DEDICATION

We, the Seniors of Otway High School, wish to dedicate this annual to Mr. A. B. Jones because we feel that he has done more than any other person to advance and improve our school.

Mr. Jones, who was born April 6, 1882, attended the Jones' School until he was eighteen years old. At the close of the 1899-1900 school term, he attended the Lucasville School for ten weeks after which he passed the County Examination and received a One Year Certificate to teach. He never had the opportunity of attending high school, but did home work and took college entrance examinations for his high school credits. His college work was done in Miami, Ohio, Wilmington and Chicago, and graduated from the later in 1923, he received a B. S. Degree in Education. He also did post-graduate work for several terms at the University of Cincinnati.

ALVIN BURTON JONES

Mr. Jones taught in the one room country schools for five years. In 1906 he came to Otway as Supervising Principal. He taught here for the next fourteen years and then went to Peeb'es High School as Supervising Principal for the next three years, after which he acted as Supervising Principal of Minford High School for one year. In 1925, he returned to Otway and was Supervising Principal here for the next twenty years. Leaving Otway in 1945, he taught one year at Portsmouth High School and one year at Washington Township High School. In 1947, he retired from the teaching profession to devote full time as a life insurance salesman. A short message from Mr. Jones in which he says: "I spent thirty-four years as the Supervising Principal of the Otway School, and I feel very grateful to a generous community for the support given me. I have a feeling of pride for whatever contribution I may have made in the growth of the school from a three room elementary to the present centralized high school."

Class History

As the task of writing the class history has this year fallen to me, I will try to relate some of the experiences of the class of 1951. These experiences are not new. They are as old as mankind, and yet they are always fresh and vital. These experiences are those which have in twelve short years shaped our personalities for all time, and transformed us from children into adults.

In the year 1939 approximately fifty of us slipped shyly into the first grade room. We gazed at each other with something of pleasure and a good deal of fright, hardly realizing that these frightening little creatures sitting around us were to be our friends and playmates for the next few years. Before long, however, we were all acquainted, and in the years followed, we played together, laughed together, cried together, and were taught together. I hope the teachers who taught us will forgive me when I say that our eagerness to learn came more often from our wish to be approved by our classmates than from a burning desire for knowledge, transmitted to us by our teachers. However, let me congratulate these teachers for having the foresight to see in us, even when we fought and scratched, and acted more like animals than children, the makings of mature and useful men and women.

And so we worked and grew, mentally, physically, and spiritually. In a surprisingly short time we had climbed to the seventh grade. This was an exciting adventure for all of us quite unlike anything we had ever experienced. If we were naughtier than usual that year, please try to bear in mind that we were, after all, only a group of children struggling to be grown up and never quite succeeding.

In the eighth grade we were brought briefly into the limelight by the eighth grade test; and of course the next year we and our new classmates from Union Township were the center of attention at the Freshman's Initiation.

In our Sophomore year we worked and played quietly by ourselves. We weren't noticed much that year, being neither green Freshman, nor busy Juniors and Seniors. The next year we had many activities, such as raising money for the Junior-Senior trip to Washington, and participating in the Junior Class Play. We learned to take responsibility—at least the doses seemed big to us. Sometimes lessons and other activities piled up so high around our ears that we'd pray to get a leg broken so that we wouldn't have to face it all. Of course none of us ever succeeded in getting our prayer answered, but one girl made an attempt worthy of mention. It turned out to be a sprain, but she had to stay home a week.

Class History

Now we are on the home stretch, and look back and marvel at the speed of time; and yet we know it was well spent. We fattened on friendships, laughter, tears, and even disappointments. Perhaps that—learning to take disappointment and failure and still keep on trying—was the biggest lesson of all.

What we have done in the last twelve years will never go down in history, but who of us will ever forget these years? Even if we were never to see each other again after graduation, we could never be entirely severed, for we have each of us so unmistakably left a mark on all the others, that in the years to come, the history that each of us makes will be the triumph or the tragedy of us all.

Class Will

We, the Senior Class of 1951, of Otway High School, Scioto County, State of Ohio located on Route 73, being of sound mind, memory and a generous spirit, do hereby make and declare this to be our last will and testament,

- I, Eva Brown, will my curly hair to Mr. Adams.
- I, Lois Smith, will my Government ability to Ruth Hoffer.
- I, Dorothy Penn, will take whatever I have with me.
- I, Nancy Brown, will my typing ability to my brother, Archie.
- I, Wilma Ingles, will all my boy-friends (except one) to Ruby Robinson.
- I, Rosemary Perdue, will my skating ability to Susie Burden.
- I, Bernice Kratzer, will my likeness for baseball (especially the pitchers) to Joan Chaffin.
- I, Alma O'Harrah, will my loud speaking ability to any one who needs it.
- I, Helen Evans, will 20 fly swatters to the Senior room.
- I, Thurman Pertuset, will my height to Estle Euton.
- I, Max Jones, will my Government workbook (completely filled) to Eddie Cox.
- I, Donald Richard, will all my books to any one who wants them.
- I, Joe Koenig, will all of my earthly belongings to the Red Head League.
- I, Louise Penn, will all my laurels to my two younger sisters to rest on.
- We, Pat Nichols and Edna Elmore, will our cheerleading skirts to the cheerleaders of 1952.
- We, Mac Moore, Kenney Brown, Leroy Euton, and Kenneth Bach, will our ability to steal chickens, oil, and gas to the noble Junior boys.

Class Prophecy

Blame my classmates and a teacher for the things I'm about to reveal for if they hadn't been discussing the future of the Senior Class of 1951, I surely wouldn't have gone home to dream about such a thing.

It was 1961, just like that and there I stood on the street corner of a busy city. I started across the intersection and was halfway across when a huge blue rocket swerved past me, bruising my knees, and barely missing signing my death scroll. As I picked myself up hastily, a blue-coated policeman stepped forward, took my arm firmly and demanded in a voice of authority, "Why don't you watch the lights, lady?" The voice sounded familiar and as I brushed the disordered hair from my eyes, I discovered that this policeman was none other than Kenneth Bach. He laughingly waved away the excuses I'd prepared for not seeing the car and said, "Tell it to the judge". And guess who the judge was when we arrived at the courtroom? Thurman Pertuset. He looked very distinguished in his judicial robes. After a few minutes of talking old and discussing the accident, Judge Pertuset asked me to try to describe the car. I realized by this time that it must have been a new Jetmobile of a rather dark blue color. The Judge threw back his head and laughed. "That description of the car fits that of an old friend of yours. Bernice Kratzer. She's a speed demon in her new car all right." He told me she lived less than two blocks away, so I started out to find the address.

I hurried down the street and turned the corner just in time to collide with a rather tall, striking lady of my own age, just coming out of a huge building. After 'pardon me's' from both parties, we discovered to our mutual surprise that we knew each other. It was none other than my old classmate, Louise Penn. Louise told me she was now an art instructor at Ohio University. She also said that she was on her way to have lunch with Dorothy Penn and invited me to join them. She informed me that Dot was now a very successful young dress designer who is keeping a fast pace with Adrian, of Hollywood.

After lunch, I started out again to find Bernice but as I started down the street, I heard a blast from a horn and looked up to see Bernice smiling from where she was parked in her new car. I ran eagerly forward and found Alma O'Harrish sitting beside her. Alma suggested we drive back to Otway the next day to look up our friends. Alma told me that she was working as head waitress in Leroy Euton's new and famous restaurant.

As we arrived in Otway, we stopped at Leroy's restaurant and there perched on two stools near the front were Nancy Brown and Wilma Ingles. Nancy introduced us to a young man beside her and informed us that this was her better half. Wilma said she was still single and working in the office of Brown and Jones, Attorney-at-Law. Of course these were Kenny Brown and Max Jones.

Leroy suggested we all get in his truck and go to visit the farm of Joe Koenig, Don Richard and Eva Brown. Eva's name isn't Brown now.

Class Prophecy

Just as we start to leave who should drive up near the restaurant but Pat Nichols. It seemed she really made a name for herself as a singer and had taken Jo Stafford's place in the heart of her fans. She said Edna Elmore was to arrive home on her vacation. Edna had a wonderful position as secretary in Washington D.C. We waited for the bus to surprise Edna but when she got off the bus, there was Lois Smith with her.

Lois was looking wonderful and told us she was a newspaper reporter a large paper. She was sporting a huge diamond, too.

Rosemary was already married to some fellow named Bill. As we were driving along continually on our way to the farms, Leroy heard on the radio in his truck, that there would be a prize fight in ten minutes. The surprise of it was that the contestants were "Killer Diller" and Mac Moore.

The "Killer" was beating Mac against the ropes, but he was saved by the bell. The bell kept ringing and ringing, though. I stretched, yawned, and finally got awakened only to find it was my alarm clock which had been set for seven o'clock that had been ringing. Oh, well, off to school for another day in the school year of the present 1950-51

Cheerleaders

Edna Elmore

At the close of the County Tournament, these four Seniors surrendered their uniforms to O. H. S. after four years of loyalty. Bernice, Pat and Edna were elected as Reserve Cheerleaders when Freshmen. In their Sophomore year, Helen joined Bernice, Pat and Edna who were elected as Varsity Cheerleaders. When Juniors, the four were Re-elected as Varsity Cheerleaders and were re-elected Varsity Cheerleaders again when Seniors.
