In all thy ways acknowledge Him, and He shall direct thy paths. (Prov. 3:6.)

We need to look up to God, whose existence gives meaning to our human existence and is ground for hope that there is something better in store for mankind than our generation or any of its predecessors has known.

Recently a distinguished American historian, when asked what meaning life had for him, made this reply: "As I look over the grand drama of history, I find, or seem to find, amid the apparent chaos and tragedy evidence of law and plan and immense achievement of the human spirit in spite of disasters. I am convinced that the world is not merely a bog in which men and women trample themselves in the mire and die; something magnificent is taking place here amid cruelties and tragedies, and the supreme challenge to intelligence is that of making the noblest and best in our curious heritage prevail."

PRAYER—Our Heavenly Father, help us to remember in our respective places of leadership, whether in the home, church, school, or community, that the cause is Thy cause and that the people are Thy people. May we ever look to Thee for guidance. Amen.

SENIOR

CLASS

Although handicapped by inroads of the armed services and of the colleges with accelerated programs of study, the class of 1944 of Portsmouth High School carried through in the noble traditions of the institution with outstanding success in collective class activities and in developing each individual class member. Good fortune crowned their efforts in their senior class play, their senior dance, their banquet, and their graduation exercises.

All this was accomplished under the leadership of Howard Harcha, president; Ralph Baker, vice-president; Catherine Blair, secretary; and Betty Kah, treasurer. Under their guidance the graduation committees, because of their meticulous planning, presented to Portsmouth High School one of its most impressive and exciting graduation weeks.

When those happy, but somewhat nostalgic seniors reached nervously for their diplomas, they accepted them with no little reluctance, for they left memories behind.

In an aura of mystery and suspense the class staged its play "Midnight". They presented their best for acceptance in the Emily Ball chapter of the National Honor Society with thirteen in their junior year and thirty members their senior year.

In culmination of their high school careers the seniors, bucking unconsciously all the while the intangible vagueness and uncertainty of the future, passed solemnly through their baccalaureate and commencement exercises and somewhat more light-heartedly through their junior-senior prom and their commencement dance.

For some, college; for others, employment; for many, the responsibility of defending what they had enjoyed for four years—a typically American high school education and career.

CLASSES

The infants, who expect to graduate in '47, really made the corridors of P. H. S. ring with their pep and vital interest in school activities. These freshmen seemed to realize the importance of getting off to a good start. They made the necessary adjustments to become members of the big family. This class with James Noel as president; Cynthia Edwards, vice-president; Sarah Du Puy, secretary; and Carolyn Dill, treasurer; pitched in to stage their skating party, which was a tremendous success.

They took the usual "razzing" of the upperclassmen good-naturedly and are eagerly looking forward to the privileges and responsibilities of upperclassmen.

Miss Genevieve Du Pre was elected class sponsor.

Portsmouth High school in 1942 opened her hospitable halls to embrace an eager and industrious class of "Freshies". They soon adjusted themselves to high school life, gave their freshmen skating party and elected Miss Anna Blazer class sponsor.

In their second year of high school they gave the sophomore dance which was girls' tag, Hard Times dance. Sophomore officers elected were: Gene Meyers, president; Jackie Daniels, vice-president; Judy Pratt, secretary; and Eleanor McClure, treasurer. This group won outstanding success in scholastic achievements and also accounted for a number of our finest athletes. The class of '46 has caught and held our attention for two years of happy comradeship.

JUNIOR

CLASSES

The Juniors have a reputation for enthusiasm, activity, and surprises. When the unexpected happens, you may be sure that the class of '45 is some where behind the scenes.

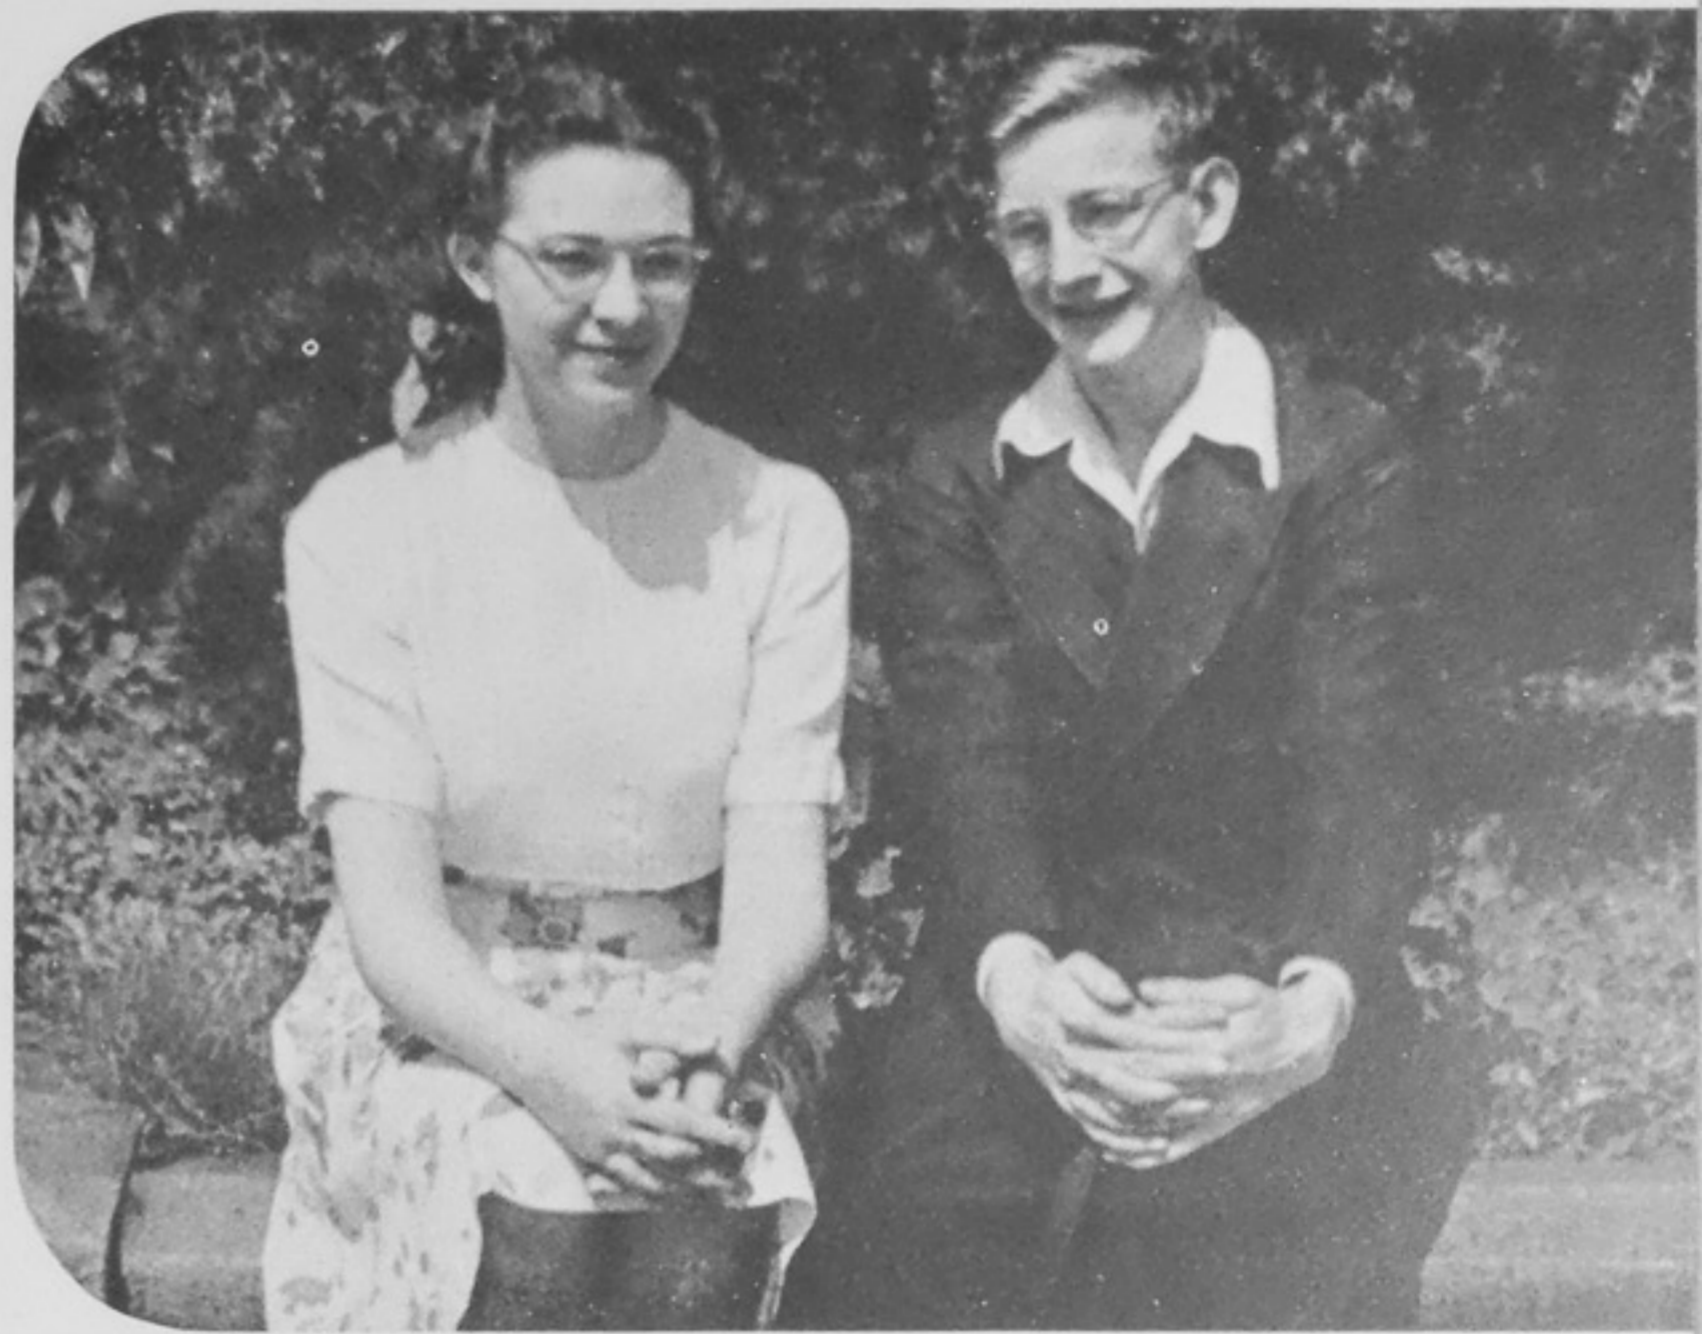

President Charles Smith, vice-president Bonnie Walbright, secretary Barbara Questel, and treasurer Glenn Walker headed the effervescent group this year through a full schedule including selection of a class ring; presentation of their play "Suspense", acceptance of twelve members into the National Honor Society, and reporting school news to the Portsmouth Times. To sponsor the prom, they presented a hilarious burlesque with an all-male cast. The play, "Aunt Dinah's Quilting Party", was the brainchild of Bert Leach, popular faculty member and dramatist par excellence. A junior dance, itself a success, also contributed financially to the prom. Mr. Lorentz was chosen class sponsor.

The Student Council is the representative governing body of the school. Its members are composed of home room presidents who meet weekly to discuss plans of general interest to the students.

Some of its members collected tax stamps and pennies at the gym door. The money received was used to buy new needles and records for the nickelodean. Some other contributions of the Student Council to the general improvement of the school were new type for the print room, wooden candelabra for the glee club and four five dollar prizes for the War Bond Essay Contest. The club also added to the social calendar of the year by sponsoring several sport dances at various times.

After being dormant for a year, Senior Honor Council has once again taken over the duties of sponsoring the Girls' League and acting as big sisters to the freshmen girls. Twenty-eight seniors and one junior—the link girl—comprise this council. These girls are selected for their scholarship, service, leadership, and character. At the beginning of the year each member was given ten freshmen for her little sisters. Then two mixers were held in order that the council and their freshmen might become better acquainted. As a climax to these activities a third mixer was held for both boys and girls of the freshmen class. Anne Duvendeck was president until she left for college and Joan Lathouse was elected to succeed her. Other activities of the organization were a Christmas party at Mrs. Cookes home, a mother-daughter tea, for which the council were hostess, and a picnic at two-mile hill. The last week of school was chosen as the date for the induction ceremony for new members. Officers for the coming year were installed and each new girl was given a red rose. The sponsor of the club is Mrs. Cookes.

Delving into the regions of Cicero and Virgil, members of Plus Ultra, advanced Latin students, came up with several accomplishments. The highlight of the year was Latin week, celebrated from March 13th to 17th all over the nation. Posters were put up to make the student conscious of the amazing number of English words derived from Latin.

At Thanksgiving time the club gave a basket of food to the Salvation Army for some needy family.

An old language was brought up to date when at Christmas time modern greeting cards, written in Latin, were made by the club members, and exchanged among themselves. A prize was offered for the most original.

Officers for the year were David Ladd, president, first semester; Richard F. Moore, president second semester; Alice Dickson, secretary; and Patricia Dunn treasurer.

One of the largest organizations in Portsmouth High school is Inter Nos. The purpose of this club is to stimulate interest in the Latin language. Any student of first year Latin may become a member. The officers chosen this year were: Bill Hoover, president; John Cunningham, vice-president; Helen Hazelbeck, secretary; Joyce Scurlock, treasurer. The meetings consisted of songs sung in Latin, readings, talks, and contests of many kinds. Various committees planned the programs. In celebration of Latin week in Ohio, Inter Nos held a joint meeting with Plus Ultra and Mr. Denton Neal spoke. Miss Anna Blazer, Latin teacher, is sponsor of this group.

At the beginning of the year the Spanish club chose as its officers June Starrett, president; June Ramey, vice-president; Pauline Allison, secretary; and Jack Hammerstein, treasurer. The object of the club has been to make the study of Spanish more interesting. Programs of the year included various talks by members relating to Spain or Latin America. Several musical programs presented by the students included a visit from the Hungry Five, a violin solo by Sarah McQuain accompanied by Barbara Brandel and several Spanish selections played on the accordion by Gene Dunn. Robert Frazier headed another musical program with a piano solo, after which Betty Clark led the club in group singing.

The sponsor and adviser of all the meetings was Mr. John Cicanese.

During the first semester the club lost the services of its capable president, June Starrett. Her duties were assumed by vice-president, June Ramey, whose former position was filled by Betty Jo Selover.

Every student that enters Portsmouth High School sets some sort of goal to be attained. The aim of these students has been scholarship. Since excellence in scholarship is such an important phase of school life it is only fitting that these students receive special recognition. Let us hope that the success they have achieved will continue in a larger degree in their later life.

The members of the honor roll are chosen on a point basis. Each is required to have at least a 1.5 average or an average of A for their four years of high school study.

Betty Lamp

The Betty Lamp Club is composed of twenty-five girls who are interested in home economics. Each girl must earn 100 points before she may become a member. The club served at faculty teas, the Trojan banquet, and the fourth war loan banquet. As a money raising stunt, they sold confections at basketball games.

Five delegates went to Columbus to attend the meeting of the Ohio Association of Home Economics Clubs which were held on the campus of Ohio State University. For the social part of their activities the club had a Christmas party in the Home Economics living room and in the Spring a picnic on two-mile hill. An induction service and party was held for the fifteen new initiates with the officers presiding at the service in their customary pastel colored robes.

Officers of the past year were: Becky White, president; Janet Edgington, vice - president; Joanne Woodrum, secretary; Clotine Rose, treasurer. Miss Joanne Kugelman and Miss Octavia Shinkle were co-sponsors.

Always adding to the spirit of the school sports is the P. H. S. band, formerly directed by Mr. Joe Blankenship, now in the Army Air Corps. The vacancy created by his enlistment has been filled by Mrs. Tulsa Bassler Fish. Both leaders have constantly worked to bring musical enjoyment to the school activities. The main events for the band members were playing at the school games and the annual concert. As a reward for their efforts they were given a banquet and party.

Choir

CHOIR AND GLEE CLUBS GIVE STUDENTS RICH MUSICAL EXPERIENCES

Under the capable and talented leadership of Miss Elizabeth Moore, the vocal music department reached new heights of achievement. The high school was especially proud of the new choir vestments, which enriched the beauty of musical performances. The most outstanding program of the entire year was the Christmas Assembly.

Junior Glee Club

Senior Glee Club

Serving on various programs for schools, churches, and clubs of the city, the Glee Clubs have taken an active part in community activities. They have also been responsible for many of our fine assembly programs. Aside from preparation for their many activities, the clubs also learn the technicalities of proper singing and gain an appreciation of good music by the study of great composers.

Sweet Voices - Colored Girls' Glee Club

The Colored Girls' Glee Club had an active and diverse year. The group presented special programs for Washington School Parent-Teacher Association, a Girl's League assembly, Pleasant Green Baptist Church, and the 14th Street Community Center Music Festival. The girls sang both classical music and spirituals. They also included in their activities the collection of tax stamps to provide funds for new music and choir robes. Miss Elizabeth Moore directed the club. Anita Douglas was her assistant and Barbara Brandel, accompanist.

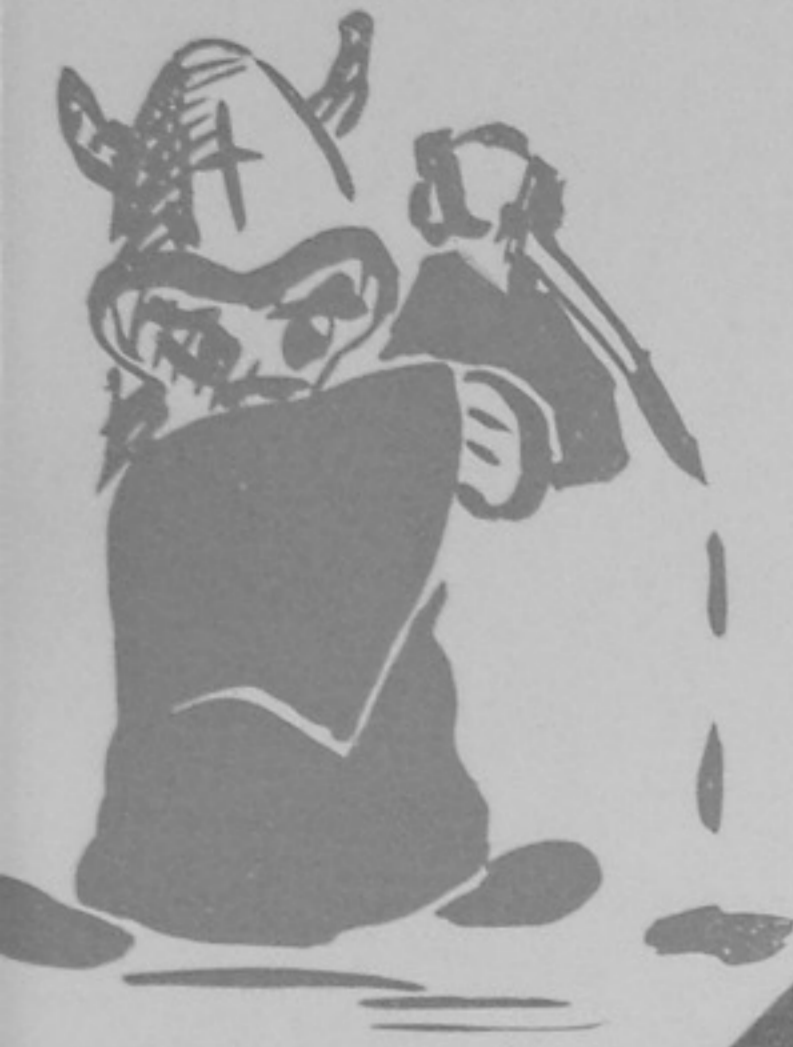

Civic Music Committee

The Civic Music committee turned in the highest sales record this year ever attained in P. H. S. Purpose of the committee is to promote Civic Music among high school students. Those serving on the committee were, left to right seated, Roger Turrel, Roger Vogel, Bruce Buckley, co-captain. Junior Class Play

"Suspense", the junior play for this year, was aptly titled, for it furnished an evening of just that to a large and appreciative audience. The plot involved a radio mystery carried into real life. The far reaching consequences were both hilarious and exciting.

Suspense

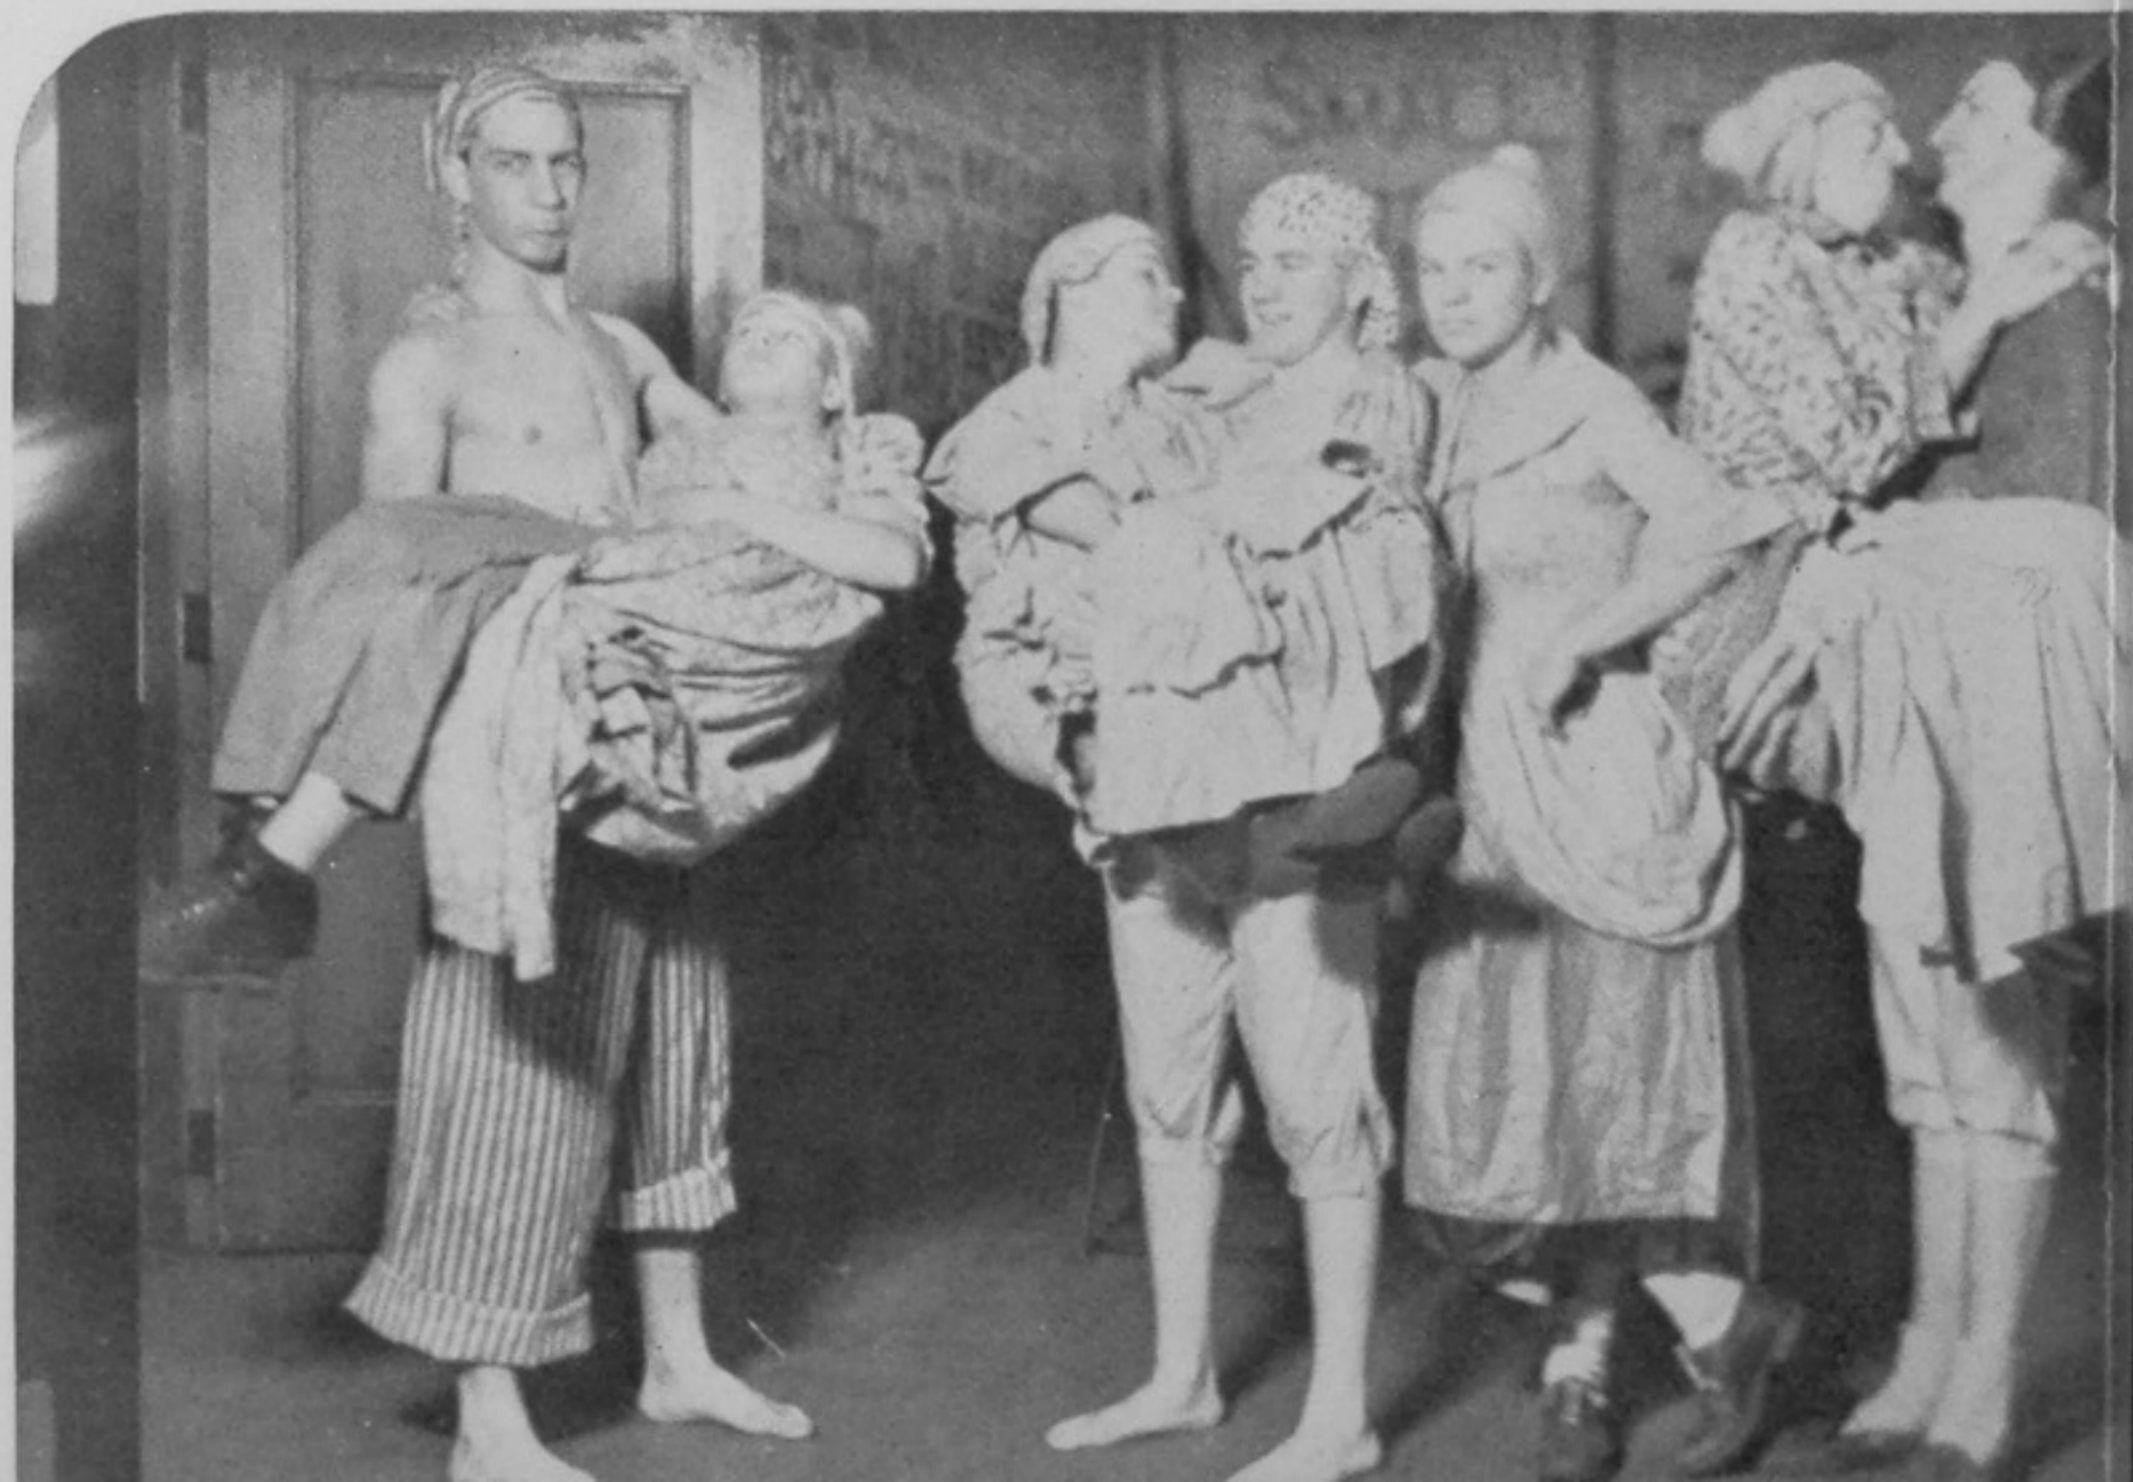

Quilting Party

Burlesque with all its broad and boisterous humor shook the halls of Portsmouth High school as Bert Leach led his slightly mad, but highly entertaining all-boy cast through "Aunt Dinah's Quilting Party", a play written, cast, produced, directed, costumed, etc., all by Bert Leach.

Pirates, old maids, jitterbugs engaged in one maelstrom of clever dialogue and unpredictable turns in plot that enlivened the play. Feminine costumes on very masculine figures enhanced the broad humor.

Proceeds from the play helped finance the Junior-Senior Prom.

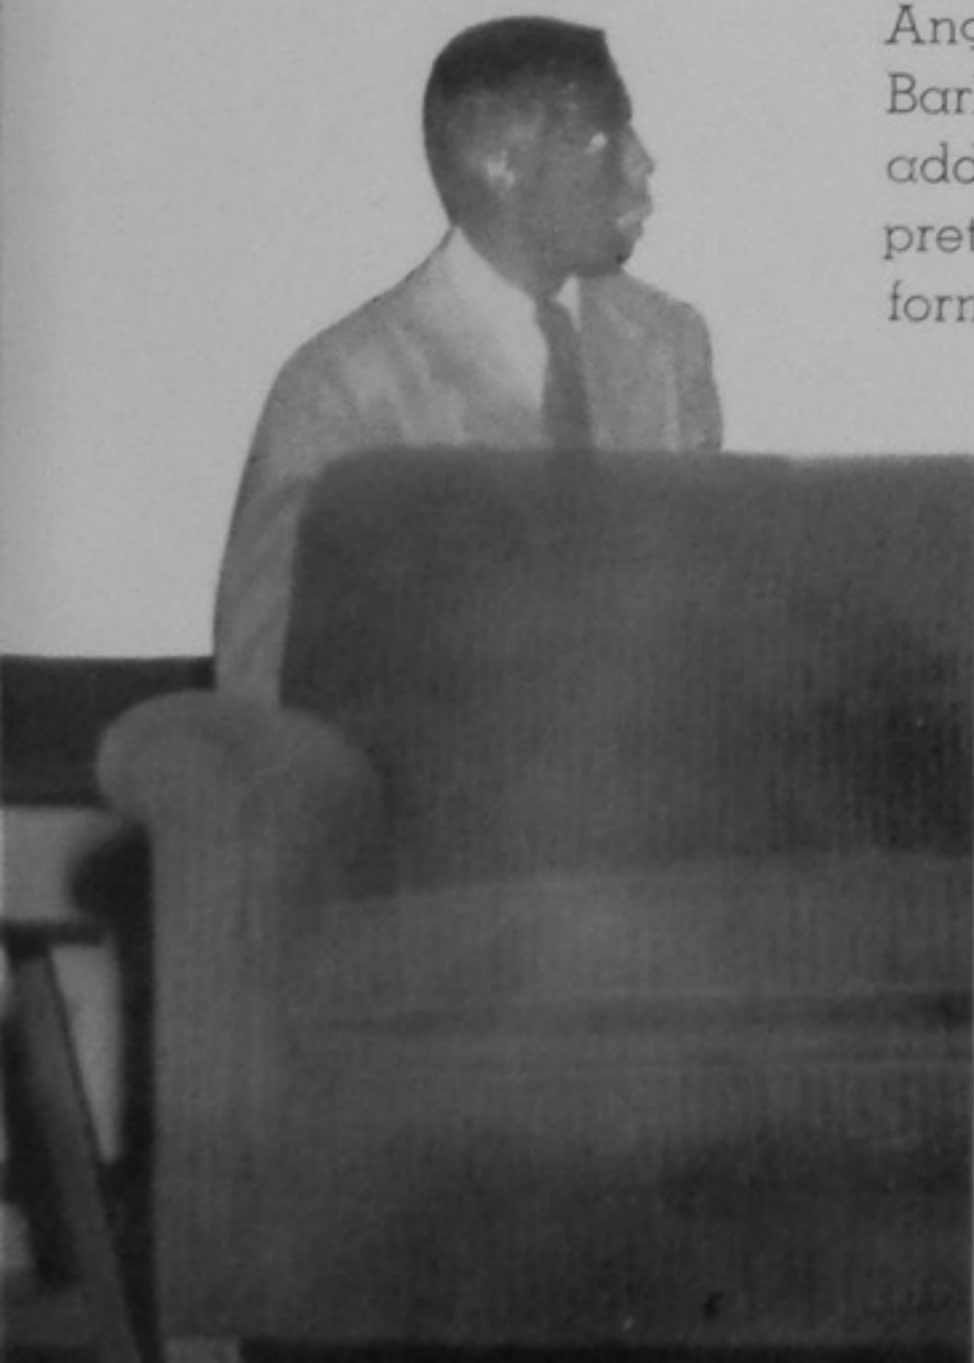

Midnight

The senior class play for this year was "Midnight" A comedy-mystery, it combined the better points of each and provided a very enjoyable evening's entertainment. In this tale of wild New Year's Eve in a venerable old mansion events move fast and furiously to a gripping climax.

A well-chosen cast under the expert direction of Bert Leach turned in a polished performance. Ronnie Rector, portraying a colored valet, played his role to the fullest and almost "stole" the show. Angeline Harris and Barbara Webb also added clever interpretations to the performance.

Pre - Flight

Future Pilots For Uncle Sam

Mr. Adams, instructor of Pre-Flight training for boys and girls interested in aviation, demonstrates a flight theory in the above picture. Many of these students spend much of their spare time around the Raven Rock Airport. The coming air age demands preparation of youth today. Farsightedness now will build tomorrow's freedom of the skyways.

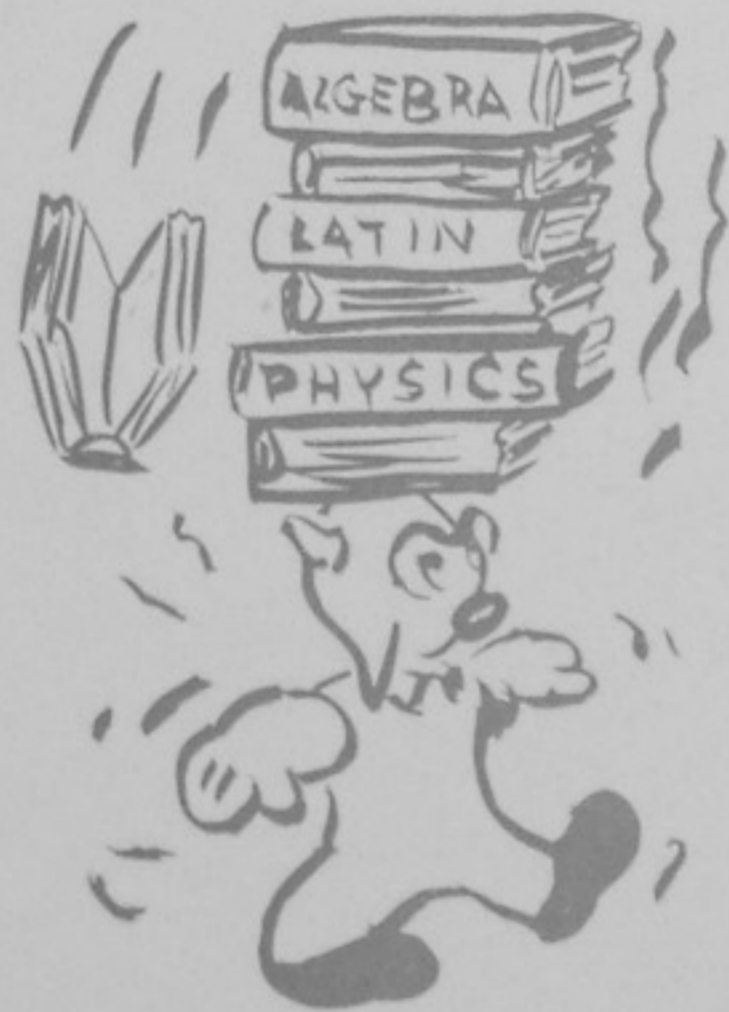

The army lieutenant in the picture is presenting some information of interest to boys eager to win their wings in the Army Air Corps.

Biology

Laboratory Exercise In Biology

Biology is the science of life. It deals with organisms including the origin, development, structure, functions, and distribution of plants and animals. Students of biology gain a better understanding of the vital factors of life, the wonderful and miraculous part played by each organism, and a greater appreciation of nature.

Domestic Science

MAKE IT YOURSELF — AND SAVE FOR VICTORY!

Thanks to "clothes-construction" classes, high school girls are developing a professional hand with their sewing. These students are learning what clothes and good grooming mean in terms of personality. Miss Kugelman, instructor, is supervising the length of a hemline in the above picture.

Domestic Science

WORTH WAITING FOR — A GIRL THAT CAN COOK!

Girls are taught in the domestic science laboratory how to prepare successful meals. This is a real challenge to the wartime homemaker. Today meals must measure up on four scores: Are they budget-right; are they ration-wise; are they healthful; and last, are they attractive?

Homemaking skills developed now will serve as an excellent basis for housekeeping responsibilities in marriage.

Chemistry

Chemistry, An Exacting Science

Happy is the man who can learn the causes of things; and it is true that one of the greatest gifts of the Creator to mankind is the divine curiosity which seeks to know always how and why things happen in the universe around us.

Chemistry is the science which, while never satisfied because it can never come to the end of knowledge, unceasingly searches for the secrets of the composition of chemical substance. Many great chemists have toiled at their work with little or no reward except the joy of discovery. Students today are preparing to carry the torch of progress handed to them by those pioneers in the field of chemical research. As a result of the training and inspiration received in the laboratory many individuals have attained outstanding success in the field of chemistry in later life.

Physics

Science Of Matter And Motion

Do magnets ever lose their magnetic power? Is smell a wave in the air? What becomes of the smoke we see? What makes an echo? Why does the kettle sing? Why is it that the sea does not freeze? Why does a fog deaden sounds on the sea? These and many other questions are asked and answered by the students at work in the laboratory.

Physics is a science which studies matter and energy and deals especially with the mechanics of heat, sound, light, and electricity. The building of a better world for better living tomorrow will depend to a great extent upon the developments made in the realm of science by the students receiving training in our class rooms and laboratories today. Many of these students will be inspired to continue their study of science and may in the future discover or produce inventions of practical use in our modern civilization.

News Room

P. H. S. Newsclass completed its second year as a special journalism group of the high school in co-operation with the Portsmouth Times. Norma Henson, Gene Dunn, Raymond Buckley, Paul Mitchell, and Joan Sutherland, last year's apprentices; Albert Linck, Alice Dickson, David Ladd, Pauline Allison, and Vera Scamyhorn, original members of 317; and Patty Dunn, Richard Moore, and Jackie Staker, new members for this school year made up the class.

Writing all the news of the school and covering personalities that have come to Portsmouth in 1943-44 have been the duties of the newsclass.

Making the 12:00 deadline every Tuesday and Friday with correct copy and seeing that everything is "up to par" has taken much school time of Raymond Buckley, editor, and the other members.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Schwartz, "chief editor" of journalism and member of the English department, because of illness was replaced by a substitute before Christmas. Mrs. Charles Baker filled the vacancy and has remained for the last semester, giving her services to news writing as well as to teaching.

Six sophomore apprentices chosen this year will be regular members in September. It has been their duty to study the ways of news writing and to be the "go getters" for stories. Kitty McMillan, Ilene Hawthorne, Colleen Rice, Don Delaney, Frances Quinn, and Bob Lair are next year's reporters.

Fighting ahead with the traditionally doughty Trojan spirit, although encountering crippling handicaps such as numerous injuries, a coaching staff new to P. H. S., and the inroads of the omnipresent draft boards, Portsmouth High football team came through with a respectable season of six victories, four losses, and one tie. Added to Coach Houston Elder's woes was the fact that the Trojans tangled with teams not before scheduled by P. H. S.

Tow-headed Gib Lakeman sparked the attack against Ceredo-Kenova in the opener, receiving no little assistance from Red Glasgow. In a ridiculously one-sided game, the high-powered Trojan machine steamrolled the hapless Kenova team by the astronomical score of 66-0.

Heartened by their initial success, the Trojans ventured into the lair of the Charleston High Mountain Lions. Although the Troymen gave Charleston some of their tensest moments of the season, our boys were defeated in a heads-up game in which Dave Thomas, Red Glasgow, and Gib Lakeman (yes, here they are again) showed up well, 31-21.

As a forerunner of things to come, our rejuvenated team, determined to subdue the rampant Springfield Wildcats, followed through and eked out one of the season's sweetest victories in a game far from amicable. (Even rivalled the Ironton games!) How the River City rejoiced when Don Monk converted successfully to give a 7-6 margin.

Ironton defeated Portsmouth 26-8. Enough said.

Having sustained numerous injuries in our Ironton game, the Trojans strove valiantly to gain a victory over Huntington East, but the injuries proved too much. The game ended in a scoreless tie with the Trojans threatening from the three yard line.

Charleston Stonewall Jackson Generals, unleashing an overwhelming aerial attack, handily defeated our Trojans 27-7. Matthew Johnson and Calvin Flamer, making their debuts, showed considerable promise.

Displaying a thrilling new brand of teamwork, our Troymen looked their best as they avenged their previous year's defeat at the hands of Mansfield Tigers to the tune of 13-0. Victoria dulcis!

The second team saw plenty of duty as tobacco-chewing Wayne, West Virginia Pioneers sank in defeat 39-0.

Jubilant and blood-thirsty, Portsmouth fans celebrated the Ironton Tigers' arrival in Portsmouth by turning out in the season's largest crowd, and they were not disappointed. P. H. S. got the victory 26-14. Jim Fout took the spotlight with brilliant linebacking and effective blocking.

J. C. Kennard, quasi-superman from Ashland, crushed us 22-7. Ten other men on the Ashland team also played. This game was a fitting climax, being the most colorful of the season and evincing from both sides an admirable spirit of enthusiasm of good sportsmanship.

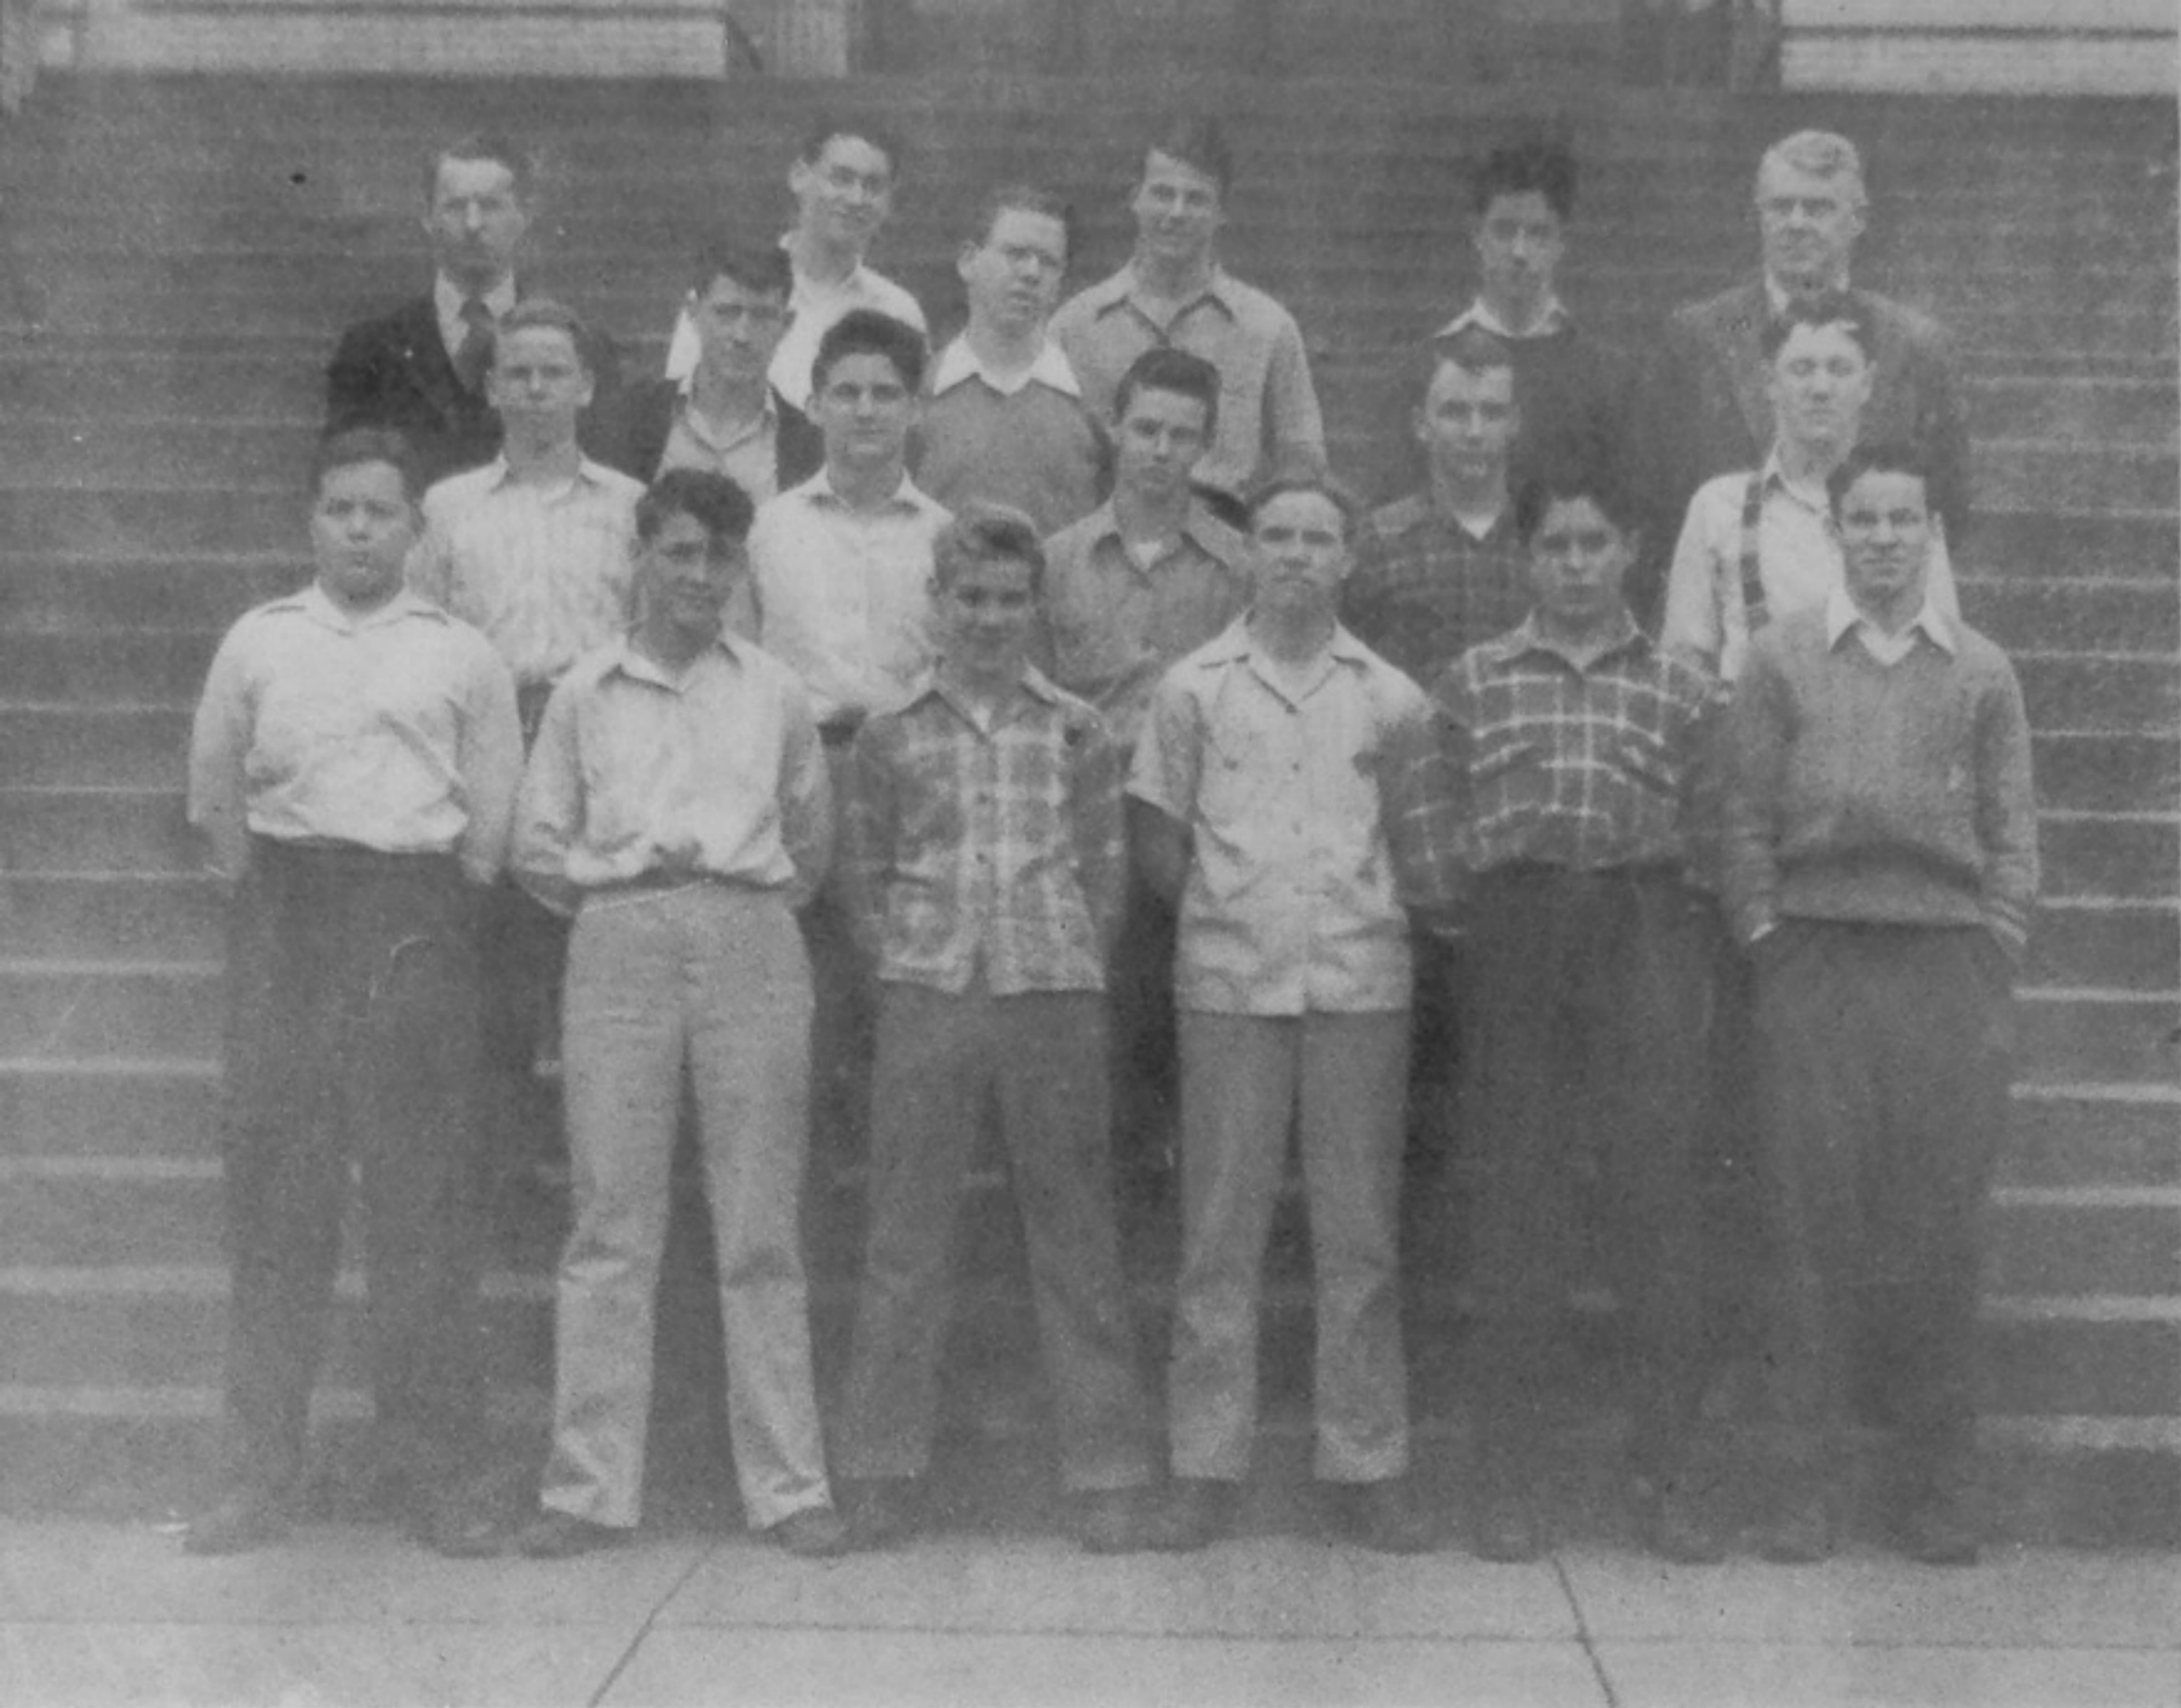

Gridiron veterans of Portsmouth High School, Trojan Booster Club members, school officials, coaches, and guests thronged the annual post-season football banquet. The Trojans got "inside stuff" from a professional master of the trade, Clark Shaughnessy of the famed Pittsburgh Panthers.

Attorney Bill Strickling, toastmaster, maintained a high spirit of camaraderie, Coach Shaughnessy gave his comment on professional ball, and Barbour Counts, President of the Boosters Club, reviewed the season.

They also serve who merely do the dirty work. Well, even if the phrase sounds odd, it nevertheless is true. Charles Campbell, Lawrence Daniels (both kneeling) Herman Rigley, and Thurman Harrison (standing) kept Trojan equipment in tip-top condition. These managers have often been called "unsung heroes". Considering the hard work they have done, we think the title applies to these boys, too.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

Slugging through a season against Jackson, Sciotoville, and Central Catholic elevens, the Portsmouth High School freshman gridiron team fared well. Under the mentorship of line coach Chuck Lorentz and backfield coach Fred Multer, they mastered the intricate workings of effective plays, worked on passing, blocking, punting—in fact, everything from razzle-dazzle to the bone-crusher style of line bucking.

The frosh wound up their season by deflating the All Stars, a team composed of the cream of the grade school teams. Besides this, they provided reserve strength for the Reserve team in their game against Central Catholic. Although all the boys showed definite improvement, Green, Rapp, Molster, and Kline were particularly promising.

Basketball Heroes

Following an honored tradition of losing the first basketball game each year to Columbus South, the Trojan quintet dropped the opener 31-20. The Trojans obviously were suffering from having square pegs in round holes; and Coach Elder, coaching basketball for the first time, strove desperately to correct this faulty placement.

Somewhat more accurate in their second game, P. H. S. upset the highly touted Greenfield McClain Tigers 33-32. Imagine J. R. Jones' surprise when from mid-floor he heaved a ball, and it passed through to win the game in the last twenty seconds of play! In the return game the Trojans, then sizzling in their end-of-the-season heat, fared somewhat better, winning 41-28.

The Trojans swung out on a road trip including Hamilton, Middletown, and Huntington East. At Hamilton Coach Elder's boys, although off to a rousing start, soon relented in their attack, and the game received the following appraisal from the coach: "Lousy!" Hopping over to Middletown, the boys were again humbled by the Middies 32-25. Not satisfied, the Middies, later to become Ohio State champions, invaded Portsmouth to crush the Troymen again 44-38. However, Trojan playing in the latter game was much improved. Completing a dismal weekend, the Trojans dropped the final game in this road trip in a heartbreaker 29-27.

Surprises were no novelty in the season. Undoubtedly the most pleasant surprise of the season was a 34-21 victory over the desperately clawing Ironton Tigers. This win was not an accident. Portsmouth trounced her traditional rivals later in the season by an even more comfortable margin.

In a story-book ending Portsmouth edged Ashland's Tomcats 35-32. At this game Don Monk served Uncle Sam by selling $10,000 worth of war bonds. Each player was sponsored by a fan who pledged to buy $500 in bonds for each point his man made. Monk's eighteen points plus another purchase of a $1,000 credited to him boosted the man with whiskers considerably. Ashland, gunning for Monk, in the return game, downed our Trojans 45-35.

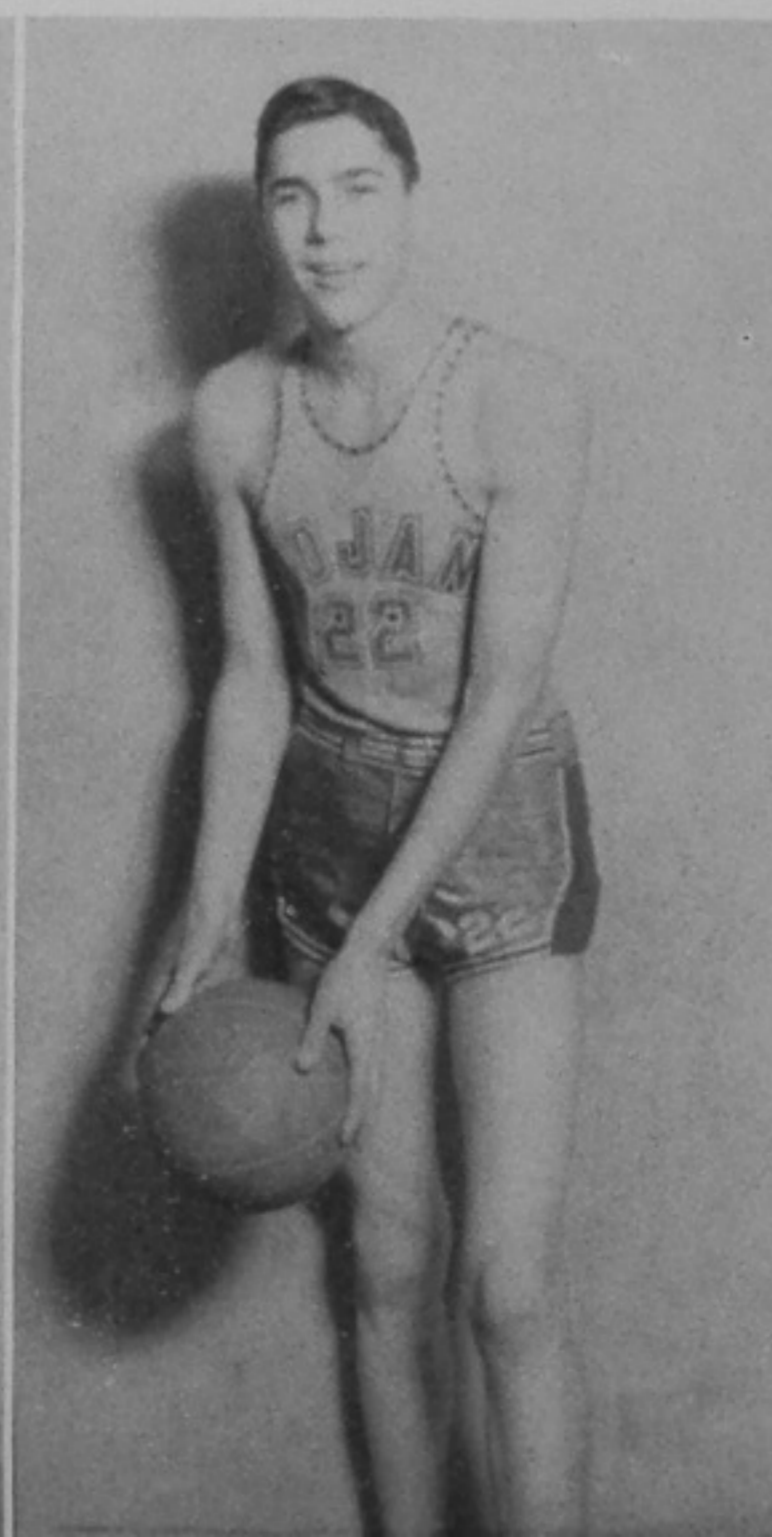

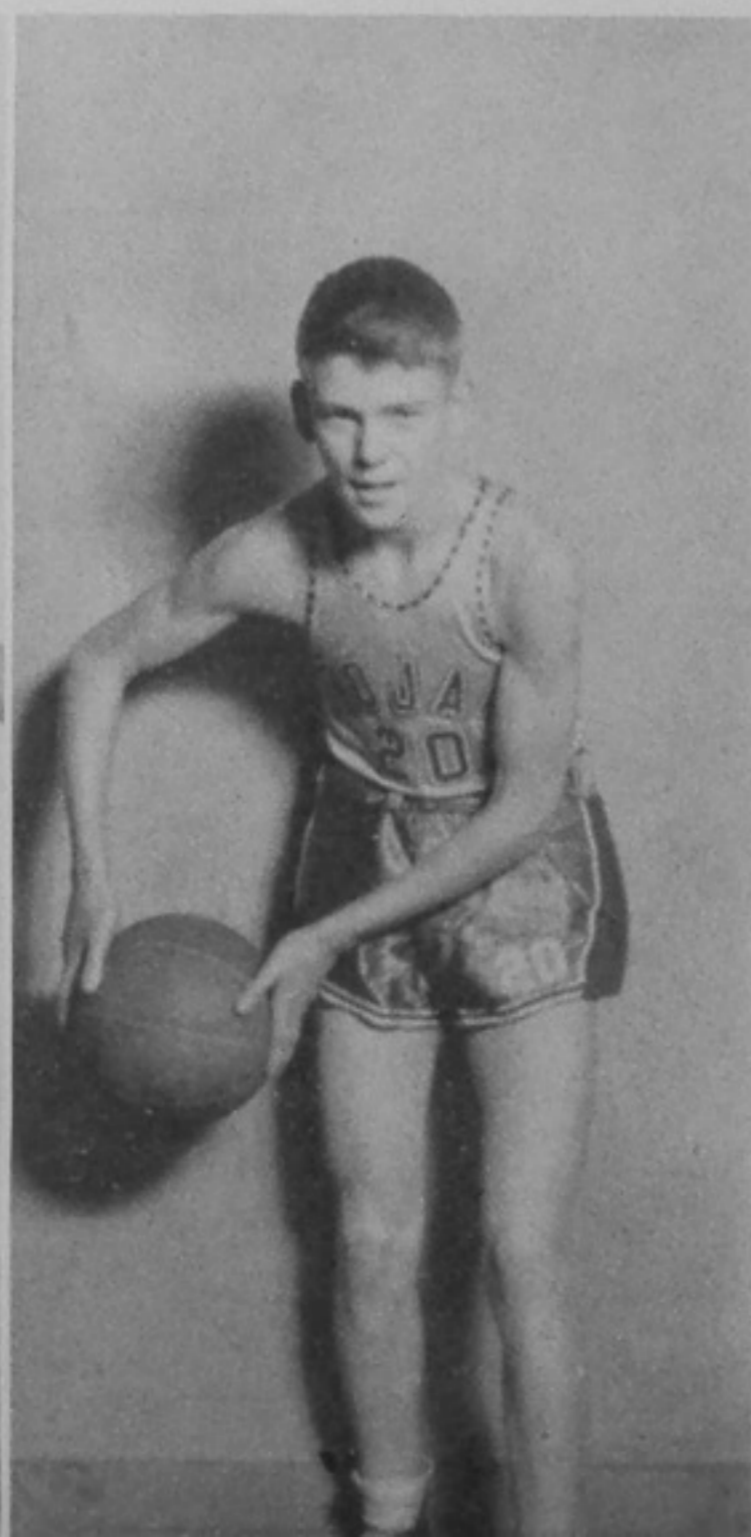

Springfield, smarting under the football defeat of the Fall at the hands of the Trojans, walloped them 41-31. A repeat performance saw Springfield defeat us again 43-39.

The Chillicothe Red Devils, offered but little opposition, devoid of a single letter man. The scores for these easy Portsmouth victories were 36-22 (here) and 34-20 (there).

Huntington Central Pony Express, rolling smoothly along, lost a spoke rather ignominiously by dropping a 31-28 game. Bill Newman amazed everybody with uncanny shots from beyond the center line.

Dayton Roosevelt Teddies, somewhat overconfident, were defeated handily by our boys. Score: 49-35. Monk again was high score man with 15 points.

Portsmouth High, still under the impetus of the season's latter successes, breezed through the district tournament split between Athens and Portsmouth by defeating New Boston and Jackson. Trouping to Athens, the Trojans met a blank wall (meaning Lancaster). Rebounding from their defeat, Portsmouth beat Sciotoville in the consolation game.

Reserve Basketball

Reserve games which precede the Trojan varsity games are sometimes slighted, sometimes regarded as mere fillers before the more important main event. But the astute sports enthusiast scrutinizes these games carefully, for they are an accurate forecast of what kind of team is in store for the next year.

Such Trojan followers were not disappointed this year: The Trojan Reserves played such teams as the Jackson Reserves, P H. S. Freshmen, McKell Varsity, South Portsmouth Varsity, and Rarden Varsity with a more than respectable record.

Harry Chastain, Gene Meyers, Frank Dinsmore, and Jack Hughes were among the stars who sparked this group of Troymen. Holding ever before them the glamorous vision of a berth on the varsity, these boys improved their game considerably, especially in defensive play. Zone defense proved the more often used strategy, but man-to-man was far from unknown.

By the end of the season the goal of a fast-breaking team had been achieved. Coach Chuck Lorentz was ready to see some of his proteges assume their hard-earned varsity positions.

Freshman Basketball

A harbinger of mighty Trojan teams to come, the Freshman basketball squad, coached by Fred Multer, served the first year of their athletic apprenticeship at Portsmouth High by turning in a highly satisfactory season. They sent down to defeat such teams as South Portsmouth Reserves, an overconfident Central Catholic Reserve team, and a scrappy Sciotoville Reserve team. The frosh themselves bowed to our own Reserves, Clay Township Reserves, and the Green Township Reserves.

Working hard, smoothing out flaws, strengthening weak points, and developing even further favorable strongpoints, these first-year men by the end of the season shower marked improvement. Their efforts were not fruitless: soon close coordination, lightning-like passing, and an iron-clad defense evinced their fighting spirit. Defensive play—they were drilled thoroughly on both zone and man-to-man defense—showed particular promise.

Fred Kees, Jack Lang, and Dick Ennis displayed unusually keen sharpshooting ability by dumping numerous long range shots that at times dumbfounded their opponents.

Two years experience should see these boys occupying key positions on the Trojan varsity.

Home Room League

The competition between the homerooms in volleyball, ping-pong, paddle tennis, and basketball took an exciting trend this year. An all-boys team from 105 not only captured the volleyball championship from 317, but also won the basketball tournament from 205. Charlotte Bachtrup and Titus Eba from 112 and 102 were the ping-pong winners, while Betty Ann Kah and Richard Glasgow, both from 101, were the paddle tennis champions.

Home Room League

As always, there was a large participation in the ping pong and badminton tournaments this year. During lunch periods or after school, tournaments were played and the gymnasium resounded with the swish of the birdie and the tattoo of the ping-pong ball. Miss Friel and her assistants supervised the games and kept scores. At the conclusion of the tournaments in badminton, Charlotte Knost and Betty Ball won the girls' doubles, while "Frankie" Quinn and Raymond Buckley captured the laurels for the mixed badminton doubles. In the realm of ping-pong Dottie Claypool and Don Delaney teamed together to win the mixed ping-pong title.

SOPHOMORE WINNERS

It Can Be Done! Sophomores Upset Upper-classmen

Breaking all records and traditions of our alma mater, the "Sophomore Devils" seized the victory and laurels of girls' class basketball from the older and more experienced Junior-Senior team with a clean slate of no defeats. "Frankie" Quinn's Devils was the one team that Joyce Everman's Junior-Senior girls did not defeat in a season of hard fighting and good sportsmanship playing to rank second place. Winning two of their games were the P-38's, another sophomore team, piloted by Mary Alice Schisler, which gave them an air victory of third place. The-never-say-die Freshmen teams, the Does and Cubs, lost to their older sisters in each bout, but the Does upset their Cub playmates in a frisky contest. Gwen Everman captained the winners; Cynthia Edwards, the defeated. Next year looks full of promise for excitement with three such sporting and game teams.

BASKETBALL CAPTAINS

Girls' Varsity Basketball

Miss Caroline Friel chose the select girls of her three basketball groups to form two Varsity teams, with Betty Ball captain of the "Blues" and "Frankie" Quinn chief of the "Willing Whites". Back-to-School night visitors saw the first game taken from the hard fighting "Whites" by a score of 22 to 7. Having had their moment, the "Blues" went down in the next two games with scores of 17 to 15 and 16 to 14 in a comeback of the "Whites", which copped the basketball crown for Chief Quinn's players.

BLUE TEAM

Continuing their record of good sports as well as eager players the Sophomore Class was represented by three teams. Dottie Claypool's Sophomore III team came in third place with victory over all except the upperclassmen.

First Row—B. Newman, D. Claypool, E. Thompson, K. McMillan.

Second Row—J. Moritz, W. Redding, M. Stewart, Z. Edawrds, V. Riggs.

Fourth notch in the volleyball honors went to the Sophomore II team with the highly spirited Franklin Quinn expressing her team's vim and vigor as captain.

From left to right—L. Haws, I. Hawthorne, J. White, F. Quinn, J. Hensge, J. Kegley, R. Manley.

Captain Phyllis Bradford set the pace for the Sophomore I, which slipped into fifth place. These hard-fighting girls were frowned upon by "Lady Luck", but never gave up their spirit or playing.

First Row—B. Yeager, P. Bradford, B. Downing, B. Doerr.

Second Row—B. Ross, J. Smith, J. Buckley, K. Shepherd.

The senior team was the victorious Troy maidens of girls' volleyball this year in spite of only five players at each game. Captain, Betty Ann Kah, led her team through all games and came out on top undefeated. Bravo, upperclassmaids!

First Row—A. Harris, B. A. Kah, M. L. Ruggles.

Second Row—J. A. Wilder, A. Starrett, J. Everman, C. Blair.

Showing signs of following in the footsteps of their conquerors this year are the hard-fighting junior girls with Ramona Newman, captain, backing her team at each game. The tradition, seniors victorious, shows signs of continuing next year in P. H. S.

First Row—J. Coburn, S. Lewis, R. Newman, J. Staker, G. Lewis.

Second Row—N. Johnson, J. Snook, B. Questel, M. Purdum, M. Revare, B. Ball.

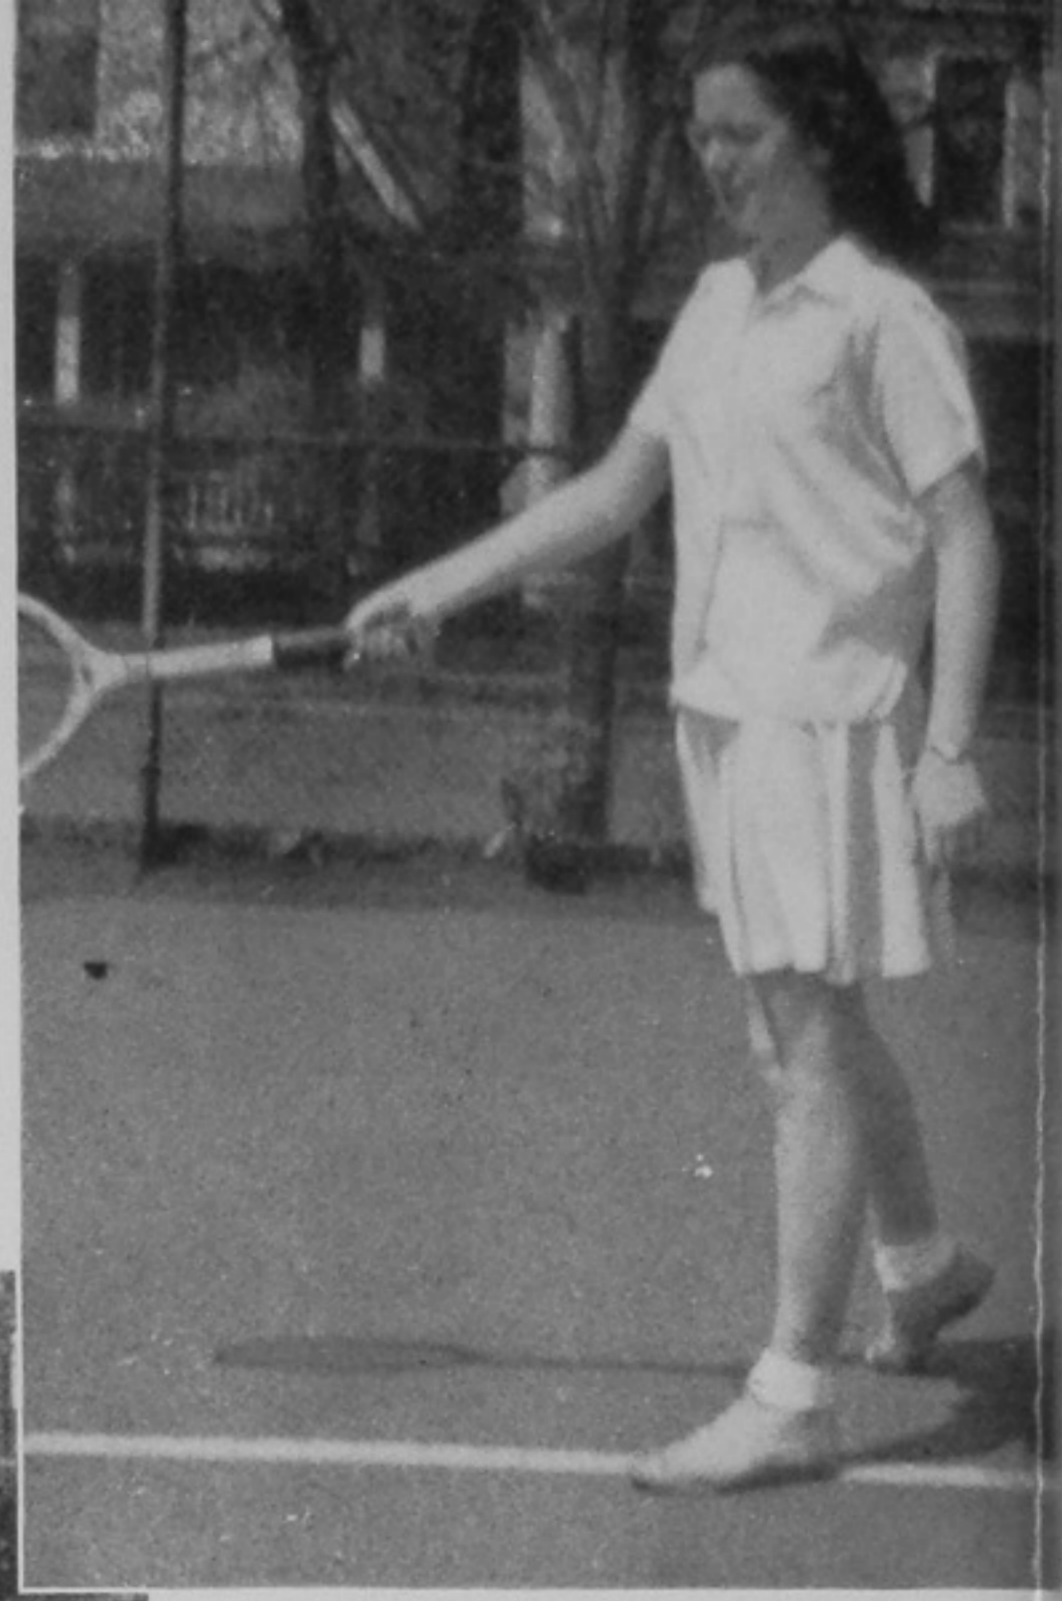

Alack and alas—"Freshies" tried hard, but true to the pattern came in fifth place in the volleyball race with their older sisters. Lacking only experience, Gwen Everman's team was sporting at all games. Wait 'till next year, gals!

First Row—M. L. Gimms, G. Everman, J. Scurlock.

Second Row—H. Hazlebeck, L. Adams, J. Van Bibber.

Lowering the requirements for entrance in to the Girls Athletic Club swelled the membership to more than double the ordinary size and made it possible for Freshmen to join the organization. Early last fall the halls of P. H. S. rang with shrieks of glee and fright; and the girls' gymnasium exuded the club spirit with a combined informal and formal initiation of the new members. Kitty Blair, president, announced the services and courtesies the initiates were expected to show the older members. After the hectic initiation week was over, the club started its year's program with the organizing of a G. A. C. board with members of each class as representatives. The board, composed of the officers—Betty Ann Kah, vice-president; Charlotte Knost, secretary; and Mary Ann Babcock, Treasurer;—the advisor, Miss Caroline Friel, and the class representatives, planned each meeting and the assembly program. Outstanding on the G. A. C. calendar, and one of the most pleasant evenings of G. A. C. history, was the banquet for the members. Late in the evening the combined Carnival-Dance was enjoyed by the members and their date. Stealing the spotlight was Miss Charlotte Bell, speaker, a dear and familiar friend for many years to each girl interested in athletics in P. H. S. Highlights of the banquet besides the speaker were presentation of awards by Miss Friel and acceptance of new officers. At the helm of the organization next year will be president, Mary Ann Babcock; vice-president, "Frankie" Queen; secretary, Joy Hensge; and treasurer, Dottie Claypool. Special recognition goes to the sponsor, Miss Friel, for her intense efforts and self-denial in making the G. A. C. year live up to tradition.

TRADES and

The Pre-Service aeronautics courses, which consist of engine repair and aero-repair, have graduated and furnished 35 young men to the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps. The majority of the graduates have joined the air forces and are employed in air depots or in private aircraft work. Pre-Service was begun in April 1943 and operated through the summer months and present school year. New Pre-Service students will be enrolled in August of 1944. This subject has been popular and most useful to those who have entered the services or industry.

The Auto-aeronautics course furnishes background to the present Pre-Service engine repair students. After the war needs are satisfied, the automotive course will be offered as a two-year subject, preparing its students to qualify as auto mechanics. Twelve students of this course have joined the armed forces during the year.

The Sheet Metal Department has lost nine of its students during this year to the armed forces. Graduates in this trade may help to maintain Uncle Sam's metal ships during the war and will be qualified to perform many sheet metal duties in air conditioning, heating, and ventilating work in the peace time world.

COMMERCIAL CO-OP

The Vocational Commercial program bridges the gap between school and work and provides an opportunity for the student to adjust himself to office routine as it exists in business. This program involves the employer, the student employee, and the school. A work contract between the business employer and the school is established by Miss Dorothy M. Lillick, co-ordinator of the program. It is her duty to see that they all work together.

Mr. Kenneth B. Ledman, National Bank of Portsmouth, finds time in his busy day to do his part in the training of better office workers.

Mr. Paul Wagner, manager of radio station WPAY, has been most co-operative with the school in bringing about the success of the vocational commercial program. Lillian Warden and Wanetta Flaig have been co-ops under Mr. Wagner's supervision.

Commercial Co-ops study applied typing, dictation and transcription, business English, office practice, and mathematics during their in-training period. Local businesses are co-operating with the school to help produce better trained office workers.

Mr. M. Wainstein, manager of Roberts Jewelry Co., has given Florine Curcio and Anna Webb excellent training in routines of office and sales work.

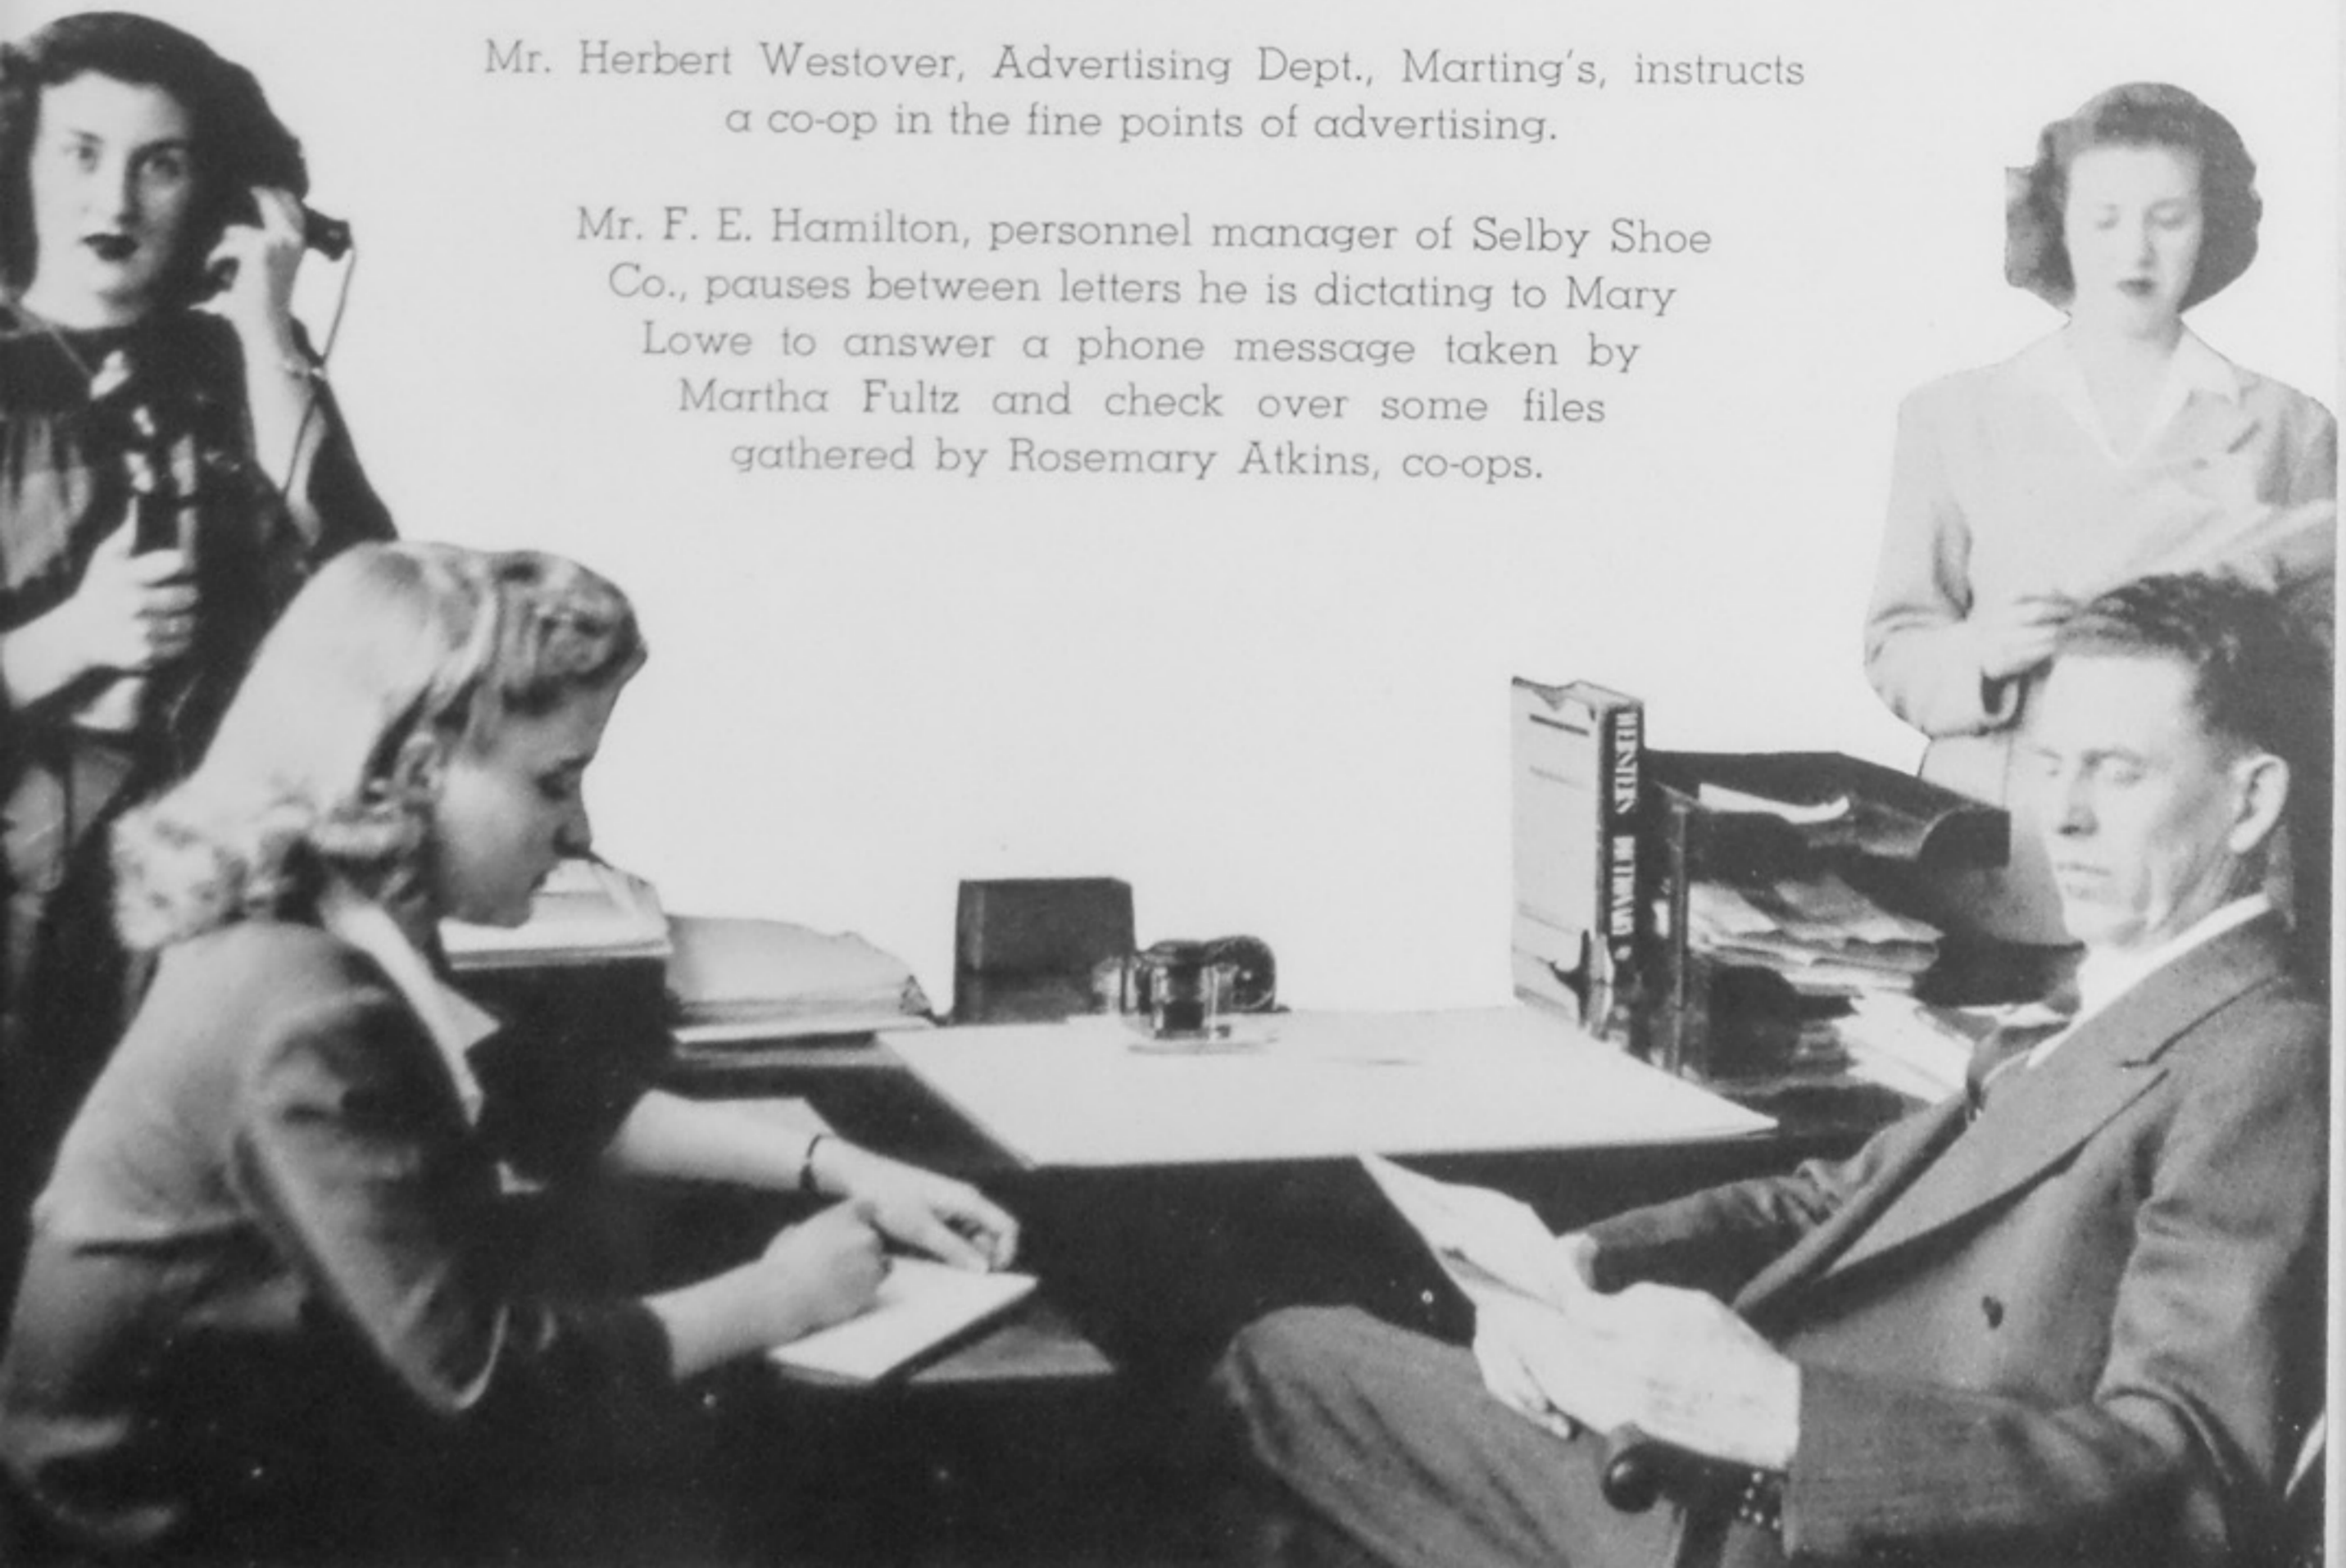

Co-op commercial students transcribing their shorthand notes and proving that they can "take it." They also learn in school how to keep records, to follow instructions, and to operate an adding machine, a calculator, and a dictophone.

Mr. Herbert Westover, Advertising Dept., Marting's, instructs a co-op in the fine points of advertising.

Mr. F. E. Hamilton, personnel manager of Selby Shoe Co., pauses between letters he is dictating to Mary Lowe to answer a phone message taken by Martha Fultz and check over some files gathered by Rosemary Atkins, co-ops.

Under the capable supervision of Miss Mary Krausz, who succeeded Mr. W. G. Dallas as coordinator, the Distributive Education students completed a most successful year of learning and earning.

Students try out their classroom knowledge through actual on-the-job experience. This course has been very popular, and reaches many students who are anxious for financial returns from the vocational training received during their high school days.
