1938 - Schools Begin Second Century

This year marks the passing of a century of free public schools in the city of Portsmouth. For one hundred years the children of this vicinity have been able to enjoy the advantages and to reap the profits of a liberal education. From the first one-room school, held in the old Seminary, the educational system has progressed until today we have one of the largest in southern Ohio. Nine elementary schools send 300 or more students to high school each year. From the small building with one teacher, our school has grown to the present large building with a faculty of 59 well-trained instructors. With this growth in population, the extra curricular activities have also grown in popularity and value.

These factors have contributed greatly to the development of our educational system and with its progress have aided the growth of our community.

Bird's eye view

Administrators of Educational Microcosm

The strongest link of a well-built academic chain is the administrative link.

The most high councilors — the Board of Education — form the backbone of our administration. With Mr. Clayton (seated at the right) as their able leader, the members are F. Appel, Superintendent, Dr. Morehead, D. Gardner, W. Ridenour, C. Hard, probable candidate as successor of Mr. Clayton, and F. Williams.

C. Sherman Dale, Marion Galton, and W. D. Gilliland; leaders all three—the principal, the dean of girls, and the dean of boys. These, along with the Board of Education, are the administrators.

Mr. C. S. Dale, Principal, graduated from the East Kentucky State Normal School at Richmond and the University of Illinois, where he acquired his B. S. and M. A. degrees. Through his consistent efforts and unlimited enthusiasm, he has helped considerably to make P. H. S. one of the foremost schools in the state.

Dean Marion Galton graduated from Columbia University and the University of Michigan. Because of her strict discipline, her innate good humor and thoughtful advice, she is well-liked by the girls one and all.

Serving as dean of boys is Mr. W. D. Gilliland, who was at one time principal of our High School. He has brought to us an abundance of knowledge gained from Ohio Wesleyan University, where he received his B. S. degree, and from his many travels at home and abroad.

Classes, of course

Students entering Portsmouth High School ponder long over which of the five courses of study they shall select to furnish their education for the next four years. The courses, Home Economics, College Preparatory, Elective, Commercial and Manual Training, offer instruction in almost every field of work.

Home-loving girls who wish to learn the art of budgeting incomes, good cooking, and dressmaking, choose the Home Economics course. In the Domestic Science department, the girls are taught the importance of serving meals attractively. They learn the value of selecting styles that suit them best individually.

Entering more advanced phase of education

Ambitious students, who are interested in laying a firm foundation for their years in college, prefer the College Preparatory course. Here they are instructed in mathematics, foreign languages, history, science, civics, and English.

In the commercial department students are prepared for the business world. They learn typing, stenography, bookkeeping, and other subjects that will aid them to be self-supporting.

The Manual Training course is for mechanically-minded boys interested in every type of machinery. The members of the mechanical drawing classes learn to make blueprints and to construct interesting projects.

The Freshman year in all five courses shows a great deal of conformity. All Freshman students, regardless of the course they take, study English and General Science. Algebra is required in three courses, and is optional in the Home Economics and Manual Training courses.

General Science lays the foundation for the other science courses. The members of the science classes collect butterflies, insects, and leaves which they observe carefully. They learn of the inventions that have aided man in his progress.

Students in the College Preparatory course endeavor to learn the principles of the Latin language. All of these subjects require a great deal of concentration; however, by acquiring these benefits and advantages while freshmen, the students learn the true value of an education and develop a desire for knowledge.

It is these qualities that form the framework for a liberal education, as the attentive and conscientious freshmen in the science and Latin classes illustrated will soon realize.

Freshman suffrage Youthful esteem

When September opened freshly-oiled school doors, the student body and faculty welcomed approximately three hundred freshmen from the eighth grades of nine elementary school in Portsmouth and the vicinity. These Freshmen consider it a privilege to be entering P. H. S. in this particular September, the month of the one-hundred years anniversary of the Portsmouth Public School systems. Early this month the freshmen assembled in the school auditorium to elect class officers. The following freshmen students were honored by being elected respectively to the offices of president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer: Betty Widdig, Morton Atlas, Isabelle TePas, and Jean Payne. They chose as their capable sponsors, Miss Lucy Riggs, Mr. Howard Long, and Mr. James McElhaney. Later in the year the newly-elected officers and sponsors plan to assemble to make arrangements for a freshmen skating party at Porter's Rink.

Encouraging a fine spirit of competition,

After earning 100 points for participation in various sports, girls may apply for membership in the Girls' Athletic Club. The initiation of the new members is well known throughout the school. This year the initiates were required to wear black cotton stockings, large green hair ribbons, and white blouses (which were not to be washed) for one week. The final initiation was held at the boy scout camp. At this time the initiates were compelled to swallow raw oysters and eggs, large doses of castor oil, and cold macaroni!!

Having partaken of these delicacies, a game of truth and consequences ensued. When the initiates have successfully passed all phases of the initiation, they become full-fledged members of the club.

A victrola has long been needed by Miss Bell in teaching her gym classes. This year the G. A. C. remedied the situation by purchasing a large one, which was placed in the girls gym. Members of the club operate the victrola during lunch periods, enabling the students to dance in the gym.

The club's outstanding meeting of the year is always the annual banquet and dance held in May. At this time a cup is presented to the girl who has been chosen as the best sport in the club. (See May section, p. 129).

Autumn ushers in King Football

Two weeks before school began, candidates for the 1938 Trojan football squad turned out en masse for ball practice. Among the many Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors who reported were fifteen letter men, three of whom, Jim Monk, Fred Justice, and Clyde Redding, have had two and hardest driving in the history of the school. The Trojans continued their fine play to defeat Cincinnati Elder 34 to 0. On September 30, the Trojans traveled to Springfield and kept their record intact by defeating the Wildcats 26 to 6.

years of varsity play. Coaches Jenkins, Ramey, and Ellsesser put the boys through strenuous exercises, drills on the fundamentals of football, and scrimmages, often under a boiling sun, to whip them into shape for their opening game. and coaches also held regular skull practices in order to fix each player's tasks more firmly in his mind. Co-captains Fred Justice and Clyde Redding led their teammates to a hard-earned victory over Akron by a score of 12 to 7; the starting team turned out to be one of the heaviest

The Reserves, under Coach Charles Lorentz, have had an equally successful month. The twenty-two players who composed the reserve team gave an excellent account of themselves in their two September games. They defeated the Raceland first squad 11 to 6, and the Blackfork varsity 26 to 6.

Coach Fred Multer and his freshman were not so fortunate, however. They played the Central Catholic Reserves and the Sciotoville Reserves, but both games ended in ties, 0 to 0.

Student cheer

Always the champions of the Trojan teams, in victory or in defeat, are the cheerleaders. This effervescent part of the student body is starting another year in which it will work industriously to stimulate all the teams to "fight, fight, fight!" and to imbue the "lookers-on" with the proper spirit. A great deal of credit for the color and success of the athletic season is due this group, coached by Mr. Don Stewart.

This year the varsity squad consists of Bill Marshall, Rosie Adams, Jo Rickey, Marj. Griffin, Billy Schuyler, Irving Drew, Joan Malavazos, and Ed Doan. The reserve staff is composed of nine members who are ever "ready, willing, and able." These nine are: Morton Atlas, Bob Tierney, Jean Switalski, Marian Micklethwait, Dick Serey, Jean Payne, Patty Breece, Jessie Gorby, and James Ottino.

Anticipation, festive spirit are prevalent

September closes with an uproar; in the high school, studying becomes an impossibility in anticipation of The Northwest Territory Celebration. The Retail Merchants Association is conducting a voting contest to choose two queens to officiate at numerous events during the sesquicentennial celebration. There is keen competition among several girls in the high school for the honor. The two queens are to receive as prizes, free trips to the New York World's Fair in 1939. The merchants in the business district are working diligently to have their window displays ready for unveiling October 3. Many store windows are already crowded with articles of clothing, documents, and dishes that were brought here by the first settlers. These relics have been collected from families all over Scioto County.

Many students are being called out of classes to be measured by Mr. Leach to see if they can fill the requirements necessary for a part in the historical pageant, "Our Heritage." Mr. Bert Leach, a prominent member of the faculty, spent many months in composing the pageant which is to be presented by all the city and parochial schools of Portsmouth, New Boston, Scioto County. Announcements are continually being made over the speaking system stating that preparation for the celebration are Mr. Jesse Wagus, Mr. Fred Multer, Miss Octavia Shinkle, Miss Dorothy Shultz, Miss Cleo Resler, Mr. Henri Schnabl, Miss Katharine Kauffman, Miss Marion Galton, Mr. Donald Stewart, Mr. Willard Ellsesser, Mr. James Corwin, and Miss Ruth Burton. Miss Charlotte Bell is working continuously with her gym classes preparing several unique programs to be presented at the pageant. Miss Elizabeth Moore wrote the "Song of Portsmouth", and Mr. Bert Leach wrote the lyrics.

The highlight of the entire celebration will undoubtedly be the arrival of the "Twentieth Century Pioneers". They are mostly young college students who are traveling the same trails as did the early pioneers in settling the Northwest territory. Their long trek started from Massachusetts, continuing through New York and Pennsylvania and down the Ohio River to Marietta. The caravan will go through Portsmouth on the return trip from Illinois. Many students are preparing to drive out of town to meet the caravan and escort the pioneers into the city. The members of the caravan will lead a huge parade through the streets of the town, and present their pageant of the settling of the Northwest Territory.

30 days has September

Monday, 12—School begins with a drizzling rain adding to our melancholy! Girls in brightly colored dirndls hold the spotlight. Brawny boys rush around carrying loads of text books! Wednesday, 14—Some very "cute" Freshmen are replacing last year's seniors. Rain! Rain! W. P. A. men are tearing up Waller Street with vim, vigor, and noise! Thursday, 15—Characters in Northwest Territory Pageant are being measured for costumes. Margie Cooper will be Martha Washington; Triem Sheehan, George Washington. Friday, 16—Cheerleaders unable to do their part at the game—stiff in the joints! We beat Akron 12 to 7. Monday, 19—Raining so hard that Betty Coe had to bring her umbrella into first period class! Morris Swavel's car has broken down four times today. Tuesday, 20—Senior class elections. Wednesday, 21—Junior class elections. Miss Kauffman has a slight shock in Trojan class. Demonstrating parts of a camera to avid students of photography, she ruins an unexposed film in a cut film holder! Thursday, 22—Free Echo—and the subscription price is down to fifty cents! Friday, 23—Phyllis Cole will reign as Miss Liberty. We bring Cincinnati Elder off their high horse with the devastating score of 34 to 0. Monday, 26—Help the G. A. C.! The poor gals are laboring under massive green hair ribbons and trudging around in long black stockings! Herr Hitler's aggressive voice reaches us today through our loud speaker. Tuesday, 27—Photoplay Club sees Marie Antoinette, free of charge! Troubles in chemistry class: Caroline Friel has a minor explosion, and Virginia Warman's hand catches fire—nothing serious! Wednesday, 28—Miss Shultz is teaching seniors the importance of voice quality. Passing by her room, one may hear a guttural Shylock or a falsetto-voiced witch from the pages of Macbeth. Thursday, 29—G. A. C. hayride! Truth game reveals some well-known secrets. Joan Babcock is sick after the initiation. Friday, 30—We nearly wipe out Springfield—26 to 6; Keep it up team! Let's have a perfect season!

Portsmouth is fortunate in that her history has been preserved in song and story, on canvas and in the chronologies of local events.

In commemoration of the first settlement in Ohio at

Marietta 150 years ago our city, as did others located in the territory previously governed by the Ordinance of 1787, planned a Northwest

Territory Celebration.

The first event of the celebration was the Colonial Ball, October 1, at Grant Gymnasium. The music was provided by Larry Funk's widely known Band of a Thousand Melodies. A floor show that depicted the progress of music and dance during the past one hundred and fifty years was presented by Portsmouth artists.

The following day an air show was given at the airport with stunt fliers and United States Navy aviators. The navy fliers greatly pleased the spectators with their aeronautical formations.

Following the airshow was the coronation of the queens and the presentation of the school pageant, "Our Heritage". This elaborate series was written by Bert Leach.

The unveiling of the window displays of antiques and relics occurred the first of the week. Some of the city's oldest heirlooms and treasures were dusted off and arranged in the displays.

Tuesday was the big holiday for the school children of Scioto County. All the pupils were brought to Portsmouth to participate in a large school parade, which was the best the schools have ever presented in the history of Scioto County. Many schools had their groups dressed to form the national flag and other patriotic characterizations.

Wednesday was a great day for aquatic contests. There were many races among various classes of motor launches, and the Sea Scout unit of Ironton eagerly accepted the invitation to enter a life boat race with our own Sea Scout units. A Portsmouth boat was the winner. There was also a realistic battle between "Newly-arrived settlers" and "Indians" on flatboats and in canoes, during which one big chief upset his craft and almost lost his headdress.

Thursday morning the federal caravan, consisting of thirty-five pioneers, two oxen, and a covered wagon arrived on the outskirts of Portsmouth. In the afternoon there was a great historical parade including sixty floats and nineteen bands coming from the surrounding territories.

In the evening the men of the federal caravan presented a pageant which portrayed the authentic history of the discussion of the Ohio Valley Territory for the Revolutionary soldiers in payment of their long overdue wages. There were short scenes of the Albany Convention and scenes taken from the life of George Rogers Clark. The "pioneers" of the federal caravan were college students who started from Ipswich, Connecticut and travelled to Marietta, Ohio. These young men were dressed in buckskin shirts and coonskin caps, and their hair and beards had grown during the trip. When they came to Portsmouth some of them had beards ten inches long. One fellow had a thatch of curly hair, like Shirley Temples' curls.

The actors from our student body that participated in the production, "Our Heritage", rehearsed often, sometimes in such chilly weather that time out was needed for hot chocolate. Walking through the make-up rooms, one could see students undergoing a transformation, finally emerging as Indians, soldiers, and English gentlemen. All through the week very little classwork was done. Student actors were racing back and forth between the high school and the stadium. When the costumes and accessories came there was a grand rush to get a good wearable size and realistic firearms. Some of the soldiers' guns resembled overgrown popguns.

The audiences were as far below the freezing point as the actors and sometimes found their hands too cold to applaud as generously as the tableaux deserved. Their patronage included the hot popcorn and chocolate counter as well as the ticket booth, as heroic efforts were made to prevent an epidemic of sneezing.

The most critical of all the audience was the author, Mr. Bert Leach, who had been striving in imagination for months to produce "Our Heritage". His patriotism toward Southern Ohio is only equalled by his detailed acquaintance with its history.

Early this month, after advisory group elections, student council was organized. Ted Bush is to serve as president; Josephine Rickey has been made vice president; Betty Lantz, secretary; and Johnny Gardner, treasurer. This council, an organization of home room presidents, represents the ideal of self government in P. H. S. Through this small group the thoughts and aspirations of the entire student body are brought before the faculty. The meetings of the council are held every Monday after school under the direction of Mr. Dale who makes announcements which the presidents convey to their classmates at advisory meeting on Tuesday.

The president divided the members into several committees which include assembly, athletics, music, dramatic, movie, visitors, and general. Another important function of the council is hall duty. Students who are assigned to hall duty maintain discipline in the halls while classes are in session, and act as guide to all visitors. The council is making many plans for the future of which the program for American Education Week is outstanding.

Analyzing topics vital to mesdemoiselles

On alternate Monday evenings, the Senior Honor Council meets at the homes of its members to discuss personality, clothes, colleges, and such other questions as might be on the program. Reports are made on the meetings of the freshmen groups allotted to each council member, and plans made for future discussions with these girls. In the future, the members plan to report on vocations in which they are interested.

The council consists of fifteen senior girls and a junior, called the "link girl". All are chosen for personality, scholarship, and conduct, and consider it a signal honor to be selected for the council.

Friends

League - including every high school girl,

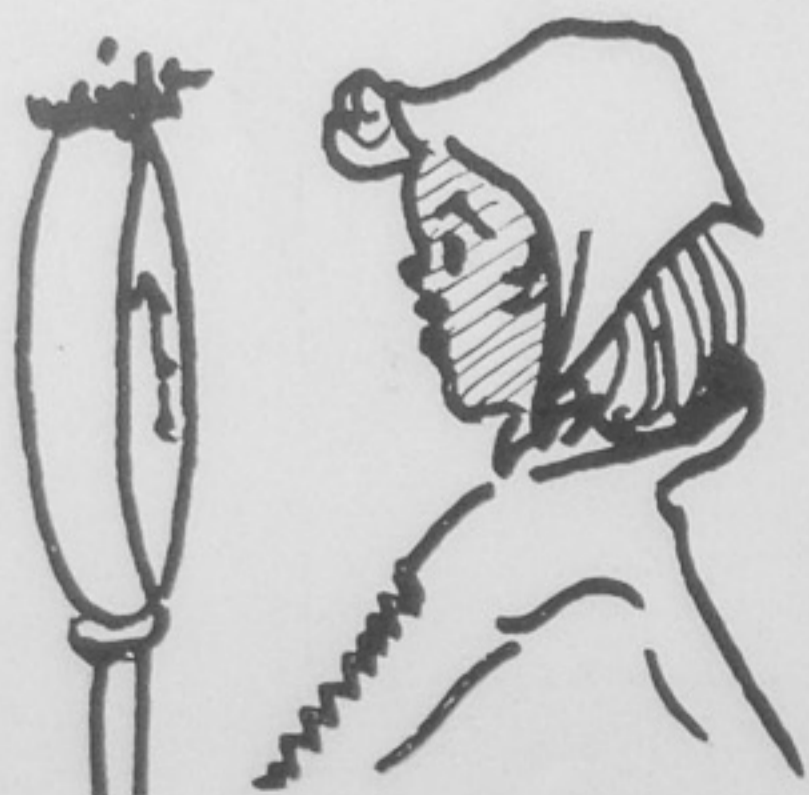

Undoubtedly the largest organization in the high school, because every girl is a member, is the Girls' League. It serves to promote a greater spirit of unity and cooperation among the girls in various activities, to raise the standards of girlhood and womanhood, and to develop the girls' personalities through service and leadership.

Soon after the beginning of school, Dean Marion Galton, sponsor, and the four officers: president, Caroline Friel; vice president Janet Braunlin; secretary, Mary Frances Pratt, and treasurer Marjorie Griffin, who were chosen last spring, selected the heads of the various League committees. They are: health, Dolores Haislet; refreshment, Florence Cariker; hospitality, Josephine Rickey; program, Geraldine Seymour; entertainment, Sallie Jane Atlas; publicity, Rosemary Adams; and finance, Marjorie Griffin. These girls and the officers form the Girls' League Cabinet, which plans the activities of the club throughout the year.

The officers, with Dean Galton, are M. F. Pratt (sec.), C. Friel (pres.), J. Braunlin (vice-pres.) and M. Griffin (treas.)

teaching ideal of character, cooperation

The cabinet has planned many Get-together Parties, afternoon tea dances, and several assemblies. As the most outstanding event the Girls' League has ever given, a Co-ed Dance is being planned at which the girls will "doll-up" in their loveliest dresses to escort their special boy friends. The five cents dues, which was collected from all girls, will make these activities possible.

The organization of the Big-Little Sister Movement got under way in the first girls assembly. At this time, each freshman girl was placed under the care of a senior for a week. During this period, the guide introduced the younger to upper classmen and acquainted them with regulations of the high school and its surroundings. In this way many problems and difficulties of the lower classmen were solved.

Several carloads of Trojanites attended the J. A. O. S. convention at Columbus the first week end of this month. After registering at the Deshler and attending a group meeting Friday afternoon, the delegates were entertained at a banquet and dance Friday night. They, sleepily but happily, attended round table discussions Saturday morning on the Ohio State University campus and gained much valuable information. In the afternoon they cheered at

Publicists - assembling editorials, sports,

At the fifteenth annual convention of the Journalism Association of Ohio Schools, delegates of the Echo staff attended beneficial round table discussions, along with the Trojan staff. They heard several prominent speakers and gained much worthy knowledge.

Bi-weekly posters and blackboard sketches remind the student body that the Echo is ready for subscribers (and no one else, except for special issues). Miss Margaret Anderson is the advisor of the Echo staff, which is chosen from the junior class.

Dolores Glickman, the editor-in-chief, is assisted by George Wiltsee, managing editor, Joan Daulton, news editor, Alice Ann Pixley, feature editor, and Sam Zuhars, business manager.

Popular regular features are "Just Ahead", which informs students of coming events, "Personality Parade," a description of prominent members of high school, and "Floodlights," a summary of amusing happenings in our school.

The Echo gives students who are interested in journalism valuable experience, not only in writing, but also in page make-up and headline composing. Besides this, it furnishes opportunities features, news events in bi-monthly paper for the reporters to meet celebrities and to learn how to converse with them at ease. The advertising solicitors also benefit from their Echo experiences, for they learn the essentials of good salesmanship and many of the tricks of advertising. As a whole, the staff profits by its own mistakes, for each Thursday, after the paper has come out, the students meet as a group to offer criticism, both constructive and destructive.

The Echo is a member of the National Scholastic Press Association and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

Senior girls capture fall athletic title

Cool fall days are ideal for feminine outdoor sports, as well as for football, and more girls than ever before are now taking part in the peppy game of field hockey.

Each class is represented by a large and enthusiastic squad from which Miss Charlotte Bell, girls' athletic instructor, has been able to select four fine teams.

Added interest was manifested in the contests when it was announced that the winning team would represent the high school in a post-season game against an alumni group, composed of stars of former teams.

The seniors' technique developed slowly, but became more coordinated as the season advanced, and, despite the individually brilliant junior attack, their superior team work and better defense made them the season's winners. By defeating the alumni team in a close game, the seniors showed the value of good coaching, combined with a willingness to co-operate.

The juniors, led by the dashing, aggressive Jo-Jo Rickey, showed promise, but were finally beaten by the superior team work of the seniors in the deciding game.

The more inexperienced freshman squad was large and enthusiastic, and guarantees a continued interest in the sport, and the sophomores, although they had some very good players, did not have enough unity to defeat the more practiced upper class teams.

The most outstanding players were Etta Jane Gims, Anna Lee Neal, Jo-Jo Rickey, and Rosemary Adams. Etta Jane was the senior center. Jo-Jo was swift and gained her junior team many points and victories, and Rosemary was another small, but efficient player. Her spunk, cheerfulness, and encouragement gave the juniors more confidence and experience.

This is the fourth consecutive year that the seniors have been champions in hockey. Miss Bell introduced the game to the girls in 1934, and because of her coaching and interest, the game is now a top ranking girls' sport.

Crew aids Commodore Leach in production

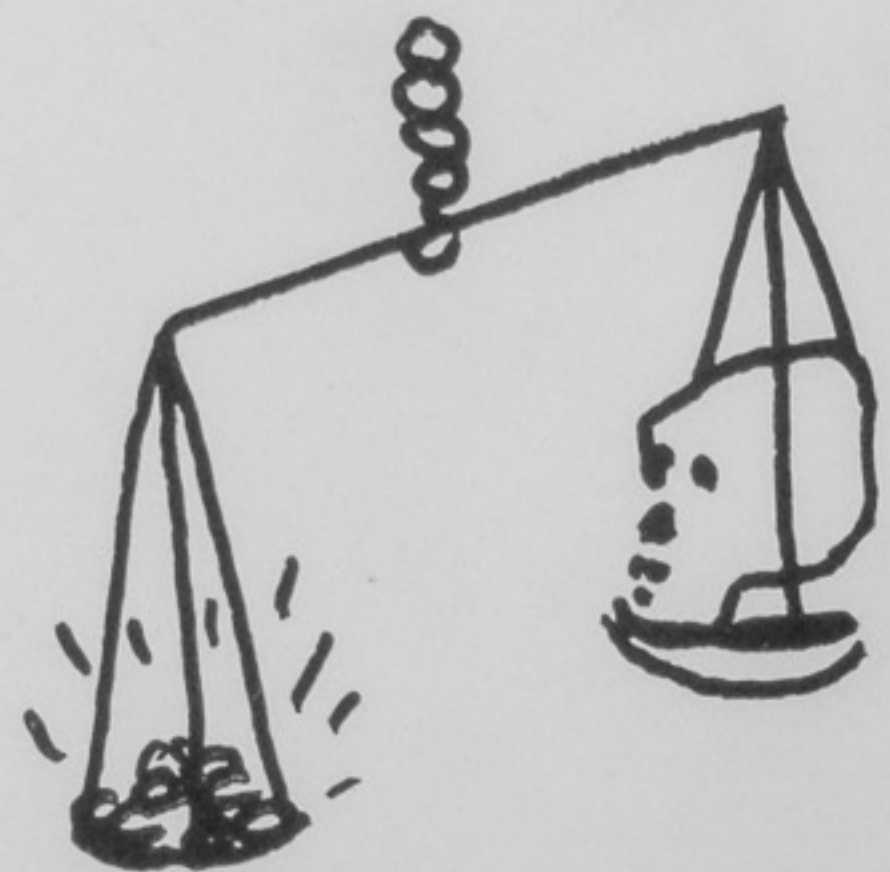

Pirates temporarily abandoned their ships, and unfurled their wigwams, to participate in the October festivities. As land lubbers they formed the nucleus around which "Uncle Bert" Leach could organize his red skinned savages and hardy pioneer settlers. Most of the principle Indian chiefs and "pale faces" were Jolly Rogers.

Organized in 1928 under the sponsorship of Bert Leach, commercial teacher at Portsmouth High School, the Jolly Rogers Club has become one of the most popular clubs in the high school. Happy-go-lucky members represent their piratical comrades of by-gone days of the Caribbean buccaneers, and their characteristic impersonations bring back vivid pictures of the colorful romance of the early twentieth century. The club usually provides a play in a pay assembly each year.

The Jolly Rogers represent an entire ship's crew with Commodore Bert Leach as the pirate-in-chief. Other "officers" are Charles Thompson, the Skipper; Jesse Spence, First Mate; Henry Clausing, Second Mate; Otis Anderson, Third Mate; Richard Evans, Keeper of the Log;

Ernest Freymouth, Supercargo; Ralph Brown, Purser; and Harold Graham, Powder Monkey.

Jolly Rogers' meetings are usually announced by a "Yo-Ho" to room 205, or to the boys' gym, where best evidences of piracy are efforts to "steal the ball" in a bloody basketball thriller. However, since no official minutes are recorded, untold horrors may occur that would make even ruthless Captain Kidd's hair stand on end.

Trojan gridgers close season undefeated

With the field covered with a blanket of snow the Trojans ended an undefeated and untied season, defeating the Huntington Pony Express with a score of 12 to 6. Not since 1931 has the Portsmouth High football team accomplished this record. Beginning the season by defeating Akron South and continuing through the Turkey day game the Trojans scored a total of 203 points to their opponents 45.

Before an account of the previous games, here are the players and coaches who gave Portsmouth High School this record. Paul Jenkins, the head coach, is one of the best coaches in the business. He formerly coached at Xavier in Louisville, Kentucky, and came here with a fine record. Charles Ramey, an assistant coach, came from Cincinnati where he attended school. Willard Ellsesser, the other assistant coach, is from New Boston where he led the Tigers to many successful victories, but he is a former Portsmouth star himself.

The co-captains of this squad were Clyde Redding and Fred Justice. They played right end and left guard respectively, and handled their positions well. Both Redding and Justice are seniors and have played their last game in Labold Field. George Ford, senior, played right guard and kept many a yard from being gained. The other line seniors were Jim Monk, who played a good season at left end. George Foehr, a very dependable left tackle, Eric Morris, the pass-snagging right end, and Joe Hubbard, a great man to have on the line. The seniors in the back-field were: Howard Wright, the hard-hitting fullback and Marion Johnson, the colored ground-gaining halfback.

Forgotten men

Support to a great team from behind the scenes is as important as that from the fans. Boys who helped a great deal in making this team one of the undefeated, untied teams of Ohio, the managers, are a group of industrious, willing boys who volunteered to work with the team throughout the season. Keeping the boys in good equipment and materials is a big job. Managers who will receive letters are: I. Richards, A. Hobstetter, T. Bush, B. Robinson (see page 39).

The juniors on the squad this year were Eugene Rayburn, the right tackle who topped the scales at 210; Bob Franck, a great line backer and all around center; Bob Drake, who broke up many plays at right guard; Albert Cunningham, the under-study to co-captain Justice at left guard; Earl Gibson, a good blocking left-tackle; and Junior Parsons, who stopped many runs at left end. The backfield of juniors include Jim Barker, a great quarterback; Paul Kline, one of the neatest ball carriers on the Portsmouth squad; James Hurley and Olen Kennedy, two mainsprings in the Trojan backfield, and Bob Warden, the fastest man on the team. The lone sophomore on the squad was Bill Combs, who played a good season at center.

The season opened Sept. 16 with Akron South invading Portsmouth. The Trojans, clad in brightly striped uniforms, kept the ball in Akron territory the first half. Kline and Barker starred for the Trojans with their punting and passing. After the third time in scoring territory, they succeeded in crossing the goal line. Their try for the extra point failed. Williams, Akron's star, made a 45 yard run for a touchdown. Making their extra point, Akron went ahead at the third quarter 7 to 6. In the latter part of the fourth period Johnson ran 40 yards for a touchdown, making the final score 12 to 7. The Cincinnati Elder team came to Portsmouth for the second game (Sept. 23). Furnished with little opposition, the Trojans downed the Cincinnatians 34 to 0, Bob Warden taking the honors for the Trojans. For the next game the Trojans motored to Springfield (Sept. 30) and conquered the Wildcats 26 to 6. Kline, Morris, and Warden contributed the touchdowns.

The strong Steubenville team journeyed to the Ohio River for the fourth tilt of the season (Oct. 7). The Trojans were slow in getting started, but came back in the second half, just 7 points behind, scoring two touchdowns and a safety to win 15 to 7. Johnson and Monk tallied the touchdowns and Redding, the safety. The Trojans visited Chillicothe (Oct 14) for the fifth game of the season. Late in the first half Warden succeeded in scoring a touchdown and Wright converted the extra point. A spectacular 60 yard pass from Kline to Monk for a touchdown brought down the house. Barker, Morris, and Redding each scored another touchdown. Again (Oct. 21) the Trojans played away against another hard team, Middletown. The two squads were evenly matched the first part of the game, but in the second half Marion Johnson galloped around left end for a touchdown. The extra point was good and Portsmouth won 7 to 0, to pull in the sixth in a row. The Trojans returned home to play the next game (Oct. 28) which was to be with Columbus South. The weak Columbus team furnished no competition for the strong Trojan defense. Barker scored two touchdowns, the first in a 34 yard run in the fourth play of the game to touch off the fireworks. He shared honors with Monk, Redding, and Johnson who made a touchdown each. The game ended with a score of 33 to 0.

The Trojan's oldest rival, Ironton, came to Portsmouth on (Nov. 4) for the eighth game of the season. Ironton had a fairly good defensive team that kept Portsmouth from scoring in the first half. Norris, Ironton's hero, succeeded in scoring for the Tigers, and the half ended, Ironton ahead 6 to 0. Johnson, determined to win, came back in the second half and galloped three times over Ironton's goal line. Wright booted two extra points, and again Portsmouth came out on top 20 to 6. Portsmouth fans were happy over this victory, as it put them one step closer to the State Championship. The Trojans went to Toledo, (Nov. 11) to play DeVilbiss in the last road game of the season. The first half was mostly a passing game. DeVilbiss tossed a 40-yard pass for a touchdown and converted the point. Kline passed 60 yards to Monk, Wright made the conversion, and the half ended with a score of 7 to 7. Barker scored in the fourth period to make it nine in row, with a total of 13 to 7.

The Huntington Pony Express came to Portsmouth to participate in the Turkey Day game, (Nov. 28). Playing in snow six inches deep, zero weather, both teams put up a noble effort. Jim Barker and Ray Wolf each made a touchdown for Portsmouth and Huntington respectively in the first half. In the second half Barker tossed a short pass to Morris in the end zone to go ahead 12 to 7. Huntington failed to score again, and the Trojans went through with an undefeated, untied record tucked under their belt. The seniors who have played their last game are: Foehr, Ford, Hubbard, Cunningham, Johnson, Monk, Rayburn, and Wright.

Future varsity men, perfecting skill

Two groups, coached by Ellsesser and Lorentz, made up the Reserve squads this year. Ellsesser's gang won its first game from Raceland, 18 to 6. Jones and Apel were the stars, the former making two markers and the latter the other. Their next game was with Blackfork, Ellsesser's eleven trouncing them by a score of 26 to 6. Jones again led his mates to victory by scoring two touchdowns. Church and Arthurs also tallied. The next game took the Reserves to Ironton where they suffered a defeat of 6 to 0. Ironton scored on a blocked punt. For the fourth encounter, the Trojan Reserves went to Ashland where they swamped the younger Tomcats 20 to 0. Arthurs, an end, made two touchdowns on passes, and Jones, the other, on an end run. For the fifth game, Huntington invaded Portsmouth and defeated the Reserves 6 to 0, Huntington scoring on an intercepted pass. Ashland came to Portsmouth for a return battle and was again defeated by the Reserves, 31 to 6. Runs and passes made by Jones, Lewis, and Norman scored for the home team. For the last game of the season the Reserves took revenge against the Huntington boys and defeated them 13 to 7. Jones and Bourne scored for the Trojans, making six wins and two losses during the season.

The squad under Coach Lorentz defeated New Boston twice, Central Catholic, and the P. H. S. freshman team; tied the Sciotoville squad twice and lost their only game to Vanceburg. The main purpose for the Sophomore Reserves is that it entitles more boys to participate in football.

Not claiming any championship, but furnishing tough competition for every opponent they met, was the freshman squad under Coach Fred Multer. They started the season with a scoreless tie with the Central Catholic Reserves. The second game was a trip to Sciotoville where they again played to a scoreless tie. For the next en-

Library augmented

"New Books—New Worlds" was the theme for the nineteenth annual celebration of Book Week.

To emphasize the importance of Book Week, Charles E. Hard, vice president of the Board of Education, spoke to a special Book Assembly. His message brought out the educational and cultural benefits of reading.

Our school library is used by students and teachers alike for reference and pleasure work. Many of the current newspaper and magazines on world affairs besides latest works of selected fiction are found on the library shelves to encourage recreational reading.

Miss Gladys Nichols, the regular librarian, has twenty student assistants. She received her B. A. Degree at Otterbein College and her B. S. Degree in Library Science at the University of Illinois. She also attended one summer session of the University of Cincinnati. Her previous work and experience was obtained in the library of the National Bank of Commerce in New York City, the North Carolina College for Women, Greensboro, North Carolina; and the library of Mansfield Senior High School. This is Miss Nichols' fourth year in Portsmouth High School.

The library staff is planning to have a campaign to secure more books from alumni later this year.

Librarians around Miss Nichols' desk are: M. Brooks (seated). Standing: V. Adams, M. Atkins, V. Benson, B. Shields.

Assistants at the reference desk: C. List, J. Harsha, M. McCorkle, E. Johnson, W. Campbell, H. Payne, M. Larcamp, J. Kelly, K. Kegley.

On Monday, November 21, the Seniors took the annual Ohio State Psychological Test. Students from all over the state take this examination and the re-

Frequent patrons of the library are the exclusive young poetesses who meet regularly to read, write, and discuss various forms of verse. The Verse-makers is ably sponsored by Miss Mary Elizabeth Schwartz. Between meetings each member struggles to confine his thoughts into a definite metrical form; then, he brings the product of his efforts to room 310 where the whole club renders constructive or destructive criticism. Afterwards, the members have fun playing poetical games or discussing the works of famous poets. Besides giving its members an outlet for their own inspirations, the club teaches them to love and understand the more famous poems. A variety of subjects are chosen by the students, such as living creatures, nature, life and death, and school experiences. Miss Schwartz, who writes excellent poems herself, helps the aspiring ones to master the intricacies of established verse forms. Before Christmas the club usually has a party and in the spring, a picnic.

Acting ability is essential for membership in the Revellers Club, and it must be exhibited in the yearly tryouts of this large and active body. The play of the year was given early, the 17th of this month; the name—"Wings of the Morning."

Last month the first meeting was held in the form of a picnic at Babcock's camp. Besides the business of electing new officers, much enjoyment was obtained by initiating the new members. The rest of the afternoon and evening was spent playing sockball, singing and eating.

Reveller's most prominent activity is their full length play. The story concerns an eccentric bachelor (Spencer Davis) who decides to regulate the troubled lives of three groups of people. In order to do this, each group is conducted to the elevator-like house of the bachelor by a young aviator (Joe Fauth) and his confederate (Bill Pepper). The first group includes a young dress designer (Melba Orth), her secretary (Jane Craigmiles), a young doctor (Russell Long), and a poet (Scott Bouldin). These young people are all tired of life, and the bachelor determines to teach them to appreciate what they have.

The second group includes an Italian fruit vendor, (Francis Dale), his wife (Jane Lavinder), and his daughter (Norma Jones). The daughter wishes to marry a man of whom her father disapproves. Neither will give in to the other, and a grave family problem is the result. The third of these groups is composed of an old lady living in an old people's home (played by Katie Stone) and her young protege (Felice Shapiro). Employed in the home are a young nurse (Jean Cornett) and the head-mistress (June Lundbom). The strange assortment of people are all brought together, and the bachelor with the help of his sister (Mildred Jordan) is able to make them all happy and contented with life.

The scenes illustrated are: the poet, doctor, artist and her maid; the old lady with her young friend, and the matron; the Italian family, mamma and papa, the messenger, and the daughter; lower right, backstage rehearsal, nurse, aviator, the bachelor and his sister. "Mothers day" can be observed in November as well as in May, is the opinion of the Home Economics students who have given a series of very enjoyable informal dinners for their mothers. The girls divided into groups of threes and did all the planning and preparing of the meals themselves. These dinners provided one of their most outstanding events of the year.

About three hundred freshman and sophomore girls are now enrolled in the Home Economics Department. They are taught personal care and grooming which include hair arrangements, manners, the use of cosmetics, and other things so desirable in a girl's appearance. One of the most important things they study is child care and development, involving child psychology. The girls learn how to handle a child properly, and in order to acquire efficiency, they witness a demonstration upon a live infant. This month, Mrs. Joseph Kegley, wife of a member of the faculty, brought her child for this purpose. The baby was bathed and the girls were shown how it should be cared for.

During the year every girl makes a cotton dress and a laboratory uniform, which she wears in the cooking class. They also study various materials in order that they may be economical and smart in their choice of clothes. Studying color combinations and styles aided many of the girls in deciding just which colors and styles were most becoming to them individually. They also learn which materials are the most durable and which will give them the greatest amount of service. The latest silhouettes and skirt lengths are usually discussed before the girls begin the cutting and sewing of their dresses.

Buying cosmetics, as well as applying them, was a topic of great interest to all the students of this department. The good qualities of different types of cosmetics were pointed out by the advisors to the girls.

Since every home-maker must know how to keep her budget balanced, every girl is taught how to use and handle her money most efficiently. Menus are suggested by which left-overs from previous meals may be prepared into tasty dishes. Every possible way of economizing without skimping is discussed.

Miss Shinkle, who is the instructor of these subjects, obtained her M. A. at Columbia, and did graduate work at the University of Chicago and the University of Wisconsin. Miss Dorothy Waller, who acquired her B. S. degree at Ohio State and also attended Miami University, teaches food. They are co-advisors of the Betty Lamp Club.

In the freshman year, the girls learn to plan menus, to prepare foods and to serve a meal. When they have become efficient enough they prepare and serve the complete breakfast for a high school girl. They repeat this operation to prepare a school luncheon. The students also make candies, jellies, and canned foods. In their cooking classes the girls learn to count calories, to use different labor-saving devices, and to become intimately acquainted with the value of vitamins. They are taught all the secrets of balancing menus.

The girls select color schemes, wall finishes, rugs, furniture, curtains, and decorative accessories for their bedrooms. They also have furnished a very attractive dining room next to the kitchen where the girls eat the meals they have prepared. In an atmosphere as neatly kept as their own homes, they learn how to set a table properly and how to make the food as pleasing to the eye as possible.

They also have a little nook off the dining room where the weary worker may rest her tired bones on a comfortable easy chair. Dainty curtains and simple decorations greatly add to the attractiveness of the room.

In October the Betty Lamp Club had its most outstanding activity of the year, when the members served as hostesses at the South-central District Conference meeting. The chairmen of the committees for this function were Betty Hawes, food; Sarah Spriggs, invitations; and Betty Rayburn, program. Cloteen Wooten was chosen as delegate from this district for the state convention.

Girls are admitted to the club by a point system. The points are earned by serving on committees, helping in the Home Economics Department, selling candy after school and at basketball games, and attending meetings of the club. Officers for this year are: Cloteen Wooten, president; Sarah Spriggs, vice president; Maxine Fulcher, secretary; and Esther Kennard, treasurer.

To open the year's program, the girls went on a picnic to Roosevelt Lake. The first of October the club held a very successful bake sale of which Mary Opal Meglasson and Juanita Meadows were co-chairmen. At one of the recent meetings, Mr. Albert Marting gave a talk on rayon, followed by a style show in which clothes from Marting's store were modeled by Ruth Ann Laker, Vera Howell, Betty Ann Flout, Rose Ann Clifford, Sarah Spriggs, and Kathryn Stallard.

Another speaker at one of the club meetings was Mrs. Westover, who discussed the most appropriate clothes for the high school girl.

Sophomores- eager, energetic

Great social heights, hitherto unknown to the sophomore class, were reached when they sponsored the "Sophomore Shindig" early this month. The dance featured the swing music of Bill Dunn and his orchestra. An entertaining floor show was presented at intermission by Miss Dalheimer's pupils.

A year ago last September this exceptionally large group of freshmen entered P. H. S. Many of the upperclassmen were heard remarking about the boundless energy that the new "Freshies" seemed to possess. That was very true, and the energetic freshmen had soon started on a very successful year with David Gardner serving as president; Marjorie Griffin, vice-president; Caroline List, secretary; and Mary Alice Sheehan, treasurer. Miss Henrietta DuPuy, Miss Lucy Riggs, and Mr. Howard Long were chosen as sponsors. The skating party given by the class was a huge success.

This year's officials (top illustration) are Carolyn List (Vice Pres.), Mr. D. Stewart, Otto Apel (Pres.), Mr. J. Stuart, Miss Dupuy, Mary Alice Sheehan (Treas.) and Betty Bachman (Sec.)

All-pupil tests, fall scholastic inventory

On December 6, 8, 9, the Every Pupil Tests were given to students in nearly every subject of the school curriculum. The Every Pupil Tests are standardized examinations put out by the State Department of Education and sent to the various schools throughout the state. They are made up by teachers from different schools within the state, and this year J. R. Freeland had the honor of making out the test in American history.

Several students placed exceptionally high on these tests. In the physics test Arnold Watts and George Wiltsee received nearly perfect scores with 89 out of possible 90. David Breedon made a score of 39 out of 40 in algebra. Betty Jean Lamm was first in second year Latin with 87 out of 90. Bill Henderson answered 87 out of 90 in the biology test, and Basil Curnutte made a score of 52 out of 54 in geometry. Emily Ratliff was high in American history with 92 out of 95.

Martha Hesson and Arnold Watts received the highest score in fourth year English, and Ruth Segur was high in third year English while Lenore Ross and Anna Linck were high in Sophomore and Freshman English, Marilyn Brooks and Don Wakefield tied for first place in English literature, and Jim Harsha, Dolores Glickman, Philip Spence and Sam Zuhars tied for first in American literature. In the chemistry examination Jack Kelly, Don Wakefield, and James Williams tied for first place. The highest grade in general science was made by Billy Larcamp. Arthur Klemme, Florence Cariker, Bluford Carter, Earl Barney, James Tanner, and Norman Richards tied for top honors on the civics test.

● Orators, voicing ideals

Every school in the entire United States having a debate team argues pro and con this subject: Resolved, that the United States should establish an alliance with Great Britain.

The debate team, composed of Francis Dale, James Tanner, James Williams, and Richard Bohr is having a very successful season. The district debates took place at Hamden, Oak Hill, and Portsmouth. Having won eight straight debates, both the negative and affirmative teams of P. H. S. became district champions. The team was capably coached by Miss Dorothy Shultz, speech teacher.

On December 12th the Women's City Club sponsored the Annual Oratorical Contest in the high school auditorium. The three first places, were captured by Portsmouth High School students. James Tanners' oration, "The Price of Freedom," was given first place by the judges. In his speech James advocated that a rearmament program would protect the freedom of the United States. Second award was presented to Francis Dale who spoke on the frontiers of life that are exposed to the ambitious youths of today. The third winner was Helen Ruth Davisson who made a plea for peace among the nations of the world.

Debaters

Arousing more acute Latin consciousness,

Christmas carols in Latin, led by Mary Janet Hayes, featured the Christmas meeting of Inter Nos. A report was given by Betty Hamner on the Saturnalia, a Roman holiday in December from which we have derived many of our Christmas customs. A contest was held and Mary Janet Hayes was proclaimed the winner. The chief feature of the program was a humorous play presented by Robert Hutchinson, Vivian Humphries, Caroline List, Isabel TePas, Leroy Hedges, Robert Stone, and Mary Hobstetter. The play, entitled "Let's Get Started", showed the difficulty the Myers family encountered in getting to their Christmas dinner on time. After several comical situations, they learned that their clock had been changed and they realized that they would just arrive on time.

"Inter Nos", meaning "Among Ourselves", is a club composed of students who take first or second year Latin. The club, under the sponsorship of the Latin teachers, Miss Anna Blazer and Miss Vera Conn, is one of the largest and most active in the school. Its regular meetings are held on the second Tuesday of every school month. The members elected as their officers for the year David Gardner, president, Marjorie Griffin, vice-president, Mary Alice Sheehen, secretary, and John Gardner, treasurer. Robert Hutchinson, is to be assisted by Muriel McCabe, Betty Lantz, and Edward Levi, who were appointed chairmen of the program committee for the year. For entertainment this semester the club has had a series of songs, contests, and plays, one of which was given entirely in Latin.

Delicious refreshments, interesting papers connecting the Latin language with Christmas festivities, the exchange of amusing gifts, all planned and completed by the entertainment committee of the Plus Ultra Latin Club, composed an outstanding meeting.

Plus Ultra, the Latin Club for upper classmen, is capably supervised by Miss Margaret Ball. The members of the club elected James Williams first consul to lead them through the year. He was ably assisted by Spencer Davis, second consul; Rhea Mae Wendelken, praetor; and Betty Gyor, Quaestor. The entertainment at the monthly meetings is in charge of different committees who present interesting and varied programs. The organization has greatly furthered the interest of students in the classical arts.

Directing linguistic talents

In this day of such great turbulence abroad we look toward those who live in the foreign countries of Europe as complete strangers. For them we form an instantaneous and sometimes unwarranted dislike. But in the study of their language and through interchange of thoughts or opinions, we come to know them, instead, as our friends. Most essential in acquiring this knowledge of foreign speech is Latin, the language of the ancient Romans, because, in Latin, we find the foundation of most of our modern tongues. A corruption of it or, as it was said in the ancient days, from the vulgar usage of it, are derived the romance languages, Italian, French, Spanish, Rumanian, etc. Two of the most interesting of these, Spanish and French, are studied in this school by those who have an inclination toward the art of phrasology of the different nationalities.

For these classes we have six representative teachers who do much to make their classes the focal point of interest in the school.

Miss Anna Blazer is teacher of freshman Latin. She received her B. A. degree at Ohio University and attended Columbia and the University of Wisconsin. She is advisor to Inter Nos Club, and a sponsor of the senior class. Miss Margaret Ball attended Dennison University, where she acquired her Ph. B. degree in Education. She teaches junior and senior Latin and is also the advisor of Plus Ultra. Sophomore Latin is taught by Miss Vera Conn, who received her B. A. degree at Muskingum. She also attended the West Virginia and Ohio State Universities. She acquired her M. A. degree at Ohio State.

The advisor to Les Jeunes Modernes is Miss Katharine Kauffman. She teaches first and second year French. Her B. A., B. S., and M. A. degrees were acquired at Ohio State University. She is also the Trojan staff advisor.

Second year Spanish is taught by Mr. Jesse Wagus, who is also sponsor of the Spanish Club. His B. A. came from James Millikan University, Decatur, Illinois, and his M. A. degree from the University of Illinois. He has also attended Universidad Nacional in Mexico City.

Accordion music and food enlivened Spanish classes at Christmas time, and the "miembros" of "Los Rancheros", the Spanish club, took active interest in both. Los Rancheros, one of the most interesting and colorful clubs in the school, has meetings once a month, at which they give vent to their vocal powers by rendering their interpretations of the Spanish songs taught to them by their sponsor, Mr. Jesse Wagus. Some times at meetings the club plays "Loteria", and they have made a donation to a Relief fund for the benefit of Spanish Loyalist children.

According to French custom, members of Les Jeunes Modernes received their "cadeaux de Noel" in their shoes, which they carried to the Pere Noel, just as Aline McKeen and Richard Bohr are doing in the illustration. December 19, the club held its annual Christmas party in the music room. Games were played and Christmas carols were sung in French. Finally Pere Noel, the French

Santa Claus, excellently acted by Francis Dale with his pillow and beard, arrived to distribute the gifts. The party was also visited by Papa Fouetard (Arnold Watts), the nemesis of all bad French children, with his switches. After this "les rafraichissements" were served.

"La seance est ouverte!" With these words Monsieur le President, Richard Bohr, brings the monthly meeting of Les Jeunes Modernes to order. Les Jeunes Modernes is composed of French students; they hold their meetings under the guidance of Richard Bohr, le President, Aline McKeen, la vice-presidente, Sarah Rapp, la secretaire, and Betty Coriell, la tresoriere. New members were initiated into the club at a picnic held on Two Mile Hill in October.

● Sport Transition

On December 12, the 1938 football season was brought to a successful close with a large banquet held in honor of the undefeated Trojans, and the athletic interest of Portsmouth was centered once more on basketball. The banquet, with nearly 150 players and managers as guests of honor, had as its chief speaker Coach H. O. "Fritz" Crisler of the University of Michigan. After the address by Mr. Crisler, Coach Paul Jenkins rewarded players and managers with their letters. The boys elected James Barker and Bob Franck as their co-captains for 1939. An ensemble directed by Henri Schnabl gave a musical program, and A. Graves Williams, accompanied by Pete Laudeman, led the group singing.

On December 16 the Trojans opened their 1938-39 basketball season with a 20 to 11 win over Columbus South. They defeated their second opponent, Marietta, 23 to 17. The Trojans dropped their next game to Akron North by the score of 25 to 29. The Hamilton Big Blues handed them their second defeat in an overtime period 26 to 28, but the Trojans came back two days later to defeat Middletown 16 to 14.

Hey, I said one!; deck the halls!

Yuletide air permeates meetings ●

Soon after Thanksgiving the Christmas spirit invaded Portsmouth High School. Carol's floated through the halls and the Trojan staff's giant Christmas tree, glittering grandly, stood in the second floor hall.

Jennie Hutchison, Marjorie Griffin, and Dolores Haislett passed out candy kisses to the students at the Girls' League Christmas party (upper left illustration).

The Betty Lamp Club went grand at their annual Christmas party and had candles and everything (above, right).

Helen Warman, Walker Warner, and Don Wakefield, closely observed the advertisement of "Dickens' Christmas Carol", which the Photoplay Club went to see the week before Christmas vacation (left, below).

The Revellers Club also had a party at which a gay time was had by all. Russell Long was more or less generous with his candy cane, much to Helen Jane Stockham's satisfaction, (right, below). Joe Fauth and Joe Hamblin are the interested bystanders.

What the Dickens! a candied shot

Presents, presence

Santa Joe Hamblin presented many amusing gifts to tease students and teachers, but the presents of the senior class to their popular sponsors were appropriate and attractive. Miss Bell received a golf bag; Miss Blazer a house coat; and Mr. Freeland, a pen and pencil set. President Bill Marshall served as Santa's assistant.

Christmas players on the set, are: H. Queen, B. Harsha, J. Cornett, D. Rowlands, J. Williams, B. Adams, C. Wooten, and S. Atlas.

Seniors offer "Christmas without Patsy"

"Christmas Without Patsy" was the one act play presented by seniors at the annual Christmas Assembly. Patsy Tracy (Jean Cornett), thinking that her family does not need her, decides to disguise herself and become a maid in her own home. She tells her parents (Dan Rowlands and Sallie Atlas) and her brothers Ted (James Williams) and Jack (Howard Queen) that she is going to visit her Aunt Patricia (Cloteen Wooten) during the holidays.

When her family discovers that she is not with her Aunt Patricia, they become greatly alarmed about her. Meanwhile Patsy, disguised as a red-haired Irish girl, had secured a job as her family's maid. She finds out that her friend Mary Ann (Betty Adams) is trying to vamp (Bill Harsha), Patsy's suitor. However, Wayne does not succumb to the charms of Mary Ann. She also discovers that the family misses her considerably. Having come to the conclusion that they do need her, Patsy tells them of her disguise and the Tracy family has a very merry Christmas.

Mid - year freshmen are prepared for their new work not only by the schools from which they come, but by selected seniors in the high school, who guide them around the building in groups. This opportunity to ask questions and to become acquainted with their new environment smooths out the big bump in the transfer.

Versatile, vivacious, venturesome juniors

Very busy people are the juniors this month, as they entertain the entire school with a "Jam and Jive of the Jitterbugs", rehearse for their mysterious "Phantom Tiger", and even view their future triumph, the junior-senior prom, in their various imaginations. The "hot" dance music was by Harrison Head's orchestra, and those who did not wish to dance played the raging chinese checkers and bingo.

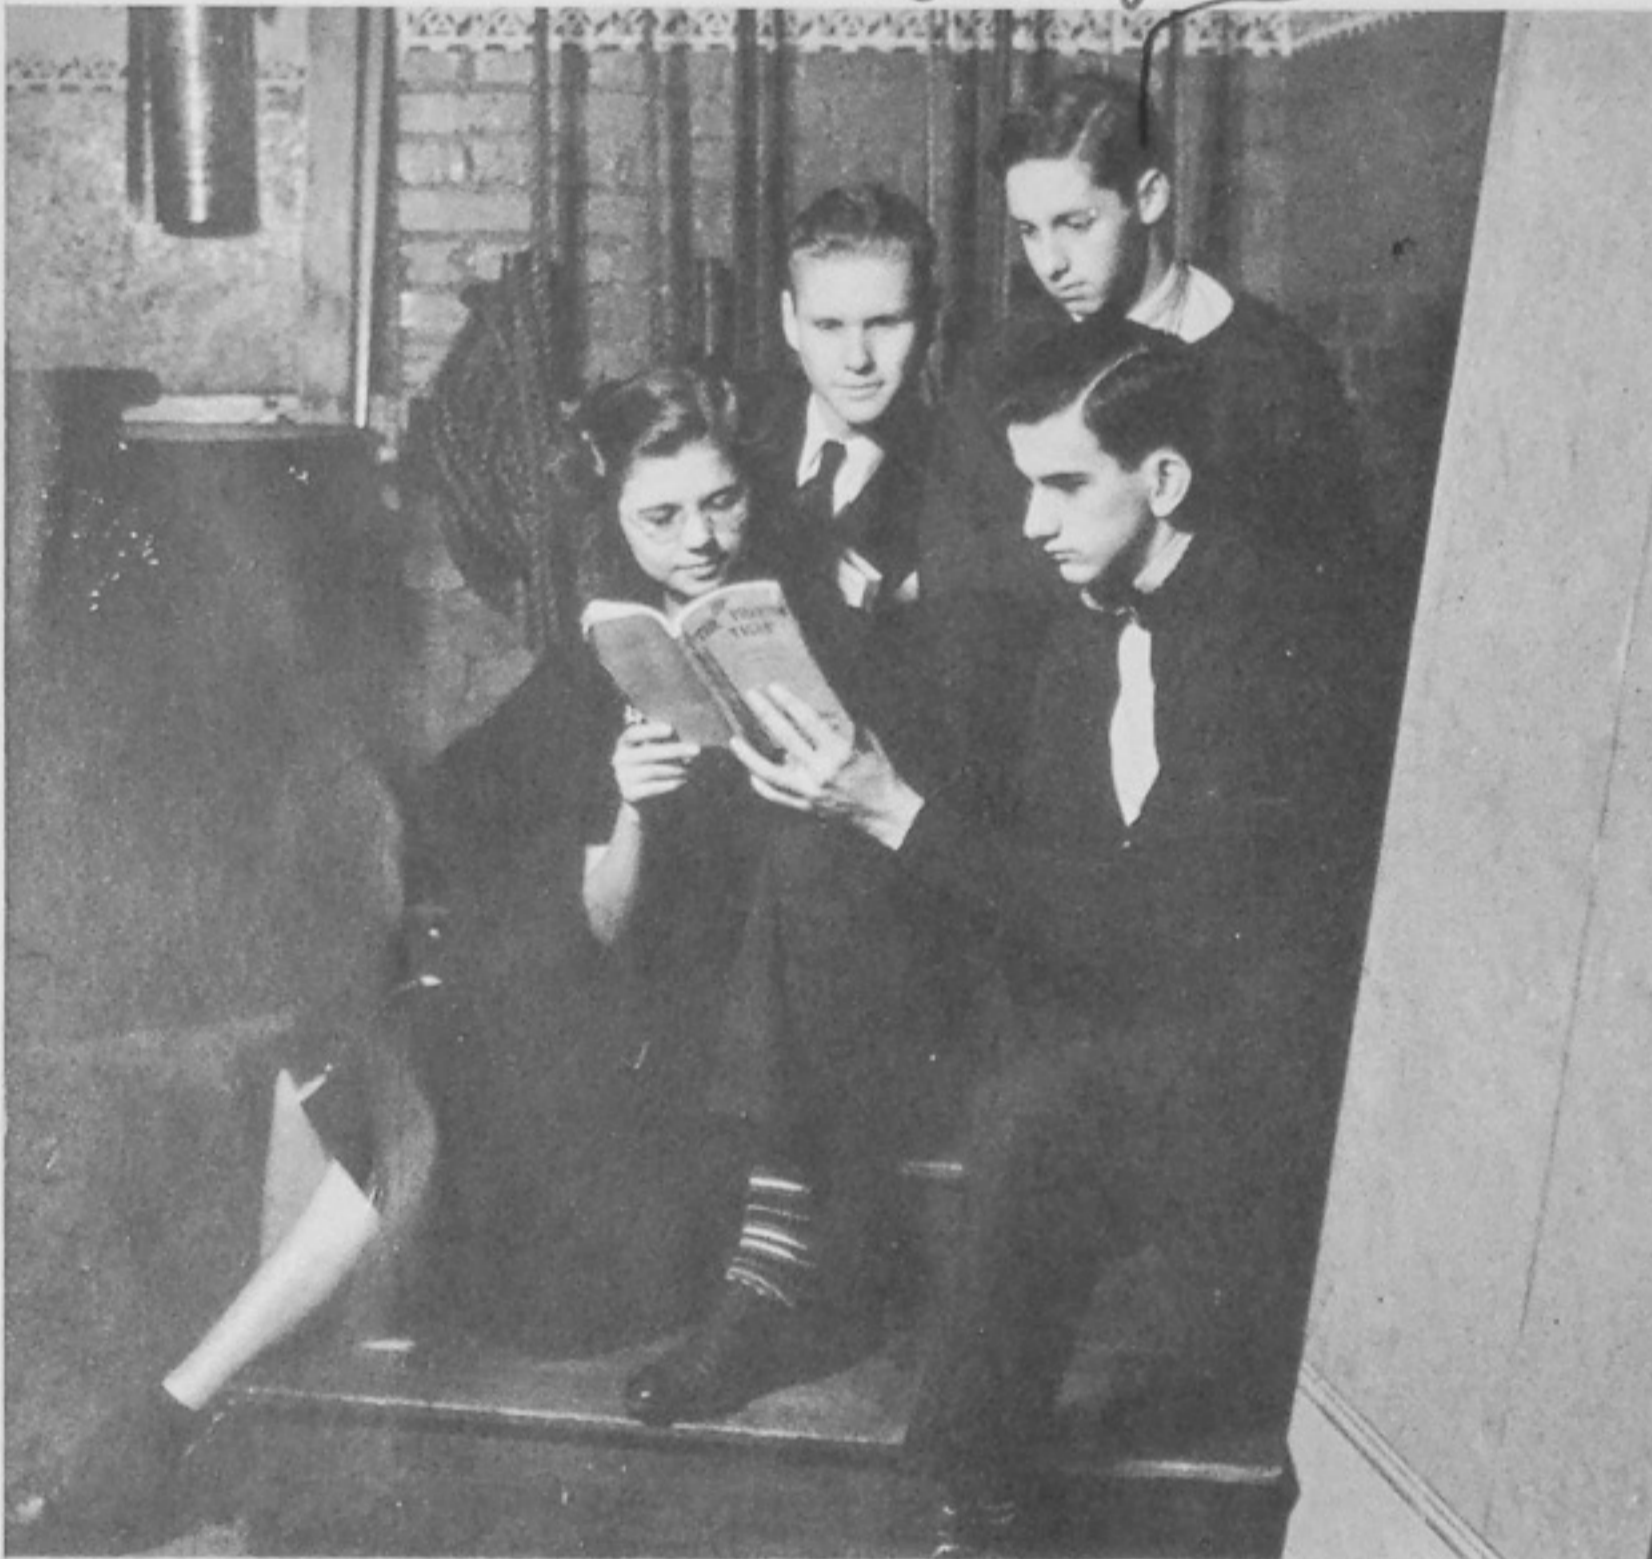

The energetic work of the various committees headed by George Wiltsee made the dance successful. Joan Babcock was in charge of refreshments; Anne TePas, tickets; Jean Kendall, check room; Mary Roberts, advertising; and Bill Hancock, cleanup.

Practice for the junior play was also begun in January, under the direction of James McElhaney. The play, "The Phantom Tiger", by Robert St. Clair, which is a sequel to the play presented by the juniors last year, is to be performed in February. Jesse Wagus, in charge of the stage crews, will assist Mr. McElhaney.

Another big feature of the junior class was the selection of the 1940 class ring. The students chose one from several patterns offered. It is 10 karat gold with a small Trojan head project-

Three years ago when the present juniors entered our high school, rumors went through the halls of the great abilities and energy of the new group, and the talents and outstanding personalities of their leaders. These predictions seem to have materialized, because the junior class has been most active.

As freshmen, these students chose George Wiltsee, Josephine Rickey, Grace Burke and Betty Humble, as their leaders and representatives for the year. They also selected Miss Henrietta DuPuy, Miss Ruth Cyfers, and Mr. Arthur Long, as their sponsors. Although they had planned many activities for their freshman year, they were unfortunate, because most of these social affairs were cut short by the flood. After the high water had receded and school again continued its usual schedule, this class gave a skating party, which was a huge success.

In their sophomore year they elected four girls, as their officers. This was the first time in the history of the school that the officers were all girls. They were: Josephine Rickey, Rosemary Adams, Dolores Glickman, and Joan Babcock. Miss Ruth Cyfers was reelected sponsor, and Miss Gladys Hughes and Mr. Sylvan Jackson were also chosen.

This second year the class was able to get under way at the very first as there was no flood or other handicap. Another skating party was given; and a spring dance, with music furnished by the Grimm-Kessinger Band, offered an opportunity for the Big Apple, Lambeth Walk, and other dances, which everyone enjoyed. These sophomores again rated high at the scholarship tests in Athens, and first places in geometry and Latin were won by two of them.

During the second week of school this year, all juniors met and elected as their officers Fred Dill, president; Samuel Zuhars, vice-president; Marianna Van Bibber, secretary; and Robert Kah, treasurer. At this time Miss Ruth Burton, Mr. Nelson Brown, and Mr. Jesse Wagus were the teachers chosen as sponsors.

Freshmen students just entering high school soon learn the fundamentals and statistics of one of the greatest developments of mankind in scientific research. The teachers of this subject have made it one of the most interesting in high school by urging the students to collect butterflies, leaves, and bugs, and to make different things pertaining to science such as simple machines, charts, and mountings of various collections. General science includes a wide field from studying plants and animal life to the different machines which enable man to carry on his scientific research and invention.

During this spring, science students will take field trips around in the neighborhood of the high school and they will observe the different types of trees, leaves, plants, and small animals found in the fields and woods and on the streets.

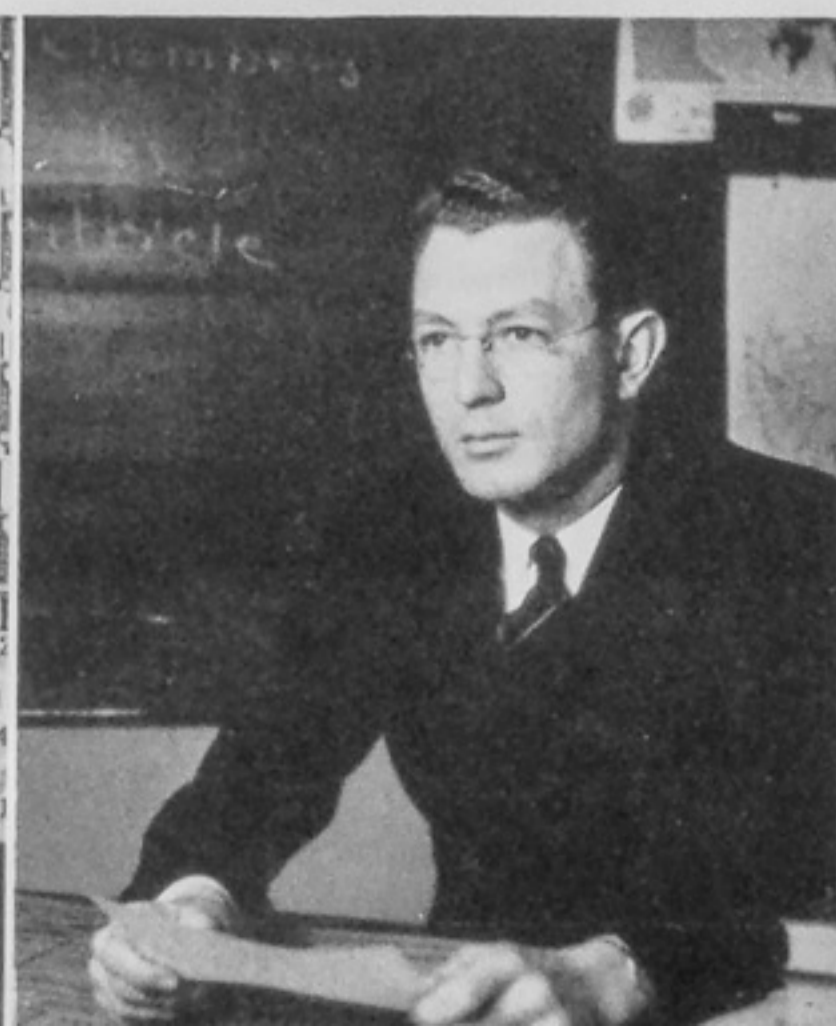

Although all sophomore students do not have a scientific subject, in the third year either physics or biology may be taken. Biology is really an extension of the field of science dealing with the subject of plant and animal life. Interesting water animals and plants are brought into the classroom to observe for study.

Experiments with matter and energy are performed in the study of physics, and observations made on sound, light, heat, and air.

The science offered to seniors is chemistry. It is the study of chemical changes which involve all the elements and compounds of nature. Field trips are taken to many interesting places by the Chemistry Club which is sponsored by the chemistry teacher, Mr. James Corwin.

Chillicothe's Meade Pulp and Paper Co. received the information-seeking Chemistry Club on Thursday, January 19. The travelers enjoyed a few snow ball fights between periods of instructive guidance through the plant. The pulp vats were interesting and so were the lunch counters, and the trip was rated as very successful.

Under the guidance of Mr. Corwin the Chemistry Club has also made a field trip to the Portsmouth Water Works and the boys are planning to go to the Wheeling Steel Plant of Portsmouth.

One of the most versatile members of the science faculty is Mr. Charles Lorentz, who not only teaches general science, but also a section of physics. In addition he is the coach of the reserve football and basketball teams. He obtained his B. A. degree at Marietta College. Mr. Howard Long, a sponsor of the freshman class, secured his B. A. and B. S. in Education and M. A. degrees at Ohio State University. Another teacher of science, and also business arithmetic, is Mr. Sylvan Jackson, a sponsor of the sophomore class, who received the degree of I. E. at Ohio State University. He studied at the University of Wisconsin, Wilmington College, and Georgia Tech.

Mr. Charles Ramey is the instructor in the interesting study of biology and a coach of the varsity football team. He attended the University of Cincinnati where he received his B. S. degree, and the University of Kentucky. Mr. C. D. Walden, who teaches physics, obtained his B. A. degree at Miami University, and attended the University of Wisconsin and the University of Cincinnati.

Mr. James Faye Corwin is the teacher of chemistry and sponsor of the Chemistry Club, whose members must maintain an average of at least 85 in that subject. He attended Ohio University where he received the A. B. and M. A. degrees.

Observing the political, social, economic

Historic events red-letter the short month of February, especially in a study of America's past, which is required in the senior year of high school. History is also widely studied in sophomore and junior years. The following teachers present the subject to us; Miss Edith Johnston, a teacher of ancient history, obtained her B. S. at Ohio University and her M. A. at Chicago. Mr. James McElhaney received his B. A. degree at Ohio Wesleyan. He also attended Ohio U., Miami, and Columbia. He teaches American history, geography and occupations. Mr. Donald Stewart, who teaches ancient history and civics, received his B. A. at Ohio Wesleyan. He later did some work at Wilmington, Ohio State, National University of Mexico, and Universities of Florida and California. Mr. Robert Covell obtained his B. A. and M. A. at Ohio U. and attended Fordham. He teaches world history, geography and business practice. Miss Ruth Burton attended Ohio State to obtain her B. A. She is a teacher of both modern and commercial history. Mr. J. R. Freeland, who teaches American history and economics, secured his B. S. degree at Ohio State. Mr. Nelson Brown acquired his B. A. at Ohio U. He teaches modern and American history and sponsors the Sinhioto Club. Mr. Joe Kegley, who teaches American history and civics, obtained his B. A. at Milligan College, Tennessee.

Contribution

Mr. Brown, Arthur Klemme and Jennie Hutchison present historical editions to Phyllis Wright, librarian.

Inquiring into local past, current affairs

Everyone is river-conscious this month. Another flood seems to be impending as the waters cover the towpath and force county students to leave school at noon. The old "Sinhioto" is on the warpath! Sinhioto is the name given the Scioto River by the Indians, and also the name of a popular club at Portsmouth High School, which, in its own name, presented to the library during the current book campaign, volumes of historical value.

"History made interesting" would be an appropriate synonym for this Sinhioto Club, sponsored by Mr. Nelson Brown, junior and senior history teacher. Although very young as yet, the club is fast growing. The members study history from a new angle—not as students preparing for a test, but as people who are really interested in the past and its effect on present and future. Qualified speakers add much to the enjoyment and the educational purposes of the meetings. Only those students with averages in history above eighty may join the club. These young Ohioans become more familiar with the history of their state by hearing the interesting discourses on historic sites and episodes in Ohio, and no state has had a more absorbing history than this one, which was once inhabited and controlled by the fierce Shawnee tribes.

This year the club has not only studied Ohio history but has also discussed and heard discussed affairs in Europe. The Sinhioto Club provides a background for future history which will be partly made by the members of this school. Intelligent thoughts and sound ideas gained may do a great deal towards safeguarding American democracy for the generations to come.

Regarding Literature in various lights

Literature friends at home and abroad are better acquainted with the members of the English Club than any other students. Many interesting talks and readings are given by guest speakers and the students themselves. The month of February is one of the months of famous birthdays, especially of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington. Readings on both Lincoln and Washington, "Lincoln's Proposal" and "Nellie and Little Washington" were given by two members, and a paper on "The Perfect Tribute" was also presented at another meeting.

Seated: B. Pugh, D. Ralston, S. Rapp, P. Smith, K. Stockham, V. Thompson, M. Van Bibber. Standing: R. Wendleken, W. Womack, H. Zuhars.

Jesse Wagus, a teacher of Spanish at P. H. S., gave an interesting talk on the Indians of by-gone days in America. He told the origin of some Indian legends, explaining the meanings of various Indian literature. He also sang several songs in Sioux Indian language.

Miss Edith Johnston, ancient history teacher of P. H. S., showed at a former program some interesting motion pictures of England taken during one of her tours in Europe.

Not only are educational topics taken up at the meetings, but also many catchy games and lively parties and picnics are enjoyed by the club.

During the first and second years of high school, the ground work is laid in both literature and grammar, and the third and fourth years are spent in studying American and English authors. A very important part of the English course for upper classmen is public speaking. This includes the presentation of original speeches and interpretive readings, and is taught by Miss Dorothy Shultz, who received her B. A. degree at Ohio Wesleyan. She also attended Ohio State University and The University of Michigan. In addition Miss Shultz teaches debate, dramatics, and sponsors the Revellers Club.

Another part of the English course which is being continued with gratifying results is remedial English. Mr. Jesse Stuart teaches this type of English along with his regular sophomore classes. Mr. Stuart received his A. B. degree at Lincoln Memorial College; he has worked towards his M. A. degree at Peabody and Vanderbilt College. His stories may be read in many fine magazines and his books giving telling pictures of his home state are widely known: "The Man with the Bull-Tongued Plow", "Head of W-Hollow", and "Beyond Dark Hills". Miss Isabel Musser received her B. A. degree from Ohio Wesleyan. She teaches freshman and sophomore English. Miss Mary Elizabeth Schwartz received her B. A. degree from Western College for Women. She attended Ohio State University to receive her M. A. degree and she also attended Ohio University. She teaches third year English. Miss Gurney Noel, who sponsors the Photoplay Club, teaches senior English. She obtained her B. S. and M. A. degrees at Columbia University. Miss Gladys Hughes received her B. A. degree at Ohio Wesleyan and teaches second and third year English. Miss Carrie Pfarr obtained her B. A. degree at Ohio Wesleyan and her M. A. degree at Columbia. She teaches junior English, and she sponsors the English Club.

Miss Lucy Riggs attended Western College for Women to obtain her A. B. degree, and she also attended University of Virginia. She is a teacher of freshman English. Miss Ruth Cyfers, a teacher of freshman English, acquired her B. S. and M. A. degrees at Ohio University. Miss Genevieve Dupre has attended Oberlin Conservatory of Music, Miami University, University of Wisconsin, and Ohio University where she received her B. S. degree. She teaches freshman English. Miss Margaret Anderson received her B. A. degree at Ohio Wesleyan; she attended several other schools including Ohio University, University of Wisconsin, and University of Arizona. She teaches third and fourth year English, and she is the advisor of the Echo. Miss Margaret Helbig attended Ohio State University, where she acquired her B. S. degree. She teaches freshman and sophomore English.

Acquiring skill with metals, wood, machines;

In order to better acquaint the boys with the advanced details of machinery and mechanical drawing, the Industrial Arts Club was formed under the sponsorship of Mr. Carl Martin. After the resignation of Mr. Martin last year the club was taken over by Mr. A. L. Monrad and Mr. Fred Multer. It has been a very active club throughout its history. The boys in the club may build any project they wish, either of wood or metal, and work on it after school hours.

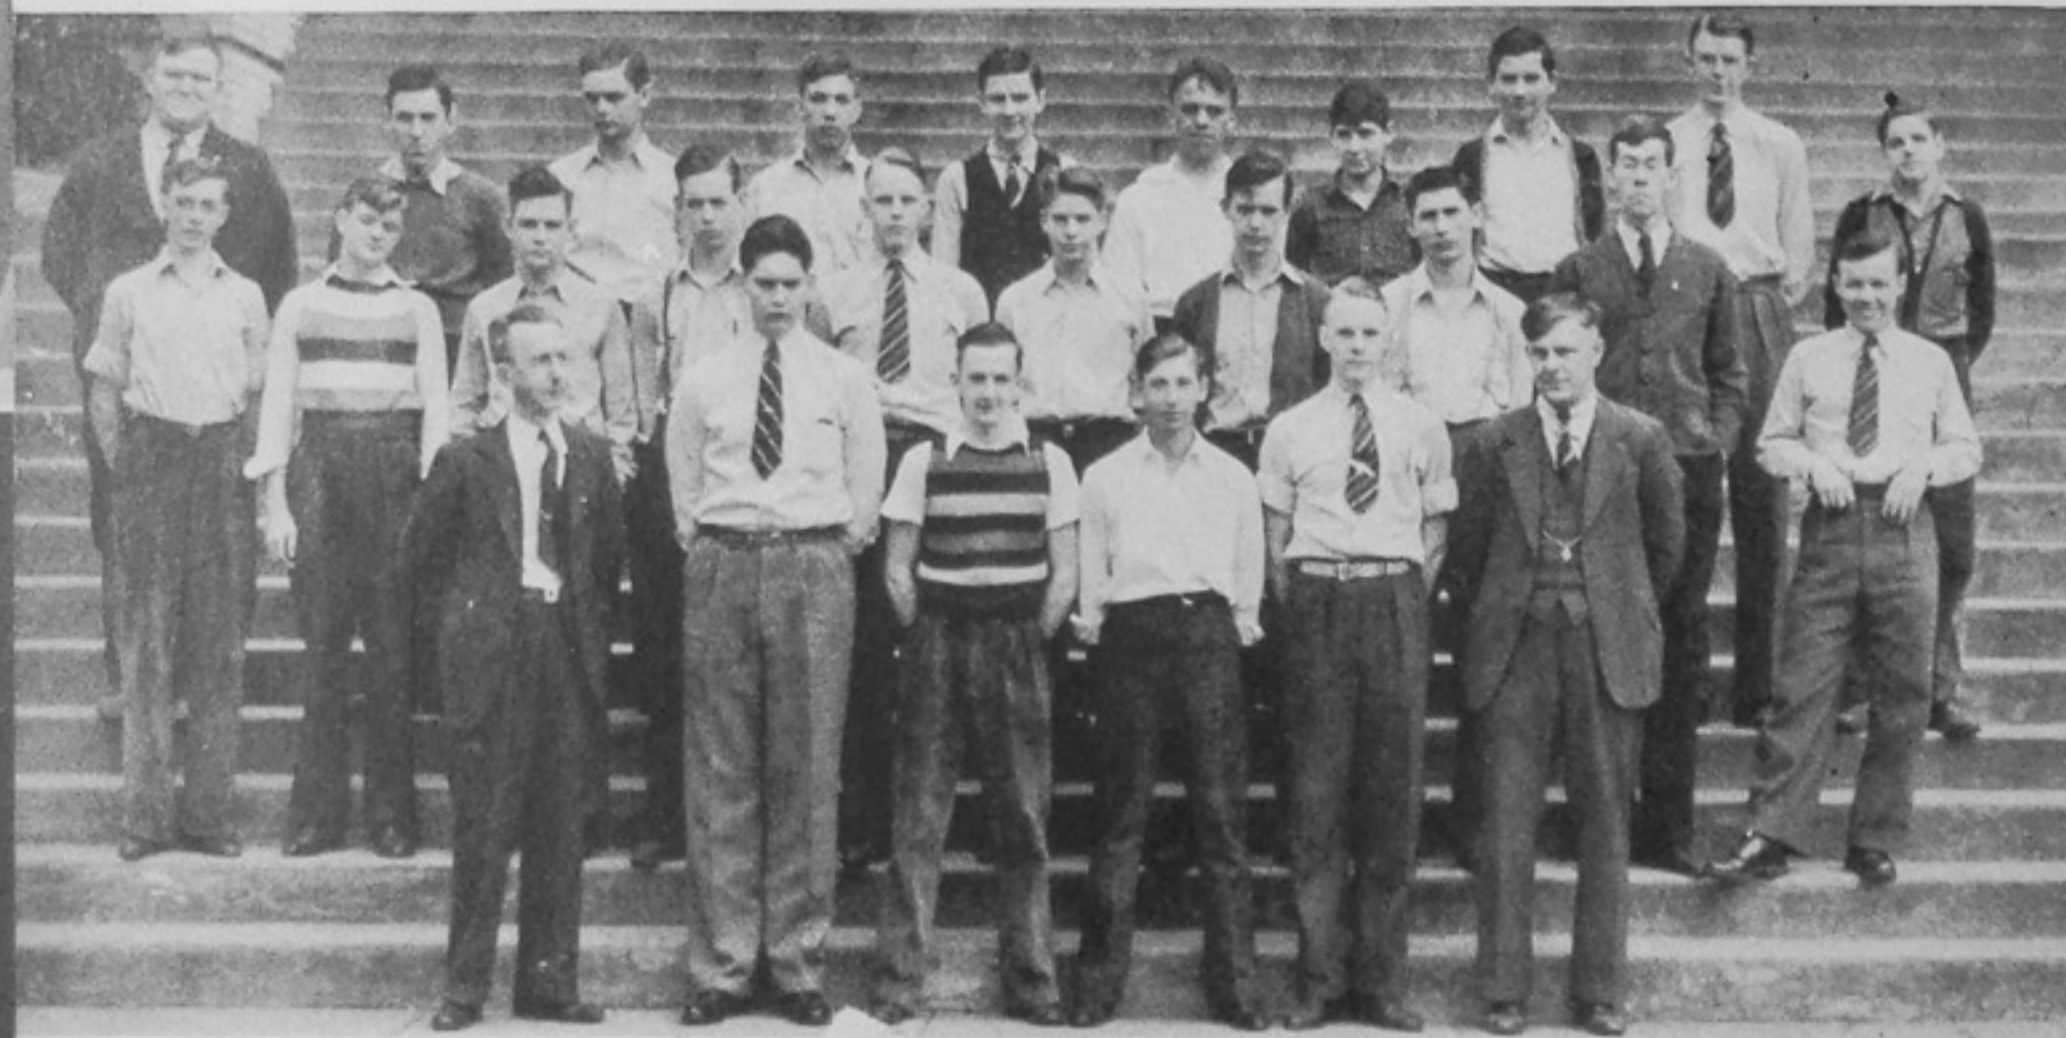

Besides enabling the boys to make these projects, the group plans trips to the various industrial plants in this vicinity. Some of the trips considered so far this year are to the Wheeling Steel, Selby Shoe Company and The Armco Plant in Ashland. All three of these trips will prove very beneficial and educational to the boys of the club.

It is not all work in the club however, there is a great deal of entertainment also. One of the big events of the year is the basketball tournament between the teams chosen from the boys in the club. Five captains were elected to choose the teams. They were: Ralph Mackey, Richard Schneider, Harold Kinker, Loel Cooper, Russell Anderson, Donald Schramm. The tournament was played on Friday, 24 of this month. The team captained by Russell Anderson came out on top, defeating Richard Schneider's team in the finals by a score of 44 to 21.

Another big event in the Industrial Arts Club is their annual picnic. Plans are being made by a special picnic committee consisting of Russell Anderson, Howard Queen, William Harrison, Grant Daniels, Pat Daulton, and Donald Schramm.

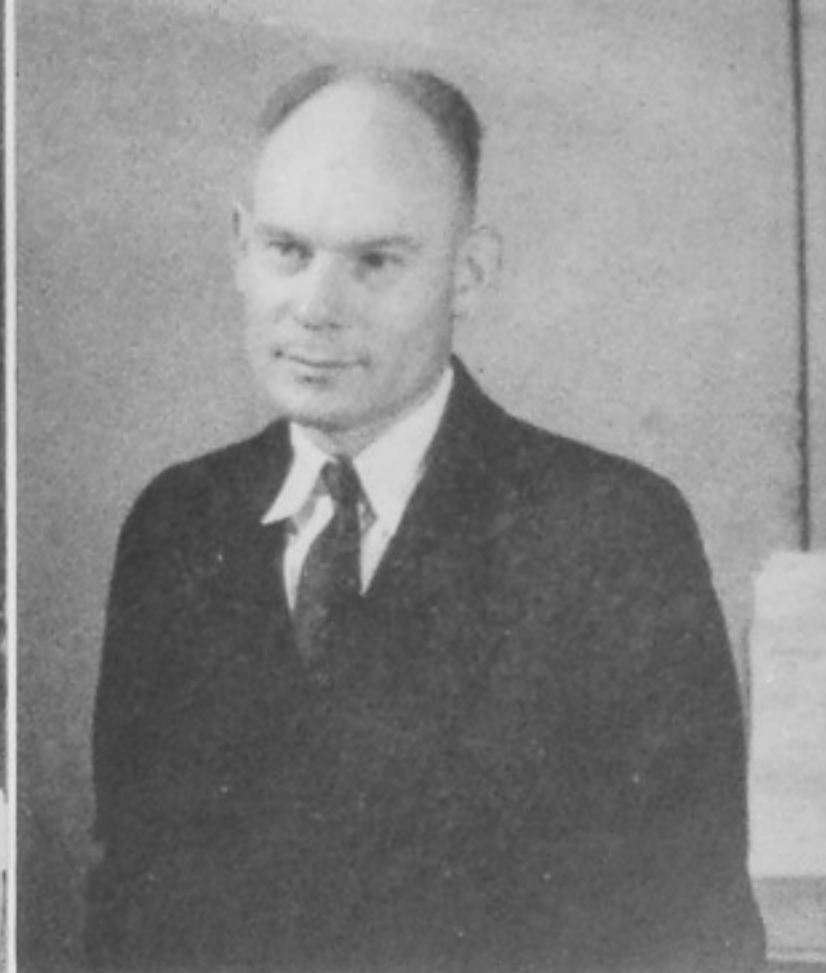

The organization of the club is controlled by the sponsors Mr. Monrad and Mr. Multer, Mr. R. E. Hopkins also aids in every way possible. Mr. Monrad received his M. E. degree from

In the commercial department is heard the click! click! click! of busy typists. Puzzled beginners in business arithmetic and bookkeeping

degree in education at Oberlin College. Since Miss Cole has been very ill recently, she may resign her position in the near future. Another bookkeeping instructor is Mr. Walter W. Simmons who received his B. S. degree from University of Illinois.

Mr. Gale Watts, who teaches typing and penmanship was awarded a B. S. degree in Education from Bliss College. Typing and stenography are taught by Miss Zola Knight who possesses a B. A. degree from Muskingum College. Mr. Howard McMains is teaching business law, and also bookkeeping, having obtained a B. S. degree at Indiana State Teachers College.

An A. B. degree secured at Otterbein College qualifies Mrs. Nellie Niswonger to simplify the problems of business arithmetic. Besides teaching commercial geography, Mr. Paul Jenkins coaches football and basketball. He received his A. B. degree from the University of Kentucky. Mr. Bert Leach attended Western Normal and teaches shorthand. Mr. Basil Bell teaches typing; he received a B. S. degree at the University of Tennessee and also attended Bowling Green College and Marysville College. Mr. C. F. Stedman attended Ohio University where he merited a B. A. degree in Commerce, a B. S. degree in Education, and an M. A. degree in School Administration. He teaches bookkeeping and business arithmetic.

Commercial students take part in many school activities, and they also have a large club of their own which presents an entertaining play each year. In order to promote efficiency, speed, and accuracy among the commercial students, the teachers award pins to rapid typists and certificates to neat and accurate penmen.

Commercial students are here to develop into successful business leaders, professional typists, stenographers, bookkeepers, or perhaps teachers like the ones who have taught them. They may even work as assistants in our efficient high school office under their former principal, for both Miss Katherine Krall, secretary to Mr. Da

Having such an excellent background perhaps explains the great efficiency with which they have executed the office duties. They are in charge of permanent records, schedules, absence lists, and many other things which are vital to the administration. They are also as-balance sheets. The finances of the athletic department, and the Echo and Trojan staffs are among the great responsibilities of the accounting department.

Juniors enact second wierd "Tiger" drama

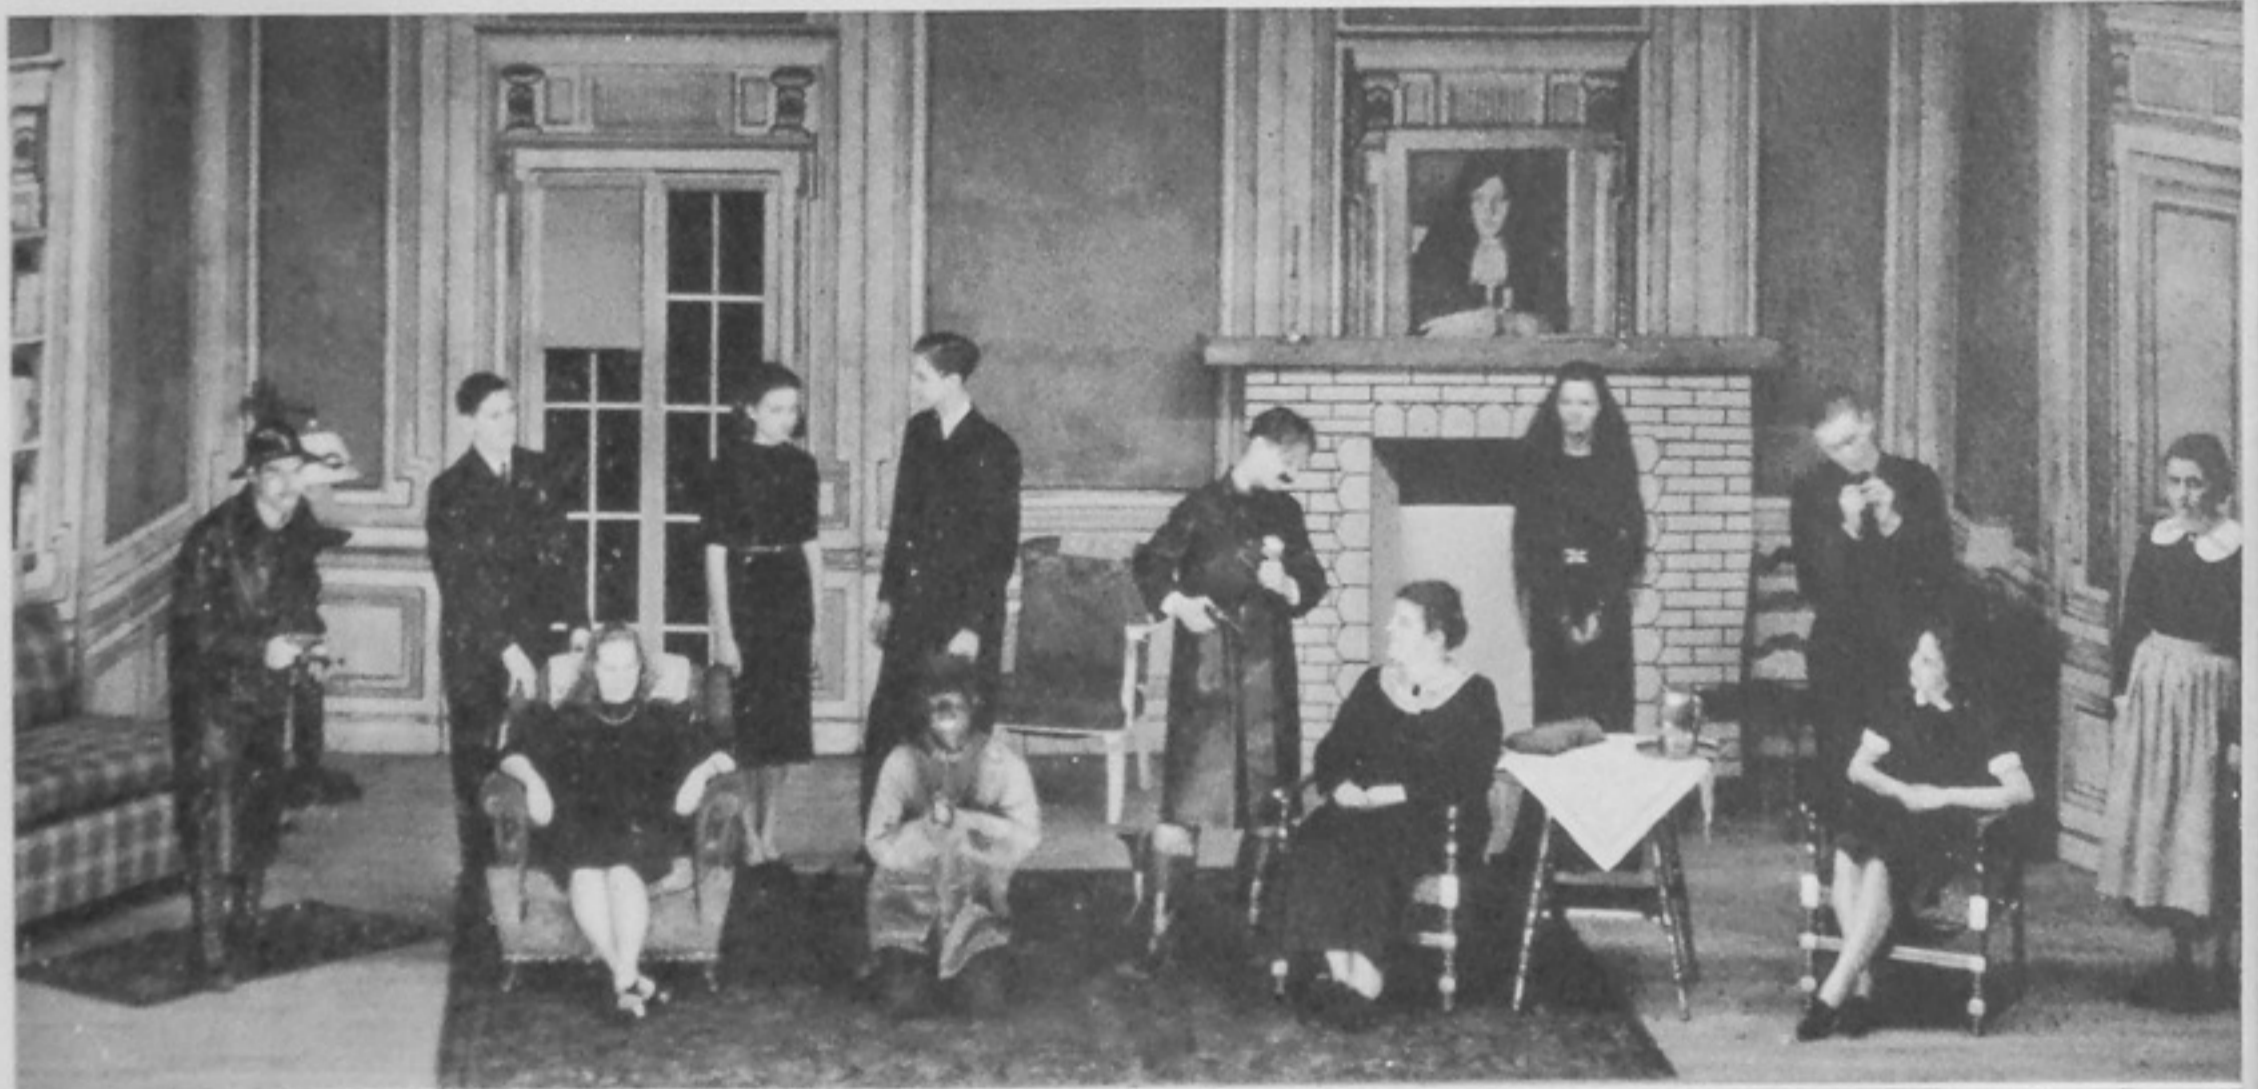

Mystery reared its eerie head in every act of "The Phantom Tiger" (Nov. 9, 10), the most outstanding achievement of the junior class during its high school career. It was a big success largely because of the enthusiastic direction of Mr. James McElhaney, who was assisted by Miss Ruth Burton, Mr. Jesse Wagus and Mr. Nelson Brown.

The plot of the play evolves around the will of Aunt Sylvia (Ruth Segur) who has left her house, Mystery Manor, and entire fortune to her niece, Erma Lowrie (Josephine Rickey). The play is a sequel to "Tiger House", the junior play given last year. Arthur (Scotty Bouldin) and Thompson (Earl Gibson), who have been locked in the cellar to be guarded by Sheriff Osgood (Dee Murphy), manage to escape. Arthur returns for Erma and the necklace, which later turns out to be a fake. Thompson is found clawed and bloody; this terrorizes the entire household. Erma and MacIntosh decide that the wall must be sealed so that whoever has been haunting the house will be caught or starve to death. Mrs.

Murdock is forced to confess that Aunt Sylvia has been hiding in the passages behind the fireplace and calls for her to come out. Aunt Sylvie explained herself by saying she was interested in magic and wanted to try to use her powers. She had her pet tiger hidden with her but was forced to kill him when she found him clawing Thompson. The play contains many tense and exciting moments but everything concludes satisfactorily due to Erma's courageous sweetheart (Lou Chapman). The suspense is sometimes broken by the hilarious comedy roles played by Dee Murphy as Sheriff Osgood who furnishes many a laugh in his tender moments with Aunt Sophia (Jane Lavinder); Spencer Davis as Oswald the entomologist, who attempts to escape the matrimonial intentions of Peggy Van Ness (Joan Meyers); and Bill Anderson as Rhumba.

The mystery woman (Phyllis Drew) and Mrs. Murdock (Doris Cole) added greatly to the mystic atmosphere. The lighting and sound effects were excellent.

Players: E. Gibson, L. Chapman, J. Rickey, P. Drew, S. Bouldin, B. Anderson, D. Murphy, J. Lavinder, R. Segur, S. Davis, J. Meyers, D. Cole.

● Tourney ends season

When the intramural league was organized this year, twelve teams answered the call to begin the season. The squads were permitted to choose their own names, and some quite original ones were received by Mr. Charles Ramey, the director of the league. The "Little Taters", who won the tournament last year, took the league championship by winning 10 games, only losing 1. The "Hot Foots" won the tournament this year, but tied for second place in the league with the "Rams". Each chalked up 9 wins and two losses. The "Flukes" and "Ramblers" were next with 7 wins and 4 losses each. The "Demons", "All-Stars", and "Hunkies" each won 6 and lost 5. The "Has Beens" won 4 and lost 7, followed by the "Flashes" and "Skunk Hollow" who won 2 and lost 9 each. The "Panthers" lost 11 with no wins.

Seniors excel in basketball

Of all the sports in which the girls participate none is followed with keener interest than basketball. In the inter-class games the senior girls were victorious over all the other teams. There were several brilliant players on this experienced team, headed by captain Etta Gims. The other teams not lacking in talent. The juniors were backed up by Frances Craft, captain, and Jo Rickey. The sophomores and freshmen were given confidence by Marj. Griffin, Joan Gims, Jean Payne and Juanita Newman.

Miss Bell then chose two varsity teams, the Reds and the Blues. The Reds were headed by Josephine Rickey, and the Blues had Etta Jane Gims as their captain. These teams played before the Huntington game on February 17. The Reds won 13 to 10.

Doing "volley" well

In order to fill in the gap between the basketball and sockball seasons, the athletically-minded girls turn to volleyball. From the large number of girls who tried out, Miss Charlotte Bell selected four teams from each of the four classes. After about a week of practice the inter-class games began.

Long before the end of the season the seniors were heading for the victory, although they had been rather handicapped all along because they had only about six players for each game. However, like the freshmen, they were easily victorious over the other teams. The captain of the senior team was Dolores Haislet.

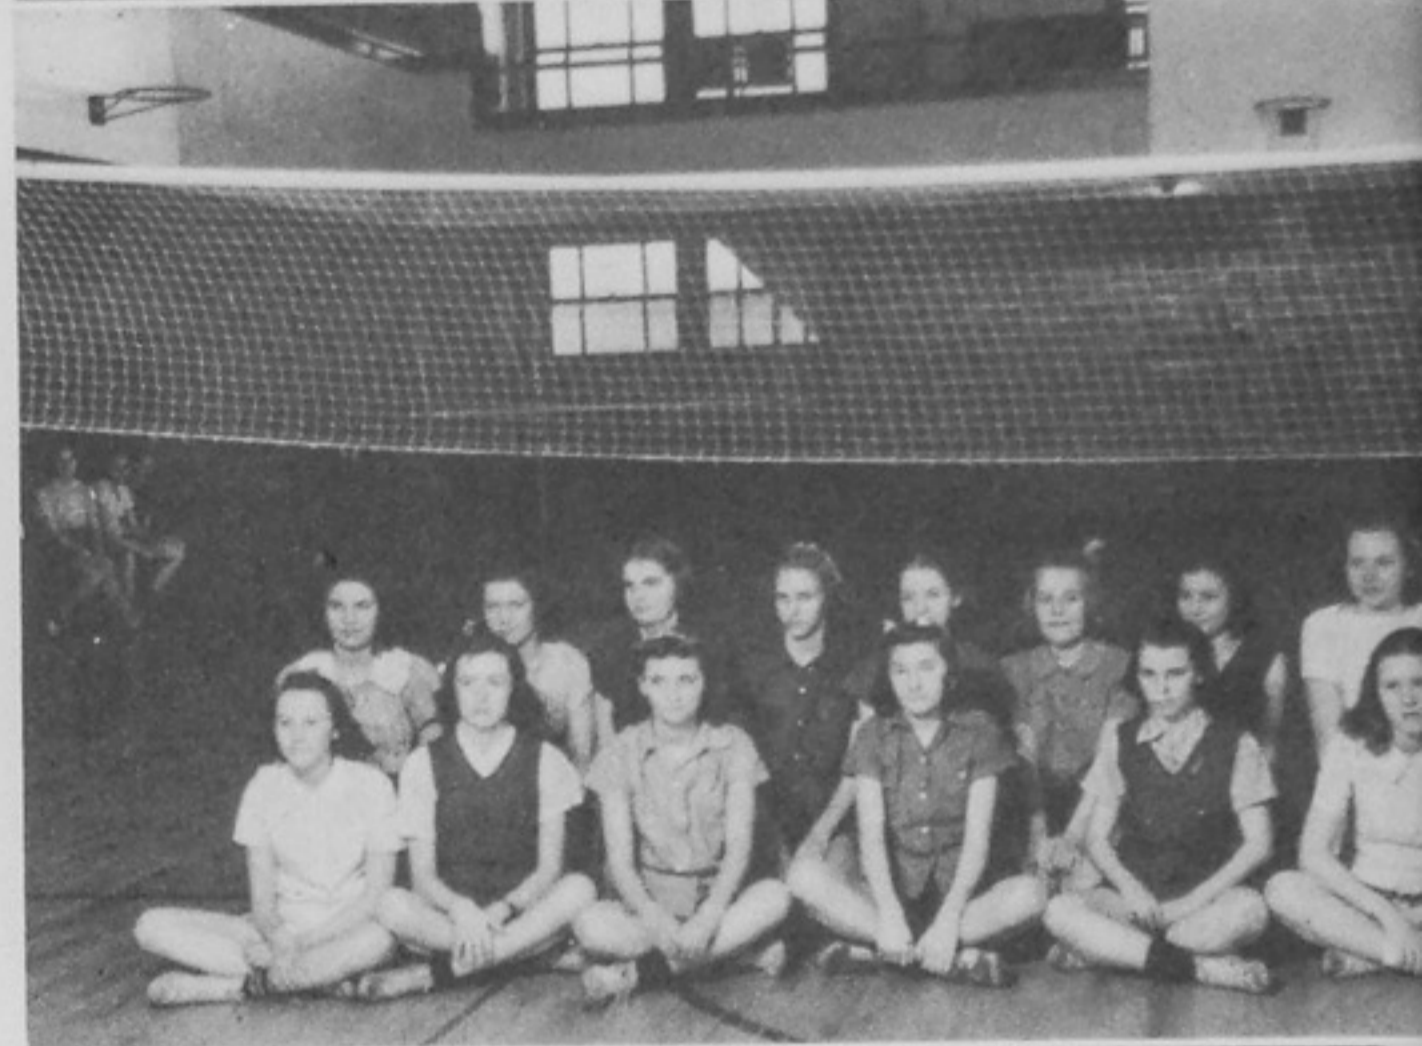

Betty Pressler was the captain of the junior team. Jo Rickey was the main stay of the team along with Jean Herzog, Phyllis Drew, and Elizabeth Smith. The sophomores were headed by Dorothy Brown. Several of the outstanding sophomores were Joan Gims, Jean McCoy, and Betty Bachman. The captain of the freshmen was Ruth Ann Peake. She was ably assisted by Jean Payne, Patty Breece, and Judy Reed.

Sharing league cage trophy with Middies,

Once more the Portsmouth Trojans have brought home the bacon. This time it was the championship of the Southeastern District Class A Basketball Tournament. Playing in the Ohio University gymnasium, the Trojans completely controlled the tournament by easily defeating their four opponents, Pomeroy, Ironton, Athens, and Hillsboro. The Trojans also rated in the all-star tournament team, placing two of its members, Paul Kline and Captain George Heller on the first team as guards and James Barker as center on the second team.

The Trojans opened their 1938-39 basketball season on December 16 with a game with Columbus South. Although they had had but little practice the Trojans emerged easy victors by a 9 point lead, 20 to 11. Redding was top scorer with 6 points while Captain Heller scored 5. In their next game, the Trojans defeated Marietta 23 to 17 (Dec. 21). The boys displayed a good defense, but were weak on the offense. Heller and Barker led the scoring with 7 apiece. Meeting a fast-breaking sharp-shooting team from Akron North (Dec. 23), the team experienced its first loss of the season by a 29 to 25 score. Heller led the Trojan scoring with 8 points. In their following game the Trojans again tasted bitter defeat. The Big Blues from Hamilton eked out a 28 to 26 victory (Dec. 27) over their hosts in an overtime period. Kline and Heller accounted for 16 of the 26 points. The Trojans won their next game, their first in the Southern Ohio Scholastic League by defeating Middletown (Dec. 29) 16 to 14 in a tight, defensive battle. The Trojans started their first road trip with a second league win as they defeated Norwood (Jan. 6) 28 to 24 in a slow, unexciting game. Clyde Redding was the star of the game, scoring 15 points. Traveling on to Hamilton (Jan. 7), the Trojans again tasted defeat at the hands of the Big Blues. In one of the most thrilling games of the season, Hamilton won by a score of 18 to 17. Kline was the Trojan top scorer with 10 points. Again playing at Grant gym (Jan. 13), the Trojans defeated Chillicothe 18 to 12. Heller and Barker scored 6 apiece. Playing at Huntington (Jan. 17), the failure of the Trojans to cash in on their free shots cost them the game. In spite of Kline's twelve points the Trojans went down to defeat 40 to 36. The team marked up its third league victory (Jan. 20) by defeating its arch rival from Ironton 34 to 21. Barker led the scoring with 9 points. The Trojans continued their fine showing in the Southern Ohio Scholastic League, taming the Springfield Wildcats (Jan. 28) by a score of 43 to 14. Captain Heller connected with 6 baskets to lead the scoring. The Trojans again defeated Chillicothe 31 to 20. Kline led with 9.

so they postponed and later forfeited it. This gave the Trojans their fifth league victory. The inability of the Trojans to stop the two star players of the Middletown Sailors (Feb. 10) spelled defeat for the visiting Trojans. These two players, Cornella and Pugh, scored 21 of their team's 22 points while the entire Portsmouth team was scoring 20. Sophomore Brady accounted for seven of these points. This was the first defeat in six games of league competition for the Trojans. The Trojans softened their defeat and racked up another league victory (Feb. 11) by again taming the Wildcats from Springfield 44 to 15. Brady, the sensational sophomore, again led the team with 16 points. However, the Trojans again lost (Feb. 17) to the Huntington Pony Express 21 to 20. Wolf, Pony Express Star, won the game in the last half minute with a foul shot, his only score. Barker scored 10 points for Portsmouth. Winding up its regular schedule, the team went to Ironton (Feb. 24) to play its last league game, and was barely able to eke out a 23 to 22 victory. The Trojans ended the season with a record of 11 wins against 6 losses. They tied with Middletown for the championship of the Southern Ohio League.

On March 3, the Trojans went to Athens to participate in the district class A tournament. They drew Pomeroy for the first round; and were easy victors by a score of 39 to 27. Kline and Barker led the scoring with 12 and 14 points. In the quarter finals, the Trojans played their arch rival from Ironton, and for the third time this season defeated them, this time 36 to 19. The Trojans led 17 to 0 at the first quarter. Sophomore Delbert Rice led the scoring with 15 points. Playing in the semi-finals, the Trojans again marked up an easy 47 to 24 victory over the Athens team. Advancing to the finals, the Trojans met another easy opponent, Hillsboro. All ten Trojan players saw action as Hillsboro went down 58 to 27. Kline and Barker again led the scoring with 13 and 14 points.

Participating in the state finals for the first time since 1934 the Trojans played Dayton Fairview in the first round of the tournament. The Trojans led 16 to 9 at the first quarter, but Dayton forged ahead in the second and stayed there to win the game 40 to 32.

Reserves - developing necessary dexterity

Placing third in the Southern Ohio Reserve League with 8 wins and 8 losses, the younger Trojans ended their season with a close game with Ironton.

Coached by Peggy Ellsesser, the Trojan Reserves made their first public appearance December 16 with a game between the first and second squads. The first squad proved its worth by a decisive 42 to 17 victory. The Reserves played their first scheduled game against the Green Township varsity, but the county lads were a little too strong, and the Reserves lost 24 to 21. The team marked up its first win with a 33 to 17 victory over a weak South Point team. In their next game, however they were severely trounced by the Hamilton Reserves 27 to 16. Playing their first game in the Southern Ohio Reserve League, the boys dropped a hotly contested battle to the visiting Middletown Reserves. The Portsmouth lads next traveled to Norwood and Hamilton for their first road trip; a revamped squad rolled over the weak Norwood Reserves 43 to 18, but they were again smothered by Hamilton, scoring only 18 points to Hamilton's 30. Friday, the thirteenth, was certainly unlucky for the Reserves; they dropped a heart-breaking game to McDermott 14 to 15. The boys next went to Huntington to defeat their hosts 27 to 18. In their following game the boys humiliated their arch rivals from Ironton with an easy 30 to 6 victory in a league contest. The lads marked up another S. O. league victory by turning back the Springfield Reserves 29 to 19. The team continued its winning streak with a win over Chillicothe 32 to 8. Another win was added to their record when Norwood forfeited its return game. The team dropped its next two league games to Middletown 14 to 11 and to Springfield 19 to 15. They again defeated Huntington 18 to 13, but the Ironton Reserves avenged their earlier loss with a 15 to 16 victory in the team's last game of the season.

These boys make up the team (above): front—D. Horton, C. Lightfoot, O. Apel, J. Callihan, P. Young, R. Robinson; back—B. Franck, H. Arthurs, B. Combs, H. Van Gilder, J. Babcock; absent—D. Gardner.

Ably performing their sometimes thankless duties, the indispensable managers of the basketball squads deserve much credit for the excellent showings made by Portsmouth teams. They are: Dwight Richards (standing, above right), trainer; Harold Leightenheimer, Bob Kalb, freshman managers; Bill Friel (front), reserve manager; and Tom Bryant, manager of the varsity.

During the month of March, games were played every week to determine who would be the victors in the Intramural Basketball League limited to gym classes.

Out of the four-hundred boys who entered this gigantic contest the six in the above picture emerged with the coveted title of "champions".

No little credit for these hard fought games is due to the coach, Mr. "Peggy" Ellsesser under whose expert supervision all the boys played.

The Merchants, which was the title of the champs, defeated the Gladiators II in the finals by a score of 13 to 12. For winning the tournament Coach Ellsesser fed the victors delicious banana-splits.

Retaining district crown for frosh teams

This year's freshmen team turned out to be one of the most promising squads ever produced in Portsmouth High School. The Tots, as they are called, were again under the supervision of Coach Charles Lorentz, also the mentor of reserve football and varsity tennis.

Approximately sixty-four eager boys stepped out for a place on the first team. Only thirteen of the sixty-four were picked. Coach Charles Ramey aided Coach Lorentz in choosing the team. They started off their season in good style by handing the Green Township reserves a defeat by the small margin of 23 to 22. The team showed good cooperation in the second game of the season, by putting Otway on the small end of a 15 to 11 score. The third game brought South Webster into Grant Gym where they also suffered defeat by the "Little Trojies" with a score of 17 to 14. The Fullerton-McKell team was the next victim of the Tots, going home with a defeat by the Ohio lads to the score of 26 to 22. The Tots held the Rarden High School, for the fifth game, to four points and racked up 36 points for themselves. Led by high scorer Bill Williams the terrific Tots massacred the Sciotoville Reserves 36 to 2. For the seventh game of their season the Tots narrowly defeated the Lucasville squad to the tune of 25 to 22, to bring their record up to seven wins and no losses for the season. The Tots then journeyed to Gallipolis where they played in the Southeastern Ohio Tournament. There they defeated Gallipolis 23 to 11; Pomeroy 52 to 6; and Athens 24 to 13, therefore claiming the championship over the Southeastern Ohio Class A teams. This is the second year in succession this honor has been bestowed upon P. H. S. The success of Coach Lorentz's boys indicates a strong Trojan varsity team in the near future.

Bill Williams and Clifford Williams were the two high point men on the team. They each played a wonderful season and proved themselves to be strong future basketeters. Paul Jones and Calvin Withrow were also two fine positions in the freshmen lineups.

Maestri-batoning music performance

Student musicians find in Portsmouth High many opportunities to develop this interest. Both instrumental and vocal training are offered to those having these talents. Mr. Schnabl and Miss Resler are devoted to teaching the study and development of good music in Portsmouth High School.

The band and the orchestra under the decisive leadership of Professor Henri Schnabl have become two of the outstanding organizations in P. H. S. Mr. Schnabl, who composed the "A'ma Mater Song" and the "P. H. S. March", received his B. M. degree from the College of Music, Mannheim, Germany. While in Mannheim Mr. Schnabl was a member of the National Theater Symphony. He also attended the Army Band School in Gernerheim. He has done graduate work at Ohio State University and the Black School of Music in Chicago, and for one year was director of bands of the Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College.

Miss Cleo Resler, under whose direction the Girls Junior and Senior Glee Clubs have flourished, is completing her seventh year as vocal instructor here. Miss Resler secured her B. M. degree from the Cincinnati Music College. She has studied at the Cosmopolitan School of Music in Chicago and under Marchesi in France. Miss Resler annually directs the musical comedy, which always proves to be one of the highlights of the year.

MISS RESLER

Music is one of the most inspiring of all extra curricular activities. The high school orchestra has always been an aid in musically educating the student body. Mr. Henri Schnabl has developed the orchestra remarkably this year, almost doubling its membership. The beautiful music heard between acts of the various high school plays and at some special assemblies is supplied by this organization. When the audience seems impatient for the curtain to rise, the orchestra quiets their spirits with such soothing songs as Tocelli's contest was entirely devoted to solo and ensemble competition, with about 400 contestants.

The second day of the contest, April 1, will bring nearly 1500 students to Portsmouth to compete in the band and orchestra contest. The winners of the district contest are privileged to participate in the State Contest. The soloists and ensembles must travel to Oberlin to vie for state honors. As in the past this representation will undoubtedly bring much prestige to the school as a result of their efforts in music.

"Serenade". At the assembly at which Gypsy Smith made an address, some haunting gypsy music was played. An outstanding attraction of the orchestra is the string quartet, composed of Pauleen Smith, Kathryn Kegley, Betty Wells, and Mary Spriggs. Other features are the string sextet, Mary Spriggs, Janet Revare, Betty Wells, Kathryn Kegley, Ruth Bias, and Billigene Dupre;

Betty Wells's cello solos; and Pauleen Smith's violin solos. At the District Contest just held in Portsmouth the ensembles and solo artists received superior ratings, as did Francis Dale, student orchestra conductor. The first day of the Providing martial inspiration to music-minded Portsmouth, under the direction of Mr. Henri Schnabl, this musical group provides stirring marches and classical selections at assemblies, civic affairs, and football and basketball games. play, with equal skill, marches by John Philip Sousa and their own entertaining arrangement of "She'll Be Comin' Round the Mountain When She Comes". Formerly boys and girls in the band wore identical uniforms. Now the girls have Scotch skirts instead of trousers.

Besides the many functions of the band that concern the athletic teams, Mr. Schnabl leads the band in several contests. Each year this musical organization enters the Eisteddfod at Jackson, where they receive experience for later contests. Several years the band has held the state championship ('31, '33, '34, and '36).

For those functions not suitable for an entire band ensembles and soloists are invited to perform. Don Scott, tuba soloist, uses every opportunity he has to perform as a means of gaining experience. He received a superior rating in the district contest. Melvin Doerr, clarinetist, received a rating of excellent, as did John Snook, baritonist. The clarinet trio composed of Melvin Doerr, Robert Kah, and Lee Kenard, received a rating of superior. Those superior raters will represent the music department at the state contest.

Rendering operetta "Chimes of Normandy",

To charm the student body this year, the glee club selected "The Chimes of Normandy", a light operetta, written by Robert Planquette. With Miss Resler directing the double cast they gave a performance which delighted everyone who saw it.

The setting of the story was laid in Corneville, a village in Normandy, France. The great annual fair was in progress there, and the men and girls were offering their services as servants, while discussing the scandal of the village. Serpolette, the village cut-up (Mary Janet Hayes and Pauleen Smith) entered in time to "turn the tables" on the girls who had been talking about her.

Gaspard, an old miser, (Russell Long and James Rigrish) wished to marry his niece, Germaine (Garnet Virgin and Ella Louise Schuler) to the Magistrate of the District, the Bailli (Robert Lantz). Germaine, however, had vowed that she would marry no one except Grenicheux (Joe Hamblin) who claimed that he had saved her from drowning at one time. To escape Gaspard, she engaged herself as a servant to Henri, Count de Corneville, (Don Grashel) who had been in exile since childhood, but who had returned to his old castle.

Henri was determined to discover the truth about the apparitions in his castle, and learned that they were caused by Gaspard, who had hidden his treasures there.

Through a document left by the Marquis de Lucinay, a friend of the old count, it was learned that Germaine was the real heiress. She eventually learned that Henri, not Grenicheux saved her from drowning, and promised to marry him.

Choralists - accompanied, a capella,

Among the melodious activities of the school are the Glee Clubs, under the direction of Miss Cleo Resler.

These musical organizations provide the basis for our school operettas. This year they are presenting "The Chimes of Normandy", which has a delightful French background. The talent of these singers aided by the constant work of Miss Resler promises a high rating for the clubs this year in the district and state contests.

Typical of all theater meetings of the Photoplay Club is the scene above, left, in which the members are buying their tickets. The club attends one or two movies every month to study and enjoy the factors which make a successful screen production.

March proved to be a particularly busy and entertaining month for the Photoplay Club. The juniors and seniors, who comprise the club's membership, have the privilege of attending the better pictures at special rates. This month they saw "Pygmalion" and "Gunga Din".

At their regular monthly meeting they discussed and criticized these movies, and reports and reviews were given of the pictures they hope to see in the future.

The Photoplay Club belongs to the National Organization of Four Star Clubs and is sponsored by Miss Gurney Noel.

Music hath charm

Contestants - state, national

Great crowds of well-trained music students were in Portsmouth on April 1 for the District Music Festival. Twelve hundred representatives from twenty-six schools were present.

The Portsmouth High School organizations made an exceptionally good showing. Playing for criticism only, the band was rated superior minus. The orchestra was rated superior.

In the vocal events the girls' chorus, under the direction of Miss Cleo Resler, was ranked superior, and the mixed chorus was given the same classification. Mary Janet Hayes (opp. page) was awarded a superior rating for her soprano solo.

Ratings were announced for Friday, when individual contestants were given an opportunity to show their musical skill. Pauleen Smith (top, 2nd) was graded superior plus for her violin solo. Betty Wells, (top left), who played a cello solo, was rated as a superior celloist; Don Scott (top, right), tuba soloist, was also ranked as superior. Francis Dale was superior as a student conductor.

The string quartet, which has been especially outstanding every time it has played so far this year, was awarded a superior rating. This quartet is composed of Pauleen Smith, Kathryn Kegley, Mary Emma Spriggs, violinists, and Betty Wells, celloist. A trumpet trio, composed of Richard Brunner, Jack Kelly, and Richard Goetz, received a superior rating also.

Disseminating Christian atmosphere, ideas

Sponsored by the Y. M. C. A., the Hi-Y, an organization which is world-wide, consists of boys selected from the junior and senior classes in Portsmouth High School.

Hi-Y is one of the school's outstanding Christian organizations and strives to create, maintain, and extend Christian character. Because of its high ideals it is considered an honor to be elected one of its members.

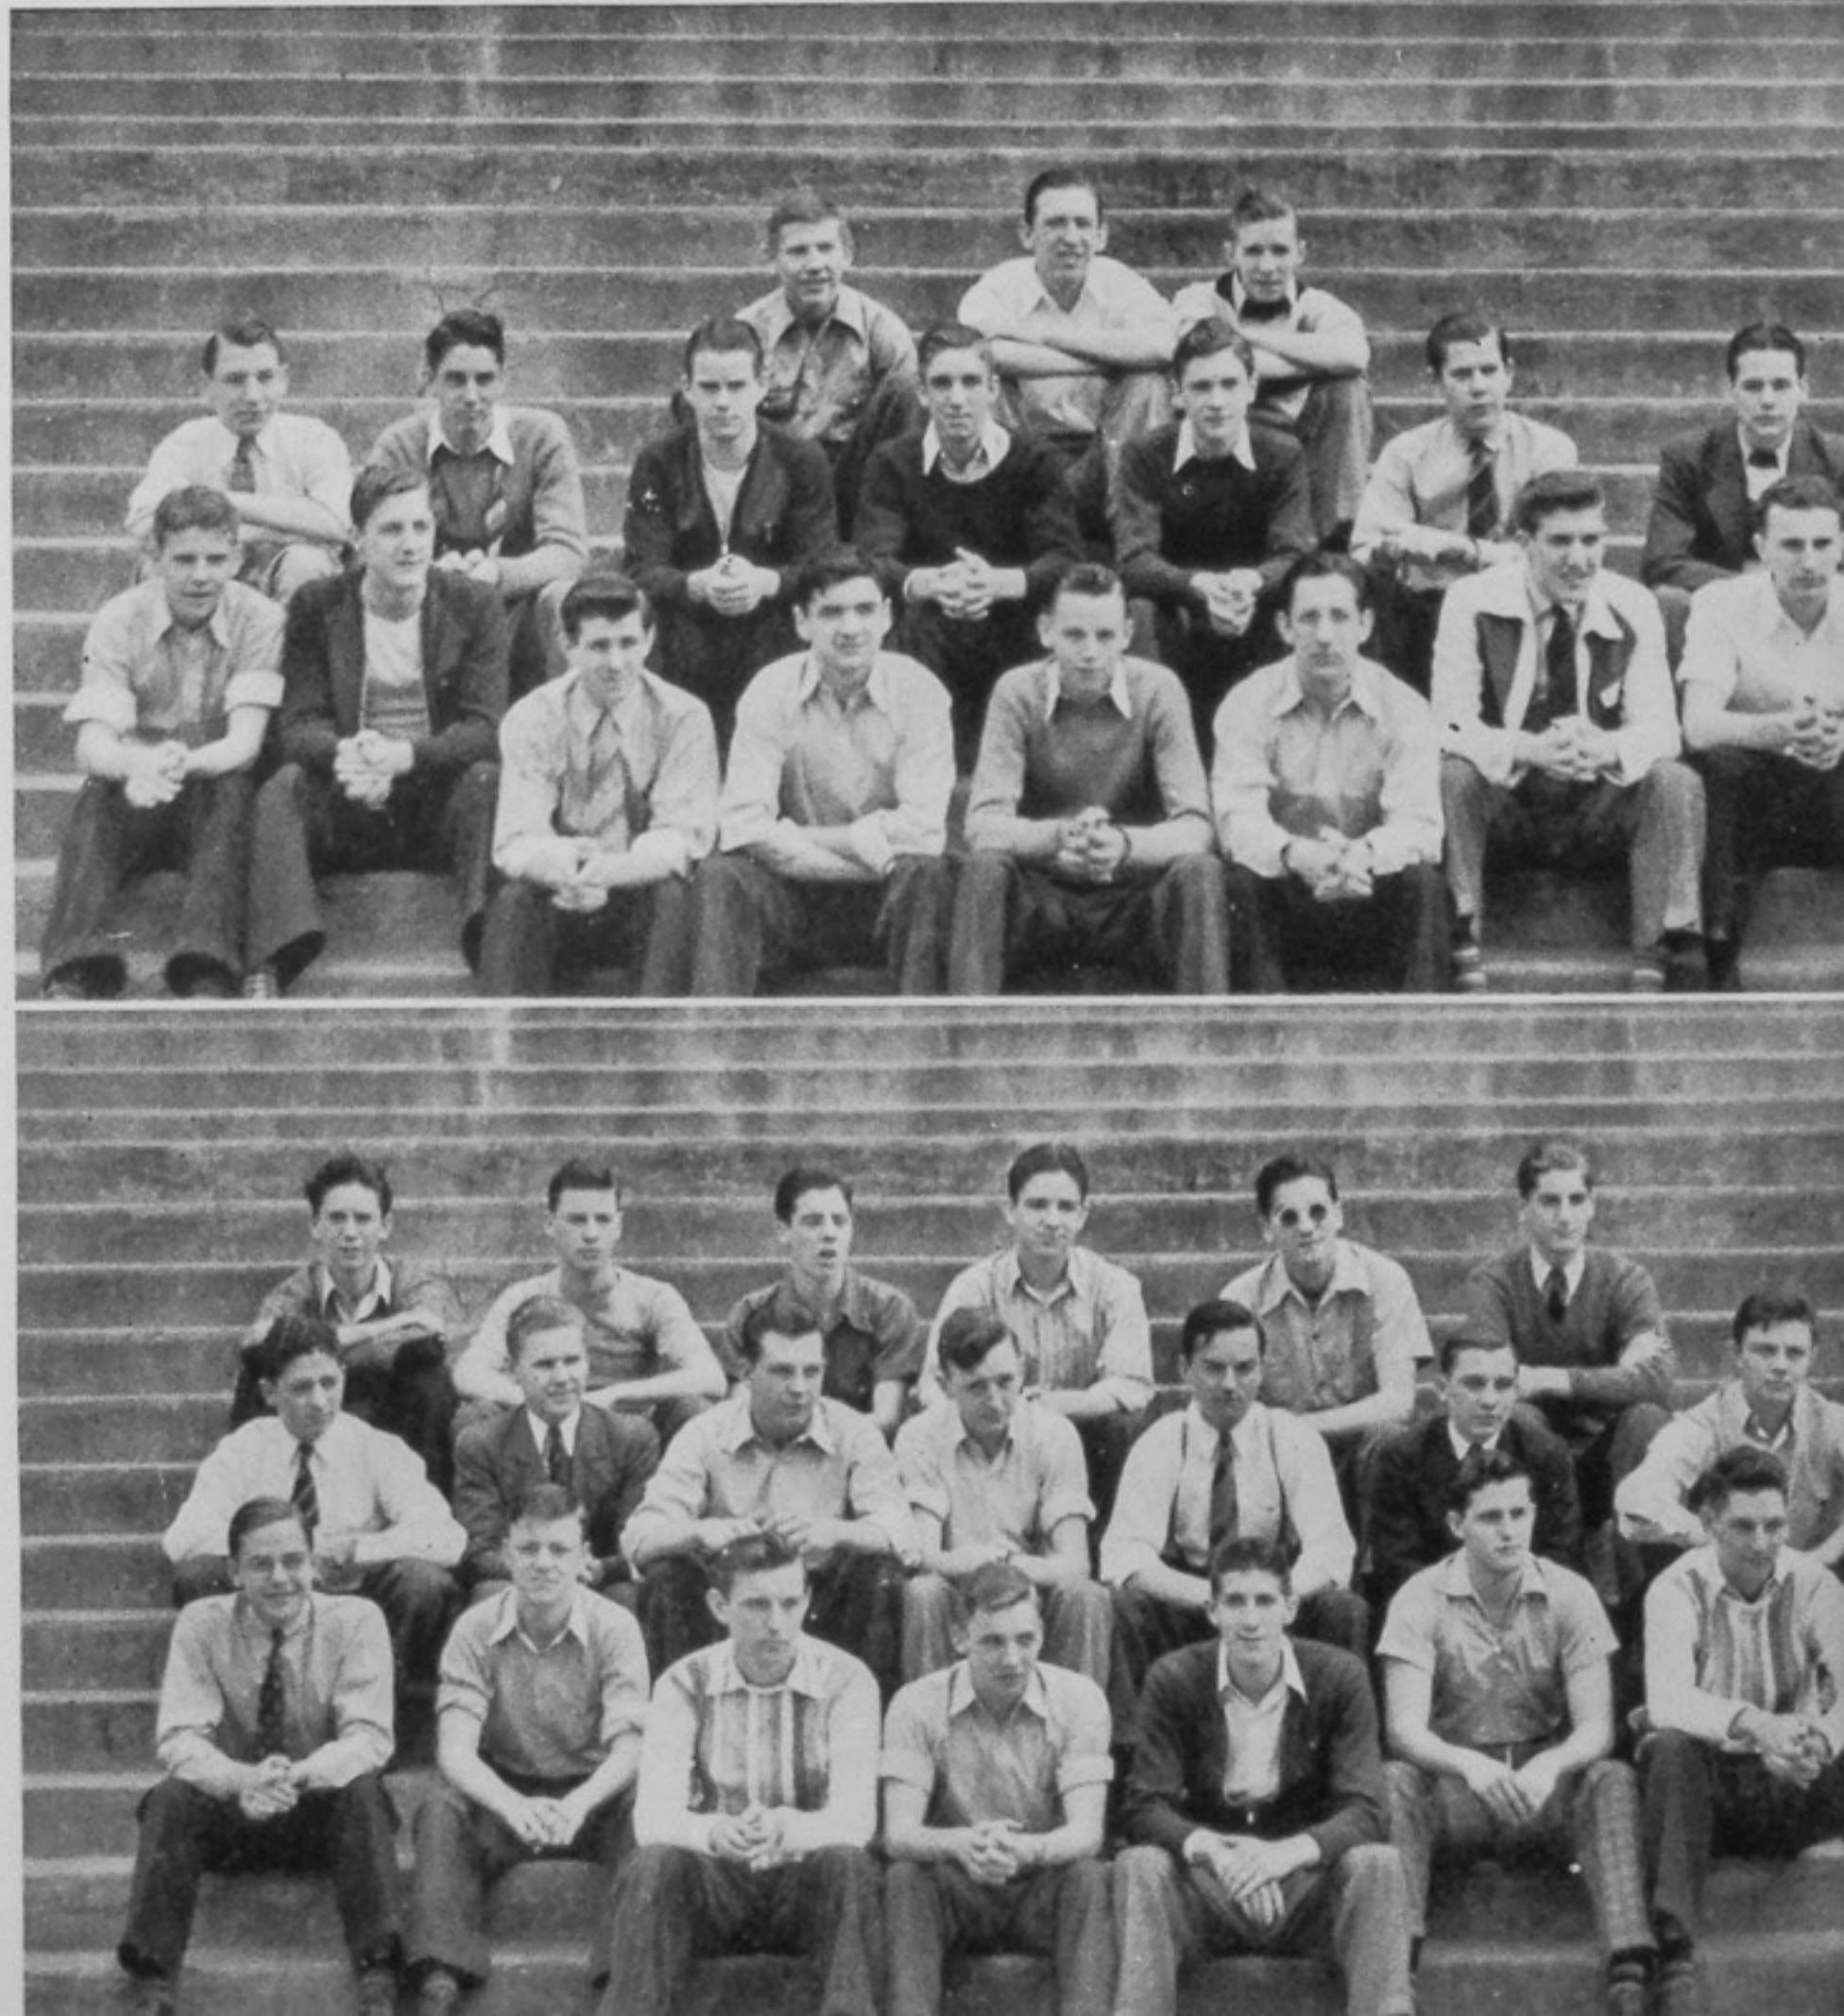

Most important among the activities of the Hi-Y clubs this month were the pre-Easter services, which were held in the high school auditorium during Holy Week. These programs, conducted in the same manner as church services, were well attended and proved to be very successful again this year. The Y-Hi combined with the Hi-Y to present this program. The services consisted of local speakers and scripture readings, prayers, and musical selections by students.

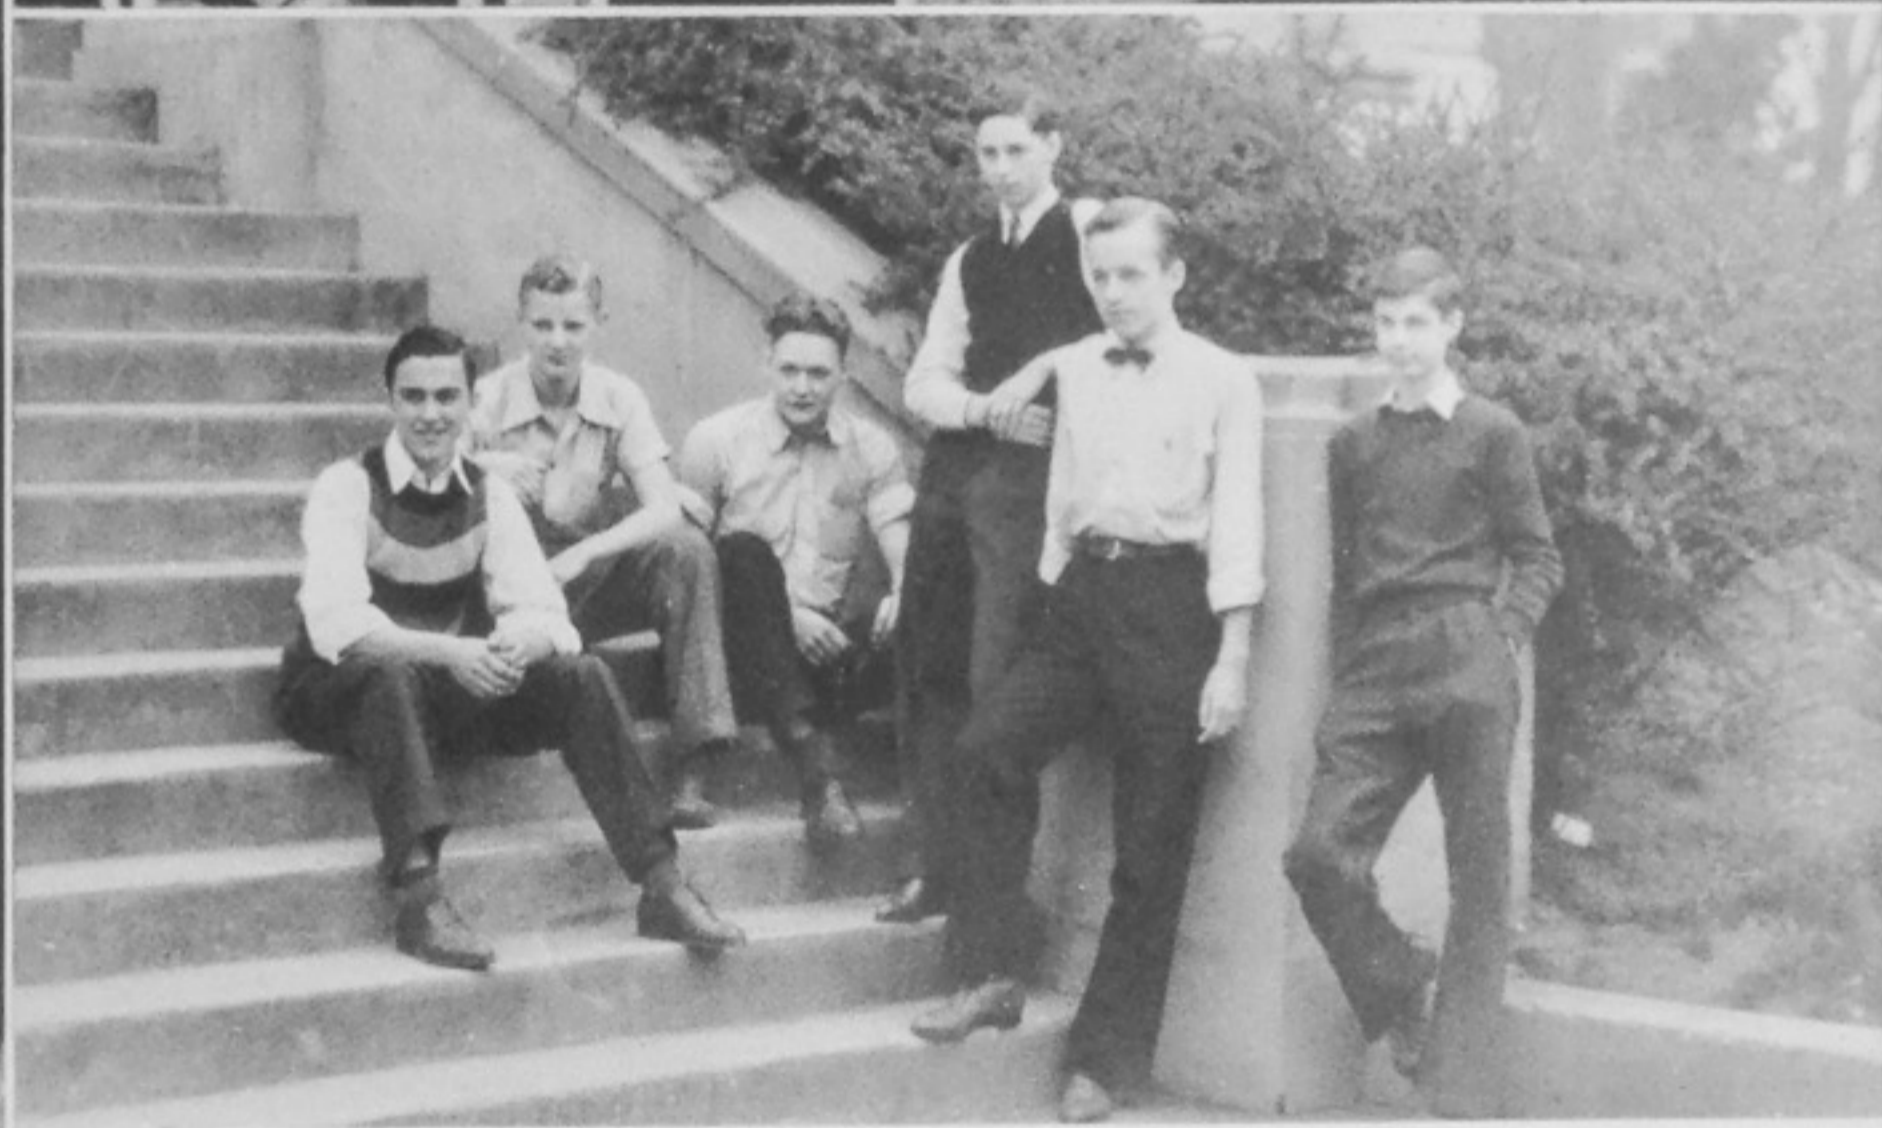

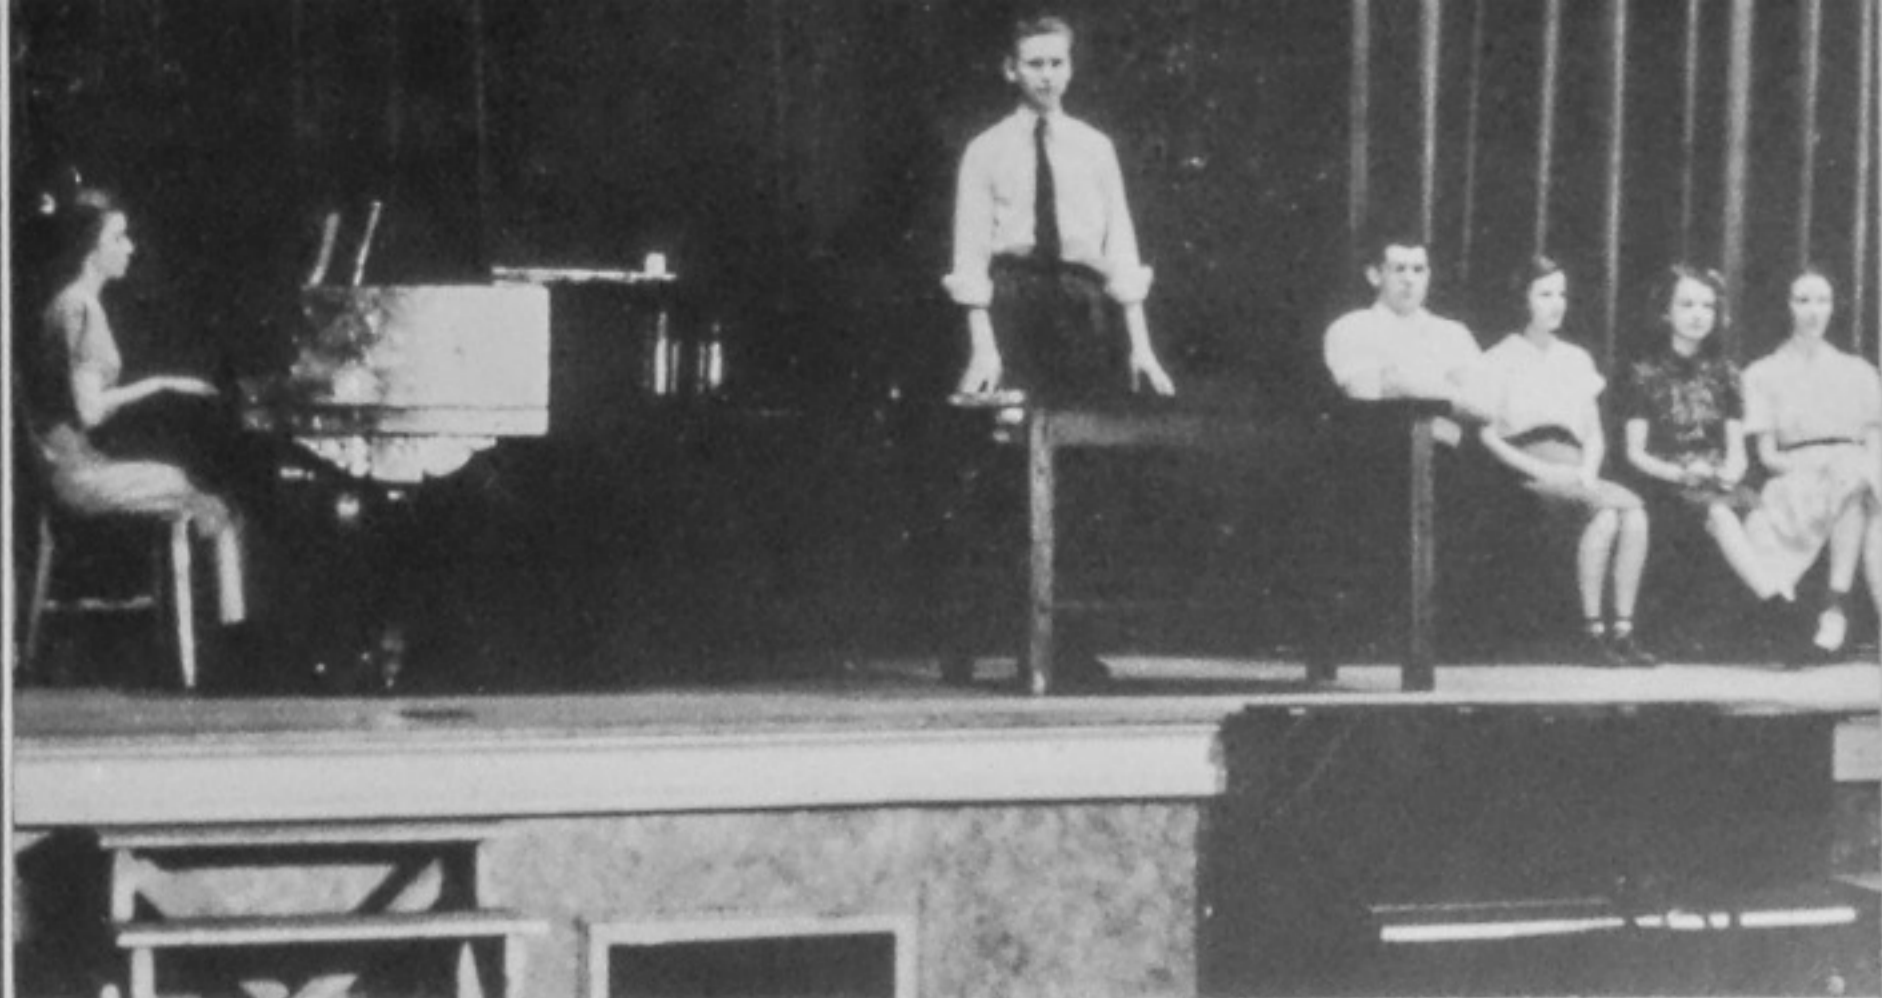

Monday's service was under the direction of Brant Appel. The scripture was read by Joan Kugleman, and Scott Bouldin delivered the prayer. Mr. H. C. Baughman spoke on "Cleansing of the Temple". Tuesday's topic was "The Greatest Commandment". The chairman was Peggy Horr and the speaker, Reverend Benton Miller. Bill Marshall read the scripture and Aline McKeen gave the prayer. J. R. Freeland spoke Wednesday on the "Parable of Talents". Morris Swavel presided, while the scripture reading and prayer were given by Rosemary Adams and Sam Zuhars. On Thursday, the Reverend B. L. Brantley spoke on "The Garden Scene". Dick Bohr and Janet Braunlin presented the scripture reading and prayer. Geraldine Seymour was chairman at this service. The last one was held on Good Friday, and the Reverend Walter R. Dickhaut of Franklin Ave. M. E. Church delivered the final talk. His subject was "The Crucifixion." Caroline Friel gave the scripture reading, and Alice Ann Pixley delivered the prayer. Fred Dill was chairman at this final service.

Garnet Virgin, and Joe Hamblin. Helen Warman acted as pianist and Bill Pepper was the song leader.

Other activities of the Hi-Y this month included the initiation of new members, two dances, one of which was an informal affair held at the Washington Hotel, while the other was a Spring Formal given at the Country Club; and an interesting talk by Mr. McElhaney about his trip to Europe.

Due to the increase in its membership the Hi-Y decided to have three clubs instead of two, and now consists of the Acme Hi-Y, the Sygam Hi-Y, and "Les Bon Fils". Mr. Stamper and Dr. Oder are the advisors of the Sygam and Acme chapters respectively. "Les Bon Fils" do not have an advisor at the present time.

Y-Hi, collaborating with fellow societies

Combined with the Hi-Y during Holy Week, the Y-Hi presented pre-Easter services in the auditorium before school every morning. These services proved to be very popular with the students and attendance increased each morning. Various members of the clubs were responsible for the programs, which were handled very capably.

The Y-Hi, composed of thirty junior and senior girls, is an organization to promote Christian character among the girls of Portsmouth. The club began its year by inducting nineteen new members in the chapel at Second Presbyterian church. The Y-Hi induction, performed by candle light, is a very impressive ceremony. The girls were advised as to the four planks of the Y-Hi platform and the president of the club administered the oath.

At the weekly meetings, talks were given on topics of interest to the girls. The talks most enjoyed by the club were those given by Dr. Sisson, Dean Galton, Mr. James McElhaney, Mr. Jesse Wagus, Mr. J. R. Freeland, and Mr. Edgar Masie. Food baskets were distributed by the members at Christmas time. In February an informal dance was given at the Washington Hotel to which the girls escorted the boys.

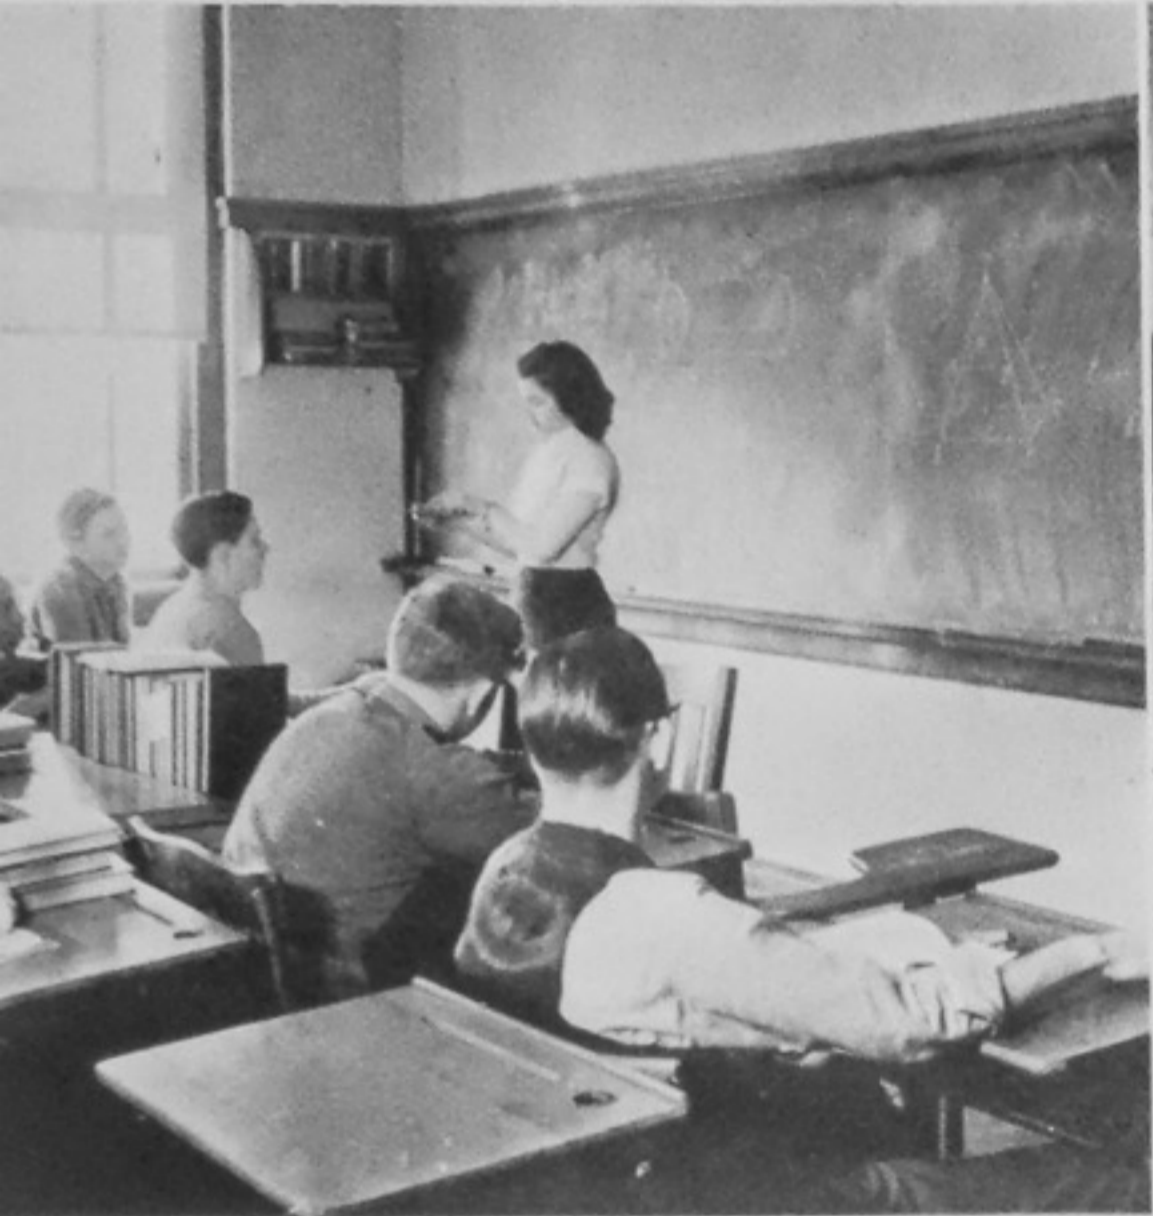

This month a banquet, served by C. D. Pitts, was held at the Y. M. C. A. A cup was presented to Mary Alice Sheehan, who was selected as the ideal sophomore girl by the club, at the banquet. Mary Alice was chosen as best representing the qualities of friendliness, appearance, personality, sportsmanship, cooperation, and character among the girls in the sophomore class at P. H. S. Individual corsages were given the girls as favors at the banquet. Later in the evening the girls were joined by their boy friends and an enjoyable evening of dancing followed.

A committee has been appointed to make plans for the annual picnic which will be held at the Boy Scout camp in May. At that time officers will be elected for next year. The senior members are already discussing the camping trip which they are planning to take later in the summer.

Watching the Easter services in the auditorium are the officers of the club (pictured above): Nancy Breece, Etta Jane Gims, Jerry Seymour (Pres.) and Jane Thornton.

Mathematics - theoretical, practical

For those students who delight in finding the sum of $x+y$, the mathematics department offers every opportunity. There are four instructors in this department. Miss Ruth Gorsuch, who obtained her B. A. degree at Ohio University and her M. A. degree at Ohio State, teaches general mathematics and sophomore English. Mr. A. K. Wheeler, who teaches geometry, received his B. S. degree from Denison University. Miss Caroline Mackoy, qualified herself to teach algebra and geometry by acquiring her B. A. degree at Randolph Macon, her B. S. degree at Ohio University and by attending M. I. T. Besides acting as sponsor of the freshman class, Miss Henrietta DuPuy (not pictured) who obtained her B. S. degree at Ohio State and her M. A. at Columbia, teaches beginning and advanced algebra and solid geometry.

The representatives of the mathematics department in the district scholarship contest at Athens this year will be Robert Sheehan and David Bredon in algebra; and William Cooley, and Basil Curnutte in geometry. These students were selected by the county elimination test which was made out by the teachers of this department.

Miss Shultz directs stage committeemen: J. Kah, H. Warman, A. McKeen, J. Braunlin, D. Lawless.

"Spring Fever"-farcical commencement play

As the commencement play in May, the seniors will present the light comedy entitled "Spring Fever". The scene of the comedy is in the rooming-house of Mrs. Spangler (Betty Queen) at Brookfield College, near the end of the school year. Professor Bean (Ernest Freymuth) has threatened to fail Howard Brant (Francis Dale), the romantic lover, if he does not have his zoology thesis on "Slugs" in before commencement the next day. Anne Purcell (Etta Jane Gims) is in love with Howard and tries to get him passed. Howard especially wants to pass for the sake of his Aunt Maude (Helen Jane Stockham) who has put him through school and promises him a trip to Europe if he graduates. Mrs. Purcell (Melba Orth) and Mr. Purcell (Morris Swavel) are present for their daughter's graduation. Mrs. Purcell stays with Anne, but Mr. Purcell rooms with Howard. When the wealthy Mr. Purcell enters the rooming-house, he is mistaken for a model by Vic Lewis (Bill Marshall and Howard Queen) a painter, and by Ed, (James Williams) a chemist, who is in love (?) with Lou Herron (June Lundbom). A typical college boy, Vic has an interest in Vivian (Jane Thornton and Janet George). As a result of his insult, Mr. Purcell refuses to donate a large sum of money which he had first intended to, for a science building. Due to the strategy of Anne Purcell and Aunt Maude, Mr. Purcell finally donates the money and Howard graduates. President Dixon is played by Joe Hamblin.

In the rehearsal scene below are: H. Queen, J. George, J. Hamblin, F. Dale, J. Thornton, B. Marshall, J. Williams, M. Orth, E. J. Gims, M. Swavel, B. Queen, J. Lundbom, E. Freymuth, H. J. Stockham.

Reviewing Mother Goose

Grant gym held a capacity crowd for the annual gym demonstration the 27th of this month. The demonstration was sponsored by the Girls' Athletic Club and was directed by Miss Charlotte Bell.

Mother Goose rhymes and Fairy tales served as the theme of the demonstration, which was presented in the form of a nursery rhyme review.

To open the program a Jack and Jill dance was presented. Seventy-two costumed girls marched in the "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers", wearing big red hats, and carrying wooden swords. "Mary Quite Contrary" was the next dance, which was performed by girls dressed in pink and white. "The Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe" (Judy Reed) amused the audience by her desperate efforts to control her thirty-six boisterous children. "Snow White", (Mary Janet Hayes) who sang delightfully, was next on the program accompanied by the seven dwarfs, M. Sheehan, Doc; C. Gordon, Bashful; B. Bachman, Sneezy; M. Griffin, Sleepy; L. Tremper, Grumpy; M. List, Happy; and A. Henry, Dopey.

Girls dressed in green and yellow performed the next number, entitled "A Tisket, A Tasket". There was a follow-up dance to this called "Yellow Basket". Miss Louise Gims, girls athletic instructor at Grant School, presented her "Tom Thumb Tumblers" next, and then, the P. H. S. tumblers did a "Humpty Dumpty" act. Janet Plummer did a specialty tap dance. Girls dressed in blue over-alls offered their version of "Little Boy Blue". All was ended with a grand flourish when Peggy Horr bravely fought "Ferdinand the Bull" (Betty Ahrend and Rosemary Adams.)

On March 27 over a hundred boys responded to Coach Jenkin's announcement of the beginning of spring football practice. This practice is held every year in order that the coaches can get some idea of their next football squad. Among those who reported were many with previous varsity service. Bob Warden, Paul Kline, James Barker, Junior Parsons, Bob Franck, and Eugene Rayburn have had two years of varsity play while Kenneth Brady, Bill Combs, Olen Kennedy, Earl Gibson, and Robert Drake have one year of varsity service. It is around these varsity players that Coach Jenkins hopes to build another state championship team. Aside from those varsity members there are many excellent candidates from last year's reserve squad who are expected to develop into good varsity material for next year.

"Blues" and the "Whites". The "Blues", captained by James Barker and Bob Franck, barely nosed out the "Whites", captained by Paul Kline and Eugene Rayburn. The final score was 13 to 12.

Climaxing the four weeks of hard practice, the coaches held a regular 48 minute game in Municipal Stadium between the two varsity teams, the

Paul Jones, a newcomer to the varsity, scored both the touchdowns for the "Blue" team with Bob Warden scoring both for the "Whites". The first of the "Blues" touchdowns came after Barker, Brady, and Jones had run it down to the "White's" four yard line where Jones took it over standing up. His second score was made when he broke through the line, evaded his would-be tacklers, and ran thirty yards to the goal strips.

The "White" team made its two scores when fleet-footed Bob Warden broke away from his tacklers and weaved his way for 26 yards for a touchdown and the other, after his team mates had helped him drive the ball to the "Blue" five yard line where he scooted around end for the other. Captain Kline's place kick missed evening the score by mere inches.

This game showed that there is a wealth of good football players coming from last year's reserves, who will be able to fill the places opened by graduation.

The team next year will not be quite so heavy as it was this past season, but there will be added the elements of deceptiveness and speed along with the line-smashing power plays. The team has a great record to uphold next season, and from all appearances it will live up to all the expectations of its firm supporters and coaches.

The coaches plan to use two full teams in all the varsity games next fall. Possible members of next year's varsity who reported for early practice are: Parsons, Rayburn, Van Gilder, Franck, Drake, Andrews, Combs, O. Kennedy, Barker, Warden, Brady, Bourne, Robinson, P. Jones, Kline, Little, Berry, Apel, Daum, Schmidt, Gibson, Dietrick, E. Kennedy, Haas, Norman,

Rice, Gilliland, Coburn, Steele, Bayerl, Higgins, Schroeder, D. Gardner, Withrow, Williams, Spalding, Triggs, Leggett, Moore, Echols, Cantor, Noel, Callendar, Dearth, Troutman, Baker, and Nelson. Those who made up the Sophomore squad are: Butte, Piatt, Reid, Duncan, Horton, Porter, Boehm, Horbarger, Fuggitt, Lewallen, J.

Gardner, H. Jones, Ver Hage, L. Cornutte, Zeune, Young, B. Curnutte, Martin, McLaughlin, Purdy, Taylor, Midkiff, George, Colley, Collier, Counts, Kennedy.

There were no serious accidents to any of the athletes during the practice sessions and all enjoyed having the opportunity of playing out-of-doors again after the winter season.

Playing 100-year old sport

Participating in a baseball league called the Big Four, made up of teams from Portsmouth, Central Catholic, Sciotoville, and New Boston High Schools, the Portsmouth Trojans, coached by "Peggy" Ellsesser, are fighting to retain their championship of last year. The baseball season opened April 18 and will close May 22. Each team will play two rounds.

Coach Ellsesser has seven veterans to form the nucleus of his team. They are Craft, Brady, O. Barker, outfielders; Kline, Morris, Potts, infielders; Johnson, pitcher, and J. Barker. Marion Johnson, a southpaw, and James Barker, right hander, are expected to bear most of the pitching duties, but they will have Jones, Skelton, Triggs, and O. Barker as relief hurlers. This pitching staff will be one of the strongest in the history of the school. Coach Ellsesser has concentrated most of the preliminary practice on batting in an effort to raise the batting department to last year's high standards.

On April 27, the Trojans played their first regular game with Sciotoville. Paul Jones received the first pitching assignment, but was relieved by Marion Johnson. Johnson went ahead to win the game 6 to 4. Lavon Craft and Paul Kline were the main stays of the Trojan batsmen, and are expected to continue their fine showing at the plate.

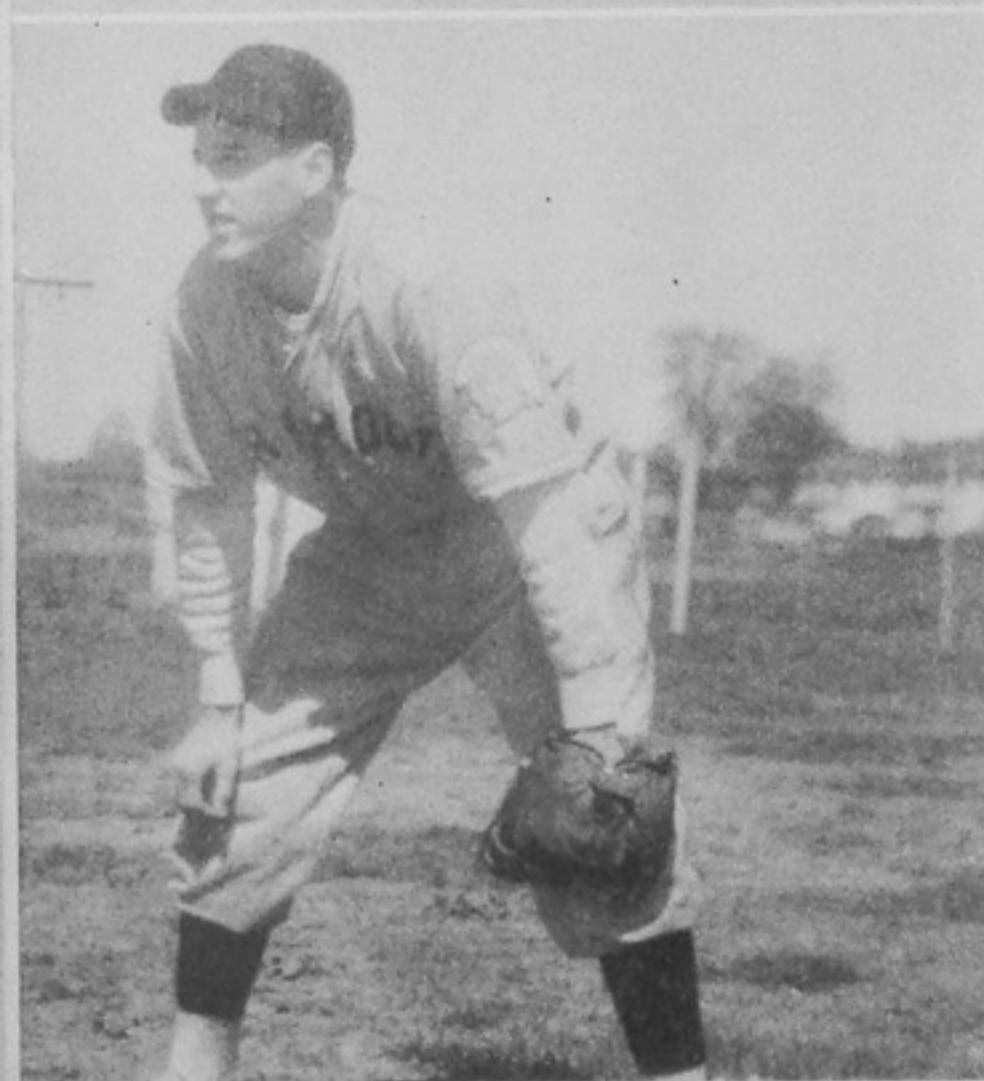

The following day the Trojans invaded New Boston and succeeded in defeating their principal rivals 16 to 6. Trojan batsmen knocked Windy Martin, New Boston's star pitcher, from the box while Marion Johnson went the route for the Trojans and chalked up his second win. Johnson exhibited remarkable control and is much improved over last year.

Stars of track, field

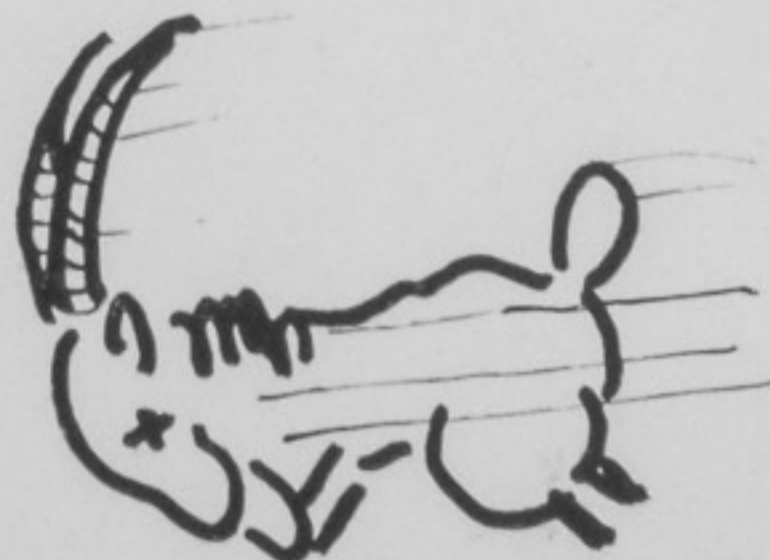

Already great improvement in style is shown by this year's track team, which took the field early this month. The team will have all of its meets in May. The first meet of the Southern Ohio League will be held at Springfield, May 6. There will be a quadrangular meet at Ironton, May 13. The biggest function is the district meet at Athens, May 20.

The captain of the team is Bob Warden, who runs the 100, 220, and 880 relay. Other members of the track team are: Jim Bourne, 100, 220, and 880 relay; Nile Davis, 440, and mile relay; Cliff Norman, 440, and mile relay; Bill Combs, high jump and high hurdles; John Schaffer, broad jump, and 880 relay; Heber Van Gilder, shot put and discus; Ralph Brown, mile run; Bob Franck, mile run, shot put, and discus; Jim Little, 880 relay, and mile relay; Gilbert Lawrence 880 relay; Harold Creekbaum, pole vault; Robert Daniels, high jump, and 880 relay; and Charles Combs, mile run.

Most of the members of the team are juniors, which is a big advantage. Probably the two most promising boys are Bob Warden, the captain, and Bill Combs. Combs, who keeps the team in the upper bracket by his splendid showing in the high hurdles and the high jumps, seems to be in fine condition. As a prediction of Coach Charles Ramey, this junior will probably develop into state-champion material. This prophecy was made in view of his exceptional improvement in recent practice sessions.

Before the season started Coach Charles Ramey had the boys wrestling and performing calisthenics in the boys' gym. After the first day of wrestling quite a few of the boys were sore and stiff, but they were able to start a work out on the parallel bars in a very short time.

Rootin' the peg

Newest and probably most physically active group in the school is the Trojan Alpine Club. It really had no organization but just "sprang up" from somewhere, and has been springing ever since. Trojan staff members and friends who are interested either in hiking or in reducing safely make up its membership.

Five hikes in all have been indulged in by the club since its unheralded birth last fall. The mountaineers have gallivanted to Raven Rock, Minford, Two-mile Hill, Two-and-a-half-mile Hill, and

Hillbillies - always willing to alp a comrade

Kentucky. All the hikes were very enjoyable, but the jaunt to Kentucky on Washington's Birthday was the peak in the year's activities. The Alpiners started the February march from the high school at ten o'clock in the morning, rode to the bridge in the president's limousine, and then proceeded to carry themselves and their lunches up the precipitous slopes of our neighboring country through six inches of snow. After considerable sliding around over the hill and dale, the hikers found themselves in a veritable Grand Canyon. After the scouts who were present had shown their skill in firebuilding, everyone cooked his dinner over the open blaze. When they returned to civilization, the wanderers considered their feat the sequel to the Lewis and Clark Expedition across the Rocky Mountains.

A spring outing carried the Trojans to Two-and-a-half-mile Hill. Certain members of the party exhibited their great speed and surefootedness by keeping far in advance of the main force.

Instead of following the beaten paths, they climbed through bush and thicket until everyone was convinced of Ohio's superiority in providing good hiking material. At the end of the tramp the gang gathered at Morris Swavel's home and engaged in an exciting game of mumblepeg. The snap shows a reckless player rooting the peg. The president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer are: Miss Katharine Kauffman, K. K., Kay Kauffman, and Miss Kauffman, respectively. "Beyond the Alps lie more Alps—and the Lord alps them that alp themselves" is the motto of the society.

Saturday, 1—Senior test took seniors and seniors took the pencils. Our cantatrices and solo artists of band and orchestra are certainly doing fine! Monday, 3—Paul Frasher has some trouble in extinguishing an acetylene fire in chemistry class! Tuesday, 4—Two cents here; two cents there for tests—gosh! It doesn't make sense. Wednesday, 5—Trojan campaigners are sandwiched between original (to say the least) advertising matter. Thursday, 6—Rev. Brantley spoke at Y-Hi Service today. The number of students attending the services is still increasing.

Monday, 10—Spring vacation begins. Thursday, 13—Torrential downpour continues. Friday, 14—The "funny old hills" begin to slide and give their inhabitants a "funny old feeling". Saturday, 15—Arnold Watts and Jamie Williams take the College Boards' Entrance Examination. Saturday, 16—High water inconveniences returning vacationists.

Monday, 17—Students return after rainy vacation. Tuesday, 18—Mr. (not Miss) Kauffman sings a bass solo for Assembly A. Wednesday, 19—Another assembly causes vexation to second period teachers, not classes! Thursday, 20—Commercial Club presents play, "Sunset Becomes Rhythm".

Monday, 24—Nice day for Trojan pictures. Bluford Carter has explosion in chemistry class. Moral: Handle HNO_3 with care! Tuesday, 25—Trojan staff organizes a male chorus for the rendition of hillbilly ballads. Wednesday, 26—History "jingle" very amusing, what? Thursday, 27—National Honor Assembly brings some pleasant surprises. Friday, 28—April bids us a tearful adieu.

Rewards for achievements

As the final months of the year roll around, the diversified achievements of the students are recognized by the presentation of awards to outstanding scholars. Assuming the precedent of the dissolved Civitan Club, the Exchange Club is recognizing James Williams, Arthur Klemme (opposite page, 1st and 2nd for scholarship), and George Weaver for general scholarship, history, and civics, respectively.

For the second year, the most outstanding girl in the sophomore class received a cup, awarded by the members of the Y-Hi club to Mary Alice Sheehan (center right). Another feminine organization, the Girls' Athletic Club, presented the best all-around sport, Etta Jane Gims, (center left) with a cup also. The link girl, who is a junior serving as the link between the junior class and the members of the Senior Honor Council, was Rosemary Adams (top picture), this year, and next year she will be succeeded by Marjorie Griffin (right, lower picture).

In study, leadership, athletics, personality

To continue the various honors, Mr. Bannon presented in assembly the Michigan Alumni Award, which is given to the senior athlete who has been most outstanding in sportsmanship and leadership. This year Clyde Redding, an all-Ohio football star and member of the Trojan basketball squad, receives the honor.

In the field of science, the Bausch-Lomb award is presented to the senior who has attained the highest average in the scientific subjects during his high school career. This year, because the high ranking students were so close, it was necessary to make two awards, one to James Williams and the other to Arnold Watts. Last year Arnold received first in the state in the chemistry scholarship test, and this time he attained a seventh place in physics at Athens. Jamie placed second in the district in physics last year and third in chemistry this year, which gained a seventh place in the state for him.

Although the students who are considered most likely to succeed receive no material presentation, they are recognized by the publication of the results of the Echo questionnaire. George Wiltsee and Betty Jean Lamm were the ones whom the students consider will be the man and woman of tomorrow.

Our Casanovas and Juliettes are also discovered in this questionnaire although it seems that they had been "discovered" long before the results were published. The outstanding good lookers are both juniors, one, the hero of the junior play, Lou Chapman, and the other, Mary Frances Pratt.

State champs for second successive year

The scholarship team, state champions again this year, not content with resting on the laurels gained last May, have repeated their phenomenal success this year, thus gaining new prestige for the school and for themselves. Portsmouth High School was far ahead of the other three superior rating schools, with a total of 268 points.

Headlining the scholastic team for the Trojans were Arthur Klemme, George Wiltsee, Betty Lamm, Anna Linck, Sallie Atlas, and Martha Hesson, who ranked first in the state in their respective subjects.

Members of this year's girls' tennis team are Caroline Friel, Jo Jo Rickey, Edna Speck, Etta Jane Gims, Peggy Horr, Betty Craig, and Marjorie Griffin. These girls have been practicing regularly and are going to Cincinnati to play a match the last of this month.

Warm sunny May days spell softball to the amazons of P. H. S. who go to Mound Park to play on one of the five softball teams, which include that of Grant School's ninth grade. In the first two games the seniors defeated the sophomores 7 to 6, and the freshmen defeated Grant 13 to 7. With such an exciting start, the girls can well afford to anticipate an interesting season.

Boy "Samson"

Mid-May finds the activities of the boy's tennis team well under way. Having played seven matches, Lorentz's men have finished on the long end of four of the scores. They have defeated Chillicothe, Washington Court House, and Sciotoville twice, with Gallipolis, Chillicothe, and Washington Court House putting the skids under them.

Individual stars on the team have been Francis Dale, Bill Friel, Ed Doan and Charles Samson, with Friel and Doan earning the right to enter the state tournament by advancing to the finals of the district meet at Athens.

Consummating four years of intellectual,

Plans for the boat ride, Baccalaureate and commencement services, picnics, and final tests were all completed by the senior class in spite of their very severe case of "Spring Fever". These peppy Freshmen who entered P. H. S. in 1935 have been one of the most rounded classes ever to enter the school. Not only have the members excelled in athletics but also in scholarship, and activities.

Their first year they elected as officers Francis Dale, Robert Daniels, Rhea Mae Wendelken and Madeline Bennett and chose Miss Ruth Cyfers, Miss Henrietta DuPuy, and Mr. Fred Multer as sponsors. Activities for the year included a lively skating party and a freshman mixer.

As sophomores this class had as its officers Triem Sheehan, Janet Braunlin, Joan Dearth, and Betty Coriell. Miss Gladys Hughes, Miss Dorothy Smith, and Mr. Sylvan Jackson were sponsors. A sophomore spring dance and several other activities were planned, but they had to be called off because of the flood.

Last year with Bill Pepper, Bill Harsha, Jamie

Williams, and Jennie Hutchison as officers, and Miss Ruth Burton, Mr. Donald Stewart, and Mr. James McElhaney as sponsors, they had two especially busy semesters. They published the newspaper, the Echo, every two weeks. They gave the first dance of the year, and the class play, "Tiger House," was a very outstanding success. In February Jerry Seymour ruled as queen of the Junior Jubilee. Then in May they served as hosts and hostesses of the seniors at the Junior-Senior Prom. A grape arbor, carried out by the use of large purple balloons and green leaves on white lattices, was the theme of the dance. The programs also were purple and white. Bill Marshall, the senior class president this year, was chairman. A new custom for future proms was established when Bill Marshall presented a gavel to Bill Pepper, junior class president, who in turn gave a scroll to Jimmy Lynn, last year's senior class president, in a ceremony before the dance. After this presentation Jimmy Lynn led the grand march into the gym. This climaxed the junior activities for the year.

Cabinet

President Marshall, Vice-President Queen, seated — Treasurer Jenkins, Secretary Aeh.

Brain trust

Miss Blazer, Mr. Free-land, Miss Bell.

A lot of bullion

D. Haislet, R. Long, Mr. Kegley.

September elections, 1939, showed Bill Marshall, Howard Queen, Jean Aeh, and Richard Jenkins to be the senior officers and Miss Charlotte Bell, Miss Anna Blazer, and Mr. J. R. Free-land the sponsors.

The plan of having joint advisory group meetings of all the senior home rooms in the auditorium has served to unite the class more thoroughly the second semester. A committee appointed by the president, composed of Francis Dale, Sally Ladd, Jamie Williams, Nancy Breece and Jerry Seymour furnished the entertainment for the meetings.

The "Senior Hop", and the Christmas assembly, and the year round production of the Trojan year book comprised the high spots of the year's activities before the preparations preceding the era of commencement, June 8, at which Dr. Henry Hitt Crane is scheduled to be the speaker.

In conclusion it seems most fitting to mention the names of Charles Goodman, Harry Brown, and Ernest Atkinson, whose high school careers were terminated by untimely deaths. All those who knew them deeply regret their passing.

*Bandana drum corps
Going to "budge"
Prom eminent*

Monday, 1—Trojan baseball team has lost its star left-fielder, and "Ottie" has lost his appendix. Wednesday, 3—G. A. C. elects Jo Rickey to head female athletes. Thursday, 4—"Take me out to the ball game." Saturday, 6—P. H. S. brains stand out as scholarship team again takes top honors at Athens. Wednesday, 10—Mary Jean Short nominates her candidate to be secretary of the G. A. C. in a Girls' League assembly. Not only was her hair red! Home room 322 receives bubble gum (also ice cream and cake) from room 321 for attendance contest. Friday, 12—Mary Janet Hayes receives very good rating in soprano solo at Anderson, Ind. Saturday, 13—Girls' Glee Club rates superior all the way in regional contest. Wednesday, 17—Senior Honor Council announced and Girls' League officers installed. Men feel slighted. Thursday, 18—All aboard the St. Paul! Friday, 19—G. A. C. banquet. When presented the cup, all Etta Jane could say, "Gosh, i-i-it's pretty." Saturday, 20—Scholarship team takes top honors in State. Bennie Goodman takes them at the Palace. Friel and Doan kept at Athens—for the finals of the district doubles tennis tournament. Track team still having trouble getting started. Tuesday, 22—King Kong given Michigan award. More power to him! Wednesday, 23—Trojan baseball squad no longer undefeated. The faculty put the cuffs on them, and even though umpires Dale and Appel were a little prejudiced, any Trojan who hit a home run was permitted to reach first base. Wiltsee heads next year's

French Club. At the Senior Honor picnic, Peggy Horr and Libby Faught ate five bars of ice cream apiece. (They like it.) Thursday, 25—First night of Commencement play, "Spring Fever!" McElhaney takes tickets last act (who used the comps?). Friday, 25—We still have "Spring Fever". Monday, 29—National Honor and Hi-Y picnics. Wednesday, 31—French Club chirps for radio listeners. WPAY really has something there—besides hillbilly bands. Twin bill again: this time they're the Plus Ultra and Y-Hi picnics. June Forecast: Friday, 2—At long last the "something for nothing" day has arrived—the Junior Senior Prom—and it is really something!

The World's Fair theme is carried to completion, with trylon, perisphere—and everything. Sunday, 4—Baccalaureate sermon delivered by Rev. Van Gilder. Tuesday, 6—Something for nothing again—the senior picnic. Wednesday, 7—Successful labor of Trojan staff awarded by picnic with fun and puns galore. Thursday, 8—Commencement, the finish, and beginning, too. Friday, 16—Alumni Dance, and memories.

Dear Janice -
You've been my
C.P. all year and, gosh,
how I've needed you.
Pal, you've been the one ray when I've been down. (get when I mean?) Just keep on going, my peb. Love ya,
Patty
