by constantly talking to the negroes.

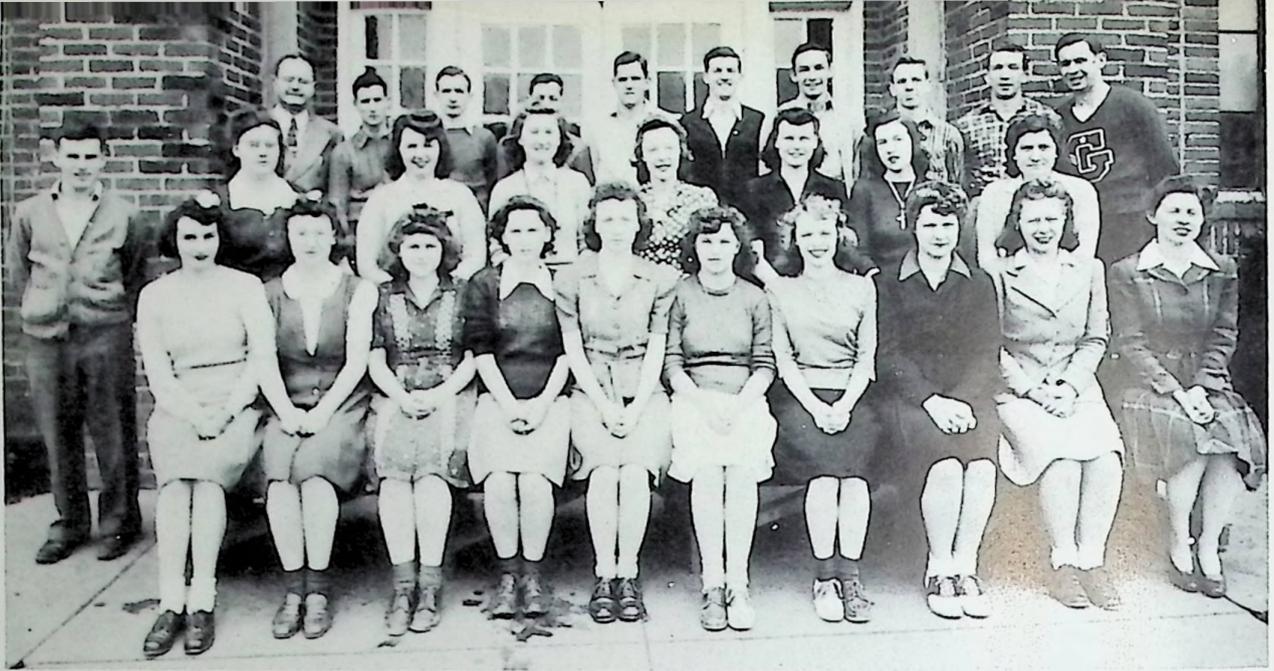

The boys who took part in the singing were: Bill Wheeler, Bill Hill, Roger Riepenhoff, Gus Reffit, and Jack McAdams. A list of the songs consisted of: "Jeannie With the Light Brown Hair," "Beautiful Dreamer," "Nellie Bly," "Camptown Races," "Ring, Ring the Banjo," and "The Glendy Burk." A number of girls also participated in a folk dance, "Buxom Lassies."

Directly after the minstrel we were given an opportunity to see this well known author in a movie.

We conclude a school term of outstanding musical accomplishments with much success. We have enjoyed it immensely, and hope those who replace us find it as pleasant.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

"FEUDIN' IN THE HILLS"
(A Three Act Comedy)
March 23, 1944

The play takes place in the hill country where two families, the Martins and the Pruitts, have carried on a feud for many years.

The Pruitts are of a more civilized character while the old folks of the Martin family are still wondering, "Whar's my gun?"

The story revolves around the son and daughter of the Martin family and the son and daughter of the Pruitt family.

The Pruitts are willing to give up the feud, but not until an accident occurs—forcing Mr. Martin into the modern home and ways of living of the Pruitt family—do the Martins "fall in line."

After introducing the modern inventions into his own home, he agrees to his daughter's and son's marrying into the Pruitt family.

Grandma, who loved feuding is so shocked and disappointed that all she can say is—"I never would have thunk it!"

CLASS WILL

We, the nineteen hundred and forty-four senior class of Green Township High School, community of Green Township, city of Franklin Furnace, county of Scioto, and state of Ohio, being at this time of sound mind and body, and especially body, do hereby declare this to be our last will and testament, thus annulling any other will or wills whatsoever by us made.

To Green Township High School, within whose walls we and the teachers have met our trials and temptations as well as our joyous parties and exciting ball games, we leave the prolonged agony of the coming senior classes.

To the freshmen, we leave the consolation that they will no longer be known as "Frivolous Freshmen."

To the sophomores, we leave the hope for long dresses, black ties, and all other concessions that are due juniors.

To the individual members of the junior class, the members of the graduating class leave their most treasured possessions.

To Billy Kennedy, I, George Davisson, leave my keenly cut, curly hair and my slick line of smooth talk.

I, June Cheek, bequeath to Alma Conley my divine display of dramatic ability.

I, Donna Lewis, leave my pleasant poise and pleasing personality to Pauline Reffit.

To Ballard Daniels, I, Kathryn Hurst, leave my dynamic, double Dutch, lingering lingo.

I, Joe Graff, leave to Robert Scherer my cunningly colored, corduroy hat.

To Geraldine Salyer, I, Betty Hall, leave my sensational, snappy, sloppy slacks.

To Ruth Lockwood, I, Billie Hall, leave my desirable diversion of dainty dancing.

To Phillip Vinson, I, Billy Ault, leave my reasonably real, refined romance.

I, Anna Valentine, leave my jumping, jiving, jitterbugging talent to Juanita Waugh along with my glamorous giggle.

I, Beulah Smith, leave to Wanda Richendollar my tendency toward tranquility.

I, Lola Holbrook, leave to Sylvia Waddell my gently jingling jewelry.

I, Edwin Strehle, leave to Billy Kennedy my yearly yearning to keep the school roaring with laughter, at least roaring.

To Helen Allen, I, Nadine Oakes, leave my endless enjoyment of immense interest in education.

I, Billy Wheeler, leave my stately stride and gentle gestures in majestic manners to Ralph Lavender.

I, Bob Graves, leave to Harold Wheeler my zigzagging zeal in dangerous driving.

I, Geneva Willis, leave my demure disposition and ducky dimple to Loretta Ault.

I, Eloise Clark, leave my promising, poetic possibilities to Pauline Reffit.

I, Jim McAdams, leave my vivid view of various visitors to Phillip Vinson.

I, Harlan Miller, bequeath to Lois Martin my vigor, vim, and vitality.

I, Lena Porter, leave my peek-a-boo bangs to Alma Conley.

To Irene Rogers, I, Catherine Hughes, leave my persistent patience with my peppy pals.

I, Ruth Schmelzer, leave my genuine generosity to Geraldine Salyer.

I, Ivory Ison, leave my many, matchless memories of my classmates to Loretta Ault.

I, Howard Miller, leave my realistic rapture in roaming around to Ralph Lavender.

I, Paul Fannin, being tall, dark, and terrific, leave my bewitching, brown eyes and my bushy brown hair to Robert Scherer.

I, Faye Ratliff, certify that I shall leave my address catalogue, completely chucked with congenial correspondents, names omitted, to Irene Rogers.

I, Harold Duty, declare that my constant, conscientious conduct go to Lois Martin.

I, Everett Mitchell, leave my snappy naps, snatched in study hall to Juanita Waugh.

To Robert Scherer, I, Earl Conley, leave my amusing, memorable mass of mannish mustache.

I, Russell Goodwin, leave to Ballard Daniels my aggressive, argumentative ability.

I, Betty Lavender, leave to Ruth Lockwood my soothing, sober smile.

I, Jack Daniels, leave to Charles Ratcliff my wee, wiry waistline.

To Mrs. Taylor we leave a quiet fifth period study hall.

To Miss Zipperlin we leave our vacant chairs in glee club, mixed chorus, and band, and throw in for good measure our idle instruments.

To Mrs. Siembt we leave our tardy and absent lists and remind her to remember the misery she missed on the days that we were absent.

To Miss Williamson we leave all the experiments and discoveries of the past year to show to her forthcoming chemistry classes.

To Mr. McCall we leave the hope that we won't be forgotten; especially our mania for painting, sanding, and decorating in general.

To Mr. Adams we leave all the disturbed classes that we caused by our many extra-curricular activities.

To Mr. Lewis we leave our appreciation for all his kindness toward us during the two years that we have enjoyed his presence.

To Mr. Bitzer we leave all the junior, sophomore, and freshman boys with the hope that he can build a basketball team to equal the one he has trained for the past year and a half.

To Mr. Besco we leave all properties not herein disposed of to distribute as he deems best to the students who will take our place in the future.

We leave this sojourn to all the classes left in the great institution of knowledge on Hillside Drive, known to all as Green Township High School.

Signed this sixteenth day of May, A. D., 1944.
